REV. GEORGE MOULTON ADAMS, D.D.

By Rev. Elnathan Ellsworth Strong, D.D., of Auburndale.

Dr. George M. Adams, who died at Auburndale (Newton), Massachusetts, January 11th, 1906, was descended from an honorable ancestry, some members of which were prominent in Revolutionary times. He was of the sixth generation from John[1] Adams of Cambridge, whose son was Joseph[2] Adams of Cambridge (1664-1701), whose son John[3] (1698-1725) lived in Lincoln, as did his son John[4] (1723-1809). A son of this latter John[4], Dr. Thomas[5] Adams, settled in Pembroke, N. H. (1761-1808), where his son Samuel[6], the father of the subject of this sketch, was born in 1790.

On the maternal side, Dr. Adams could trace his descent from Jotham Moulton of York, Maine (1743-1777), who was Colonel of the Second Regiment of the York County Militia, in 1775, and afterwards a Brigadier General. He served in the Continental Army in New York, and in the South under Gen. Lincoln, dying in 1777 of fever contracted in the Great Dismal Swamp. A son of Gen. Moulton, Dr. Jotham, Jr., married Mary Farrar of Lincoln, Massachusetts, whose grandfather, Samuel Farrar, was chairman of "The Committee of Correspondence," in 1773, and had part in the Concord Fight when he was 66 years of age.

Dr. Adams's father, Samuel, was a prosperous business man in Castine, Maine, greatly respected as a Christian merchant and citizen. His mother was Lucy Sewell Moulton (1803-1884), daughter of Dr. Jotham Moulton, Jr., of Bucksport, Maine, a prominent physician in that region.

In this home at Castine, in which all the best traditions of New England were cherished, the boy was born July 7, 1824. It was a godly household, and its influences were gratefully recognized throughout his whole life. The village school gave the first rudiments of education, and the preparation for college was obtained in the Academy at Gorham, Maine. At Bowdoin College he was a diligent student, and was graduated with honor in the class of 1844, later receiving the degrees of A.M. and D.D., and serving as an Overseer of the College. Entering Bangor Theological Seminary, he pursued his studies there for nearly two years, when, on account of impaired health, it became necessary for him to take a period of rest. He visited Europe in 1847, and after some time spent in travel, he took up his studies in the universities of Germany, dividing his time between Berlin, Halle, and Leipzig. Tholuck and Neander were at that period the great luminaries in theological Germany, and the young student greatly enjoyed the instruction and friendship of these great men. Here he mastered the German language, of which he retained free use throughout his life. On returning to the United States in 1849, he resumed his theological studies, and connected himself with Andover Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1850. The goal for which he had been striving had now been reached, and he was ready to enter upon the work which had seemed to him most inviting and most worthy of pursuit.

His first pastorate was at Conway, Massachusetts, where he was invited to succeed Rev. Dr. Samuel Harris, who was subsequently President of Bowdoin College, and later on became Professor of Theology in Yale University. Beginning his work in 1851 in a quiet country parish which was most favorable for the development of his powers, Dr. Adams remained there eleven years, greatly endearing himself to the people of his charge. His success in Conway led to a call to the pastorate of the large and important North Congregational Church of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, which he served with great acceptance for eight years, from 1863 to 1871. On his resignation of this charge he made an extensive tour, with his family, through Europe, visiting also Egypt and Palestine. On returning to the United States he accepted a call from the Congregational Church in Holliston, Massachusetts, which Church he served for sixteen years, from 1873 to 1889. All these ministries were fruitful in every way, redounding to the honor of him who ministered, and most of all to the honor of Him in whose name he served.

In 1889, Dr. Adams purposed to retire from the active ministry, and built a residence at Auburndale, Massachusetts, which was his home until his death. His services were often called for in the supply of vacant pulpits, and he gave himself to a variety of literary employments, the most extensive of which was the revision of a Commentary upon the Bible, originally published under the name of the Biblical Museum. The work had had a large circulation, but, in the progress of Biblical study within the last quarter of a century, there was need of thorough revision in the way both of eliminations and additions. Dr. Adams gave the best portions of several years to this task. It was a congenial undertaking for him, and resulted in the publication of what was practically a new work, in five volumes, entitled The Biblical Encyclopædia. On finishing his task, he expressed his appreciation of the Sacred Book to the elucidation of which he had given so much thought, speaking of it as "that Word which so grows upon the admiration of all who faithfully study it, which becomes ever more precious to us as we struggle with the mystery of life, and as we approach the mingled certainty and mystery of the life to come."

It was a striking illustration of the freshness and vigor of Dr. Adams's mind and heart that after he had passed the bound of four score years, a congregation recently gathered in the hamlet of Waban, city of Newton, could find no one who could minister to them more acceptably than did this man who seemed to them, as one of their number expressed it, "neither old nor young, but just the right age." And so he preached and ministered to them for more than a year with growing favor, revising former discourses, writing new ones, and with all the enthusiasm of a young pastor, preaching what was regarded as one of his most forceful sermons on the Sabbath before his death.

Dr. Adams was a man of fine presence, six feet two inches in height, with a ruddy face and a clear eye. His voice was noticeable for its mingled sweetness and power. He would not be called a ready conversationalist except when among his most familiar friends. But he was genial with all, and had a merry and ringing laugh, with a gentle humor, so that his presence was always welcome. His health was never rugged, but he knew how to care for what he had, and though often obliged to rest, he accomplished his full quota of work. He was a genuine scholar, thorough and keen-sighted, honest with himself and to others. He did nothing for show. His style as a writer was direct and clear. There was no obscurity in thought or expression. His sermons were usually short, with no repetitions, for he reasoned that having said a thing once there was no occasion for saying it again in the same discourse. His delivery was vigorous and impressive. Thoughtful and instructive as were his sermons, their great power lay in the character which was behind them, and in the preacher's manifest sincerity; for he preached, as every hearer felt, only what he himself believed. It is a great gift to be able to so impress all hearers with one's absolute sincerity. Only the sincere can do it.

In 1852, Dr. Adams married Sarah Hills Crosby, of Bangor, Maine, who died in 1859, leaving one daughter, Charlotte C., who died in 1876. In 1862 he married Louise L. Dana, daughter of Nathaniel and Lois Walker Dana and a descendant of Elder William Brewster of the "Mayflower." Mrs. Adams survives her husband, with two of their children, Alice D., who resides at Auburndale, and Mrs. Grace M. Higgins, residing in St. Louis.

He was a member of the Congregational Club of Boston, and one of the Board of Trustees of the Fund for Liberia College in Liberia. Of this Board he was for years the Treasurer, giving freely much time and thought to the interests of the Institution.

Dr. Adams was elected a resident member of this Society in 1884. From 1896 until his death he was Historiographer, or Historian, of the Society; and from 1901 to 1904 he was a member of the Council.

Men of the stamp of Dr. Adams are the glory of New England. They give strength to our institutions; they purify our social and political life; they serve to inspire faith in man and faith in God. May their number be multiplied more and more.

INSCRIPTIONS AT SUDBURY, MASS.

Communicated by Lucy Hall Greenlaw, of Sudbury.

The following inscriptions are from the earliest cemetery within the limits of the present town of Sudbury, Mass. This is situated at Sudbury Centre, near the town hall and the First Parish Church, and was the second burial place to be established in the town, the first, where the early settlers were buried, being in that part of the town which later became Wayland. After this division of the town, which took place in 1780, this was the only cemetery in Sudbury until the establishment of Wadsworth Cemetery at Green Hill, where was the grave of the men slain in the Sudbury fight in 1675. Mount Pleasant Cemetery, at the Centre, was laid out about 1840, and another at North Sudbury in 1843. After the establishment of these other burial places, interments in the older yard became less and less frequent and have finally ceased. There are some graves in this yard marked only by common field stones, and doubtless there are many others not marked at all. All of the inscriptions are here given, the earliest bearing date of 1727, and it is worthy of note that less than half of these deaths are found on the records of the town.*

ANCESTRY AND DESCENDANTS OF REV. JOHN WILSON OF BOSTON, MASS.

By Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Esq., of Boston.

The name Wilson is found in nearly all the counties of England. It is quite rare, however, in the counties south of the Thames and Severn, but is very common in northern England, particularly in the counties of Cumberland, Westmoreland, and York. (Guppy's "Homes of Family Names," pp. 15, 65, 572; Lower's "English Surnames" (1842 edition), pp. 17–19, 97.) Many different coats of arms have been used by various Wilson families; but a wolf in some form is generally to be found in the arms of the Wilsons of England. (Burke's "General Armory," pp. 1119–1121.)

Among the Wilson families of northern England there was one established at a remote period at Penrith, co. Cumberland. The parish registers of Penrith, which begin in 1556, show over 120 entries of the name between that date and the year 1600; so it seems evident that the family had been located there continuously for several generations previous to the beginning of the registers. (Watson's Penrith Registers, pp. 106, 107, 125.)

1. William[1] Wilson of Penrith, co. Cumberland, born probably within a decade of 1490, is the earliest ancestor yet known to whom an unbroken line can be traced in the family herein treated. He was father of

2. William[2] Wilson, gent., born about 1515, who removed from Penrith and settled at Welbourn, co. Lincoln. He acquired considerable estate, and on March 24, 1586, had confirmation of the following coat of arms, and grant of a crest, by William Flower, Norroy king of arms: Arms, per pale argent and azure three lion's gambs erased fessways in pale counterchanged; crest, a lion's head argent guttée de sang. He died at Windsor Castle, co. Berks (where his son William was prebendary), Aug. 27, 1587, and was buried in the chapel of St. George, Windsor Castle, where a monument was erected to his memory. (Burke's "General Armory," p. 1120; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 309; Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 306–7, and vol. lii, p. 144; and Harleian MS. 1507, fol. 20.) The name of his wife has not been learned.

   Children:

3. i. William,[3] b. about 1542.
   ii. Alexander, b. about 1545; a merchant tailor of London; m. (licensed Nov. 3, 1573) Catherine, dau. of John and Elizabeth (Grindall) Woodhall, and sister of Isabel Woodhall, who m. his brother, Rev. William[3] Wilson; she d. about Dec., 1583, leaving three children. (Register, ante, vol. xxxviii, p. 302, and vol. xlii, p. 174; Harleian Soc., vol. xxv, p. 57.)
   iii. Mary, b. about 1550; m. Rev. Guy Briscowe (son of Edward Briscowe of Crostanaby, co. Cumberland), a graduate of Queen's College, Oxford, B.A. 1569, M.A. 1572, rector of Halstow, co. Kent, 1577–1583, rector of Sundridge, co. Kent, from 1583 until his death in 1594. His wife and eight children survived him, of whom a son, William, b. about 1590, emigrated to New England in 1639, and settled in Boston, leaving, with other issue, a son Benjamin. (Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. i, p. 183; REGISTER, ante, vol. xlii, p. 174; Pope's "Pioneers of Mass.," p. 70; and will of Rev. John[4] Wilson of Boston, REGISTER, ante, vol. xvii, p. 343.)

3. REV. WILLIAM[3] WILSON, D.D., born about 1542, graduated at Merton College, Oxford, B.A. 1564, M.A. 1570, B.D. 1576, D.D. 1607; rector of Islip, Oxfordshire, 1578; rector of Cliffe, co. Kent, 1579; rector of Caxton, co. Kent, 1593; prebendary of St. Paul's, London, 1595–1615, and of Rochester Cathedral, 1591–1614. About 1580 he became chaplain to Edmund Grindall, Archbishop of Canterbury, and in 1583 became canon of Windsor, holding this position for thirty-two years, until his death May 15, 1615, aged 73, and was buried in the chapel of St. George, Windsor Castle, where a monumental brass to his memory states that he was "beloved of all in his Life, and much lamented in his Death." (Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1657; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 305; REGISTER, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 306–308, and vol lii, p. 144.) He married first, about 1575, Isabel, daughter of John Woodhall, Esq., of Walden, co. Essex, by Elizabeth his wife, sister of Rev. Edmund Grindall, the celebrated Puritan Archbishop of Canterbury, described by Lord Bacon as "the gravest and greatest prelate of the land." (REGISTER, ante, vol. xxxviii, pp. 301–308.) He married second, Anne, sister of Rev. Erasmus Webb, canon of Windsor, who died in 1612, without issue. (REGISTER, ante, vol. lii, pp. 143–4.)

Children by first wife:

i. MARY,[4] b. probably about 1575; d. July 26, 1613; m. Rev. Thomas Sheaffe, D.D., who was bapt. at Cranbrooke, co. Kent, Oct. 10, 1562, son of Thomas and Mary (Harmon) Sheaffe, educated at King's College, Cambridge, B.A. 1585, M.A. 1588, D.D. 1595, vicar of Welford, Berkshire, 1597, and canon of Windsor from 1614 until his death, at Wickhambrook, Dec. 12, 1639. They had eight children, and several of their descendants settled in New England. (REGISTER, ante, vol. lv, pp. 210–220; Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1342.)

ii. A SON, name unknown, died young.

iii. ELIZABETH, m. about 1601, John Somer, Jr., gent., of St. Margaret's, Cliffe, co. Kent. She d. about 1606, having had three children, Thomas, Mary, and Elizabeth; and he m. second, Aug. 10, 1607, Elizabeth, bapt. Aug. 27, 1587, dau. of Anthony and Jane (Lambert) Deering, by whom he had several children. The Visitation of Kent in 1619 erroneously assigns all the children of John Somer to his first wife, (Harleian Soc., vol. xlii, p. 55; also Howard's annotated edition of the Visitation of Kent in 1619, p. 120, line 15, and p. 132.)

iv. ISABEL, m. about 1608, Thomas Gibbs of Windsor, gent., second son of John and Mary (Elham) Gibbs of Elmeston, co. Kent. They had five children. (Visitation of Kent, 1619, Harleian Soc., vol. xlii, p. 182; REGISTER, ante, vol. xlii, pp. 175–177, and vol. lii, p. 144.)

v. EDMUND, M.D., b. about 1583; matriculated at Merton College, Oxford, Mar. 3, 1597–8, aged 15, but left there and entered King's College, Cambridge, the same year, where he obtained the degree of M.D.; incorporated at Oxford in 1614; Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, Dec. 22, 1615; installed canon of Windsor, Dec. 18, 1616, but not becoming an ordained priest, was deprived of the office a year later; practiced his profession a few years at Windsor, but about 1621 removed to London, where he continued in practice, and acquired a large estate, until his death in Sept., 1633, in the parish of St. Mary le Bow. He took a strong interest in the Puritan colonization of New England, and gave to the Mass. Bay Company £1000, which was used for the purchase of military supplies. He died unmarried, and in his will gave bequests to a large number of relatives and friends. (REGISTER, ante, vol. xlii, pp. 175–177; Munk's "Roll of the Royal College of Physicians of London," pp. 157–8; Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1654.)

vi. A DAUGHTER, name unknown; d. young.

vii. WILLIAM, b. in 1587; d. unmarried, in 1610, in his 23d year, and was buried in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. (REGISTER, ante, vol. xxxviii, p. 307; Ashmole's "History and Antiquities of Berkshire," p. 306.)

4. viii. JOHN, b. about Dec., 1588.

ix. REV. THOMAS, D.D., b. in 1591; educated at Christ Church, Oxford, B.A. 1611, M.A. 1614; Fellow of Merton College, B.D. 1622; D.D. of Cambridge 1625; incorporated at Oxford, 1645; rector of Pagelsham, 1625, Winbish, 1626, and Debden, 1629 (all in co. Essex); canon of St. Paul's and of Westminster Cathedrals, London, 1625–1660. (Alumni Oxoniensis, vol. iv, p. 1657.) He m. in 1617, Anne ———. 4. REV. JOHN[4] WILSON (Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]) was born at Windsor, co. Berks, England, about Dec., 1588. After four years' preparation at Eton school, he was admitted to King's College, Cambridge, in 1602. While at the University he became deeply interested in the theological discussions of the day, and under the influence of Rev. Richard Rogers of Wethersfield, and of the celebrated Rev. William Ames, D.D., he soon became converted to the principles of the Puritans. His nonconformity resulted in his being obliged to leave the University for a time, and he entered one of the Inns of Court to study for the legal profession; but his disposition for the ministry continuing, by the father's influence he was returned to the University, where, at Christ College, he obtained the degree of B.A. in 1606, and M.A. in 1609.

After preaching for a short time at Newport, Mortlake, Henley, and other places, he lived for some years as chaplain in several honorable families. Then, for three years, he preached at Bumstead, Stoke, Clare, and Candish, all in co. Suffolk, until about 1620, when he succeeded the the Rev. William Jenkins at Sudbury, co. Suffolk, where he officiated some ten years with great acceptance to his parishioners. Being here persecuted and frequently suspended, for his non-conformity, he encouraged and supported the colonization of the Massachusetts Bay, and joined the first emigration, coming to New England in the Spring of 1630, in the Arbella, with Gov. Winthrop, leaving his wife and children in England. Soon after the arrival of the company, the First Church of Boston was organized, on July 30, 1630, John Wilson being installed as teacher. After laboring for nearly a year, and filling an important part in establishing the colony on a permanently prosperous basis, he went back to England in Apr., 1631, returning to Boston in May, 1632, with his wife, son John, and daughter Elizabeth. A few months after his return, he was installed as pastor of the church, on Nov. 23, 1632, being succeeded as teacher by the celebrated Rev. John Cotton.

In the autumn of 1634, Mr. Wilson made another voyage to England, to settle the estate of his brother Edmund, but returned to Boston in Oct., 1635, and continued as pastor for thirty-five years, until his death, Aug. 7, 1667, being associated, after Mr. Cotton's death in 1652, with Rev. John Norton as teacher. During his ministry, he frequently made visits to the Indian settlements with Rev. John Eliot, the "Apostle," and labored as a missionary to the savages.

Many contemporary writers and records bear witness to the high esteem and veneration in which Rev. John Wilson was held. While not endowed with as brilliant talents as the Rev. John Cotton, he was, nevertheless, a devout, learned, zealous, and able man, and his sympathetic nature, kindness of heart, and generosity to the needy, greatly endeared him to his parishoners. Of his character, Cotton Mather says: "If the picture of this good and therein great man were to be exactly given, great zeal with great love would be the two principal strokes that joined with orthodoxy should make up his portraiture." His zeal in the "orthodoxy" of his religious views, however, was carried to intolerance and bigotry, as was commonly the case in that period of strenuous religious opinions. His portrait in oil is in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Among his published works were: "Some Helps to Faith" (London, 1625); "Famous Deliverances of the English Nation," a poem (London, 1626); a Latin poem to the memory of Rev. John Harvard; and a tract, "The Day Breaking if not the Sun Rising, of the Gospel with the Indians in New England" (1647).

Mr. Wilson's house and garden in Boston were situated on the north-west corner of the present State and Devonshire streets. Portions of this property he disposed of during his lifetime, and the remainder he deeded to his son John and daughter Mary Danforth, on May 31, 1667. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. v, fol. 233.) They sold it to Hezekiah Usher, on July 2, 1668, for £433.7.0. (Ibid, vol. x, fol. 98.) On Apr. 1, 1634, Mr. Wilson was granted two hundred acres at "Mystic" by the General Court (Mass. Colony Records, vol. i, p. 114), and this farm, covering what is now the Wellington district of Medford, he sold to Thomas Blanchard, on Feb. 12, 1650–1. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. i, fol. 223.) On Dec. 8, 1634, he was given a grant of land at Braintree, by the town of Boston, on condition that he would relinquish to the town the grant at "Mystic" by the General Court; but as he was obliged to go to considerable expense to secure a clear title, it was voted, on Dec. 4, 1635, that he be allowed the Braintree grant in addition to the Mystic grant. (Boston Town Records, Record Commissioners' Report, vol. ii, pp. 2, 6.) This Braintree grant, comprising some 750 acres, was over half a mile wide, and located on both sides of the present line of the Old Colony Rail Road, and extended from the vicinity of Squantum street in Wollaston southward to beyond Adams street in Quincy. This farm (which was rented to Alexander Marsh, Thomas Faxon, and others, for many years), Mr. Wilson gave by deed, on May 31, 1667, to his son John and daughter Mary Danforth. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. v, fol. 233.) They divided the property in 1687, Rev. John[5] Wilson, Jr., taking the southern portion, and his sister the northern part. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. xxvi, fol. 8.) The southern portion was occupied by Dr. John[6] Wilson (son of Rev. John[5] of Medfield, and grandson of Rev. John[4] of Boston) from 1692 until his death in 1728, and a small part of it continued in the possession of his lineal male descendants until the death of his grandson Dr. John[8] Wilson of Sherborn in 1756. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvi, fol. 187.)

In 1637, Rev. John[4] Wilson went as chaplain in the expedition against the Pequot Indians, and for this service received a grant of one thousand acres from the General Court, on June 6, 1639. (Mass. Colony Records, vol. 1, p. 263.) After several changes, this grant was finally located, on Oct. 16, 1660, on both sides of the Souhegan River, in the present towns of Amherst and Merrimack, N. H. (Mass. Colony Records, vol. iv, p. 442); and on Dec. 3, 1660, was sold by Mr. Wilson to Simon Lynde of Boston (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. iii, fol. 449).

His will, dated May 31, 1667, names wife Elizabeth deceased; grandson John[6] Wilson, Jr., under age, and grand-daughter Bridget[6] wife of Nicholas Prideaux, merchant, of Barbadoes, children of his deceased son Dr. Edmund[5] Wilson of London; son Rev. John[5] of Medfield; daughter Mary wife of Rev. Samuel Danforth of Roxbury; Sarah, Elizabeth, John, and Susanna, children of son John; John, Mary, Elizabeth, and Samuel, children of daughter Mary Danforth; cousin (i. e. nephew) Edward Rawson; brother (in-law) John Mansfield; cousin Mrs. Sarah Higginson; cousin Benjamin Briscoe; and cousin William Smith. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. vi, fol. 1; and REGISTER, ante, vol. xvvii, p. 343.) The total inventory was £1719. 14. 6, the Braintree farm being valued at £1300.

He married, about 1617, Elizabeth, daughter of John Mansfield, Esq., Master of the Minories and Queen's Surveyor, temp. Elizabeth, by Elizabeth his wife, and sister of Anne Mansfield wife of Capt. Robert Keayne, the founder of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston. She died in Boston in 1658, and he died Aug. 7, 1667, aged 68, and both lie buried in one tomb in King's Chapel Burial Ground.

On Sept. 24, 1650, he was ordained assistant to Rev. John Eliot of Roxbury, and continued in that office until his death, Nov. 19, 1674. Mr. Danforth was skilled in mathematics and astronomy, and published several almanacs; and also kept in the church records a journal of notable public events. He was particularly distinguished for the fervor of his piety and the purity of his life. They had twelve children. His widow m. (2) as his second wife, Joseph[1] Rock, a wealthy merchant of Boston, who d. in 1683, and she d. Sept. 13, 1713, aged 81.

THE PARENTAGE AND ENGLISH PROGENITORS OF NATHANIEL CONEY OF BOSTON, MASS.

By Thomas Hills, Esq., of Boston.

In the spring of 1778, Deacon Samuel Cony, who was born in Boston, Mass., Apr. 15, 1718, the son of Nathaniel Coney and Abigail, daughter of Thomas Skinner and widow of Ebenezer Ager, removed from Massachusetts, where from his marriage he had been a resident yeoman of Stoughton, Easton and Shutesbury, to what was then the district of Maine. He settled on the eastern bank of the Kennebec, at a place now within the limits of the city of Augusta.

Jan. 28, 1742, he married Rebecca Guild of Dedham. They had eight children, five sons and three daughters. Their second son, the fourth child, was Daniel, born Aug. 3, 1752, in that part of Stoughton now the town of Sharon. He married, Nov. 14, 1776, Susanna, daughter of Rev. Philip and Elizabeth (Bass) Curtis. They had five children, all daughters. While Maine was still a part of Massachusetts, Judge Daniel, as he is known in the family, was successively representative, senator, and councilor, and after 1820, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and of Probate in the new State. He died Jan. 21, 1842.

Samuel Cony, born Nov. 24, 1775, son of Samuel and grandson of the Deacon, was the first adjutant-general of the State of Maine. He married Susan, daughter of his uncle Daniel. They were the parents of that Samuel who, in turn, was mayor of Augusta, representative, councilor, Judge of Probate, State treasurer, and, during the civil war, Governor of the State. Another daughter, Sarah Lowell, born July 18, 1784, died Oct. 17, 1867, married, Nov. 19, 1807, Hon. Reuel Williams. Their son, Hon. Joseph H. Williams, rounded out his public service as acting governor of Maine when Hannibal Hamlin resigned as governor to take his place as a senator of the United States. From Miss M. B. Fairbanks (daughter of Hon. Joseph W. and Susan E., of Farmington, Me.) a descendant of Jason D., son of Samuel and grandson of Deacon Samuel Cony, the writer has received so much assistance in the preparation of this paper that her name ought to be placed beside his own, to indicate joint authorship. Evelina, daughter of Jason D., married Hon. Hiram Belcher, an old-time member of Congress; and their daughter Susan E. married Hon. Joseph W. Fairbanks, who gained his title as a member of the senate of Maine. Acknowledgment is also due to Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Esq., for valuable assistance, and to Mary H. Graves, for important information. It was natural that a family so distinguished should desire to know its ancestry, especially as one of its members held evidence indicating that it was entitled to coat armor. Governor Williams assumed the task of tracing its pedigree. The result of his expenditure of time and money is embodied in a work of thirty-nine pages, fifty copies of which were printed for private distribution in 1885. One of them is in the library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Its statement in relation to coat armor follows: "The crest with the 'antient coate of Conny' as seen in the Herald's Visitation of Lincolnshire, 1592, is 'a demi-coney sa. holding a pansy flower, purp. stalked and leaved, vert.' The traditional coat of arms of the family 'By the name of Coney' is still preserved and cherished by the descendants of the late Judge Cony in Augusta. It is the same as that borne on the portrait of Dr. Robert Conny painted in the year 1722 * * * and shows the family arms that were borne by Robert Conny of Godmanchester, plainly traceable to the 'antient Coate of Conny' now to be seen among the manuscripts in the British Museum. * * * The engraving was greatly prized as an heir loom by Judge Cony who had it from his father, Deacon Samuel Cony, to whom it doubtless came from his father."

The first appearance of the name of Nathaniel, the father of Deacon Samuel Cony, that Mr. Williams had been able to discover in New England records, is that of his marriage in the town of Hingham, Mass. The printed record reads: "Mr. Nathaniel Coney & Mrs. Elizabeth Greenland both of Boston, married by Daniel Cushing J. P. Oct. 11, 1699." The bride was born in Boston, May 28, 1679, the daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Greenland. Mr. Williams knew that a John Coney had been of Boston more than forty years before the marriage of his ancestor Nathaniel, and mentions him at the end of his book. That he was of Boston more than fifty years before the wedding of his son Nathaniel, appears by an item in vol. 32, page 281, of the Boston Record Commissioners' Reports, eighteen years subsequent to the publication of the Cony book by Mr. Williams. It shows an assignment by John Milom, cooper, of "John Coneyes Indenture for the term of six months," giving his service (probably as a cooper's apprentice) for that time from Dec. 12, 1649. One of the witnesses to the instrument was Robert Nash, who later became father-in-law of the young man. Mr. Williams must have examined the records relating to this John, for the birth of a Nathaniel among his children, down to the time of his death, Dec. 24, 1690. What he found in the archives of Boston follows: "1654, John Conney & Elizabeth Nash daughter of Robert Nash of Boston were married 20th—4th month (June) by Richard Bellingham Dep. Gov." The children of John and Elizabeth (Nash) Conney, who are of record, were:

John, b. in Boston, Jan. 5, 1655; m. (1) Sarah ——, who d. Apr. 17, 1694; m. (2) Nov. 8, 1694, Mary, dau. of Joshua Atwater and widow of Capt. John Clark, who d. Apr. 12, 1726.
Sarah, b. in Boston, May 22, 1660.
Joseph, b. in Boston, April 27, 1662.
Elizabeth, b. in Boston, Apr. 2, 1664; d. in Boston, June 16, 1664.
William, b. in Boston, July 5, 1665.
Thomas, b. in Boston, Sept. 26, 1667.
Mary, b. in Boston, March 10, 1668.
Rebecca, b. in Boston, June 18, 1670; m. in Boston, Dec. 7, 1692, Joylieffe Price.
Elizabeth, b. in Boston, Feb. 24, 1671; m. Apr. 11, 1705, as his second wife, Thomas Booth of Stratford, Conn.
Benjamin, b. in Boston, Oct. 16, 1673.

Robert Nash died Sept. 13, 1661. The record is silent as to the death of his wife or of his daughter who married John Conney, but Mr. Williams could have found upon gravestones in the northwest angle of Granary Burying Ground inscriptions that would have told him that Elizabeth, wife of John Conney, died Dec. 16, 1687, aged 52, and that Sarah Nash died "Nov. ye 14. 1688 aged about 89." The records of all the Coneys in New England down to the beginning of the 18th century were in eastern Massachusetts. None of them, in town, court or real estate registers, disclose the name of a Nathaniel until nine years after John Conney had died. When Mr. Williams made his investigations, all the Coneys of New England could be traced as descendants of John, except those who claimed Nathaniel as their ancestor. With the record of John's children apparently complete, naturally he came to the conclusion that Nathaniel was an emigrant, and transferred his search to England for an ancestor. The coat-of-arms on the engraving that had belonged to his great-grandfather, Deacon Samuel Cony, guided him to the east of England, and to the vicinity of old Boston in Lincolnshire. In his researches he found the record of the Dr. Robert, whose portrait painted in 1722 is still preserved in the Bodleian library at Oxford, who, dying a childless widower in 1723, left his fortune to a cousin Sarah, who was sister to a Nathanael Conny christened in 1665, concerning which Nathanael he found no trace of record of marriage or death in England. The fortunate cousin expressed her gratitude by erecting a memorial to her benefactor, embellished with the arms shown on the engraving once owned by Judge Cony of Augusta, Me. As a result of what he found, Mr. Williams stated his conclusions and belief that "the family of Conny in England was of French extraction. * * * Robert Connin, whose name stands at the head of the Conny pedigrees, came from Bayam (or Byam) in France. * * * the family in the fifteenth century was settled in South Lincolnshire. * * * There are several pedigrees of Robert's descendants in the line of eldest sons, in the British Museum, and all of them show that the Connys of Yaxley * * * were a branch of the family, through Robert, a son in the sixth generation from Robert of Byam. In this line, it is believed, came Robert of Godmanchester, a suburb of the town of Huntingdon, ten miles from Yaxley. John Conny, a surgeon in the British navy and twice mayor of Rochester, county Kent, was a son of Robert of Godmanchester, Gent. * * * He died in Aug., 1699, leaving an only son, Robert, born in 1665, who was educated at Magdalen College, Oxford," and settled in London as a physician, where he "died May 25. 1723 * * * and was buried in St. Nicholas Church in his native city. * * * The parish records of Godmanchester show that Robert Conny, the grandfather of Dr. Robert, had several other children beside John of Rochester, one of whom was Samuel, christened Oct. 5, 1634, and that Samuel by his wife Mary, had eight children, among whom were Nathanael, christened Aug. 27, 1665, and Sarah christened May 24, 1672. This record, with other historical facts, justifies the belief that our ancestor, the immigrant Nathanial, was the Nathanial above mentioned, a son of Samuel of Godmanchester, a nephew of John of Rochester, a first cousin of Dr. Robert Conny, physician in London and brother of Sarah, who set a memorial tablet in honor of her cousin Dr. Robert, in the church at Rochester." It will be noticed that Governor Williams expressed a belief, but did not claim that his investigation disclosed absolute proof. Godmanchester, in Huntingdonshire, where Nathanael Conny was christened in 1665, is about forty miles southwest of Boston in Lincolnshire.

Conclusive evidence, lately disclosed, has demonstrated that the belief that Nathaniel Coney was an emigrant has no foundation in fact. That evidence is found in two deeds noted by Miss C. H. Abbott of Andover, in her genealogical researches in the registry of Middlesex Co. They clearly prove that Nathaniel, who in 1699 married Elizabeth Greenland, was the son of John and Elizabeth (Nash) Conney, and that the search for his English ancestry must be made through that John whom Mr. Williams designated as John the cooper. The story of a successful search can best be told by first giving such a sketch of the New England life of John Coney as can be made from public records. The earliest record of him, in Dec., 1649, has already been mentioned. At the town meeting of Feb. 25, 1655, with William Dinsdale, he was chosen a packer of fish and meat and a "gager of cask," and was again chosen to that office in 1657. At the March meeting of 1669, he was chosen one of the town constables "for the yeare ensuinge." In 1672, and again in 1686 and 1687, he was one of the "Clerkes of ye market." In 1676, 1689–1690 the "Honrd Council," having in the first named year informed the selectmen that "complaint is made * * * y^{t} ye towne is in great danger of beinge Fired by ye insuffitiencie of Chimneys, & neglect of the owners," and having recommended eight citizens, of whom "Mr. John Cony" was the second named, to be inspectors impowered "to take continuall and effectuall care * * * and to amend forthwith what they finde defective as to the chimnies" and "order the seasonable sweepinge thereof," the selectmen duly appointed the nominees, and the town in the last named years, when electing these officers, put "Mr. John Cony Senr" at the head of the list. In 1677, "Jno Cony's lane" was made a bound for the walk of night watchmen. This lane was the place of Mr. Coney's residence, and is now in that part of Cross Street, from a point about midway between Endicott and Salem Streets, to North Street. In 1678–80 he was one of five "to ouersee Cord^{rs} of wood yt they be faith full in theire office," and in 1678 he was one of a committee of six (two from each church) acting for the Second Church, to receive from the inhabitants "theire subscriptions to the Colledge." The last town record relating to him reads: "1690 John Coney Senr. dyed Decr. 24." That he was a man of considerable property may be inferred from the fact that a record shows that "Philipa King servant to John Conney" was married in May, 1662, that his homestead, bought in 1658, sold for £180, that one of the bounds of this lot was land previously acquired by him which is not of record, that in 1665 he bought a considerable estate in Copp's Hill, that in 1675 he sold "the good ship called the Rebecca and Elizabeth of Boston," of which he was one-eighth owner, for £420, and that at his death he held five hundred acres of land in the town of Dunstable. It is remarkable, under these conditions and the fact that he left a family of heirs, that his estate did not pass through the probate court, and still more remarkable that in less than five months from the date of his death his son John and daughters Rebecca and Mary (recorded as Mercy) sold the homestead estate without other signatures to the deed than their own, except that of "Thomas Walter Administrator of the said John Coney dec^{ed}," who does not again appear in any record as acting in that capacity. The instrument of conveyance was an indenture with warranty against all persons. The grantee undoubtedly rested on the warranty of John, a goldsmith, whose estate, when he died, Aug. 20, 1722, inventoried about £4,000. It is regrettable that out of his abundant means he did not put a stone at his father's grave beside that which marks the resting place of his mother. John the goldsmith was the father of four sons and seven daughters. Two sons and two daughters died young. Of the survivors, Sarah was married to Samuel Gerrish, Anna to the Rev. Thomas Foxcroft, Mehitable to Francis Foxcroft, Mary to Seth Storer, and Abigail to Edward Bromfield. It is an interesting fact that Paul Revere senior (father of the Paul of the midnight ride of April 19, 1775), born in Europe of French parentage, Nov. 30, 1702, who came to Boston when thirteen years old, was apprenticed to John Coney to learn the trade of goldsmith. Records found in Middlesex Co. deeds determined that Nathaniel Coney was the son of John the cooper and brother of John the goldsmith. The date of his birth has not been discovered, but the present investigation has disclosed that of his death. Born in Boston, and clearly resident of the town till 1720, his children born in Sudbury, Rehoboth, and Stoughton in 1722, '24, '27 and '28, are of record among the Boston births. Among the early court files of Suffolk Co., Mass., there is preserved the original inquisition made in Boston, Nov. 20, 1742, "In the sixteenth year of the reign of * * * George ye second, before James Devonport one of the coroners of our said Lord the King * * * upon the view of the body of Nathaniel Coney then and there being dead." The fourteen jurors who signed the inquisition rendered as their verdict: "that the sayd Nathaniel Coney on the nineteenth Instant, being in his house in Boston aforesaid, by the act of God suddenly came to his Death." This finding must be deemed conclusive, notwithstanding that the records of the South Church of Dedham contain this memorandum, which is evidently an interlineation: "1744. Died Mr. Nathaniel Coney of this church." Nathaniel Coney married Elizabeth Greenland, Oct. 11, 1699. She died May 7, 1711. Their children were:

John, b. in Boston, Jan. 14, 1700; d. Aug. 20, 1726.
An infant, b. in Boston, July 5, 1702; d. unnamed.
An infant, b. in Boston, Apr. 4, 1704; d. unnamed.
Nathaniel, b. in Boston, Dec. 18, 1705; d. Feb. 2, 1779.
Daniel, b. in Boston, Oct. 17, 1709; m. Aug. 2, 1733, Sarah Jones.
Sarah, b. in Boston, Mar. 20, 1711; m. Ebenezer Holmes.

Nathaniel Coney married, as his second wife, Abigail, daughter of Thomas Skinner and widow of Ebenezer Ager. The record of her first marriage reads: "Ebenezer Ager and Abigail Skinner, married by Mr. Cotton Mather Mar. 1, 1703;" that of her second, "Nathanll Coney and Abigail Ager, married by Rev. Mr. Eben'r Pemberton, Presbytn. Sept. 6, 1711." The children of Nathaniel and Abigail (Skinner-Ager) Coney were:

Abigail, b. in Boston, July 28, 1712; m. Michael Lowell of Boston.
Thomas, b. in Boston, July 2, 1714; d. May 16, 1749.
Elizabeth, b. in Boston, May 15, 1716; m. Joseph Pittee of Walpole.
Samuel, b. in Boston, Apr. 15, 1718; m. Rebecca Guild of Dedham.
Mary, b. in Boston, Mar. 18, 1720; m. Samuel Pittee of Walpole.
Priscilla, b. in Sudbury, Apr; 2, 1722; unmarried.
Joseph, b. in Rehoboth, May 8, 1724; m. Sarah Savell of Roxbury.
William, b. in Rehoboth, Mar. 29, 1726; m. Mehitable Ellis of Dedham.
Anna, b. in Stoughton, Sept. 23, 1728; m. as his second wife, Aaron Guild of Dedham.

Abigail (Skinner-Ager) Coney died before Dec. 27, 1736, at which date Nathaniel Coney married Mary Royal of Boston, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Thomas Foxcroft, the husband of his niece Mary. That the thrice married Nathaniel was the son of John Coney the cooper is clearly proved by two Middlesex Co. deeds, as stated previously in this article. By the first, dated Mar. 4, 1716, "John Coney of Boston * * * goldsmith eldest son and joint heir of John Coney of Boston aforesaid deceased," conveys to his brother all the land "laid out to Mr. John Coney * * * five hundred acres on the north east side of Merrimack River in the township of Dunstable," and the grantor recites, "whereas the said John Coney deceased left several children heires to the said lot as well as his other estate: now know ye that I the said John Coney eldest son as aforesaid, out of that love and affection which I have and do bear unto my brother Nathaniel Coney of Boston aforesaid, Taylor, Have granted," etc. The second deed, dated Jan. 23, 1716–17, is from "Nathaniel Coney of Boston in the county of Suffolk in New England, Taylor," and Abigail his wife, to Thomas Hutchinson of Boston. It conveys the same five hundred acres and recites, "I the said Nathaniel Coney do covenant that * * * I am the true sole and legal owner of the said land * * * partly in right of my father John Coney late of said Boston, Cooper, who died seized thereof in fee, and the remainder was given and granted to me by my brothers John and Benjamin Coney and my sister Elizabeth Booth, who were children and heirs of my said father."

The line to an English emigrant is clear for all the descendants of Nathaniel Coney; it only remains to show the English parentage. That it will be found that the immigrant was from Lincolnshire, can be inferred from the fact that the compiler of the Cony book found that the family was settled in that shire as early as the fifteenth century; and that, although in our day those carrying its name are not numerous in that county, its surname being an uncommon one, it is the only shire in England in which a sufficient number of Coneys reside to bring the name within the classification made by Mr. Henry Brougham Guppy, in 1890, in his "Homes of Family Names in Great Britain." In his work, that gentleman took the farmers of the land as the "most stay at home class," and by the directories of the various counties classified their names where he found that they exceeded seven in ten thousand. His sixth and lowest classification is of "Peculiar names, which are mostly confined to one county and generally to a particular parish or division of that county." In this class he places the name Coney, eight farmers carrying it among ten thousand yeomen of Lincolnshire.

Acknowledgment has been made of the assistance of Mr. Bartlett in the preparation of this article. Continued investigations by him, after it was ready for the printer, have conclusively proved what had been determined beyond a reasonable doubt concerning John Coney who in 1654 married Elizabeth Nash; and the result of his search has been incorporated with what had already been written.

The Rev. John Cotton, who for more than twenty years was vicar of the parish of St. Botolph's in Boston, Lincolnshire, arrived at Boston in New England, Sept. 3, 1633. He was born in Derby, England, baptized there Dec. 15, 1584, and died at Boston, Mass., Dec. 15, 1652. His will, probated in Suffolk Co., contains this clause: "I give unto hir my well beloved wife, first all rents of hir house & garden in ye market place of Boston in Lincolnshire, wch are myne by right of marryage with hir during my life. Item. I give unto hir what moneys were left in my brother Coneyes hand, & are now in ye use of my sister Mary Coneye his wife or my cosigne John Coneye their sonne, so far as my pcell yt of Remaynēth in their hand." Volume IV of the Heraldic Journal shows that his father was Roland Cotton, of the eleventh generation from his earliest known paternal ancestor. The list of his children, as given, is:

Mary, bapt. 1 Sept., 1583; m. Robert Bamford.
John, bapt. 15 Dec., 1584.
Roland, bapt. 17 Mar., 1588.
Thomas, bapt. 19 May, 1594.

Mr. Pishey Thomson, in his History and Antiquities of Boston, England, quotes the clause of Rev. John Cotton's will, and evidently relied on it literally, and in another part, referring to the children of Roland Cotton, states that his daughter "Mary—younger than John, was married to Mr. Thomas Coney Town Clerk of Boston and survived her husband. She was burried 15 Jan. 1655." This statement will be shown to be erroneous both as to fact and date.

A correspondence with the vicar of St. Botolph's, which began in February and continued to July, 1906, has given information which, added to that on this side of the Atlantic, satisfactorily accounts for the presence of John Coney in New England, and to determine his parentage. "Anthony Hawkredd of Boston, gentleman," was forty-four years old at the time of his second marriage, in July, 1615. His birth year must have been about 1571. In his will, dated Aug. 12, 1626, he mentions sons Anthony, John and Samuel. Assuming that they were named in the order of their birth, they were all born after 1606, for "Anthony Hawkredd of Boston, gentleman, æt 18," was duly licensed to marry Jane Aiscough, Sept. 14, 1625. The elder Anthony had three daughters, whose marriage dates indicate that they were older than their brothers. Mary married Thomas Coney who became town clerk of Boston about 1620. Thomson says the marriage was in 1618. The parish register of St. Botolph's has record of the marriage of "William Story and Sara Hawkrit May 11, 1619," and of "John Conye and Elizabeth Hawkred Dec. 16, 1624." The testator of the will of Aug., 1626, mentions daughters Mary wife of Thomas Coney, and Elizabeth wife of John Coney. Thomas and John were brothers. The baptismal record is clear as to the first named; it reads in the parish register: "Feb. 21, 1599, Thomas Conie son of John Conie." As to that of his brother, the vicar's clerk writes: "that of John, I cannot come across, altho I have made a careful search, I send a tracing of the one which may be it; but one line is so run into another that I am not certain it is. '21 Oct. 1596. John son of John Conoke,' or it may be Conie; I cannot tell. You will see the tails of the line above go right through the name." The clerk correctly describes the obscurity, though it requires the help of one's imagination to see the resemblance of a k entangled in the loop of a y or a z of the line above. The marriage licenses of Lincolnshire contain this item: "1624—Nov. 29, John Coney of * * * æt. 26 and Elizabeth Hawkred of same, Sp^{r} [Boston]." The printed page shows clearly that the scribe that prepared the copy for the press could not read all of the crabbed script, and as to the residence of the young candidates for matrimony, could only guess that a certain jumble of lines was intended for the written word Boston. In modern writing it is easy to mistake an 8 and read it as 6. It is safe to conclude that the copyist was not as successful in reading the unit figure in the numerals that expressed John Coney's age as he was in guessing the place of his home. Ann, daughter of John Coney, died in Feb., 1652. A record of burial, in the Register of St. Botolph, which reads, "Mrs. Ann Cunny, widow, 9 May 1652," doubtless is that of the interment of the child's grandmother.

William Story, the husband of Sarah Hawkredd, was buried at Boston, Mar. 16, 1628, and on the 25th Apr., 1632, she married Rev. John Cotton whose first wife had died. So it was because Thomas Coney was husband of his wife's sister that Mr. Cotton left moneys in his "brother Coneye's hand," referred to his wife as "my sister Mary Coneye," and to his nephew by marriage as "my cosigne John Coneye their sonne."

Following first the line of Thomas the town clerk, and that of his son John who succeeded him in his office, the parish record shows the baptism of the first child of Thomas and Mary (Hawkredd) Coney, which reads:

"John, son of Thomas Coney, gent. baptised Nov. 28, 1619." The father held his town office from 1620 to 1647. Thompson says he died July 31, 1649. The register of St. Botolph's has this record: "John Conny and Ann Mitchell married by license 16 Jan. 1638." This was the John who succeeded his father as town clerk. He died not later than 1653.

A letter from the town clerk of old Boston, dated May 24, 1906, justifies the inference that the office is much less important than in the municipalities of New England. To a request that he give the first and last date of service of the younger Coney as clerk of the town, and a tracing of his signature for comparison with an autograph found in the early court files of Essex Co., he answered that, for the period named (1647–1653), the only reference he could find to a Coney was "his name in the index and the page to which such index refers is not in the book." Nor could he give a tracing of the signature of the scribe of the seventeenth century, "as the minutes of the proceedings of meetings are signed by the chairman and not by the town clerk." In this connection it may be stated that the autograph of John the cooper was annexed to the return of a writ dated at Boston Jan. 19, 1669, which required "the marshall of the County of Suffolk or his deputy or a constable of Boston * * * to attach the goods and for want thereof the body of William Cotton, and to take bond of him to the value of £20 * * * for his appearance at the next court to be held at Ipswich, then and there to answer the complaint of Paull White in an action for debt."

The return was endorsed on the writ. The writing, clear and easily read, indicates that the writer had an education much above the average of that of the business men of that date. Exception, however, might be taken by advocates of simplified spelling to his orthography, for he states that he "attached the booddy of William Cotton * * * and committed him to prison: for want of baile." Considering the many different spellings of the Coney surname, it will be interesting to his descendants to know that his official signature was written John Conney.

Jane, bapt. Jan. 24, 1640; buried June 25, 1642.
Raphell, bapt. Oct. 16, 1643; buried Mar. 16, 1647.
Ann, bapt. June 11, 1648. The record of her burial reads: "Ann ye dau. of John Cuny-gent. 28 Feb. 1652."

That John and Ann Coney had another daughter whose baptism is not of record, or if recorded not found by the parish clerk, appears from an entry which reads:

Mary, dau. of John Cuny, gent., bur. Aug. 18, 1649.

The second son of Thomas and Mary (Hawkredd) Coney was "Anthonie * * * bapt. 1 Aug. 1622," and no subsequent record relating to him was found.

The third and youngest son of those parents was "Raphell, son of Thomas Conny, gent., bapt. Dec. 6, 1629." His burial record reads "Raphael, son of Thomas Cony, 26 Dec. 1642."

The closing record of this line is among the baptisms:

"John, ye soon of John Cunny gent. lait deceased, 1 June 1654."

The only John Coney of the line of Thomas and Mary, who was living in 1654, was an infant when John the cooper married Elizabeth Nash in New England.

The late William S. Appleton, in an article in the REGISTER, ante, vol. 53, page 301, gives the following valuable note from a will: "Mary Cony of Boston, Lincolnshire, widow, reverend and dear brother Mr. John Cotton of New England, sisters Cotton & Makepeace, John & Elizabeth, children of late brother Samuel Hawcrid, cousin Dr. Tuckney, sons Samuel & John, 1652, proved 1653." This proves that Thompson was in error in stating that Mary wife of Thomas Coney died in 1655.

Following now the line of John Coney (son of John and brother of Thomas), who was born 1596, and in 1624 married Elizabeth Hawkredd, the parish register is silent as to the wife, but closes the career of the husband with the record: "John Cony, gent. buried April 6, 1630."

Their children are of record as follows:

Marie, dau. of John Conie, bapt. Oct. 9, 1625.
Mary, dau. of John Cony, bur. Dec. 10, 1625.
Marie, dau. of John Conny, bapt. June 28, 1627.
Mary, dau. of John Coney, bur. Aug. 16, 1627.
John, son of John Connie, bapt. July 17, 1628.
Marie, dau. of John Conny, bapt. May 2, 1630.

So it appears that in 1654, among the descendants of Anthony Hawkredd, there were but two John Coneys living: one the infant grandson of his daughter Mary, and the other the John baptized July 17, 1628, who was the only son of his daughter Elizabeth. At that date, all but one of the sisters of the latter John Coney were dead, as were all his cousins the children of Thomas and Mary (Hawkredd) Coney, with the possible exception of that Anthony who was baptized in Aug., 1622. John's father had died when he was less than two years old; his mother soon married Oliver Mellows. The marriage was probably in England. It is not of record in Boston, New England, where Dec. 7, 1634, Samuel, son of Oliver Mellows, was baptized, and where in 1636 Martha, and in 1638 Mary, his sisters, were also baptized. Rev. John Cotton, in his will of 1652, wrote: "I give to my kinswoman Martha Mellows the sume of five marks." Some two years later she became, by marriage, Martha Waters. Pope, in his "Pioneers of Massachusetts," says that Oliver Mellows of Boston and his wife were admitted to the church in July, 1634; that he died at Braintree; that administration of his estate was granted to his widow, in Dec., 1638, and that she subsequently married Thomas Makepeace. The Makepeace Genealogy states that "It appears that Mr. Makepeace lived (1641) at Dorchester. * * He married, about this time, Mrs. Elizabeth Mellowes, of Boston, for his second wife; for in the records of the First Church, Boston, is found the following: 'The 25th day of ye 5th Mon: 1641. Mrs. Elizabeth Makepeace, lately called Mrs. Elizabeth Mellowes, but now ye wife of Mr. Makepeace, of Dorchester, was granted ire of Recommendation thether.'" This work gives the death of her third husband as of Jan. or Feb., 1667. So it appears that his widow at his death was the mother of John and Mary Coney, and of Samuel, Martha, and Mary Mellows. Mary Coney, born in England in 1630, married James Dennis; and the marriages of Martha Mellows to Joseph Waters, and of Mary Mellows to Emanuel Springfield, are of record in Boston. The Springfields evidently returned to England. The will of Thomas Makepeace mentions "his well beloved wife Elizabeth," and contains this item: "I give to my wife's three daughters, vizt. unto Mary, the wife of James Dennis of Boston, and to Martha, the wife of Joseph Waters of Milford, and to Mary the wife of Emanuell Springfield in Old England, * * * to each and every of them * * * the sume of fifty shillings."

Sarah Hawkredd, who married first William Story and then the Rev. John Cotton, married, for her third husband, the Rev. Richard Mather, pastor to the church of Dorchester. Gov. John Endicott was the magistrate who united them, on Aug. 26, 1656. That she retained her property in England appears from her marriage settlement, dated July 8, 1656, and her will, dated May 3, 1670, probated in 1676. The later instrument contained these bequests: "To my sister Makepeace one gown if she survive me. * * * I give to my sisters children John, Mary and Martha, to each of them a book."

The combination of the several personal indentifications shown in the wills of the Rev. John Cotton, Mary (Hawkredd) Coney, and her sister Sarah (Hawkredd-Story-Cotton) Mather, and of Thomas Makepeace, would, without other evidence, establish the fact that Elizabeth (Hawkredd-Coney-Mellows) Makepeace left England soon after the death of her first husband, and shows her relationship, and that of the two little children she brought with her to her new home, to these different testators and to her second husband. And the evidence, taken as a whole, determines beyond question that the two neices mentioned in their Aunt Sarah's will were Mary (Coney) Dennis and Martha (Mellows) Waters, and that the nephew to whom she bequeathed a book was that John Coney who was baptized in Boston, Lincolnshire, July 17, 1628, and who married, in Boston, New England, June 20, 1654, Elizabeth Nash.

JOHN BAILEY OF HADDAM, CONN., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Louis Marinus Dewey, Esq., of Westfield, Mass.

1. John[1] Bailey was viewer of chimneys and ladders at Hartford in 1648, a constable in Mar., 1656–7, was made freeman in May, 1657, and moved to Haddam, about 1662, as one of the 28 original purchasers. His will was dated June 17, 1696, and the inventory, amounting to £186. 10. 6, was taken Aug. 29, 1696. He gave to sons John, Benjamin, and Nathaniel his land at Higganum; mentioned daughter Elizabeth Clark and son Thomas Clark; and daughters Lydia, Susanna, and Mary. He lived at Higganum, in the northern part of Haddam. His wife was probably Lydia, daughter of Thomas Smith of Haddam. (See Early Conn. Probate Rec., vol. i, page 234.)

Children:

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND.

Communicated, for the Committee on English Research, by JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT, Esq.

THE Committee on English Research of the New England Historic Genealogical Society has had extensive gleaning done in the Probate Courts at Peterborough, England, in an endeavor to find references by testators to kinsfolk in America. The various courts at Peterborough cover the counties of Cambridge, Huntingdon, and Rutland, and parts of Bedford, Hertford, Northampton, and Suffolk.

Beginning about the year 1640, the calendars of the following courts at Peterborough have been examined, viz.: The Archdeaconry of Ely (co. Cambridge), 1639–1661; the Consistory of Ely, 1643–1650; the Consistory of Peterborough, 1640–1664; the Archdeaconry of Northampton, 1639–1646; and the Archdeaconry of Huntingdon, 1643–1645. From the calendars of these courts, covering the above years, a list was made of all testators bearing any family name to be found in New England before the year 1700; and this list, giving the names and residences of over one thousand testators, the date of execution or probate of the will, and the number of the register and folio where the will is enrolled, is now in the library of the Society.

The wills, in the list, are divided among the various courts as follows: Archdeaconry of Ely, 232; Consistory of Ely, 266; Consistory of Peterborough, 404; Archdeaconry of Northampton, 28; Archdeaconry of Huntingdon, 75. All these wills have been read, and abstracts are herewith given of those in which there were any references to persons away from home or whose whereabouts were apparently unknown.

Witnesses: Phillip Cranke, Margery Stevens. 6 Nov., 1645, at the Hole commonly called the Checker in the town of Buckden, before John Jackson, LL.B., Surrogate, personally appeared Mary Stevens sister of said Owen Stevens deceased, being of the age of 19 years or thereabouts, and chose as her guardian John Nettles of Spaldwicke, co. Huntingdon, clerk, to whom administration was granted during the minority of said Mary Stevens. (Archdeaconry of Huntingdon, Register No. 23, fol. 122.)

[There were several emigrants named John Stevens early in New England.]

The following extracts from the Domestic State Papers of the reign of Charles I., now preserved at the Public Record Office, London, England, give the locations in England, heretofore unknown, whence came several early colonists of New England.

State Papers (Domestic Series), 1638, vol. cccc, Oct. 20, No. 67. Certificate of Edward Duke, sheriff of Suffolk, of returns made to him of defaulters to the ship-money tax for 1637. Among the defaulters were the following:—

Hundred of Wangford, ——— Garret, a tanner, gone to New England.

Hundred of Wangford, St. Michael's, Geo. Barrell, gone to New England.

Hundred of Lothingland, Bradwell, William Ballard, gone to New England.

Hundred of Blithing, Wrentham, Henry Chickren, gone to New England.

Hundred of Blithing, South Cove, William Bury, gone to New England.

Hundred of Loes, Framlingham, Francis Baylie, gone to New England.

[Of the above emigrants, ——— Garret, tanner, is probably Henry Garrold, tanner, who bought a house in Boston, Mass., of James Hawkins, on Nov. 5, 1638 (Second Report, Boston Record Commissioners, page 37). George Barrell appears in Boston in 1638. Two William Ballards appear early in New England, one, born about 1603, settled in Lynn, and the other, born about 1617, first appears at Newbury, whence he removed to Andover. Henry Chickering was of Salem, Mass., in 1639, but settled in Dedham, Mass., the next year. The vicar of Wrentham was John Phillips, who was in Dedham, Mass., in 1638, but returned to England in 1641. William Bury and Francis Bayley are not found among the settlers of New England.]

State Papers (Domestic Series), 1638–9, vol. ccccxii, Feb. 2, No. 10. A letter from Alexander Davyson, Mayor of Newcastle-on-Tyne, co. Northumberland, to Secretary Windebank concerning arrest and examination of Giles Bittleston, in regard to John Fenwick and Thomas Bittleston accused of treason, having subscribed to the Scotch covenant. The letter states that the house of Giles Bittleston was searched, and among his papers was a letter from Edward Hall to the prisoner, and also the following letter:

"To Thos. Cheasman or Edward Winshop, in New Town, New England. I entreat your kindness on behalf of my brother William, both in regard to spiritual and temporal directions, for times are so evil that we are in no certainty of getting away next spring; we may fear we shall have to set our time, and bless God for those that he has plucked like firebrands from the burning. Love to all I write to, which is Thos. Cheasman [Chesholm], William Cutter, Edward Winshop, and Guy Bainbridge. 1st Sept., 1638."

[This letter, presumably written by Giles Bittleston but not dispatched, evidently refers to William Bittleston who was in Cambridge, Mass., before 1638; and all the individuals to whom love was sent were in Cambridge before 1638, and were evidently former friends of the writer at Newcastle-on-Tyne. Thomas Bittleston, the Scotch covenanter, was probably a brother of Giles and William, and very likely the same Thomas Bittleston who was in Cambridge, Mass., in 1638. Edward Hall of Cambridge, in 1638, was doubtless the writer of the other letter referred to above.]

Communicated by CHARLES HENRY WIGHT, Esq., of New York City.

1. THOMAS[1] TARBELL, the ancester of all the early Tarbell families of New England, settled in Watertown as early as 1647, at which time he is mentioned on the town records as owning land. Mar. 30, 1663, he and wife, Mary, sold his house and land there, and removed to Groton, where she died Apr. 29, 1674, aged 54 years. The family retired from Groton to Charlestown at the destruction of the former town during King Philip's war, and there he married second, Aug. 15, 1676, Susanna, widow of John Lawrence, and died of the small pox, June 11, 1678. Administration upon his estate was granted to his son, John, Aug. 17, 1678. The settlement of his estate, as contained in two papers in the Middlesex Co. Court Files, bearing dates of May 31, 1680, and Mar. 18, 1680–1, shows the following

Children:

2. i. THOMAS.[2]
   ii. MARY, d. Apr. 26, 1676; m. July 3, 1665, Jonathan Sawtell of Groton.
   iii. SARAH, aged 33 in Oct., 1681; m. before May 31, 1680, Cornelius Church of Groton and Charlestown. The Groton records state that he m. June 4, 1670, Mary ———, which may be an error for Sarah. She d. a widow, at Salem, 1715. In her will, dated July 1, 1698, proved July 18, 1715, she bequeathed two-thirds of her lands at Groton to James Bennett, "my fisters Son", and the other one-third to Samuel Cutler, Jr., of Salem, "who married my Sisters daughter". The latter was Sarah Sawtell.
   iv. ABIGAIL, was living 1719; m. in Watertown, "laft of September", 1672, Joshua Whitney of Watertown and Groton.
3. v. JOHN.
   vi. ELIZABETH, b. Jan. 5, 1656–7; d. July 25, 1684; m. Feb. 4, 1680–1, James Bennett of Charlestown.
   vii. WILLIAM, b. Feb. 26, 1658–9; was living Apr. 5, 1681, but probably d. soon after, as no further trace of him has been found.
   viii. MARTHA, was unmarried Mar. 2, 1682–3, when she disposed of a part of her share in her father's estate. She was undoubtedly the Martha Tarbell who m. in Salem, May 18, 1685, Thomas Mitchell.

2. THOMAS[2] TARBELL (Thomas[1]) was, with his father, an original proprietor of Groton. He married there, June 30, 1666, Hannah or Anna, daughter of William[1] and Joanna Longley of Groton. After the destruction of that town during King Philip's war, he and his family removed to Charlestown, where they lived in the family of Samuel Leman, whose wife was a sister of Hannah. Oct. 28, 1677, Anna, wife of Thomas Tarbell, Jr., was admitted to the church in Charlestown. Thomas died there of the small pox, Apr. 27, 1678, and administration upon his estate was granted to his widow, Dec. 18, 1678. She did not long survive him, but died at Groton, Dec. 29, 1680, a month after the death of her father, William Longley. Her mother, Joanna Longley, and brother, William Longley, were appointed administrators of her estate, Apr. 5, 1681, but no settlement of either estate has been found.

Children, recorded at Groton:

4. i. THOMAS,[3] b. July 6, 1667.
   ii. ANNA, b. June 10, 1670; d. Dec. 19, 1732; m. Nov. 9, 1687, John Lawrence of Lexington. She is named in the will of her grandmother, Joanna Crisp formerly Longley, who d. 1698.

iii. WILLIAM, b. Oct. 1, 1672; d. June, 1693, a "souldier at the Eastward" (Danvers Church records).

iv. MARY, b. Apr. 2, 1675. Perhaps the Mary Tarbell who m. in Salem, Dec. 7, 1705, James Smith, and who is mentioned in the will of John[2] Tarbell, but no relationship is expressed.

3. JOHN[2] TARBELL (Thomas[1]) was probably born at Watertown about 1654, although there is no record of his birth. He married at Salem, Oct. 25, 1678, Mary Nurse, daughter of Francis and that unfortunate Rebecca Nurse who was hanged for witchcraft in 1692. They lived at Salem Village, now Danvers, in which parish the Salem Witchcraft delusion first appeared. As a result of the persecutions, John Tarbell and his wife and a few others, mostly relatives of the accused, withdrew from communion and attendance at the Salem Village church. This was the beginning of the remonstrance of the people against Rev. Samuel Parris as their minister, which resulted in his dismissal from that church in 1697. In this movement, John Tarbell bore a prominent part.

Before his marriage, and while living in Charlestown, John enlisted as a soldier in King Philip's war. For his services his heirs, represented by his son Cornelius, received in 1728 a grant of land in Narragansett No. 3, now Amherst, N. H. John[2] was styled "Ensign." He died at Salem Village, Mar. 25, 1715, in his 62d year. His will, made two days before his death, names his wife Mary and all of his children, his three daughters being then unmarried; also he left a small sum to Mary, wife of James Smith. Her maiden name being Tarbell, she may have been his niece, daughter of Thomas[2] Tarbell, although no relationship is expressed in the will. Mary, widow of John, lived to a good old age, and died June 28, 1749, in her 90th year.

5. i. JOHN,[3] b. Aug. 9, 1680; bapt. Apr. 27, 1690.

ii. MARY, b. Apr. 3, 1688; bapt. Apr. 27, 1690; m. as his second wife, June 23, 1725, Abraham Goodale of Salem.

6. iii. CORNELIUS, b. Mar. 25, 1690; bapt. Apr. 27, 1690.

iv. JONATHAN, b. Feb. 21, 1691; bapt. Oct. 30, 1692; d. unmarried, between May 18, 1715, and June 18, 1718. He gave one half of his estate to his mother, thence to revert to his brothers and sisters, the other half to Elizabeth Mitchell, provided she remained unmarried.

v. ELIZABETH, b. Mar. 22, 1693-4; d. at Bedford, May 29, 1752; m. Feb. 1, —— (prob. 1721-2), Obed Abbott of Bedford.

vi. SARAH, b. Oct. 2, 1696; d. Apr. 12, 1767, at Bedford; m. Feb. 7, 1715-16, Benjamin Hutchinson of Bedford.

4. THOMAS[3] TARBELL (Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Groton, Dec. 1, 1686, Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel and Alice (Rushton) Woods, who was born Sept. 17, 1665. They lived at Groton, where he was town clerk, 1704-1705. Thomas was chosen Deacon of the church at Groton, Apr. 22, 1715, and died at Lexington, where his sister Anna was living, Oct. 8 of the same year, being buried in that town. His will, dated Sept. 26 before his death, names his wife and all of his children, provision being made for his three children, John, Zachary and Sarah, in the event of their return from captivity. Elizabeth, his widow, died before Mar. 11, 1717-18, as shown by papers relating to the estate.

Children, born at Groton:

7. i. THOMAS,[4] b. Sept. 15, 1687.
8. ii. WILLIAM, b. June 10, 1689.
iii. ELIZABETH, b. Aug. 19, 1691; d. Dec. 23, 1763; m. Joseph Willard of Lancaster.
iv. SARAH, b. Sept. 29, 1693; taken captive by the Indians, June 20, 1707; d. unmarried in Canada.*
v. JOHN, b. July 6, 1695; taken captive by the Indians, June 20, 1707; m. in Canada and had Indian descendants.*
9. vi. SAMUEL, b. Oct. 14, 1697.
vii. ZACHARIAH, b. Jan. 25, 1699–1700; taken captive by the Indians, June 20, 1707; m. in Canada and had Indian descendants.*
viii. ANNA, b. May 28, 1702; d. Nov. 27, 1753; m. Mar. 8, 1721–2, Eleazer Green, Jr.
ix. JAMES, b. Feb. 13, 1704–5; was alive at his father's decease, but had d. prior to May 16, 1729, when his brother, Eleazer Tarbell, sold with other property his interest in James's estate.
10. x. ELEAZER, b. Apr. 28, 1707.

5. JOHN[3] TARBELL (John,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Salem, Aug. 21, 1705, Hannah, daughter of John Flint. He lived at Salem Village until about 1727, when he removed with his family to Billerica. On Sept. 6, 1754, John made his will, "Being in about the Seventy fifth year of my age," naming his wife Hannah, eldest son William, sons John, Thomas, David, Jonathan, daughters Anna Parker, Elizabeth Horsley and Mary Marshall. According to the Billerica town records, "Mr John Tarbell Departed this Life February the 5. 1757: about 77 years & a half old", and "Mrs Hannah Tarbell wido of Mr John Tarbell Departed this life Decr 14. 1779. Aged 94 years and eight months."

Children, recorded at Salem:

11. i. WILLIAM,[4] b. Sept. 3, ——;† bapt. at Salem Village church, Oct. 5, 1707.
12. ii. JOHN, b. July 28, ——.†
iii. THOMAS, b. Aug. 5, ——;† bapt. Salem Village, Oct. 12, 1712; was living at Billerica, 1733, but was not there in 1755, according to tax lists. He was alive when his father made his will in 1754, but no further trace of him has been found.

6. CORNELIUS[3] TARBELL (John,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Salem, Mar. 5, 1712–13, Mary Sharp. Her father's name was probably Robert Sharp, and her mother was Mary, daughter of Lieut. William French of Billerica. As the heir of his father, he received a grant of land in Souhegan West, now Amherst, N. H., and apparently lived there some years, for his name is found there in connection with town affairs during the years 1735, '38, '41, '44, and '47. While there, he appears as "Deacon." He returned to Mass. before 1750, and died at Danvers, Aug. 2, 1765. No will or settlement of his estate has been found.

Children, recorded at Salem:

i. SARAH,[4] b. Aug. 31, 1718; d. at Amherst, N. H., Sept., 1809, aged 91; m. at Salem, Jan. 6, 1747–8, Samuel Stewart of Souhegan West, now Amherst, N. H.
15. ii. JONATHAN, b. Feb. 14, 1719–20.
16. iii. CORNELIUS, b. Mar. 29, 1721–2.
iv. DAVID, b. Dec. 6, 1723. Administration upon the estate of David Tarbell, late of Salem, now Danvers, was granted to his father, Dea. Cornelius Tarbell, June 7, 1754. No further probate record, and no record of any family at Salem or Danvers has been found.
v. MARY, b. May 31, 1726; d. May, 1730.
17. vi. NATHANIEL, b. Feb. 15, 1728–9.
vii. WILLIAM, b. Jan. 24, 1730.
viii. MARY, b. Apr. 20, 1733.
ix. RUTH, b. Mar. 27, 1739.

7. THOMAS[4] TARBELL (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married in his native town, Jan. 1, 1716–17, Abigail, daughter of Samuel and Abigail (Lakin) Parker, who was born Aug. 22, 1696, and who was living at the death of her husband. They lived at Groton, where Thomas was town clerk, 1731–1733, 1745–1756. He was also a Captain. He died at Groton, May 30, 1757, leaving a will, dated the 4th of May before his death, wherein he named his wife Abigail, eldest son Thomas, sons Jonathan and David, and daughters Abigail Fairbank, Sarah Farnsworth and Esther Tarbell.

Children,* born at Groton:

18. i. THOMAS,[5] b. Feb. 2, 1719.
ii. ABIGAIL, b. June 6, 1722; d. Apr. 12, 1798; m. as his second wife, Oct. 4, 1749, Joseph Fairbank of Harvard.
iii. SARAH, b. Apr. 14, 1726; m. Dec. 14, 1749, Oliver Farnsworth.
19. iv. JONATHAN, b. Feb. 27, 1727–8.
v. EUNICE, b. Mar. 7, 1730–1; d. Nov. 10, 1751.
20. vi. DAVID, b. Aug. 21, 1732.
vii. EMMA, b. June 16, 1734; d. Nov. 3, 1751.
viii. SOLOMON, b. Mar. 11, 1736-7; d. y.
ix. ESTHER, b. May 4, 1738; m. Mar. 11, 1760, John Houghton of Harvard.

8. WILLIAM[4] TARBELL (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]), of Groton, married before Nov. 11, 1716, at which time they owned the covenant, Mary, born Jan. 5, 1696, daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Prescott) Farnsworth, and sister of the wife of Samuel[4] Tarbell, William's brother. William was a Lieutenant. He died Dec. 26, 1757, and she died Feb. 29, 1784, each leaving a will.

Children, born at Groton:

i. SARAH,[5] bapt. Aug. 18, 1717; d. young.
21. ii. WILLIAM, b. June 26, 1719.
iii. MARY, b. Sept. 14, 1721; m. Oct. 6, 1741, Daniel Shed.
22. iv. JOHN, b. Aug. 19, 1723.

* Butler's History of Groton and Bond's History of Watertown assign to this Thomas a first wife Hannah, and three children, viz.: Hannah, b. July 1, 1702; Rachel, b. Dec. 8, 1704; and Sarah, b. Nov. 20, 1707. At the time of these births, there were but two Thomas Tarbells living at Groton: Thomas[4] above, and his father, Thomas.[3] No mention is made of these children in the wills of either Thomas. If the above family belongs to Thomas,[4] he would have been less than 15 years of age at the birth of the first child, the wife Hannah must have died before 1717, while there is no further record of the children.

23. v. JAMES, b. Oct. 11, 1725.
    vi. ELIZABETH, b. May 2, 1728; was living when her father in his will, 1754, calls her "my poore Dater Elifebath Tarbell who is in a grate mefuer bereft of her Reffon". She is not named in the will of her mother, 1772, and evidently had d. before that time.
    vii. ALICE, b. Mar. 4, 1729-30; d. Nov. 29, 1781; m. Oct. 18, 1749, Benjamin Bancroft, Jr.
    viii. SUSANNA, b. Mar. 18, 1731-2; m. Apr. 16, 1755, John Stevens of Townsend.
    ix. HANNAH, b. Mar. 13, 1733-4; m. Jan. 10, 1759, Solomon Stevens of Townsend.
24. x. BENJAMIN, b. Sept. 30, 1736.
25. xi. OLIVER, b. July 11, 1739.

9. SAMUEL[4] TARBELL (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married, Dec. 29, 1725, Lydia, born Sept. 26, 1706, sister of his brother William's wife, and daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Prescott) Farnsworth. Samuel was a Captain. He passed his life in Groton, and, according to his gravestone, "departed this Life May, 23[d]: at 3 a clock after noon 1776 Aged 78 Years 4 months and 14 days". His widow, Lydia, died Nov. 11, 1778. Her will, dated Dec. 26, 1777, mentions her son Samuel, grandson William Farwell, the children of her daughters, Sybil Moors and Martha Phelps, both deceased, and her four daughters, Anna Edes, Deborah Pierce, Sarah Boynton and Mary Reed.

Children, born at Groton:

i. LYDIA,[5] b. Oct. 9, 1727; d. before 1761; m. Dec. 6, 1749, Henry Farwell.
ii. ANNA, b. Nov. 12, 1729; d. Mar. 10, 1805; m. (1) Sept. 4, 1751, Moses Haskell of Harvard; m. (2) Nov. 26, 1761, Peter Edes of Charlestown.
iii. SYBIL, b. Jan. 16, 1732-3; d. June 18, 1763; m. Apr. 10, 1754, Jonathan Moors of Shirley. She left three children, Jonathan, Joseph, and Sybil.
iv. DEBORAH, b. Nov. 18, 1734; m. at Harvard, Jan. 17, 1757, George Pierce of Lincoln.
v. MARTHA, b. Oct. 2, 1736; m. at Leominster, Apr. 6, 1757, Edward Phelps; d. before 1777, leaving three children, viz.: Peter, Levi, and Edward.
vi. SARAH, b. May 15, 1740; d. Aug. 17, 1787; m. Oct. 7, 1762, Lieut. Joseph Boynton of Westford and Pepperell.
vii. MARY, b. July 25, 1742; m. Dec. 3, 1765, Samuel Reed, Jr., of Lunenburg.
26. viii. SAMUEL, b. Apr. 4, 1746.
    ix. EUNICE, b. July 6, 1753; d. before 1777.

10. ELEAZER[4] TARBELL (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married, Dec. 20, 1727, Elizabeth, probably daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth Bowers, born at Groton, Sept. 2, 1710. About 1740 they removed from Groton to Lunenburg, where Eleazer died in 1756. The division of his estate was made Apr. 15, 1758, between his widow and the children named below, with the exception of Jonas, who, according to papers relating to the estate, survived his father, but must have died very soon after.

Children, the first four born at Groton, and the last two at Lunenburg:

i. ELIZABETH,[5] b. Apr. 13, 1729; m. Dec. 3, 1745, Jonathan Hartwell.
27. ii. ZACHARIAH, b. Dec. 27, 1730.
    iii. ELEAZER, b. Aug. 26, 1735; was living when his father's estate was divided, Apr. 15, 1758, but had d. before Nov. 3 of that year, when the inventory of his own estate was taken. He was a soldier in the French and Indian war, and d. unmarried.

iv. JONAS, b. Mar., 1738; was killed in the French and Indian war, on the expedition against Crown Point in the summer of 1756. He was unmarried.

v. SARAH, b. Sept. 19, 1741; m. at Leominster, Oct. 20, 1763, Jonathan Joslin.

28. vi. SAMUEL, b. Sept. 18, 1744.

PETER CRARY OF GROTON, CONN., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Louis Marinus Dewey, Esq., of Westfield, Mass.

I have received from Judge Samuel O. Prentice, of Hartford, Conn., a descendant of Oliver[3] Crary (Robert,[2] Peter[1]), the following additions and corrections to my recent genealogy of Peter[1] Crary and his descendants, in the Register.

1. Peter[1] Crary married in Dec., 1677. His son ii. Peter[2] married and left descendants at Groton, Conn. (See A of this article.) His son v. William[2] probably died unmarried.

2. v. Ann, daughter of John[2] Crary (Peter[1]), born in 1723, died Sept. 20, 1754.

3. Robert[2] Crary (Peter[1]) lived also at Voluntown, Conn. His wife's name was Elizabeth. Their daughter ix. Lucy,[3] born about 1738, died unmarried, Feb. 16, 1819.

3. vii. Oliver[3] Crary (Robert,[2] Peter[1]), born about 1731, died Aug. 20, 1806, aged 75, at Preston, Conn., where he had moved from Westerly, R. I. He married first, Hopestill York; married second, Nov. 8, 1770, Eunice, daughter of Capt. John Brewster of Preston; and married third, Mar. 14, 1802, Mrs. Mary Gallup.

Children:

i. Joseph,[4] b. about 1756; m. in 1782, Lucy Bentley.
ii. Christopher, b. June 24, 1759; m. Nov. 4, 1784, Polly Witter; lived at Becket, Mass., 1793–1798.
iii. Lucy, b. Mar. 11, 1763; m. Amos Witter.
iv. Oliver, b. July 29, 1771; m. Feb. 24, 1802, Desire Ayer.
v. Elisha, b. Aug. 22, 1773; m. Apr. 10, 1800, Abigail Avery.
vi. John (probably), b. Nov., 1775, who m. Deborah Prentice and lived at Suffield, Conn.
vii. Sally, b. July 13, 1777; m. June 4, 1807, Robert Avery. viii. Dolly, b. Aug. 4, 1779; m. May 10, 1804, Amos Avery.
ix. Nancy, b. Sept. 22, 1782; m. June 8, 1829, Robert Avery.

4. John[3] Crary (John,[2] Peter[1]) had the following additional children:

A SHERBURNE FAMILY RECORD.

Communicated by LEWIS W. BREWSTER, Esq., of Portsmouth, N. H.

IN Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, vol. i, page 247, under the name Brewster, there is mention of "a fabricat. fam. rec. whereby it is shown, that Wrestling B. was m. 1630 to E. S. had s. John, b. 20 Jan. 1631, and daur. 3 May 1636, nam. Love Lucretia!!!," etc. Among the papers of my late father, Charles W. Brewster, editor of the Portsmouth Journal and author of "Rambles about Portsmouth," is one of which the following is a copy. It is doubtless the one referred to by Savage, as fictitious, and may be of interest to readers of the REGISTER. I venture to question whether Mr. Savage was correct in pronouncing this record a fabrication.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By Geo. A. Gordon, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 3 October, 1906. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting, agreeable to the By-laws, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, in Marshall P. Wilder hall, Society's building, 18 Somerset street, the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, A.M., Litt.D., in the chair.

The minutes of the stated meeting in May were confirmed as records.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, the Historian, and the Council, severally, presented written reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Four new members were elected.

The Special Committee in memoriam Rev. George Moulton Adams, A.M., D.D., presented a report which was received, read, accepted, ordered on file, and a copy sent to Dr. Adams's family.

Rev. William Copley Winslow, D.D., D.C.L., and Frank Eliot Bradish, A.B., were appointed a committee to submit, at a future meeting, a resolution in perpetuam memoriam of Rev. Edmund Farwell Slafter, D.D., deceased.

The meeting then attended the reading of a paper on How Time was kept when we lived under a King, by John Albree, Esq., of Swampscott, illustrated by the exhibition of a clock of provincial days, and watches of different periods. It was exceedingly interesting, and was enjoyed by a good audience. The thanks of the Society were voted the essayist, and a copy of the paper requested for deposit in the archives.

The meeting then dissolved.

7 November. A stated meeting was held to-day, at the usual time and place, the President occupying the chair.

After the confirmation of the records, the rules of order were suspended and a ballot ordered for the election of a Nominating Committee, agreeable to article 3, chapter iv, of the By-laws.

Messrs. Albert A. Folsom, William P. Greenlaw and Anson Titus were appointed tellers to conduct the election.

On resumption of the rules, Arthur Lord, A.M., President of the Pilgrim Society at Plymouth, was introduced. Mr. Lord read a valuable paper on The Pilgrim Press at Leyden, and the first New England Library, which threw new light upon the career of Elder Brewster. It was well received and applauded, a vote of thanks was tendered, and a copy requested for the Society's archives.

The executive reports were then made and disposed of, as usual.

Twenty-four new members were elected.

The Committee in memoriam Rev. Dr. Edmund Farwell Slafter made report, which was accepted, ordered on file, and to be spread upon the record of this meeting.

The death of William Tracy Eustis was announced with expression of his personal value and importance as a member and benefactor of the Society, and Capt. R. G. F. Candage, Charles S. Ensign, and Rev. George M. Bodge were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions for the consideration of the Society.

The President, retiring, called Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., to the chair, who presided for the remainder of the session.

The tellers announced the result of the ballot, when, on motion, it was Voted, That Edgar Oakes Achorn, of Newton, James Bourne Ayer, of Boston,

Hosea Starr Ballou, of Brookline, George Walter Chamberlain, of Weymouth, and Mary Elvira Eliot, of Somerville, be declared elected the Nominating Committee for 1906.

The chair proclaimed the election, and declared the meeting dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

The following record is copied from the original record book of the Second Congregational Church in Marshfield, Mass. :—

This entry would seem to prove the correctness of Mr. Fessenden's record of the birth of a son Winslow in 1757, and to disprove the story of Hannah Bradford's death in 1756. List of Emigrant Liverymen of London (see ante, vol. 60, page 399).—In the Public Record Office, amongst the Lay Subsidy Rolls, is an assessment for the poll tax of members of some of the Companies of London (unfortuately it is not complete). It is of the greatest importance to all interested in genealogical research, both from the date of it (1641) and the difficulty often involved in finding a man's guild, and tracing out his apprenticeship and parentage. For readers of the Register it must have a special interest, as many of the assessed are marked "gone to New England," and in these cases it will furnish the clue to the long sought for parentage of emigrants. It is among the rolls recently found and catalogued (251–22).

Some of the readers of the Register may like to know that a complete Index to the Genealogical Department of the Boston Transcript, from the first, can be found in the Public Library at Lynn, Mass. It is said that another copy is in the Public Library at Bangor, Me.

In the Register, vol. 34, page 101, it is stated that "Samuel Mereen (Merien), of Cape Cod, b. about 1750, m. Rebecca Pepper." The fact is that John Mareen married Rebecca Pepper, Oct. 22, 1754 (Eastham Records, vol. 2, page 41), but there is no record of a Samuel who married a Rebecca Pepper.

HON. WILLIAM CLAFLIN, LL.D.

By Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., of Newton, Mass.

William Claflin was born in Milford, Mass., March 6, 1818. His parents were Lee Claflin and Sarah [Sallie] Watkins Adams, descendants from honored Massachusetts ancestry.

Robert Mackclaflin, of Scotch ancestry, was accepted as a townsman of Wenham, Mass., Nov. 4, 1661, and chosen surveyor for the town. He served under Sir Edmund Andros in the French and Indian War in 1688. The early records show that the prefix Mack was dropped from the family name soon after Robert's settlement, and in time the name was known as Claflin. He married Joanna Warner, October 14, 1664. The house he built still remains, with the tradition that the first Sabbath School in the Commonwealth was organized in it.

Daniel, the sixth son of Robert and Joanna, married Sarah Edwards; and their eighth child, Ebenezer, married Hannah Smith, in 1739. Ebenezer was a member of the train-band under Capt. John Jones, and was on the alarm list of the town of Hopkinton, Mass.

His son Ebenezer, born in Hopkinton, married Sarah Tilton of Hopkinton, June 18, 1742. He was sergeant in Capt. John Holmes's company, Col. Samuel Bullard's regiment, that went to Lexington, April 19, 1775. He enlisted, September 12, 1776, in Capt. Aaron Gardner's company, Col. Eleazer Brooks's regiment, and was in service on the Hudson River, N. Y., until November 19, taking part in the battle of White Plains, October 28, 1776.

Ebenezer was a member of the General Court in 1790-91. The family has always been prominent in the civic and official life of Hopkinton. His son Lee Claflin was born in Hopkinton, November 19, 1791, and married, December 19, 1815, Sarah Watkins Adams, born April 25, 1782, daughter of Elisha Adams of Hopkinton.

Elisha Adams was a descendant from Henry, who came early from England to Boston, and settled at Mount Wollaston (Braintree, now Quincy) in 1640. His son Ensign Edward was born in England in 1630, and his grandson Elisha in Medfield, August 25, 1666. William, in the next generation, was born in Bristol, then in Massachusetts, June 30, 1693; and his son William in Mendon, Mass., September 19, 1719.

Elisha Adams, son of the latter William, was born in Braintree, February 25, 1751. He served as private from Hopkinton, for twelve days, with Col. Samuel Bullard's regiment, in Capt. John Holmes's company, April 19, 1775. He married Sarah, daughter of Major Andrew Watkins, and it was their daughter, Sarah Watkins Adams, who married Lee Claflin.

Lee Claflin, an orphan at five years of age, with no resources, in 1813 commenced in Milford, Mass., the business of tanning, and added in 1820-21 the manufacturing of boots and shoes, which in 1840 was enlarged, and he became a prominent and wealthy man. He was a public-spirited citizen with great influence in financial, political and religious circles. In 1834 he was representative from Milford in the General Court, and senator in 1859. He was the first president of the Milford, Hopkinton, and Hide and Leather (Boston) banks. In 1839 he removed from Milford to Hopkinton, and was one of the organizers of the Academy. He was one of the founders of Boston University, and became interested in an abandoned seminary at Orangeburg, South Carolina, which was named Claflin University. An active "Free Soiler" and a staunch Methodist, his character had great influence on his son. He died February 23, 1871.

William was educated in the public school, and prepared for college in the Milford Academy, entering Brown University in 1833. The loss of his mother in 1834, combined with ill health, compelled his retirement from college life. He entered his father's factory, where he remained for some three years, when, under his physician's advice, in 1838 he removed to St. Louis, Mo., to regain his health.

In 1841 he formed an association with Messrs. Howe & Allen for the conducting of a boot and shoe business that lasted until 1884. His health being improved, he returned to Hopkinton in 1844, and entered into business with his father as a boot and shoe manufacturer. They built large factories as their increasing business demanded. In 1845 he removed to Boston, where he resided until 1847, when he returned to Hopkinton and occupied an old Colonial house formerly owned by Major William Price, an English officer. It was on the estate of Rev. Roger Price, sometime Rector of King's Chapel, Boston, who came to Hopkinton about 1775. In 1855 he changed his residence to Newtonville, Mass.

For over thirty years he was engaged in the wholesale boot and shoe business in Boston, under the firm names of Lee Claflin & Co., Wm. Claflin & Co., and Wm. Claflin, Coburn & Co., — and these firms conducted a large and prosperous trade, and were held in high esteem. He retired from active business life in 1878, but retained a special interest in it until some ten years before his death.

Mr. Claflin was married twice. His first wife was Nancy Williams, the daughter of Lewis and Nancy (Warren) Harding of Milford, to whom he was married in Louisville, Ky., in October, 1839. She died January 18, 1842, leaving a daughter Emma Harding, born in St. Louis, December 25, 1841, who married Charles W. Ellis and resides in Newtonville. He married second, February 12, 1845, in Hopkinton, Mary Bucklin, the daughter of Samuel Daniels and Mary Claflin (Bucklin) Davenport of Hopkinton. She died in Whitinsville, Mass., June 13, 1896. Their children were: Thomas, born November 16, 1847, who died in infancy; Agnes Elizabeth, born July 31, 1849, died January 30, 1869; Arthur Buchlin, born August 10, 1852, who married, June, 1883, Margaret Root of Cleveland, Ohio, and resides in Boston; William Davenport, born November, 1858, died October 23, 1863; and Adams Davenport, born February 7, 1862, graduated at Harvard in 1886, married in October, 1888, Agnes, daughter of Hon. Joseph Henry Walker of Worcester, and resides in Newton Centre, being president of the Newton and Boston Street Railway System and of the Boston Suburban Electric Company.

Mr. Claflin, imbued with love for his home surroundings and the freedom of speech and thought that prevailed in the Commonwealth, was swayed by this influence in his Southern life, and it confirmed his views upon the wrongs of human slavery. Living in its presence, his heart was much touched, and on his return to Massachusetts he openly identified himself with the budding Liberty or Free Soil party.

In 1848 he consented to stand as the Free Soil candidate for representative to the General Court. His election seemed doubtful, as his father-in-law was the Whig candidate, but the town of his ancestors rallied to his support and he was elected in 1848, and re-elected in 1849, 1850 and 1851. He served on many of the more important Committees, and was instrumental in the election of Charles Sumner to the United States Senate. In 1849 and 1850 he was a selectman in Hopkinton. In 1859 he was elected to the Senate, re-elected in 1860, and in 1861 made its president, John A. Andrew being governor.

For some four or five years he acted as Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and was influential in shaping that party's policy as to candidates and principles. In 1860 he was chosen a delegate to the Republican National Convention that met in Chicago, and had a part in the nomination of President Abraham Lincoln; he was also a delegate in the Conventions of 1864, 1868 and 1872. Having been a member of the Republican National Committee for ten years, in 1868 he was made its Chairman, serving for four years and taking an active part in the election of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant to the presidency. He considered the work that he was able to do at this time his most valuable service, as the political condition of the country was so critical.

His party honored him by electing him as Lieutenant Governor, in which office he served in 1866, 1867 and 1868; and in the autumn of 1868 he was elected Governor of the Commonwealth, his opponent being John Quincy Adams. His administration was marked by a dignified and sagacious discharge of the duties of this high office, and he was re-elected in 1869 and 1870.

The most important acts of legislation during his administration were the extension of the rights of women, as he was the first Governor that believed in the legal right of female suffrage, and measures bettering their condition if criminals; the regulation of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors; the suppression of exhibitions of the fighting of birds and animals; the enfranchisement of Indians; the establishment of a Bureau of Statistics on the subject of labor; the improvement in the condition of highways; the protection of destitute children; regulating of divorces; street railway corporation law; the ratification of the 15th amendment to the Constitution of the United States; and the vetoing of the Hartford and Erie Railroad bill.

He signed the charter of incorporation of Boston University (May 29, 1869), and that of Wellesley College (March 17, 1870).

In 1876 he was elected representative to Congress, in place of the then Democratic representative, William W. Warren, and was re-elected in 1878, serving during the administration of President Hayes, whose policy he endorsed. Later in life, in characterizing this administration, Gov. Claflin often said, "We were nearer to civil service reform than at any other period, although not much was said about this movement," and that he "felt Mr. Hayes's administration would be spoken of in history as one of 'the cleanest' the country had received." He referred to the order the President issued June 22, 1877, "relating to the conduct of officers regarding political organizations, caucuses, conventions and elections."

Gov. Claflin was the second president, from 1875 to 1904, of the Massachusetts Club, which was founded more than sixty years ago by the early "Free Soilers."

He was honored with the degree of LL.D. by Wesleyan University in 1868, and by Harvard, as Governor of the Commonwealth, in 1869.

Early in life he became interested in educational work, and did all he could to promote it with advisory and financial aid. He was a charter-member and life trustee of Wellesley College; a trustee for life, and President, of Boston University; as President of the State Senate, a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard College; and a trustee of the school founded by Mary Lyon, changed by his legal act to Mt. Holyoke College, his sound judgment being of great benefit to these educational institutions.

He held a high position in financial circles, being sometime president of the Hide and Leather National Bank, succeeding his father who founded it; was president of the New England Shoe and Leather Association; one of the organizers of the New England Trust Company, and of the Five Cent Savings Bank (Boston); and a member of the Boston Wesleyan Association.

Gov. Claflin was a practical reformer in many lines,—temperance, slavery, woman's suffrage, and the improvement of the conditions of labor,—and his means were always ready to help every movement whose aim was to elevate and better the condition of mankind.

He was a man of deep religious convictions, and about 1839 joined the Methodist Church in St. Louis, and in 1845 the Bromfield Street Methodist Church, Boston, of which he remained a member until his death. He was president of the General Theological Library from 1883 until 1901, and worked assiduously for its welfare and its transfer to its present location on Mount Vernon Street, Boston.

His religious life was profound and consistent, and of his inner life and experience he revealed but little, by reason of his characteristic reservedness. His feeling manifested itself more in action than in words. To help the widow and the fatherless was his delight, and, as one of his young employees fiittingly said, "Mr. Claflin talks neither religion nor politics, but lives both." He felt the loss of his daughter Agnes, who died in Rome,—a great family sorrow, —for she possessed a rare and gifted nature, and was devoted to her father. Gov. Claflin was passionately fond of music and its development, and assisted Dr. Eben Tourjee in the foundation of the New England Conservatory, in February, 1867.

On May 4, 1870, being elected a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, he became a life member in 1873, and was one of its directors and counsellors from 1883 until 1892. On June 22, 1892, he was elected President, and annually re-elected until 1899, when he declined a re-nomination. In the performance of his duties, a peaceful quietude and conservatism prevailed, which was of great value in an emergency. During his service, improvements in the Society's building were made, women became eligible to membership, and the fiftieth anniversary of the Society was commemorated.

The estate in Newtonville which he had selected for his home was a part of the farm of Gov. Simon Bradstreet (1638), later that of Judge Abraham Fuller (1758), town clerk and treasurer of Newton, 1776–1792, and afterwards in the possession of his son-in-law, Sen. William Hull (1781). Here Gov. Claflin erected a spacious mansion. In "The Old Elms," so named from some one hundred and fifty elms of great age on the estate, as in his home on Mount Vernon Street, Boston, he with his gracious wife gathered around them the brightest persons in literary and progressive life, in addition to distinguished visitors from foreign lands who sought their hospitality, and enjoyed the pleasures that such cultivated and refined minds furnished.

In Newton, Gov. Claflin was continuously in touch with its local interests, and was one of the founders of its Free Public Library, dedicated June 17, 1870, when he as Governor graced the occasion, and he was on its Board of Trustees until his death.

His loyalty to his country is shown by his pledge of June 18, 1864, for the sum of one thousand dollars to pay the expense of recruits in keeping Newton's quota filled in advance of the call of the President. The city military company, organized October 10, 1870, adopted the name of "Claflin Guard" while he was Governor, and to it, on May 30, 1871, he made the presentation address accompanying the gift of an American flag from the ladies of Newton. He was a member of the Tuesday Club, from 1880, a leading association of limited membership that met in its members' homes to discuss the leading issues and events of the day.

His literary style is best found in his messages as Governor, his addresses in Congress, and his monograph on John Hancock.

On January 5, 1905, at the ripe age of 87 years, in his Newtonville home, he quietly passed away, mourned by the city, state and country. Simple and impressive services were held on the following Sabbath in the Methodist Church in Newtonville, which he had helped to organize and maintain. The church was filled with representatives and officials from every station in life, and a tender tribute to his memory was paid by his friend ex-president William F. Warren of Boston University, and then his remains were laid away in the Newton Cemetery.

Generous citizens of Newton will purchase his estate and donate it to the city, in memoriam, for municipal purposes.

Governor Claflin needs no memorial in words. His life was one of acts, and they are the best memorials.

BROWNE AND LEE FAMILY EXTRACTS FROM THE PARISH REGISTER OF RUSPER, CO. SUSSEX, ENGLAND.

Communicated by a descendant of Thomas Lee and of his sister Jane Lee.

The following entries are all the baptisms, marriages, and burials of persons named Browne and Lee recorded in the Parish Register of Rusper, Co. Sussex, England, from 1560 to 1650. The Rusper Register begins in 1560.

The baptism of Phœbe Browne and her marriage with Thomas Lee have not been found.

William Browne who married Jane Burgis, in 1611, came to New England, and the Rusper Register shows he did not come before the year 1645. He was at Saybrook, Conn., and died on Long Island in 1650.

His son Henry Browne went to Providence, R. I. Family papers, deeds, letters and documents from 1627 to 1800 are now in the hands of one of the descendants of Henry. One of these documents, dated 1627, is a bond to William Browne, School Master of Rusper.

William Browne's granddaughter Jane Lee, who was baptized in Rusper, 12 September, 1640, was twice married: first, to Samuel Hyde of Norwich, by whom she had a daughter Elizabeth, married to Lieut. Richard Lord of Lyme, and a daughter Phœbe, who married the second Matthew Griswold of Lyme; and second, to John Birchard. She was more than eighty years old when she died. She gave to her nephew Joshua Hempstead a true and interesting account of her grandfather William Browne and of the members of his family who embarked with him for America.

William Browne's grandson Thomas Lee, who was baptized in Rusper, 29 September, 1644, was at Saybrook, Conn. He is the Thomas Lee who was one of the first settlers of Lyme. He was twice married: first, to Sarah Kirtland, and second, to Mary DeWolf. From him and from his sister Jane Lee, some well-known families of Norwich and of Old Lyme are descended.

ANCESTRY AND DESCENDANTS OF REV. JOHN WILSON OF BOSTON, MASS.

By JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT, Esq., of Boston.

5. REV. JOHN[5] WILSON (Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]), born in England, in Sept., 1621, was brought to New England by his father on the latter's second voyage, in May, 1632. He was graduated in the first class at Harvard College, in 1642, was admitted to his father's church in Boston on Mar. 3, 1644, and was admitted freeman May 26, 1647. After preaching several years, he became assistant to Rev. Richard Mather, at Dorchester, in 1649, and after two years' service here, removed to Medfield soon after the settlement of that place, and in Dec., 1651, was installed as the first minister of the new town, where he was ordained pastor on Oct. 12, 1652, in which service he continued for forty years, until his death, besides performing the duties of physician and schoolmaster. His homestead in Medfield was situated on the site of the present Town Hall. By a contemporary he is referred to as "gracious and godly, a faithful and useful man, well esteemed." He died Aug. 23, 1691, aged nearly 70, having on the previous Sunday "preached both forenoon and afternoon, fervently and powerfully."

In his will, made three days before his decease, he mentions his wife Sarah; son John (to whom he bequeathed his share of the Braintree farm); daughter Sarah, wife of Josiah Torrey, formerly wife of Paul Batt; daughter Susanna, wife of Grindall Rawson; and grandchild Thomas Weld son of his daughter Elizabeth, deceased, formerly wife of Thomas Weld. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. viii, fol. 58; and "History of Medfield," p. 522.)

He married, about 1648, Sarah,[2] daughter of Rev. Thomas[1] and Susanna Hooker of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Hooker, a powerful and distinguished Puritan preacher, was born at Marfield, co. Leicester, England, July 7, 1586; educated at Emmanuel College, Cambridge, B.A., 1608, M.A., 1611; fellow of the University, 1612–1620; rector of Esher, co. Surrey, 1620–1625; preached at Chelmsford, co. Essex, 1625–1629, where he was silenced for non-conformity; kept a private school at Little Baddow, co. Essex, 1629–1631; being persecuted, went to Holland, where he preached two years at Delfthaven, and a few months at Rotterdam as assistant to Rev. Dr. Ames; came to New England in Sept., 1633, and located first at Cambridge, whence, in June, 1636, he removed to Hartford, Conn., where he served as minister until his death, July 7, 1647.

Children:

i. JOHN,[6] b. July 6, 1649; d. young.

ii. SARAH, b, in 1650; m. (1) about 1672, Paul,[2] b. in Salisbury, Mass., Feb. 18, 1643, son of Christopher[1] and Ann (Baynton) Batt, who settled in Boston as a merchant, where he d. in 1678, having had three children; m. (2) May 5, 1680, Lieut. Josiah,[2] b. in 1650, son of William[1] Torrey of Weymouth, who resided in Boston, 1680–1682, Mendon, 1682–1696, Bristol, 1707–1717, Barrington, R. I., 1717–1726, and Mansfield, Conn., from 1726, until his death, Oct. 30, 1732, aged 82, having been a man of influence in all the communities in which he had lived. They had five children.

iii. THOMAS, b. Sept. 12, 1652; d. Dec. 14, 1652.

iv. ELIZABETH, b. Nov. 9, 1653; d. Nov. 19, 1653.

v. ELIZABETH, b. about Sept., 1656; d. July 19, 1687; m. Nov. 9, 1681, Rev. Thomas[3] Weld, b. June 12, 1653, son of Thomas[2] Weld of Roxbury by Dorothy[2] dau. of Rev. Samuel[1] Whiting of Lynn, Mass., and grandson of Rev. Thomas[1] Weld of Roxbury, an associate of the "Apostle" John Eliot. Mr. Weld graduated from Harvard College in 1671, and for a few years taught school in Roxbury while studying divinity with Rev. Samuel Danforth. As early as May, 1679, he was preaching in the frontier town of Dunstable, where he was ordained and settled Dec. 16, 1685, and continued until his death, June 9, 1702. They had four children. By a second wife, Mary Savage, he had three more children.

6. vi. JOHN, b. June 18, 1660.

vii. THOMAS, b. Nov. 18, 1662; d. Nov. 27, 1662.

viii. SUSANNA, b. Dec. 1, 1664; d. July 8, 1748; m. Aug. 30, 1682, her second cousin, Rev. Grindall Rawson, b. Jan. 23, 1659–60, son of Hon. Edward Rawson of Boston by Rachel Perne his wife, and grandson of David Rawson of London, who m. Margaret, dau. of Rev. William[3] Wilson, D.D. He graduated at Harvard College in 1678, studied divinity with Rev. Samuel Torrey of Weymouth, and on Oct. 4, 1680, began preaching at Mendon, where he was ordained Apr. 7, 1684, and continued in service for nearly thirty-five years, until his death, Feb. 6, 1714–15. He also preached to the Indians in their native tongue, and published several translations into the Indian language of current religious tracts. His intellectual abilities, faithfulness, piety and zeal, were highly commended by his friend and classmate Rev. Cotton Mather. They had eleven children.

6. Dr. John[6] Wilson (Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]), born in Medfield, June 18, 1660, for some unknown reason left Harvard College soon after his admission, but received an excellent education from his father in divinity, medicine, and law. Soon after becoming of age, he was employed as a schoolmaster for several terms by his native town, and he was also engaged at times to assist his father in the ministry. In 1682 he went to New Haven, Conn., where he preached for over a year, and in a letter from Col. John Dixwell to Rev. Increase Mather he is spoken of as "a verie hopefull youngo man of good abillities." (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 8, p. 165); but he returned to Medfield in the autumn of 1684, and resumed school teaching there; and after his father's death, an attempt was made to settle him permanently as the latter's successor, but not being popular or successful there as a preacher, the project was voted down by the town. Thereupon he relinquished the ministry, and removed to Braintree in 1692, settling on the southern half of the farm which was granted to his grandfather and willed to him by his father. Here he resided, cultivating the farm, practicing medicine and performing legal services, until his death in 1728. By reason of his education, large estate, and distinguished ministerial family connections, he occupied a leading social position, and was popular and prominent in town affairs from 1695 to 1710, often serving on committees and as moderator at town meetings, and was Representative to the General Court in 1698. In 1696 he received a commission as captain of one of the local military companies, and on June 7, 1700, was appointed a Justice of the Peace, offices of distinction at that time.

Dr. Wilson died intestate, and on Dec. 26, 1728, his estate was divided equally among his grandchildren John[7] and Margaret[8] Wilson (children of his eldest son, Rev. John[7] Wilson, Jr., deceased), and his children, Roger and Edmund Wilson, Sarah Marsh, Elizabeth Low, Alice Belcher, and Mary Baxter. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxvii, fol. 5.)

He married, July 4, 1683, his cousin Sarah,[2] baptized in Milford, Conn., in 1662, died in Braintree, Aug. 20, 1725, daughter of Rev. Roger[1] and Mary (Hooker) Newton. Mr. Newton came to New England when a youth, and was educated for the ministry by Rev. Thomas Hooker, whose daughter he later married; was minister at Farmington, Conn., 1652–1657; went back to England but returned in 1660; and was settled over the church at Milford, Conn., where he died June 7, 1683, and his wife Mary died Feb. 4, 1676.

Children:

i. Sarah,[7] b. in New Haven, Apr. 1, 1684; m. Aug. 28, 1701, John,[2] b. Feb. 17, 1678–9, son of Lieut. Alexander[1] and Mary (Belcher) Marsh of Braintree. They had eleven children.

7. ii. John, b. in Medfield, May 31, 1686.

iii. Elizabeth, b. in Medfield, Oct. 31, 1689; m. about 1722, Samuel[4] Low (Samuel,[3], Anthony,[2] John[1]), b. Mar. 29, 1701, d. 1749, of Barrington and Warren, R. I. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lii, fol. 177.) She died leaving a dau. Anne, who m. Dec. 10, 1743, Joseph Bosworth, Jr., of Rehoboth, and two sons, John Wilson and Hooker. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvii, fol. 35.) Samuel[4] Low m. (2) (int. rec. Jan. 31, 1735–6), Isabel Greene, by whom he had a son Samuel.[5] (This corrects the account of this family in Austin's "Gen. Dict. of R. I.," p. 339.)

8. iv. ROGER, b. in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691.
   v. EDMUND, b. in Braintree, July 27, 1695; probably passed his life in Braintree, where but meagre mention is to be found of him; d. unmarried, in the military service, in 1747, his brother-in-law Moses Belcher being administrator of his estate. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xli, fol. 34.)
   i. ALICE, b. in Braintree, June 9, 1698; m. Jan. 3, 1726-7, as his second wife, Moses,[3] b. in 1674, son of Moses[2] and Mary (Nash) Belcher of Braintree. (REGISTER, ante, vol. lx, p. 134.) She died, without issue, in May, 1754, leaving a will, dated May 8, 1754, in which are named: cousin (i. e. nephew) John Wilson of Sherborn; husband Moses Belcher; brother Roger Wilson; step-daughter Anne Crosby; sister Mary, wife of Gregory Baxter; Alice, dau. of John Marsh; brother Roger's three children, viz., John, Mary, and Hannah; children of cousin (i. e. niece) Ann "Bozard" (Bosworth) deceased; Jerusha, dau. of Alexander Marsh; Moses, son of Moses Marsh; Wilson, son of Wilson Marsh; and Jemima, dau. of Samuel Marsh. This will was offered for probate May 24, 1754, and is on file, but was disallowed June 11, 1754; and on Sept. 10, 1755, her estate was divided amongst her brothers and sisters or their representatives. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. l, fol. 518.) From this it is evident that her husband died soon after her.
   vii. MARY, b. in Braintree, Aug. 16, 1702; d. Aug. 11, 1789; m. Oct. 17, 1728, Gregory, b. Feb. 14, 1706, son of Capt. John and Huldah (Hayward) Baxter of Braintree. He graduated at Harvard College in 1725, but pursued no profession, residing on a farm in Braintree, where he d. Jan. 9, 1763. They had several children, of whom three survived.

7. REV. JOHN[7] WILSON (Dr. John,[6] Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]) was born at Medfield, May 31, 1686, and taken to Braintree in childhood by his parents. He graduated at Harvard College in 1705, and the high social position held by his family is shown by the fact that his name was placed at the head of the class. He then studied divinity, and about 1710 was settled over a small Congregational Church newly organized in a village situated in the southwestern part of Swansea, which in 1717 became the town of Barrington, R. I. After three years' service here, he was suddenly cut off by death, in 1713, at the early age of 27.

Of his attainments and character no account has been discovered. He married, at Mendon, May 25, 1711, Margaret Hall, perhaps a sister of Hon. Hugh Hall of Boston (who was son of Hon. Hugh Hall of Barbadoes, by Lydia, daughter of Capt. Benjamin and Lydia (Scottow) Gibbs of Boston). She married second, Oct. 25, 1719, Rev. Samuel, born in Enfield, Conn., Mar. 26, 1690, son of Samuel and Hannah (Morgan) Terry, a graduate of Harvard College in 1710, minister at Barrington, R. I., 1718–1726, who preached at Uxbridge, Mass., in 1728, and was schoolmaster at Mendon in 1733.

Children:

9. i. JOHN,[8] b. Apr. 28, 1712.
   ii. MARGARET, b. about 1714; m. in 1730, Obed Hussey of Nantucket. On Dec. 29, 1735, Obed Hussey of Nantucket and Margaret his wife acknowledged the receipt of £307.6.0 from Mr. John Wilson of Mendon, gent., for her interest in their father's share of their grandfather's estate in Braintree. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. xxxii, fol. 440.)

8. ROGER[7] WILSON (Dr. John,[6] Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]), born in Medfield, Aug. 20, 1691, was taken to Braintree in infancy by his parents. He was the first member of the family in six generations who did not acquire a liberal education and take a profession, becoming an ordinary yeoman, and never attaining even local prominence or distinction. In fact, it may be inferred from what few mentions are found of him that he was much inferior to his ancesters in character, attainments, and position in the community. In Mar., 1717, he was sued by his father-in-law, Capt. John Mills, for £18.10.0 expended by the latter to support Roger's wife and children, who had been deserted and neglected for over a year. His wife complained, "if my father had not supplied me, I and my children must have suffered, if not perished." (Suffolk Co. Court Files, No. 11591.) He resided in a house belonging to his wife's family, and gradually sold off his interest in the paternal farm; and on July 29, 1754, he sold to his son John and son-in-law Ebenezer Field his share in the estate of his sister Alice Belcher, which is the last mention found of him, and no probate record of any estate appears. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxvii, fol. 112.)

He married, about 1714, Hannah,[4] born Feb. 2, 1688–9, daughter of Capt. John[3] and Hannah Mills of Braintree. Capt. Mills was an enterprising, wealthy, and influential man, and for many years took a leading part in the affairs of the town of Braintree, which he represented in the General Court in 1709, '10, '12, '16, '18, '21.

Children:

i. SUSANNA,[8] b. Apr. 27, 1715; bapt. and admitted to the church, Feb. 11, 1727–8; d. unmarried, Mar. 22, 1748–9, aged 34. (Braintree Church records.)

ii. MARY, b. Jan. 12, 1716–17; bapt. and admitted to the church, Aug. 25, 1734; living in May, 1754, according to the will of her aunt Alice (Wilson) Belcher (see supra); no further record.

iii. HANNAH, b. in 1719; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 21, 1741–2; m. June 25, 1744, Ebenezer, Jr., b. Nov. 12, 1722, d. about 1799, son of Ebenezer and Abigail (Neal) Field of Braintree. She d. before 1765, leaving six children, and her husband married again and had one daughter.

iv. ABIGAIL, b. in 1722; bapt. and admitted to the church, Mar. 6, 1747–8; no further record.

10. v. JOHN, b. Feb. 15, 1723–4.

vi. WILLIAM, b. Dec. 12, 1726; bapt. and admitted to church, Mar. 6, 1747–8; his wife (name not given) joining at same time; elected hog-reive of Braintree, Mar. 5, 1759. On Apr. 11, 1759, William Wilson of Braintree, aged 32, enlisted in Col. Benj. Lincoln's regt. for the expedition against Canada, having served in the campaign of 1755. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcvii, p. 126.) William Wilson of Braintree served as corporal in Capt. John Martin's company from Feb. 26 to Dec. 5, 1760 in the Crown Point expedition, and 150 miles travel home allowed on pay account. (Mass. Archives, Muster Rolls, vol. xcviii, p. 294.) This is the last record found of him, and it is supposed that he removed from Braintree, and that his descendants are extinct. It is likely that he was the William Wilson whose marriage intention with Elizabeth "Speer" was recorded in Boston, Oct. 1, 1747. She was probably the Elizabeth Spear, b. in Braintree, Jan. 4, 1728, dau. of Nathaniel and Thankful (Woodward) Spear. Children: 1. Elizabeth,[9] bapt. Sept. 18, 1748. 2. Susanna, bapt. Apr. 10, 1757. No further trace of these children has been found.

9. Dr. John[8] Wilson (Rev. John,[7] Dr. John,[6] Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]) was born Apr. 28, 1712, in that part of Swansea which later was Barrington, R. I., and graduated from Harvard College in 1733, the high social position of the family placing his name seventh in a class of thirty-eight graduates. On May 22, 1735, he sold to Moses Belcher his interest in the Braintree farm of his grandfather Dr. John[6] Wilson. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. li, fol. 6.) He then studied medicine, and about 1737 settled in Sherborn, Mass., where he resided and practiced his profession about twenty years, until his decease June 13, 1750. On May 8, 1765, Benjamin Learned and Elizabeth his wife, Mary Wilson, Jr., Alice Wilson, and Sarah Wilson, all of Sherborn, conveyed to Edmund Billings land in Braintree of their late father, Dr. John Wilson late of Sherborn. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. cvi, fol. 187.)

He married at Mendon, June 28, 1738, Mary ———, who died in Dublin, N. H., June 12, 1774.

Children:

i. Mary,[9] b. perhaps in 1738; living, unmarried, in 1765; no further record.

ii. Elizabeth, b. July 25, 1740; d. Mar. 12, 1771; m. Apr. 11, 1765, Dea. Benjamin, b. Jan. 23, 1741-2, son of Capt. Edward and Abigail (Morse) Learned of Sherborn. In 1767 they settled in Dublin, N. H., where he d. Sept. 5, 1818. They had three children.

iii. Alice, b. Aug. 4, 1742; d. Nov. 7- 1805; m. Feb. 2, 1766, Capt. Samuel, b. Aug. 24, 1740, son of Capt. Joseph and Deborah (Fairbank) Twitchell of Sherborn. Soon after their marriage, they settled in Dublin, N. H., where Capt. Twitchell became a leading man in the town, and d. Apr. 16, 1820. They had ten children.

iv. Sarah, b. Feb. 8, 1744-5; living, unmarried, in 1765; no further record.

v. John, b. Nov. 14, 1747; a lad of great promise; d. in 1756, aged 9 years, terminating a line of seven generations distinguished in professional life for nearly 200 years.

vi. Hannah, b. June 2, 1753; d. 1757.

10. John[8] Wilson (Roger,[7] Dr. John,[6] Rev. John,[5] Rev. John,[4] Rev. William,[3] D.D., William,[2] gent., William[1]), born Feb. 15, 1723-4, in that part of Braintree which later became Quincy, passed his life in his native town, where he carried on the occupation of tailor. His house was probably situated on Adams St., near Common St. He does not appear to have been a member of the church, no mention of him appears in the town proceedings, and he evidently occupied a humble and obscure position in the community. During the Revolution, he performed a week's service from Mar. 4 to 11, 1776, in Capt. John Hall's company, on an expedition to R. I. (Mass. Archives, Muster and Pay Rolls, vol. ii, p. 82.) On July 29, 1754, he and his brother-in-law Ebenezer Field, Jr., were deeded by his father the latter's interest in the real estate of Alice (Wilson) Belcher, and on Nov. 6, 1755, John Wilson, tailor, and Thankful his wife, and Ebenezer Field and Hannah his wife, conveyed the same to Ebenezer Pope. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vols. lxxxvii, fol. 112, and cvii, fol. 34.) He died in Quincy (formerly Braintree), Sept. 25, 1807.

He was probably the John Wilson who married, in Boston, Dec. 30, 1744, Thankful Cowell, and by her he probably had no issue. He married second, in Braintree, Dec. 1, 1774, Alice Peaks.

Children by second wife:

i. HANNAH,[9] b. perhaps in 1776. On Nov. 3, 1807, John Wilson of the Co. of Suffolk, and Henry Wilson and Hannah Wilson of the Co. of Norfolk, for $150 conveyed to Thos. Nightengale, cordwainer, of Quincy, a certain house standing and being in Quincy between two roads, formerly the property of Mr. John Wilson late deceased, being in the crock of the roads leading to the "six hundred acres" so called. (Norfolk Co. Deeds, vol. xxxi, fol. 192.) No further record found.

ii. CAPT. JOHN, b. Feb. 19, 1778; settled in Boston in 1801, where he followed the occupation of pilot for sixty years, and then retiring from business, returned to his native town of Quincy, where he d. Jan. 26, 1865, aged 86 yrs. 11 mos. 7 ds. (Records of Quincy.) He had three wives and seventeen children, but only one son had issue, viz., Capt. Joseph H. P.,[10] b. about 1833, from 1865 to 1890 a pilot in Boston, who had an only son, Edward Smith,[11] b. in Boston, Sept. 15, 1859, the last male descendant in America, bearing the family name, of Rev. John[4] Wilson of Boston.

iii. HENRY, b. in 1781; was a cordwainer in Quincy, where he d. July 25, 1847, aged 66 yrs.; m. (1) (int. rec. at Weymouth, Oct. 1, 1802) Amity Badlam, who d. Sept. 5, 1803, aged 22 yrs., leaving an infant who d. six days later. By a second wife, of whose marriage no record has been found, he had children who d. in infancy on Sept. 25, 1807, and Oct. 26, 1807. He probably left no descendants.

NOTES ON THE DIGGINS, OR DICKENS, FAMILY OF WINDSOR, CONN.

By MATT BUSHNELL JONES, LL.B., of Newton Center, Mass.

1. JEREMIAH[1] DIGGINS was living in Hartford, Conn., as early as Apr. 18, 1677, on which date he brought action vs. Thomas Cadwell for detaining land appointed to his wife Mary by the executors under the will of Edward Stebbins. His wife, Mary, was daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Cadwell and granddaughter of Dea. Edward Stebbins of Hartford. She was born Jan. 8, 1660, and died at Windsor, Conn., Nov. 9, 1736.

On Mar. 11, 1678–9, he sold one-third part of seven acres of land given by Dea. Edward Stebbins and his wife Frances to the three children of Thomas Cadwell. This was apparently an exchange for land at Podunk in Windsor, where he was living as early as April, 1681.

In the will of Robert Morris of Hartford, dated Nov. 9, 1684, bequests are made to Jeremy Diggins and his three children, Mary, Jeremy and Elizabeth.

His name appears frequently in Windsor deeds until 1730, when he conveyed land "unto my obedient grandson Jeremiah Diggons the third of Windsor." He died Nov. 23, 1736.

Children:

i. MARY,[2] b. about 1677–8.
2. ii. JEREMIAH, b. about 1678–9.
iii. ELIZABETH, probably younger than Jeremiah, b. before 1684.
iv. THOMAS, b. after 1684; m. Dec. 31, 1719, Mary, b. Nov. 15, 1694, dau. of Hezekiah Loomis. No record is found of any children, and probably there were none. The inventory of his estate was filed Apr. 2, 1720, and his brother Jeremiah was appointed administrator, May 3, 1720.

2. JEREMIAH[2] DIKINS (Jeremiah[1]), born 1678–9, died Jan. 22, 1745, in his 67th year, and is buried in the East Windsor Hill Cemetery, where his gravestone says he died Jan. 23, 1744–5. He married Rebecca, born Feb. 7, 1691–2, daughter of Edward Elmore (see their deed of Jan. 13, 1737, of "the lot laid out to Edward Elmor father of said Rebekah," Windsor Deeds, vol. 7, page 75).

His estate was settled Apr. 2, 1745, by agreement signed by the widow, the three sons, and Thomas Kilbourn for the daughter.

Children:

3. i. JEREMIAH,[3] 1707.
4. ii. JOSEPH, b. Apr. 2, 1710.
iii. MARY, m. Thomas Kilbourn of Middletown, Conn., of whose estate her brother John was an administrator, Dec. 8, 1762.
5. iv. JOHN, b. 1717.

3. JEREMIAH[3] DIGGENS (Jeremiah,[2] Jeremiah[1]), born at Windsor, Conn., in 1707, died there Aug. 30, or 31, 1757, aged 50. His will, dated June 15, 1757, names wife Mary and minor son Augustus. Feb. 12, 1737–8, he voted as a proprietor of Windsor, in the right of "my grandfather Diggons."

His wife, Mary, was daughter of John Smith of Windsor (see Digest of Hartford Probate Records, vol. 3, page 648).

Children:

i. MARY,[4] d. June 8, 1752, aged 10 yrs.
ii. AUGUSTUS, a minor in 1757, was living in Windsor in 1772, when he was chosen lister, but prior to 1774 he removed to Enfield, and was living there in 1797; m. Sebra ———, and had a dau. Mary,[4] b. in Enfield, Aug. 30, 1785.
iii. THEODORE, d. Mar. 22, 1753, aged 6 yrs.
iv. JOHN, d. Aug. 1, 1751, aged 2 yrs.

4. JOSEPH[3] DIGGINS (Jeremiah,[2] Jeremiah[1]) was born at Windsor, Apr. 2, 1710, and died Feb. 9, 1791. He was a pupil of Rev. Timothy Edwards. He served as Sergt., under Capt. Ebenezer Grant, upon an "Expedition into ye Frontiers," Dec. 19, 1745; and was commissioned Ensign, Oct., 1749. It is said that Gov. William Franklin was quartered at his house, under a juvenile guard, during his captivity.

He married, first, about 1735, Elizabeth, born Oct. 2, 1711, died Dec. 22, 1769, daughter of William Stoughton. This marriage was against the wish of the bride's father, and Edwards refused the communion to the young couple, and refused to baptize their children, unless Diggins should make public confession of his "scandalous offence." The church seems to have taken the young man's part, and endeavored in every way to persuade the pastor to recede. A lengthy controversy ensued, which finally developed into a trial of the pastor's power and right to negative a vote of the church. The struggle continued for several years, and is fully recorded in "A Narrative of the Troubles in the Second Church in Windsor from the year 1735 to the year 1741," a manuscript of Gov. Roger Wolcott in the possession of the Connecticut Historical Society at Hartford.

In 1740, Diggins had his "children" baptized by Rev. Mr. Woodbridge of the East Hartford Church, but was later received back into the East Windsor Church.

He married second, Esther ———, who died Nov. 3, 1801, aged 78.

Children:

6. i. Oliver,[4] b. about 1735–6.
   ii. Jerusha, m. Luke Wolcott.
   iii. Naomi, b. Aug. 8, 1741; m. June 30, 1763, Samuel Tudor; d. Oct. 30, 1816.
   iv. Ann, d. July 3, 1752, aged 5 yrs. 3 mos.
   v. Tryphena, d. July 28, 1752, aged 3 yrs. 1 mo.

5. John[3] Diggins (Jeremiah,[2] Jeremiah[1]), born in 1717, died at Chatham (now Portland), Conn., Aug. 20, 1773. He was prepared for college under Rev. Timothy Edwards, and graduated at Yale in 1740. He was called "Captain." His first wife was Hannah ———, who died at Middletown, June 5, 1754, aged 24; and he married second, Ann ———, who survived him and died Apr. 23, 1813, in her 87th year.

Children named in the settlement of his estate:

i. Wells.[4]
ii. Hannah, m. Dr. Thomas Wells.

6. Oliver[4] Diggins (Joseph,[3] Jeremiah,[2] Jeremiah[1]), born about 1735, died at Weathersfield, Vt., in 1819, where he settled in 1781. His will, dated June 15, 1815, probated Mar. 13, 1819, names nine of his children. He married, Sept. 20, 1758, Mehitable, daughter of Hezekiah and Mary (Stoddard) Porter. He was a soldier in the Revolution.

Children, the last six perhaps not in order of birth:

i. Martin,[5] d. Apr. 25, 1759, aged 3 mos.
ii. Martin, b. about 1760; served in the Revolution; m. Abigail ———; d. in Weathersfield, Feb. 23, 1846, aged 86; had children.
iii. Luke, bapt. May 9, 1762; of Hartford, Conn., in 1801; m. Camilla, dau. of Richard Skinner.

iv. RUSSELL, bapt. Dec. 17, 1763; m, Sibyl ———; d. in Windsor, Dec. 24, 1802; had children: Esther,[5] Betsey, Rhoda, and Olive.
v. TRYPHENA, m. in 1785, Ezra Butler, afterwards Governor of Vt.
vi. MEHITABLE, unmarried in 1815.
vii. JOHN.
viii. ELIZABETH, perhaps m. Thomas Reed of Weathersfield, Vt.
ix. JERUSHA, m. Benjamin Reed, Sr.; d. Jan. 23, 1834, aged 61.
x. NAOMI, m. in 1796, James Joslin; d. Jan. 13, 1845.

TINGEY AND THE MERCHANT CAPTAINS — AN INCIDENT OF OUR WEST INDIA TRADE, IN 1799.

Communicated by Hon. FRANK WARREN HACKETT, A.M.

THE following extract from the letter book of Captain Thomas Tingey of the Navy, preserved at the Navy Department, Washington, affords a glimpse of the extent of our weakness, as a naval power, in 1799. Captain Tingey could not leave his station to convoy this fleet of vessels; nor had he a ship to spare for the performance of that duty. His conduct was subsequently approved by the President. The incident is not without historic interest; and the list of shipmasters may be worth preserving in the REGISTER:

St. Christophers 27th June 1799

Thomas Tingey, Esqr., Sir:

We the undersigned American Masters of Vessels now laying in this port, and ready for sea with valuable cargoes which if arrive safe in America will pay a large sum to the Revenue—This fleet now to sail being bound home will probably keep far to the Eastward, which being an indirect course for those bound to America, and a great detention—We humbly petition you would take us under your convoy

Ganges at St. Christophers 27 June 1799

Gentlemen :

Your favor of this morning was duly handed to me, and has been maturely considered

It would have given me infinite satisfaction, to have anticipated your wishes, by an immediate offer of my services, and the protection of the Ganges, to the extent of your desires. But considering the tenor of my orders and the situation of the station, I am constrained to advise you to prepare and sail with the British convoy of to morrow, proceeding with them as far as latitude 26° N : and on parting with them, to shape a Course far westerly for 24 or 36 hours.

I have reason to expect more of our public force hourly, and should any arrive under my direction they shall be sent with you. If a senior officer comes I shall with much pleasure attend you myself. But as the time is so short, I cannot help repeating my desire that you do not fail to embrace the opportunity of the British Convoy.

I am with regard Gent^{n}

Your obed^{t} serv^{t}

THOMAS TINGEY

To Captains
John Bulkley, Robert Tate and all the Commanders of American Vessels now at St. Christopher.

In a letter to the Secretary of the Navy, dated "Ganges, at sea off St. Bartholomews, 29th June [1799]," Captain Tingey says :

About noon [27th June] a deputation from the masters of the American homeward bound vessels call'd on me with a written request to convoy them home. I convinc'd them that I could not attempt it consistent with the tenor of my orders, and advis'd them to take benefit of the British Convoy, at least to latitude 26° N. assuring them at the same time I would certainly go that far with them myself, were it not that the a'forementioned convoy would answer their purpose. I told them farther that should any public ship arrive, that might be under my command, she should proceed with them.

They urg'd that the greatest danger lay from Bermudas to Cape Hatteras and wish'd me to proceed with them—a measure in my mind so extremely incompatible with my orders, that a compliance would justly have forfeited my Commission. They appear'd satisfied, but at evening call'd again, to know if I had reconsidered the matter. I assur'd them I had very maturely, and felt assurance that I had no right of election as to the steps I should pursue—as the convenience of the convoy, about to sail, would go farther with them than I dare do. I offer'd them if they would wait, or call at dawn of the morning on board I would give a written answer for their justification.

I mention these matters more particularly, and inclose copies of theirs & my letter, as, although these gentlemen, while with me appear'd satisfied and behav'd with much politeness—yet I am told that to my Officers, when out of my presence, they spoke with much acrimony, and threat'ned to publish my refusal of Protection.

I should hold my Commission of very little estimation indeed if it were to subject me to the capricious orders of every score commanders of Merchant vessels that might meet together.

Edmund F. Slafter

REV. EDMUND FARWELL SLAFTER, D.D.

By Charles Knowles Bolton, A.B.

The death of Rev. Edmund F. Slafter, on September 22, 1906, removed from the religious and social life of Boston a stately and genial personality. Dr. Slafter had for years taken an active part in the affairs of many organizations, varied in the character of their work and widely useful. The last paper which he read before the Massachusetts Historical Society was a thorough study of the English "Book of Sports," issued by James I. in 1618, and in the rural life of its period. Although then a man of ninety, Dr. Slafter's voice was clear and steady, and his appreciation of humor as marked as it ever had been. This well-preserved old age was a constant source of quiet pleasure to him; he lived simply and methodically, and loved to tell others how to live to attain four score and ten.

Dr. Slafter has given in the "Memorial of John Slafter, with a genealogical account of his descendants," (Boston, 1869) something of his ancestry. John Slaughter (the ugh pronounced as in laugh) came from Great Britain to Lynn about 1680, and to Connecticut about 1716. A son Samuel, one of the original proprietors and first treasurer of Norwich, Vermont, had twelve children; among them were Eunice Slafter, the great-grandmother of John G. Saxe the poet, and John Slafter of Norwich, grandfather of Dr. Slafter. This John Slafter was a trusted patriot, who carried out in his district the difficult task of taking possession of and confiscating the property of tories. As a soldier and as an administrator he was so much employed that he with difficulty found time to carry on properly his large and successful farm. His wife Elizabeth, daughter of Edmund and Mary (Farwell) Hovey of Mansfield, Connecticut, brought to the family a sturdy Massachusetts ancestry. Their son Sylvester, an intelligent farmer and fruit grower of Thetford, Vermont, was the father of the subject of this sketch. Mr. Slafter lived in the fine old parsonage of Rev. Asa Burton, D.D., and revered his life and work to such a degree that the child Edmund must have felt the influence of that clergyman's honored career.

Edmund Farwell Slafter was born in Norwich, May 30, 1816, the seventh of the ten children of Sylvester and Mary Armstrong (Johnson) Slafter, and was baptized by Rev. Dr. Burton. He was fitted for college at Thetford Academy, and graduated at Dartmouth College in 1840. After studying theology at the Andover Theological Seminary, he served as rector of St. Peter's Church, Cambridgeport, from 1844 to 1846. A short term followed as rector of St. John's Church, Jamaica Plain, from 1846 to 1853, and then Dr. Slafter withdrew on account of ill health; thenceforth he devoted himself to the American Bible Society as superintendent for the Protestant Episcopal Church (1857-1877), and to other charitable and scholarly pursuits. He married, August 16, 1849, Mary Anne Hazen, the daughter of Charles Hazen of Boston, and grand-daughter of the Hon. William Hazen of St. John, New Brunswick. Through marriage this branch of the Hazen family has wealthy and distinguished connections in England and Germany.

The work of the New England Historic Genealogical Society held his interest from the days of his becoming a member, December 4, 1861. To its welfare he gave many years as a member of committees, as Corresponding Secretary from 1867 to 1887, as a Director from 1867 to 1889, and as a frequent writer for the REGISTER. Historical studies filled much of the time of his later life. He was an incorporator of the Prince Society in 1874, sixteen years after its organization, and as President was for many years its moving spirit; to him directly or indirectly belongs the chief credit for many of its valuable monographs. He edited or wrote for the series: "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization" (1873), a complete history of his efforts to plant colonies in this country, especially in Nova Scotia, and on Long Island, from 1621 to 1641; "Voyages of the Northmen to America" (1877), a translation of the Icelandic Sagas, with an explanatory and historical introduction and notes; and "John Checkley; or, The evolution of religious toleration in Massachusetts Bay" (1897). Dr. Slafter also wrote the Memoir to accompany Champlain's Voyages, which appeared as part of the series. Among his lesser papers were sermons "On the occasion of the death of Gen. Zachary Taylor," and on "The planting and growth of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States"; pamphlets on "The assassination Plot in New York in 1776"; "Copper coinage of the Earl of Stirling, 1632"; "The Landing of the Hessians, 1776"; "Royal memorials and emblems in use in the Colonies before the Revolution"; "Prehistoric copper implements"; and "The Vermont Coinage." His Discourse delivered on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the New England Historic Genealogical Society is still an important source of information relating to its early days of work and usefulness. Another publication which bears testimony to the breadth of interest in his studies is entitled: "History and Causes of Incorrect Latitudes as recorded in the Journals of early writers, navigators and explorers." He also fulfilled the kindly office of biographer for several of his friends, including Fitch Edward Oliver, M.D., Charles W. Tuttle, and Rev. William S. Bartlet. With writing and study came membership in the Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Prince Society, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Boston Numismatic Society, the Royal Historical Society in England, and many other organizations. He also served on the School Committee in Roxbury and in West Roxbury.

Dr. Slafter was very active in Boston, and yet continued his interest in the Academy and the College of his youth. He devoted much time to research, writing, and editing, and, as the years passed, his horizon widened and his circle of friends increased. Ever a good executive, he possessed also that native shrewdness which delights in the honorable accumulation of a competency, and in the management of property. He enjoyed his leisure because he found so many means of employing it for the present generation and for posterity. The less arduous duties of the clergyman he fulfilled to the end of his ninety years, serving the diocese of Massachusetts as registrar from February, 1884, and as an assistant to the rector of Trinity Church, assisting regularly in the communion service. The large and valuable Diocesan Library owes its origin and growth entirely to him. Dartmouth College gave him the degree of A.M. in 1865, and that of D.D. in 1890.

Rev. Dr. Slafter's funeral was conducted by Bishop Lawrence, assisted by the rector of Trinity and two other clergymen; the burial was at Forest Hills Cemetery. His wife died many years ago, leaving no children. He bequeathed a fine painting of himself * to the Massachusetts Historical Society, and a considerable estate to literary and charitable societies, including the New England Historic Genealogical Society. His home for many years had been at 249 Berkeley Street in Boston. He died in Hampton, New Hampshire.

HUGH JONES OF SALEM, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Joseph Gardner Bartlett Esq., of Boston.

The surname Jones ranks first in number among the family names of Wales, one Welshman in seven bearing the name; in England it holds second place, being barely exceeded in frequency by Smith; and among the old family names of New England it is outnumbered only by Smith, Brown, Johnson, Clark, White, Davis, and Williams.

Being of patronymic derivation, it came into use as a hereditary family surname during the fifteenth century; and being almost always of Welsh origin, it is found in England most frequently in those counties nearest to Wales.

Over fifty colonists bearing the name, progenitors of families, settled in New England before 1700, most of whom came from England, although doubtless the majority were originally of Welsh descent.

* The accompanying portrait, from a plate loaned by the Massachusetts Historical Society, is engraved from the painting.

1. Hugh[1] Jones, progenitor of the particular Jones family herein treated, was born about 1635, came to New England about 1650, and settled in Salem, Mass., where he resided the rest of his life, and died about 1688. The following deposition secured presumably to establish a claim to some property in England, affords authentic particulars of his origin and emigration: "These presents are to certifie unto whome it may concerne that wee Thomas Cromwell and John Cromwell whoe have beene long inhabitants here in the towne of Salem, in ye countie of Essex, heare in New England, doe testifie that wee have known Hugh Joanes, as one coming from England in ye same shipp with us into the contry above thirty yeares agoe (and as we understood abord Mr. Stratton's ship) that he came from Wincanton and was servant to Mr. Robert Gutch: and his sister and Elizabeth Due and Margaret White and James Abbott and John Vining as wee understood came from the same place: and the same Hugh Joanes that came along with us into ye contry is now liveing. Taken upon the corporall oathes of ye sd Thomas and John Cromwell in court at Salem the 27 of June 1682. And alsoe ye sd Hugh Joanes then personally appeared in Court being in health. Attestes Hilliard Veren, Clerk." (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. vi, fol 28.)

Wincanton is a small parish in Somersetshire, England, of which the existing registers do not begin until 1636.

His "service" with Robert Gutch was perhaps as an apprentice; and after its expiration, it appears that he was for a while in the employ of Thomas Gardner of Salem, as in June, 1660, he made a deposition in regard to the estate of Joshua Conant beginning, "I Hugh Jones doe witness that while I lived with my master Mr. Gardner," etc.; also, in Nov., 1661, Hugh Jones, aged 25 years, testified in regard to a colt "formerly owned by my master Mr. Gardner." (Essex Co. Court Files.) About this time he married, and on Nov. 18, 1661, received from the town a homestead grant of about three acres of land near the brook running down to the mill. (Salem Town Records, Essex Institute Hist. Coll., vol. xl, p. 114.) This land "Hugh Jones, planter," sold to William Robinson of Salem, on Apr. 22, 1673 (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. iv, fol. 63); and on Apr. 13, 1674, he bought of Thomas Gardner, five acres in the "North Neck," formerly the property of Henry Skerry. (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. iv, fol. 54). No records are found of his possession of any other land.

Hugh[1] Jones appears to have been a farmer, and a man of small property and humble position in the community; and the struggle for existence must have been a strenuous one in rearing his large family on his small estate. His descendants for five generations lived mostly in Middlesex and Worcester Counties, Mass., and Hillsborough County, N. H. They were a vigorous, hardy, long-lived race of farmers and blacksmiths, reared large families, were continually pioneers to new settlements on the advancing frontiers, and most of them were at some period engaged in the military service. None of them obtained a liberal education or acquired more than local distinction.

The record of the decease of Hugh[1] Jones has not been found, but it may be surmised that he came to a mysterious end, as, during the Salem witchcraft trials in 1692, Elizabeth Booth deposed that the uneasy ghosts of four murdered persons appeared to her; and that "the spectre of Hugh Jones assured her that Mrs. Elizabeth Proctor killed him because he had a poght of syder of her which he had not paid her for." (Essex Institute Hist. Coll., vol. ii, p. 198.)

the children to the northern part of Woburn.* On May 7, 1694, William Butters and Samuel Snow, Jr., gave bonds to the amount of £150 to the town of Woburn to secure the town against any expense for Mary Jones, John Jones, Sarah Jones, Rachel Jones, and Hugh Jones, all formerly of Salem, whom they had been entertaining. (Woburn Town Records, vol. iv, p. 26.) It seems probable that Butters and Snow had married Rebecca and Abigail Jones, to cause their interest in the rest of the family.

An inventory of the estate of Hugh[1] Jones was returned in Dec., 1688, with an additional inventory in Nov., 1690. (Essex Institute Hist. Coll., vol. iv, p. 175, and vol. v, p. 44.)

He married first, June 26, 1660, Hannah, born Feb. 21, 1640–1, died May 10, 1672, daughter of John and Margaret Tompkins of Salem; and married second, Dec. 31, 1672, Mary, baptized Mar. 29, 1649–50, died in Woburn, May 29, 1717, daughter of John and Martha (Tompkins) Foster of Salem, who was a cousin of his first wife.

Children by first wife:

4. xiv. HUGH, b. in 1683, not recorded.
xv. LYDIA, b. Feb. 20, 1684–5; no further record.

2. JOHN[2] JONES (Hugh[1]), born in Salem, Aug. 4, 1667, lived there until about 1705, and then removed to Framingham. On Mar. 1, 1713–14, John Tarbell, Sr., of Salem, claimed two commoners rights in the rights voted by the town in 1702 for his own house and the house of John Jones on Humphrey's farm. (Salem Commoners Records, Essex Institute Hist. Coll., vol. xxxvi, p. 227); and on Dec. 28, 1726, John Jones of Framingham, husbandman, for £5 acknowledged conveyance to John Tarbel of all his rights in the common lands of Salem, "being that right which was allowed for my dwelling house in Salem in the middle precinct of said Town." (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. xlvi, fol. 60.)

John[2] Jones served in Sir William Phipps's unsuccessful expedition against Quebec, in 1690; and his name appears on a copy of a list of petitioners, in 1737, for a grant of land for this service. (Register, ante, vol. xxx, p. 192.) No settlement of his estate is to be found.

He married, Jan. 7, 1696–7, Marah, or Mary, Knowlton of Reading, who was admitted to the Framingham church, May 17, 1717.

Children:

i. John,[3] b. June 11, 1706; d. young.
5. ii. John, b. July 15, 1709.

3. Samuel[2] Jones (Hugh[1]) was born in Salem, Apr. 30, 1672, and removed to Woburn about 1694, where he passed the rest of his life as a farmer, and died in 1753, over 80 years of age. But little information has been found of him. His will, dated Oct. 18, 1733, probated Dec. 24, 1753, names wife Abigail, daughter Abigail Tay, sons Samuel, Ebenezer, and Jonathan, and son Joshua who received the homestead and was residuary legatee and executor. His marriage is not recorded, but his wife, to whom he was married about 1695, was Abigail, born Apr. 4, 1677, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Wilson) Snow of Woburn, as appears by a deed in which the eldest son, Samuel Jones, speaks of land formerly of "his grandfather Samuel Snow." (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xxxiii, fol. 1.)

Children:

6. i. Samuel,[3] b. Nov. 19, 1696.
7. ii. Ebenezer, b. June 18, 1699.
8. iii. Jonathan, b. July 26, 1702.
iv. Abigail, b. June 6, 1708; d. Sept. 26, 1778; m. Jan. 2, 1723–4, Lieut. William, b. Oct. 25, 1700, d. Dec. 8, 1780, son of Nathaniel and Bathsheba (Wyman) Tay of Woburn. They resided in Woburn, and had eleven children.
v. Joshua, b. Jan. 31, 1711–12; inherited his father's homestead in Woburn, where he resided during his long life; accumulated a considerable estate, and was prominent in town affairs, holding the office of selectman twelve years; d. Jan. 28, 1790; m. Apr. 26, 1737, Abigail, b. Apr. 14, 1716, d. May 17, 1809, dau. of Ephraim and Grace Waters of Woburn. They had no children. In his will, dated Feb. 24, 1785, probated Mar. 10, 1790, he directed that his wife Abigail should have half of his dwelling house, and suitable maintenance for life, with remainder and reversion to his "friend and kinsman" William Abbot of Woburn, appointed executor, who had married, in 1761, Elizabeth Tay, niece of the testator; the account of the executor states that after Sept. 20, 1796, the widow Abigail ceased to live with him, but went to live with Jonathan Jones (a grand-nephew of her husband, and son of Jonathan,[4] No. 21). (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

4. Hugh[2] Jones (Hugh[1]), born in Salem, in 1683, went to Woburn with his mother, about 1694, and resided for nearly forty years in that part of the town set off in 1730 as Wilmington; but on Apr. 18, 1733, he purchased of Gov. Belcher a farm of 187 acres in Dracut, whither he removed, and died about 1770, as his son Hugh was called "junior" up to 1769. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xxxvi, fol. 252.) No record of his death or settlement of his estate has been found. His marriage is not recorded, but his wife was Hannah, born Dec. 24, 1688, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Pierce) Wilson of Woburn. On Dec. 17, 1729, Hugh Jones of Woburn et al., sons-in-law to Samuel Wilson, late of Woburn, conveyed to their brother-in-law Samuel Wilson all their interest in the estate of their father-in-law. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xxix, fol. 328.)

Children:

i. ABIGAIL,[3] b. Dec. 17, 1711; d. after 1782; m. Jan. 19, 1731–2, John Taylor of Woburn, b. about 1710, d. after 1782. They settled in Dracut, and had eight children.

ii. HANNAH, b. Apr. 16, 1714; m. (int. rec. Aug. 26, 1736) Joseph, b. July 28, 1712, son of Joseph and Sarah Coburn of Dracut. They lived in Dracut, and had seven children.

(3) (int. rec. Sept. 20, 1765) Mrs. Ruth Jaquith of Pelham, by whom he had one child.

13. viii. HUGH, b. July 7, 1727.

5. JOHN[3] JONES (John,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Framingham, July 15, 1709, inherited his father's farm, which he occupied until his death, in 1778. His name appears as private in Capt. Jeremiah Belknap's company of Framingham militia, on a roll dated April 26, 1757. (Mass. Archives, vol. xcv, p. 314.)

His will, dated Apr. 15, 1778, probated Jan. 5, 1779, names sons Samuel and John; daughters Sarah Stow and Elizabeth Winch; Isaiah Fairbanks, husband of deceased daughter Mary, and her two children Mary and Daniel Fairbanks; and youngest son Daniel Jones, to whom was left the homestead and all other real estate. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married first, Sarah, born Feb. 12, 1709–10, daughter of Matthew and Sarah (Page) Gibbs of Framingham, who died soon, without issue; and married second, Nov. 16, 1738, Elizabeth Gibbs, sister of his first wife, who was baptized Oct. 20, 1717, and died in 1776.

Children by second wife:

i. SARAH,[4] b. Jan. 16, 1738–9; d. June 16, 1830; m. (1) Nathaniel, b. Sept. 28, 1739, d. Mar. 24, 1774, son of Thomas and Anne Stow of Grafton; they settled in Charlton, and had six children; m. iii. MARY, b. Aug. 7, 1744; d. about 1775; m. in 1772, Isaiah, b. in 1745, d. in 1832, son of Jabez and Susanna (Corning) Fairbanks of Holliston; they settled in Grafton, and she left two children. After her death, he had three more wives, and at least nine more children.

14. iv. SAMUEL, b. Nov. 18, 1746.
15. v. JOHN, b. Nov. 10, 1751.
16. vi. DANIEL, b. Aug. 31, 1755.

6. CAPT. SAMUEL[3] JONES (Samuel,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, Nov. 19, 1696, lived in his native town until about 1731, when he removed to that part of Marlborough which in 1784 became Berlin, where he settled on a large farm formerly owned by Solomon Keyes. Here he became a prominent man, served as selectman in 1747 and 1748, was commissioned captain of one of the local military companies, and died Apr. 3, 1769.

In his will, dated Feb. 8, 1760, probated May 16, 1769, he styles himself "gentleman," mentions wife Susanna, eldest son Samuel, sons Jonathan and Silas, two youngest sons Timothy and Nathan, to whom was given land in Narragansett No. 6, eldest daughter Susanna Tay, daughters Esther Taylor and Sarah Jones, and "faithful and dutiful fourth son Ichabod," to whom was bequeathed the homestead. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married, May 23, 1722, Susanna, born Jan. 14, 1700–1, died Sept. 17, 1795, daughter of Capt. Edward and Sarah (Walker) Johnson of Woburn.

Children:

i. SUSANNA,[4] b. Jan. 30, 1722–3; d. Mar. 15, 1803; m. William, b. July 11, 1726, d. Mar. 17, 1795, son of Lieut. William and Abigail (Jones) Tay of Woburn. They lived in Woburn, and had seven children.

17. ii. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 24, 1725.

iii. ESTHER, b. Dec. 14, 1727; d. June 10, 1801; m. Oct. 28, 1756, as his second wife, David, b. Sept. 17, 1723, d. Aug. 30, 1795, son of Lieut. Eleazer and Judith (Hapgood) Taylor of Marlborough. They lived in Shrewsbury until 1778, and then settled in that part of Marlborough which was later Berlin, on the farm formerly owned by his father-in-law, Samuel[3] Jones. They had three children.

iv. ICHABOD, b. June 20, 1730; d. young.

18. v. JONATHAN, b. Mar. 18, 1731–2.

vi. SARAH, b. Feb. 17, 1733–4; m. Nov. 26, 1761, Micah, b. Mar. 31, 1735, son of Eleazer and Elizabeth (Goodale) Hathorn of Marlborough. They lived in Lancaster until after the Revolution, and then removed to Boylston, where he d. in 1803, leaving nine children.

vii. LIEUT. ICHABOD, b. Mar. 11, 1735–6; d. of small-pox, May 14, 1778; unmarried. He served as private in Col. Abraham Williams's co. of Marlborough militia, in 1757 (Mass. Archives, vol. xcv, p. 326), and was sergt. and lieut. in the Revolution. He occupied the paternal homestead, which he inherited by his father's will, and dying intestate, his brothers and sisters were his heirs. On May 23, 1778, Susanna, relict of Samuel Jones, Sr., late of Marlborough, William Tay and wife Susanna of Woburn, Jonathan Jones and wife Elizabeth of Brookline, Samuel Jones, Timothy Jones, and Nathan Jones of Bolton, Silas Jones of Templeton, and Micah Hathorn and wife Sarah of Lancaster, conveyed to David Taylor of Shrewsbury all their interest in the estate of Ichabod Jones, late of Marlborough. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxii, fol. 25.)

19. viii. SILAS, b. May 7, 1738.

ix. LIEUT. TIMOTHY, b. Apr. 9, 1740; lived in Marlborough, Bolton, and in Berlin where he was selectman in 1787, and d. in 1822, probably unmarried. He was a private in Col. Abraham Williams's co. of Marlborough, in 1757, and served in the Revolution as a lieut. His will, dated Mar. 10, 1815, probated Aug. 6, 1822, gave to his friend Asa Witt and his family, of Berlin, the use of the dwelling late the property of his brother Jonathan Jones, until Asa Witt, Jr., became 21; also £100 to said Asa Witt, Jr., at 21; all residue of his estate to Timothy Jones, 2d, of Berlin, yeoman. (Worcester Co. Probate.)

x. NATHAN, b. Aug. 1, 1742; lived in Marlborough, Bolton, and in Berlin where he d. in 1803; m. in Nov., 1767, Mary, b. Aug. 14, 1734, dau. of John and Martha (Carter) Bruce of Woburn and Marlborough. They left no issue. He served as private on the Lexington Alarm, Apr. 19, 1775. His will, dated Dec. 27, 1802, probated in 1803, gave to wife Mary house, furniture and maintenance for life; one dollar to each of his brothers and sisters, or their representatives, viz., to the heirs of Samuel Jones, deceased, to Jonathan, Silas, and Timothy Jones, to Susanna Tay, to the heirs of Esther Taylor, deceased, and to Sarah Hathorn; residue and reversion of estate to nephew Calvin Bruce. (Worcester Co. Probate.) Calvin Bruce was a grand-nephew of the wife of the testator.

7. CAPT. EBENEZER[3] JONES (Samuel,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, June 18, 1699, lived in his native town, and also in Wilmington, acquiring extensive estates in both places, and at one time maintaining a tavern in the latter town. (Middlesex Co. Court of Sessions, Apr. 8, 1746.) He was an enterprising and prominent man, but gained his chief distinction in the military service, the traditions among his descendants, of his prowess in the Indian Wars, being confirmed by the military records. He served as Lieut. in Capt. Joseph Richardson's company, in the Spring of 1755, and as captain from Sept. 9, 1755, to Jan. 3, 1756, on the first expedition against Crown Point. (Mass. Archives, vol. xciii, p. 236, and vol. xciv, p. 84.) On Mar. 13, 1758, he was appointed captain of a company on another expedition against Crown Point, and while scouting near Fort Edward, on July 20, his company was ambushed by the Indians at Half-Way Brook, and he and many of his men were killed. (Mass. Archives, vol. xcvii, p. 208; also REGISTER, ante, vol. x, p. 308.) His will, dated May 20, 1758, probated Mar. 12, 1759, names wife Phebe, sons Ebenezer and Jacob, daughters Elizabeth, Phebe, and Joanna, and children of daughter Abigail, deceased, formerly wife of William Thompson. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married first, Nov. 18, 1719, Elizabeth, born Dec. 10, 1693, daughter of Robert and Joanna (Farrar) Dale of Woburn, who was the mother of all his children; and married second (intention recorded July 13, 1746), Phebe, born about 1702, died in June, 1764, daughter of Zerrubbabel and Grace (Symonds) Endecott of Boxford, and great-granddaughter of Gov. John Endecott.

Children by first wife:

i. ELIZABETH,[4] b. Aug. 31, 1720; d. in 1759; m. (int. rec. Aug. 8, 1742) Samuel, b. in 1713, d. about 1792, son of Martyn and Ruth (Endecott) Herrick of Lynnfield. They lived in North Reading, and had nine children. By a second wife, he had four more children.

ii. PHEBE, b. Mar. 18, 1721-2; d. Apr. 1, 1722.

iii. PHEBE, b. Mar. 19, 1722-3; m. (int. rec. Sept. 30. 1743) Benjamin, b. Nov. 24, 1721, son of Joshua and Mary (Carter) Sawyer of Woburn.

iv. EBENEZER, b. Dec. 8, 1724; d. Jan. 29, 1724-5.

v. MAJ. EBENEZER, b. probably in 1727; lived in Woburn and in Wilmington, where he d. in 1791. Like his father, he was prominent in military affairs, serving as sergt. in his father's company, in 1755, in the first expedition against Crown Point, and as ensign in the same company on the Crown Point expedition of 1758, being promoted to lieut. after his father's death. He also served as major in the Revolution. His will, dated Aug. 8, 1778, probated Dec. 6, 1791, mentions no children, and gives his whole estate to his wife Rachel. (Middlesex Co. Probate.) He m. July 19, 1759, Rachel, b. Oct. 25, 1736, d. about 1830, dau. of Jacob and Elizabeth (Damon) Sawyer of Reading, by whom he had no children. She m. (2) June 10, 1795, as his third wife, Jonathan, b. Nov., 1745, d. Jan. 17, 1796, son of Joshua and Rachel (Varnum) Thompson of Wilmington.

vi. ABIGAIL, b. June 29, 1729; d. Sept. 15, 1757; m. Nov. 24, 1747, William, b. Oct. 19, 1723, d. in May, 1808, son of Dea. James and Abigail (Hamlet) Thompson of Wilmington. They lived in Wilmington, and had five children, He m. (2) Jan. 12, 1762, Mary Baldwin, by whom he had four more children; and after the Revolution, removed to Chester, Vt., where he d.

vii. JOANNA, b. probably in 1731; d. Oct. 10, 1794; m. (int. rec. July 16, 1748) David, b. Mar. 26, 1729, d. in 1799, son of David and Anna Cummings of Topsfield. They lived in Topsfield a few years, but settled in Woburn about 1756, where he established a tannery, carried on by his descendants for several generations. They had twelve children. He m. (2) Apr. 16, 1795, Chloe (Green-Trask) Harrington of Lexington.

viii. SAMUEL, b. about 1733? A Samuel Jones was private in Capt. Ebenezer Jones's Woburn company, from Sept. 15 to Dec. 17, 1755, on the first Crown Point expedition. (Mass. Archives, vol. xciv, p. 84.) This Samuel cannot be placed among the descendants of Hugh Jones unless he were a son of Capt. Ebenezer, and if so, must have died unmarried soon after this service.

20. ix. JACOB, b. Sept. 23, 1737 (family Bible).

8. LIEUT. JONATHAN[3] JONES (Samuel,[2] Hugh[1]). born in Woburn, July 26, 1702, located in the northern part of the town, which was established as Wilmington in 1730, and died there, May 24, 1753. He was a farmer and a man of enterprise, acquiring extensive landed property in Wilmington and in Monson, N. H., and attaining the rank of Lieut. of the local military company. His will, made May 23, 1753, the day before his death, mentions wife Elizabeth, sons Jonathan and William, who had received their portion; sons Joshua and David, to whom was left real estate in Wilmington; sons Caleb and Josiah, who received lands in Monson, N. H.; son Samuel, who was to have a trade and £13. 6. 8 when of age; and daughters Martha Carter and Elizabeth and Mary Jones. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married in Woburn, Aug. 7, 1721, Elizabeth, born about 1703, died after 1765, daughter of William and Ruth (Richardson) Russel of Salem Village, and granddaughter of William Russel of Salem Village by Elizabeth Nurse, his wife, whose mother, Rebecca Nurse, was a victim of the Salem witchcraft delusion of 1692.

THOMAS WILLETT OF LEYDEN AND PLYMOUTH, FIRST MAYOR OF NEW YORK.

By GEORGE CANNING BURGESS, A.B.

IT is a very difficult matter to arrive at any definite conclusion with regard to the details of the life of many of the earlier immigrants to the American Colonies, although they may have taken a very important part in colonial affairs. Evidently, the colonists were so engrossed in the exigencies of the work which immediately and persistently confronted them, that mere personal matters did not much concern them, or, if they did leave memorials behind them, they have long since disappeared.

Even Bradford's History "Of Plimoth Plantation" is singularly free from purely personal mention, and only in the Appendix to the History does he mention in detail the individuals in the little company, and their increase and decrease. There are many of that memorable company whose names do do not appear on the pages of Bradford's History for a long series of years.

Amongst the names of those who arrived at Plymouth during the early years of the settlement, and who became prominent in the colony, may be found that of Thomas Willett, the subject of this sketch. Savage (page 557) says of Thomas Willett: "Thomas, Plymouth, was in his youth associated with the Leyden congregation, 1629, and came over, as I judge, in the Lion, 1632, embarked in June. See 4 Mass. Hist. Coll. I. 94, where the official document makes his name Tobie Willett." Then follows a list of his children, and their marriages, and something of his personal history. Now, as Willett was in the employ of the Plymouth Company at the trading post on the Penobscot River previous to 1632, Tobie Willett must have been quite another person from Thomas Willett.

Daggett, in his History of Attleborough (page 51), says, "But little is known of him [Capt. Thomas Willett] previous to his emigration to this country. He was a merchant in his native country, and probably in his business travels had become acquainted with the Pilgrims in Leyden, was a sympathizer in their religious views, and had resided with them in Holland for some time prior to their exile to America. * * * He was one of the last of the Leyden company, and came here probably about 1630, a very young man at the time of his arrival—perhaps twenty-one." This does not seem to agree with itself. He could hardly be "a merchant" in his native country; be engaged in business travels to any considerable extent; reside with them for some time prior to their exile; and still arrive in this country at the early age of twenty-one!

Bliss, in his History of Rehoboth (page 269), says that Willett arrived in this country about 1629, and adds that he had been bred a merchant, being at the time of his arrival eighteen or nineteen years of age. There is amongst historians as much uncertainty about his parentage as about his age.

It has been assumed by those who have hazarded a guess upon the subject, that Thomas Willett was the son of Rev. Andrew Willett. The only foundation which I find for this assumption is an article in Vol. II. (page 376) of the REGISTER, in which the author, probably Samuel Gardner Drake, writing of the Willett family says, "So far as our researches have extended we have met with but few instances of the name of Willett in English authors. There was an Andrew Willett, D.D., rector of Barley in the county of Herts, 'the author of more than forty treatises.' It is not at all improbable that he may have been the father of our THOMAS WILLETT, as he had a numerous issue, and died in 1621." From this probability, as stated by an eminent authority, apparently come the statements of subsequent writers who have referred to Willett's ancestry. But there is an origin much nearer the Pilgrim congregation at Leyden than the rectorship of Barley.

Rev. Morton Dexter in his "Members of the Pilgrim Company at Leyden," says: "In determining who belonged to their number the first step is to inquire who can be identified beyond any possible question. We know positively * * Bradford, Brewster, Carver, Winslow, and others. * * * The next step is to inquire who were associated with them in ways, and with a degree of closeness, which warrant the inference that in all reasonable probability these associates also belonged to the company. * * * A third class, much more difficult to be determined, remains,—that of those who may have been members, but as to whom the evidence is less conclusive." (2 Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, xvii, pp. 170–171.)

To the second class thus described would seem to belong a Thomas Willett and his wife Alice, who originally came from Norwich, England, one of the centres of the Puritan movement, and for a time the home of Robert Browne who gave the name "Brownists" to the early separatists, and John Robinson, the beloved pastor of the Leyden congregation, but had resided at Leyden some years previous to 1622, and whose names appear as witnesses to betrothals of members of the Leyden congregation on the public records. The names of some of their children are given, but although no record has yet been found of the birth of a son Thomas to Thomas and Alice Willett, is it not reasonable to suppose that our Thomas Willett, who had so complete a knowledge of the manners, customs and language of the Dutch people, and who was afterward associated so closely with the Pilgrims, was born in the Leyden colony, and was the son of Thomas and Alice? A color is given to this supposition, valuable only as far as it goes, by the fact that our Thomas, who married Mary Brown, after naming his first daughter Mary, presumably after her mother, gave to three other daughters the names of the three daughters of Thomas and Alice Willett, viz.: Sarah, Rebecca, and Esther or Hester. Mr. Dexter states in "The England and Holland of the Pilgrims" (page 639), unqualifiedly, that he was the son of Thomas and Alice Willett.

There is little doubt, therefore, that Thomas Willett came to Plymouth in 1629, and was one of the thirty-five that Bradford, both in his letters and his History, says were the last of the Leyden congregation to come over.

Willett's will,* made April 26, 1671, says, "being going in the sixty-fourth year of my age," which would make him about twenty-two years of age in 1629, but his grave stone says he died August 4, 1674, in the 64th year of his age. If these figures are correct he would have been only about nineteen years old at the time of his arrival in Plymouth. Whether he were twenty or only nineteen years of age, he seems to have had a thorough business training, and the power of inspiring confidence in his abilities, for almost at once he was placed by the government at Plymouth in a delicate and responsible situation.

Writing March 19, 1629, to Gov. Bradford, James Shirley, one of the merchant adventurers who had made the coming of the Pilgrims possible, proposed a partnership with one Edward Ashley, in a kind of "running plantation" as he phrased it, the object of the partnership being to secure a large profit in the fur business which Ashley was proposing to carry on under a patent which he controlled on the Penobscot. With regard to this proposition Bradford says: "But this bussines aboute Ashley did not a litle trouble them; for though he had a wite & abillitie enough to menage ye bussines, yet some of them knew him to be a very profane yonge man; and he had for some time lived amonge ye Indeans as a savage, & wente naked amongst them, and used their maners (in wch time he got their language), so they feared he might still rune into evill courses (though he promised better), and God would not prosper his ways." (History Of Plimouth Plantation, page 170.)

But the burden of debt pressed hard upon the little community at Plymouth, and they were ready to adopt any scheme which seemed to them feasible and honest, to help them in their undertaking to pay off their debt in England. "So," Bradford continues, "they, to prevente a worse mischeefe, resolved to joyne in ye bussines, and gave him supplies in what they could, & overlooked his proceedings as well as they could; the which they did ye better, by joyning an honest yonge man, that came from Leyden, with him as his fellow (in some sorte), and not merely as a servante. Which yonge man being discrete, and one whom they could trust, they so instructed as keept Ashley in some good mesure within bounds." (Ibid, page 170.) This is the first reference which we have to Willett after he joined the Pilgrim congregation on this side, for the young man so discreet and trustworthy was our Thomas Willett, who at the age of nineteen or twenty was set to watch and keep within bounds so adroit and practised a rogue as Edward Ashley.

* In Plymouth Colony Wills and Inventories, vol. iii., part 1, page 114. The following is an abstract:—Loveing sonnes James, Hezekiah, Andrew and Samuel appointed joint executors. Mr. John Saffin, my loveing friend Mr. Robert Holmes, my deare brother in law Mr. James Brown, my deare son in law Mr. Samuel Hooker, and the Reverend Mr. John Myles, to be overseers. To sons James, Hezekiah, Andrew and Samuel, real estate, none of this property to be sold by any one until it has been tendered to the others, with the intent that said property may be inherited by those of my children and posterity that bear the name of Willett. To said sons or the survivors of them my library of books, divided equally, and all estate in Rehoboth or Swanzey, except what I shall give to my grandson Samuel Hooker. To grandson Samuel Hooker, lands in Rehoboth. To grandson Thomas Saffin, lands in the Narragansett country. To my son Hooker's six sons and to any other son born to him by his wife my daughter Mary, and to my son Saffin's four sons not already mentioned and to any other son born to him by his wife my daughter Martha, and to all such sons as shall be by my daughter Esther, lands at Narragansett. To my eldest son James Willett, 50£ or value thereof in lands to be paid by my three sons Hezekiah, Andrew and Samuel. To my daughter Esther Willett, 50£ or the value thereof in lands to be paid by said three sons. To said daughter Esther, 100£ already promised as her marriage portion. To my four sons James, Hezekiah, Andrew and Samuel, lands. To my three sons Hezekiah, Andrew and Samuel, 50£ apiece toward their maintence in schools and other ways and means for attainment of learning. To grandson Samuel Hooker, 25£; to granddaughter Sarah Elliott, 50£; and to my old servant John Padducke, 10£. To the overseers of my will, 40s apiece. To the church at Plymouth 10£; to the church at Swanzey, 10£; and to the church at Rehoboth, £5. To the Reverend Mr. John Myles, 10£. The remainder of my personal estate to my seven children to be shared equally. Witnesses: Joseph Hurd and William East. John Saffin, merchant, of Boston who wrote the will, concurred. Inventory: £2798. 14s. 7d.

The fears of the Pilgrim government regarding Ashley were soon realized. As Bradford says, "Ashley was taken in a trape, * * for trading powder & shote with ye Indeans; and was ceased upon by some in authoritie, who allso would have confiscated above a thousand weight of beaver." This loss, however, they were not made to suffer. "It was also manifest against him" that he had been guilty of other evil practices, "so, to be shorte, they gott their goods freed, but he was sent home prisoner." (Ibid, page 179.)

The command of the post was now turned over to Willett, who seems to have managed the business in a satisfactory manner. A part of his duty was to come up to the westward with their shallop or pinnace to fetch a supply of goods which was brought over for the purpose of barter with the Indians, as well as for their own sustenance. In the year 1631, while Willett and part of his company with him were on one of these voyages, their house at Penobscot was robbed by the French, and all of their goods of any worth they carried away "to the value of £400 or £500 as the cost first-penny worth." No redress could be had. That was not the end of their troubles.

Bradford says: "This year [1635] they sustained an other great loss from ye French, * * * and partly by threatening, & otherwise made Mr. Willett (their agente ther) to approve of ye sale of ye goods their unto him." (Ibid, page 207.)

There followed an abortive attempt, under the command of one Girling, to drive out the French. As an example of sheer stupidity this miscalled military expedition bears off the palm.

In a letter to Gov. Endicott of Massachusetts Bay, written Oct. 21, 1644, Sieur D'Aulnay gives an account of the capture, and in polite French phrases excuses it. It was himself, he says, who received the order to clear the coast from Nova Scotia to Pemaquid and Kennebeck of all persons whatever, and met with Thomas Willett at Pemptagoet (Penobscot). I prayed him to be gone, giving him to understand, with as much civility as I could, that it was not a place for him to inhabit. I did him no wrong to force him to depart—seeing he possessed another's right. D'Aulnay, confusing, as many have done since, the Puritan and Pilgrim settlements, wrote to the Governor of Massachusetts asking the reason of the attack by Girling, but as D'Aulnay says (and what might have been expected), "He washed his hands of it and wrote that he knew not of it."

This was the end of the trading post on the Penobscot River, and Willett returned to Plymouth. During his command at Penobscot, viz., July 1, 1633, he was admitted as a freeman, and in 1643 six acres of land were granted him for a house lot. This land was situated in the North Precinct of Plymouth, near Jones River (now Kingston), where he soon afterwards built a house which is now standing and occupied.

The capture and destruction of the post on the Penobscot evidently did not wholly discourage Willett, for at Plymouth, July 6th, 1636, he married Mary, the daughter of John Brown, the elder one of the Assistants that year.

Daggett, in his Sketch of the History of Attleborough (page 130), says that there is some reason to believe that he removed to Dorchester, and thence between 1641 and 1646 returned to Plymouth, and gives a list of the children of Thomas and Mary Willett born in Dorchester. But an inspection of Dorchester records shows that the name is Millett and not Willett.

The experience which Willett had gained at Castine, on the Penobscot, was soon utilized by the Pilgrims of another sphere of action. As early as the year 1628, Bradford says, "Having procured a patente for Kenebeck, they now erected a house up above in ye river in ye most convenientest place for trade, as they conceived, and furnished the same with comodities for y^t^ end." (History Of Plimouth Plantation, page 157.)

This place was called by the Indians Kouissinoc, meaning the place where many gather. It was situated at or near the place where now stands the city of Augusta, the capital of Maine. We know very little of the details of the manner of living at these out posts of the Pilgrim fathers, how those who were stationed there passed the long dreary winters and the short pleasant summer season. A brief mention now and then connects some well-known Plymouth name with the spot. All the rest is conjecture.

We know that John Howland was in charge of the post at Kouissinoc in 1634; John Winslow, brother of Gov. Edward, in 1647; and Thomas Southworth in 1654. Thomas Willett was in command there after the disaster on the Penobscot in 1635. Just when he assumed command we do not know, but he was certainly there in 1639, and probably did not go there until that date, for in 1638 he was on a committee with Gov. Bradford, Thomas Prence, Edward Winslow, and others of the town of Plymouth, "to dispose of the stock given by Mr. James Shirley to the poor of Plymouth."

Winthrop, in his History of New England, writing of the events occurring in 1639, mentions Willett, and gives us a hint of the character of the man. He says, "At Kennebeck, the Indians wanting food, and there being store in the Plimouth trading house, they conspired to kill the English there for their provision; and some Indians coming into the house, Mr. Willet, the master of the house, being reading in the Bible, his countenance was more solemn than at other times, so as he did not look cheerfully upon them, as he was wont to do; whereupon they went out and told their fellows, that their purpose was discovered. They asked them, how it could be. The others told them, that they knew it by Mr. Willet's countenance, and that he had discovered it by a book that he was reading. Whereupon they gave over their design." (History of New England, vol. 1, pp. 387–388.)

Willett, probably, did not remain long at the Kennebeck, for he was back in Plymouth in 1640, when he was one of a committee to levy £4 and 30 bushels of corn on the inhabitants of Plymouth and Green's Harbor. The next year he joined John Jenney, the miller, in building a small craft of fifty tons, the cost of which was to be £200, and of which Willett was to own one-sixteenth. This seems to have been the beginning of a very successful mercantile career, which embraced all the principal ports from Virginia to Holland in its scope.

For the next ten years his home was at Plymouth, in that part of the town formerly referred to, where he had received a grant of one hundred acres of land in addition to the six acres there mentioned. This lot adjoined the land of John Doane, the man who resigned the office of Assistant to become a Deacon in the church, believing the two offices to be incompatible.

Although Willett's home was in Plymouth, his activities went far afield. He bought and sold houses and land, and gradually extended his trading operations as far as the Dutch settlements at New Amsterdam. He was active in town as well as colony affairs, being constantly appoited on important committees.

March 7th, 1647–8, he became the successor of Myles Standish as Captain of the military company at Plymouth. The order of the Court was as follows: — "The military company of the towne New Plimouth, haueing according to order, propossed vnto the Court 2 men for euery espetiall offise of thair band, the Court doe alow and aproue of—Mr Thomas Willit for capptain, of Mr Thomas Southworth for lieuetenant, of Mr Willī Bradford, Junior, for insigne." Thereafter the names of Captain Standish and Captain Willett appeared together in the record of many enterprises.

The peculiar customs of those early days are shown by sundry records relating to Capt. Willett. He was on a committee to dispose of the town's cattle. His share was one half peck of corn to feed town's cattle. He was appointed to lay rates payable in corn or other commodities. Tar was one of these, and passed current at six shillings a barrel less than the price at Massachusetts Bay. He was engaged to furnish two coats and keep them in readiness to pay Indians for killing wolves. These and many others of the same kind appear upon the town records.

In September, 1650, a commission was appointed to settle the boundaries between the English and Dutch colonies. The Governor of New Amsterdam had so much confidence in Willett that he appointed him as associate with George Baxter (English Secretary to Peter Stuyvesant) to represent the Dutch interests, while Simon Bradstreet and Thomas Prence represented the interests of the English. A ship which had been confiscated in a high-handed way by Stuyvesant was bought by Willett, who sent it on a voyage to Virginia and Holland.

In 1651, Willett was elected one of the Governor's Assistants, in place of William Collier who had died. He held this position until 1665, when pressure of other duties compelled him to relinquish it. About the time that he was elected to this position, his father-in-law removed to the new settlement at Rehoboth, and Willett and his family accompanied him. He appears to have taken an active part in town affairs there as in Plymouth. He had large holdings of land on the Seaconnet River and near Middleborough, besides the grants made to him at Rehoboth. His name appears in the records of Plymouth, Rehoboth, and New Amsterdam at about the same time, so that, considering the difficulties of travel in those days, he must have been a very active man.

Events were shaping themselves in the New Netherlands which were to bring into active use all his acquired powers and abilities. The Duke of York had looked long with covetous eyes upon the rich but weak Dutch province of New Netherlands, and determined to annex it to the English possessions on the East. There was peace at the time between the two nations, but a small thing like that did not deter the England of the Stuarts from siezing so helpless a prize.

The first intimation which New Amsterdam had of these hostile designs was through Richard Lord, of Lyme, Connecticut, a merchant who was sending vessels both to Boston and New Amsterdam. He heard of the proposed expedition at the former place, and communicated the fact to Willett, with whom he was doing business. Willett hastened to Stuyvesant, then in command of the city, and within an hour the burgomasters and schepens were in consultation with the brave old soldier devising means for defence.

Tuesday morning, September 2, 1664, Gov. Winthrop of Connecticut, who had joined the English fleet, accompanied by his son Fitz John, Ex-Gov. Wyllys, Thomas Willett and two Boston gentlemen, visited the city under a flag of truce. Winthrop's mission was to use his utmost endeavor to persuade the Dutch governor into a peaceful surrender. Stuyvesant wished to fight even against such odds, but the citizens refused to stand by him, and New Amsterdam passed into the hands of the English without a gun being fired in its defence.

The Commissioners of the King, who had been sent over to attend to the general welfare of the colonies and settle boundaries, entered upon the occupation of the city. The commission consisted of Sir Robert Carr, Sir George Cartwright, Col. Nicholls, and Samuel Maverick. Col. Nicholls was placed in charge. Almost the first duty which fell to him was to send an embassy to Fort Orange and Esopus, because it was considered of the first importance to secure for the English the friendship which the Iroquois cherished for the Dutch.

Thomas Willett and Thomas Breedon, ex-governor of Nova Scotia, accompanied the expedition by request of the Commissioners, because they were accustomed to dealing with the Indians. The mission was entirely successful.

In the spring following the capture, Col. Nicholls set himself to alter the government of the city. That the change might be accomplished with the least amount of friction, Gov. Nicholls wrote from New York (so the new acquisition was re-named) to Thomas Prence, governor of Plymouth Colony, and requested that Capt. Willett may have such dispensation from his official engagements in Plymouth Colony as to be at liberty to assist in the modelling and reducing the affairs in those settlements into good English, saying that "Mr. Willett was more acquainted with the manners and customs of the Dutch than any English man in the country, and that his conversation was very acceptable to them." Capt. Nicholls's request was granted, Willett resigned his office as Assistant, and rendered inestimable service in converting the Dutch Colony into an English one. Col. Cartwright wrote to Col. Nicholls regarding this choice, "I am very glad that Mr. Willett intends to goe immediately to you (by whom I hope this letter will come safe to your hands), I believe him both a very honest and an able gentleman, and y^{t} he will serve you both for a Mayor and a Counsellor."

A memorable day now came in the history of the city of New York, when its Dutch government passed away by a single proclamation of Col. Nicholls. Governor, Schouts, Burgomasters, and Schepens were removed from office, and the English system of Mayor, Aldermen, and Sheriff took their places, to remain until the present time, except for the brief space of fifteen months, when New York, under the name of New Orange, came back again under the rule of the Dutch, in 1673.

It was on the 12th of June, 1665, that Col. Nicholls issued his first proclamation establishing the new form of government. In part it was as follows: "I, Richard Nicholls, do ordain that all the inhabitants of New York, New Harlaem and the Island of Manhattan are one body politic under the government of a Mayor, Aldermen and Sheriff, and I do appoint for one whole year, commencing from the date hereof and ending the 12th day of June, 1666, Mr. Thomas Willett to be Mayor."

Willett served faithfully during that one year, holding his Mayor's court regularly, and brought order and system out of a chaotic state of affairs. After an interregnum of one year he served for another twelve months, and then returned to Massachusetts. Here he returned to his old custom of buying tracts of land and even townships. With the Rev. John Myles he engaged in the founding of a new settlement, and in 1667, Willett's name appears the first on the list of persons to whom liberty was granted to become a township by the name of Swansey, and he and Myles are usually styled the fathers of the town.

Mr. Baylies, in his History of Plymouth County, says: "Even this first of city distinctions (referring to the Mayoralty of New York) conferred by that proud metropolis, did not impart more honor to his character than the address and good feeling manifested by him in effecting the peaceable settlement of the humble town of Swansey."

In 1673, the Dutch, under Evertson and Burckes, re-captured New York, and for fifteen months it remained a Dutch province, long enough for those in power to confiscate all the estates which Willett held in New York and Albany. These he never regained.

Willett continued to reside on his plantation at Swansey during the remainder of his life. He made his will April 26, 1671, as previously stated, in which he says, "God in mercye hath given me several children both sonnes and daughters & hath also blessed me with a liberal estate, being going in the sixty fourth year of my age."

He died August 4, 1674, and was buried at the head of Bullock's Cove, in what is now East Providence, Rhode Island, where a rough stone with a rude inscription was erected to mark his grave. The inscription is as follows: "M. D. C. L. XXIV. Here lyeth the body of the worthy Thomas Willett Esq. who died August ye IVth in the LXIVth year of his age Anni. Who was the first Mayor of New York and twice did sustain the place."

It will be noticed that both his will and his gravestone say in the 64th year of his age, although his will was written three years before his death.

His wife, Mary, who died Jan. 8, 1669, is buried by his side. The inscription on this stone, which says that she was his only wife, is certainly misleading, as he contracted a second marriage with Joanna, widow of Rev. Peter Prudden.

Thomas Willett's descendants were numerous, and some of them distinguished, but the claim of many (I mention Marinus Willett, a distinguished officer in the Revolutionary War and a Mayor of New York, a grandson) cannot be proved.

Thomas Willett was a strong, able, God-fearing man. In his time amongst the foremost men of the Colony, but long ago he passed into the ranks of forgotten worthies.

THOMAS TARBELL AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

11. WILLIAM[4] TARBELL (John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) married (1) at Billerica, Feb. 19, 1735–6, Ruth, daughter of Thomas and Abigail Richardson, born Feb. 9, 1712–13, who died Oct. 14, 1764; married (2) Oct. 31, 1765, Elizabeth (Walker) Walker, widow of Joseph Walker of Billerica, and daughter of Isaac and Margery (Bruce) Walker of Woburn. She was living in 1790. He resided at Billerica. His will, dated Apr. 17, 1790, presented for probate Feb. 7, 1800, between which dates he died, names his wife, Elizabeth, daughters Abigail Walker and Hannah Tarbell, and son William.

Children of first wife, recorded at Billerica:

i. WILLIAM,[5] b. May 26, 1736; d. Mar. 22, 1748.
ii. JOHN, b. Nov. 19, 1738; not named in his father's will.
iii. RUTH, b. June 25, 1739; d. Mar. 16, 1748.
iv. ABIGAIL, b. Apr. 23, 1741; m. Feb. 4, 1774, Samuel Walker.
v. HANNAH, b. May 23, 1743; was living unm. 1790.
vi. SARAH, b. Feb. 15, 1744–5; d. Mar. 21, 1748.
vii. THOMAS, b. Oct. 1, 1746; d. Mar. 8, 1748.
29. viii. WILLIAM, b. Oct. 3, 1752.

12. JOHN[4] TARBELL (John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was taxed in Billerica in 1733. He is next found in Woodstock, Conn., and about 1745 he removed to Sturbridge, Mass. He married Esther, daughter of Capt. Leicester and Mary (Hubbard) Grosvenor of Pomfret, Conn., who was born in that town, Oct. 27, 1712. She died at Sturbridge, Apr. 10, 1795, aged 82. John was a Sergeant and Lieutenant in the French and Indian wars. He died at Sturbridge in Nov., 1804, various records giving his death as follows: Nov. 28, in his 95th year, Nov. 27, aged 95, and Nov. 28, aged 94. No will or settlement of his estate has been found.

Children, the first three baptized at Woodstock, Conn., others born at Sturbridge, Mass.:

i. JERUSHA,[5] bapt. May 4, 1740; m. May 9, 1765, Abel Allen.
30. ii. JOHN, bapt. July 4, 1742.
iii. SARAH, bapt. Feb. 17, 1745; d. at Sturbridge, Mar. 17, 1745–6.
iv. FRANCES, b. Mar. 15, 1747; d. Oct. 16, 1770; m. Apr. 13, 1769, Silas Hooker.
31. v. ELIJAH, b. Apr. 23, 1751.
vi. ESTHER (probably); m. at Sturbridge, June 7, 1781, Malachi Ewell.

13. JONATHAN[4] TARBELL (John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was living in Billerica in 1755, but prior to Apr. 25, 1757, had removed to Dunstable, N. H., now Nashua. Beyond this, his movements are uncertain. In 1761, he had a child baptized at Groton, the home of his second wife; in 1765, he was living at Westminster, Vt., as shown by deeds; in 1769, he was of Rockingham, Vt.; and in 1772, he appears as a road commissioner in Chester, Vt., where he passed the remainder of his days. Jonathan was twice married. His first wife, Mary, whose surname is unknown, was the mother of two children. His second wife was Anna, widow of Thomas Patch of Hollis, N. H. (who died 1754), and daughter of Joseph Gilson of Groton, born there, July 25, 1722. In 1775, Jonathan was chosen Lieutenant of a company in Chester, Vt., which served in the Revolutionary war. He died Apr. 9, 1788, "in the 65th year of his age," according to his gravestone at Chester, Vt. The settlement of his estate names wife Anna, sons Jonathan, Reuben, Peter and Isaac, and daughters Mary and Sarah.

Children of first wife, baptized at Billerica:

i. JOHN,[5] bapt. Dec. 2, 1753; not named in his father's estate.
32. ii. REUBEN, bapt. Jan. 17, 1755.

33. iii. JONATHAN, b. at Dunstable, N. H. (now Nashua), Nov. 13, 1757.
iv. MARY, m. June 22, 1777, Uriah Morris.
v. BENJAMIN, bapt. at Groton, Aug. 16, 1761;* not named in his father's estate.
34. vi. PETER.*
35. vii. ISAAC, b. Oct. 9, 1763.
viii. SARAH, m. Jan. 25, 1787, Artemas Earle.

14. DAVID[4] TARBELL (John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) married (1) at Bedford, Aug. 1, 1751, Hannah, daughter of Benjamin and Miriam (Gray) Fitch of that town, born there June 10, 1733. He was living in Billerica in 1755. Like his twin brother, Jonathan,[4] David's movements after leaving Billerica cannot be traced with certainty. According to a deed, he was living at Dunstable (now Nashua), N. H., in 1759. He seems also to have been in Hollis, N. H., for a while, and in 1767 and after, he is found in Nottingham West, now Hudson, N. H. Hannah, his wife, living in 1767, had died before Dec. 1, 1769, the date of her father's will. David married (2) Esther ———, and died at Nottingham West, 1805. His will, dated Oct. 14, proved Dec. 17, 1805, names wife Esther, sons David, John and Samuel, and daughters Hannah Spaulding, Betsey Woods, Lydia Shipley, Mary McGilvarey, Esther Tarbell and Rhoda Roby.

Children of first wife, the first three baptized at Billerica, and all but the first, named in the will of their grandfather Fitch, 1769:

i. HANNAH,[5] bapt. Jan. 19, 1752; d. young.
ii. HANNAH, bapt. Sept. 29, 1754; m. ——— Spaulding.
iii. BETTY, bapt. Jan. 30, 1757; m. ——— Woods.
iv. JOHN, d. before 1785.
v. LYDIA, m. ——— Shipley.
36. vi. DAVID, b. Nottingham West, Oct. 14, 1767.
vii. BENJAMIN, not named in his father's will.

Children of second wife, recorded at Nottingham West, now Hudson, N. H.:

viii. MOLLY, b. Apr. 18, 1771; m. ——— McGilvarey (or McGilvany).
ix. ESTHER, b. Apr. 12, 1773; was living unm., 1805.
x. RHODA, b. May 14. 1775; m. Mar. 14, 1799, Silas Roby, Jr.
37. xi. JESSE, b. Nov. 16, 1778.
xii. WILLIAM, b. Mar. 4, 1782.

* The entry following this baptism of Benjamin, on the Groton church records, records the baptism, the same day, of Peter, son of Isaac and Mary Lawrence. According to the town records, Isaac and Mary had no son Peter, but did have a son Benjamin, born July 15, 1761. Query, did not the person recording these baptisms confuse the names of these two children, and therefore is not this the baptism of Peter Tarbell?

xiii. JOHN, b. July 19, 1785.
xiv. SAMUEL, b. July 21, 1788.

15. JONATHAN[4] TARBELL (Cornelius,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Salem, Nov. 19, 1741, Mary, daughter of Jonathan Felton, who was baptized at So. Danvers (now Peabody), July 29, 1721. A Jonathan Tarbell, probably the above, was living at Souhegan West (now Amherst, N. H.), in 1744, but if the same, he did not long remain, but returned to Danvers. In 1776, he bought a farm in Lynn, in that part now included in Lynnfield, and the house in which he lived was still standing in 1888. He and his wife lived to be very aged, their married life extending over 74 years. Jonathan died Mar. 2, 1816, aged 97, and Mary died May 5, 1817, aged 97.

Children, all named in their father's will, 1796:

38. i. JONATHAN.[5]
ii. SARAH, bapt. at So. Danvers, Jan. 12, 1745; d. Nov. 3, 1843, aged 97 yrs. 9 mos. 20 dys.; m. Nov. 21, 1769, Asa Newhall.

iv. CORNELIUS, b. June 7, 1762.

17. NATHANIEL[4] TARBELL (Cornelius,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was published in Salem, Nov. 7, 1750, to Rachel Osborn. They lived at Danvers, where he died, administration upon his estate being granted to his father, Cornelius Tarbell, Jan. 24, 1755. His widow, Rachel, married (2) Apr. 6, 1763, John Waters.

Children, baptized at Danvers:

i. RACHEL,[5] bapt. Mar. 18, 1753; m. Apr. 26, 1774, David Foster, Jr.
39. ii. WILLIAM, bapt. Mar. 31, 1754.

18. THOMAS[5] TARBELL (Thomas,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married, Jan. 19, 1741–2, Esther, daughter of Nathaniel and Esther Smith of Groton, who was born May 20, 1719. About 1754, they removed from Groton to Mason, N. H., where Esther died Jan. 26, 1796, and Thomas, Feb. 9, 1796, aged 77. His will, dated Feb. 8, 1796, speaks of a negro girl, Sukey, whom he brought up. She died 1808, aged 34.

Children:

i. SARAH,[6] b. Jan. 19, 1742; her father's will names his dau. Spaulding. She probably m. Lemuel Spaulding of Mason, N. H.

ii. NATHANIEL, b. Dec. 4, 1774; m. Ruth ———.

ix. EDWARD, m. in Townsend, Mass., Dec. 14, 1786, Rachel Hildreth.

19. JONATHAN[5] TARBELL (Thomas,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Groton, Dec. 12, 1754, Lydia, daughter of Ebenezer and Elizabeth (Whitney) Farnsworth, born Dec. 20, 1729. Jonathan was in the French and Indian wars from Groton. He died prior to Mar. 11, 1788, when administration upon his estate was requested. The settlement of his estate, dated Apr. 8, 1789, was made between wife Lydia, and the four children named below. Lydia died prior to Sept. 10, 1806, according to deeds.

Children, born at Groton:

i. JONATHAN,[6] b. Oct. 23, 1755.
ii. THOMAS, b. Oct. 17, 1758; m. July 21, 1789, Molly Farnsworth.
iii. EBENEZER, b. Sept. 10, 1762; m. Jan. 14, 1783, Sarah Warren.
iv. SOLOMON, b. Sept. 10, 1762; d. at Lunenburg, Mar. 17, 1856, aged 93 yrs. 6 mos. 7 ds.; m. Feb. 17, 1785, Molly Bennett, who d. at Lunenburg, June 7, 1852, aged 91. Each at the time of death was "the oldest inhabitant" of that town.

20. DAVID[5] TARBELL (Thomas,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) lived at Pepperell. He married at Groton, Nov. 17, 1757, Bathsheba, perhaps daughter of Moses and Esther (Houghton) Woods, born in that town, Nov. 3, 1739. No record of her death has been found, but perhaps this is the David who married, July 2, 1772, Esther Kemp of Groton. No record of his death and no will or settlement of his estate has been found.

Children, recorded at Pepperell:

i. DAVID,[6] b. Feb. 2, 1759; d. Mar. 17, 1833; m. May 19, 1789, Hannah Wright, who d. July 24, 1846, aged 76. He, and afterwards his widow, were Revolutionary pensioners.

iv. SUSANNA, b. Mar. 24, 1752; d. Dec. 31, 1766, in her 15th year.
v. JONAS, b. Dec. 7, 1754.
vi. JOSEPH, b. Aug. 8, 1757; settled in Norridgewock, Me. He was a Revolutionary pensioner.

22. JOHN[5] TARBELL (William,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) lived in Groton. He married (1), Oct. 29, 1753, Sarah, perhaps daughter of John and Mary (Bradstreet) Parker, who died, s. p., Apr. 19, 1754, in her 29th year. He married (2) Hannah, daughter of David and Hannah (Hastings) Farnsworth. He died Sept. 9, 1802, leaving a will dated Dec. 28, 1797, in which he names wife Hannah, sons John, Asa, Peter and Abel, and daughters, Sarah Longley, Alice Woods, Elizabeth Moors and Hannah Tarbell, daughter-in-law Sarah Tarbell, widow, and her child. His widow survived him many years, and died Aug. 6, 1829, aged 93 years, 8 months. In her will, dated May 27, 1823, she mentions sons Asa, Abel and Peter, three daughters, Sarah Shipley, Betsey Moors and Hannah Chamberlain, and five grandchildren, children of her son, Asa.

Children of second wife:

i. SARAH,[6] b. Jan. 20, 1759; m. (1) June 23, 1784, John Longley; m. (2) Jan. 12, 1802, James Shipley.

iv. LUCY, b. June 2, 1771.
v. ANNA, bapt. June 26, 1774.
vi. SARAH, bapt. July 13, 1777.
vii. SILAS, bapt. Aug. 1, 1779.
Perhaps others.

26. SAMUEL[5] TARBELL (Samuel,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]), in contrast to all other contemporary members of this family, was a Tory. He was no doubt influenced in some degree by Rev. Samuel Dana, then minister at Groton, whose Tory principles were so objectionable to his people as to cause his dismissal from that church. Samuel Tarbell was at one time confined in the "goal" at Concord, Mass., "for being concerned in counterfiting Hampshire State notes," and giving support to the enemies of his country. His property at Groton was confiscated by the Commonwealth, in common with that of other Tories. He held a position in the British army, as shown by the notice of his death in a Boston paper of that time, which reads: [died] "At Groton, the 4th inst. Capt. Samuel Tarbell, late an officer in his Britannic Majesty's American Dragoons." * His wife, whose name was Mary, was living in 1813, according to a deed. Four children survived him.

Children:

i. REBECCA.[6] Administration upon the estate of Rebecca Tarbell, late of Boston, singlewoman, was granted to Joseph Newhall of Boston, Sept. 11, 1798.
ii. WILLIAM GEORGE.
iii. CHARLOTTE, m. Thomas T. Cunningham.
iv. SALLY.
v. CHILD, buried July 5, 1795.†

27. ZACHARIAH[5] TARBELL (Eleazer,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Lunenburg, Mar. 27, 1753, Mary, daughter of Moses and Mary (Bellows) Gould, who was baptized Oct. 2, 1737. In 1755, he served in the expedition sent out against Nova Scotia to carry the French families into exile. In 1762, according to a pay roll of military service, and in 1766, as shown by a deed, he was of Shirley; and he also lived at Westminster. In 1782, a Zachariah Tarbell appears in Athens, Vt., in transactions of land, and it is probable that the family removed to that region.

Children, the first six recorded at Lunenburg:

i. MOLLY,[6] b. May 1, 1753; d. young.
ii. ZACHARIAH, b. Nov. 9, 1754; either the father or son, probably the latter, served in the Revolution from Westminister.
iii. ELIZABETH, b. Dec. 5, 1755.
iv. MOLLY, b. Mar. 19, 1757.
v. SYBIL, b. Mar. 9, 1758.

Perhaps others.

28. SAMUEL[5] TARBELL (Eleazer,[4] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]) was living in Groton in 1766, according to a deed. He married at Lunenburg, Feb. 25, 1773, Beatrice, daughter of Thomas and Betty (Sawyer) Carter, born in that town, Nov. 18, 1753. They settled at Rindge, N. H., where he served in the Lexington Alarm, Apr. 19, 1775, and later became a Lieutenant in the Revolutionary service. He died Apr. 6, 1828; and she died Aug. 20, 1839.

Children, born at Rindge, N. H.:

i. THOMAS,[6] b. Nov. 22, 1773; m. (1) Feb. 19, 1797, Achsah Fay, who d. Aug. 18, 1821; m. (2) July 10, 1823, Polly Towne.
ii. PARMASON, b. Mar. 25, 1777; d. unm. Feb. 28, 1801.

29. WILLIAM[5] TARBELL (William,[4] John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) married at Billerica, Mar. 21, 1776, Elizabeth, born Mar. 5, 1747–8, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Barron) French. They lived at Billerica until about 1805, when they removed to Temple, N. H.

* Columbian Centinal, Mar. 12, 1796.
† Wm. Nutting's Diary, Groton Hist. Series, iii. 389.

Children, recorded at Billerica:

vi. SARAH, b. Jan. 27, 1790.
vii. IRA, b. Aug. 9, 1799.

30. JOHN[5] TARBELL (John,[4] John,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) lived at Sturbridge. He married (1) at Thompson, Conn., Apr. 30, 1766, Huldah Lee of Sturbridge, whose death is variously given on Sturbridge printed records as Oct. 4, 1773, aged 23; Oct. 4, 1773, in her 33d year; and Oct. 7, 1778, aged 30. He married (2) Dec. 9, 1779, Susanna Hobbs who survived him, and died May 1, 1839, aged 86. John was in the Revolutionary War from Sturbridge. Conflicting records of his death, also, are found on Sturbridge records, viz., July 26, 1820, aged 77; July 6, aged 78; and July 25, aged 76. His will, made July 1, 1812, directs that his executor shall erect decent monuments at the graves of himself and wife Susanna, and also "at the grave of my former wife Huldah Tarbell many years since deceased."

RECORDS OF THE SECOND CHURCH OF SCITUATE, NOW THE FIRST UNITARIAN CHURCH OF NORWELL, MASS.

1810–1850.

WHEN I came into the ministry in Scituate, there appeared to be a loss of a part of the Church records, during the ministry of my venerable predecessor Dr. Barnes. I was, therefore, unable to ascertain the names of the Church members then living, except by enquiry. In this manner the following list was collected, of the names of the members of the 2d Cong. Chh. in Scituate liveing in Feb. 1810. SAMUEL DEANE.

* From the Church Book of Rev. Samuel Deane, pages 70–77 inclusive. The Baptisms in the first part of this book will appear later in the REGISTER.

This is undoubtedly imperfect and does not pretend to chronological arrangement. REV. DAVID BARNES, D.D., Sen. Pastor.

THE HALE FAMILY OF CONNECTICUT.

By Seymour Morris, Esq., of Chicago, Ill.

1. Samuel[1] Haill, or Hale, was born in 1610. He was in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1637. He served in the Pequot war, and received a grant of sixty acres of land from the General Court for his services in that war. In 1639 he was in Hartford, Conn., where he owned a lot on the east side of the river; and in 1642 he settled in Wethersfield, Conn., where he was a selectman in 1647. He was one of the first proprietors of Norwalk, in 1654, and served as a deputy from that town to the General Court, from 1656 to 1659. In 1660 he returned to Wethersfield, Conn., where he leased the estate of Governor Welles, on the east side of the Connecticut River. At a town meeting held Feb. 23, 1670, he was chosen as one of a committee of three "to repair the whole meeting house." He died at Glastonbury, Nov. 9, 1693; and his widow, Mary, died Jan. 19, 1711–12.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND.

THE following wills of the Smith alias Folsom family of county Norfolk, England, show the ancestry of Dea. John Folsom, of Hingham, Mass., and Exeter, N. H., to have been slightly different from that heretofore published in the "Folsom Genealogy" and elsewhere.

Will of ADAM SMYTHE alias FOLSOM, of Besthorpe, co. Norfolk, dated Apr. 2, 1566. To wife Eme estates in Besthorpe for life and then to son Adam [under age at date of will] and his heirs forever, with remainder to daughters Ellen and Agnes [also under age] and to their heirs. To wife Eme, for sixteen years, estates in Hingham and Hackford, and then to son John and his heirs forever. To daughters Ellen and Agnes £6 . 13 . 4 each. Brother Robert Smythe alias Folsom, supervisor; wife Eme executrix. Probated May 2, 1566. (Archdeaconry of Norfolk.)

Will of ADAM SMITH alias FOLLDSHAM of Skowlton, co. Norfolk, yeoman, dated Oct. 16, 1616. To wife Agnes lands in Skowlton for life, and then to son and heir Robert; son Thomas; daughters Marian and Ellen.

Wife Agnes executrix. Probated Nov. 8, 1616. (Archdeaconry of Norwich.)

[This Adam, of Skowlton, was son of Adam of Besthorpe.]

Will of ADAM SMITH alias FOLSHAM of Hingham, co. Norfolk, yeoman, dated Apr. 20, 1627. To mother Grace Smith alias Folsham her dwelling in my parlor. To son John Smith alias Folsham and his heirs all estates in Hackford at age of 21 years. To wife Agnes estates in Hingham for life, with remainder to son Adam Smith alias Folsham. Son Peter Smith alias Folsham. Wife Agnes executrix. Probated June 7, 1627. (Consistory Court of Norwich.)

[This Adam, of Hingham, was son of John of Hingham and Hackford, who died intestate Apr. 28, 1620, and grandson of Adam of Besthorpe. His son John Smith alias Folsham sold the Hackford estates given him by his father's will, adopted the name Folsom, and emigrated to New England in 1638.]

DUNSTER, WILLARD, AND HILLS.

The recent publication of the Registers of Bury, Lancashire, England, in the course of the admirable work being done by the Lancashire Parish Register Society, has thrown further light on many details of the family and relatives of President Henry Dunster of Harvard College, and of his connection with Maj. Simon Willard, Capt. Joseph Hills, Benanuel Bowers, and John Page, which has been a subject of controversy for fifty years.

From a letter written in 1641 to President Dunster by his father, Henry, and still preserved, it has been long known that the latter was a resident of an estate called Baleholt, in the parish of Bury, Lancaster; and although the original registers were examined in 1854. and again in 1875 and 1876, the parish clerk persisted that the baptism of the president, in 1609, could not be found. The family were of the yeomanry or small copyholder class, and evidently had resided in the vicinity of Bury for several generations prior to the birth of President Dunster.

1. ROBERT[1] DUNSTER of Tottington, who died in Aug., 1599, or
1. HENRY[1] DUNSTER, SR., who was buried Apr. 11, 1592, was probably the father of
   - 2. i. ROBERT,[2] b. about 1555.
   - 3. ii. HENRY, b. about 1560.

2. ROBERT[2] DUNSTER, b. about 1555, was called of Baleholt, in the registers, and had a wife "Jony," who was buried Nov. 21, 1624.
   Children:
   - 4. i. HENRY,[3] b. about 1580.
   - ii. "JONIE," m. Feb. 27, 1608–9, Arthur Kaye.
   - iii. ELIZABETH, m. Feb. 14, 1608–9, James Kaye.

3. HENRY[2] DUNSTER, born about 1560, was sometimes called of Elton on the register. His wife was buried May 1, 1605. "Elizabeth widow of Henry Dunster was buried Apr. 8, 1617," and she was probably the second wife of this Henry,[2] who was buried Jan. 16, 1610–11.
   Children by first wife:
   - i. ALICE,[3] m. Jan. 4, 1610–11, William Fletcher, and had a dau. Alice, bapt. June 24, 1615, who m. Sept. 27, 1636, as his second wife, her second cousin Robert[4] Dunster (No. 6).

ii. JOHN, bapt. Apr. 16, 1591; bur. May 22, 1591.
5. iii. HENRY, bapt. Apr. 30, 1592.
iv. ROBERT, bapt. June 1, 1595; m. Sept. 22, 1621, Mary Gerret, and had Daniel,[4] bapt Mar. 10, 1621-2.
v. ELIZABETH, bapt. Mar. 12, 1597-8.
vi. DANIEL, bapt. Aug. 24, 1600.
vii. JAMES, bapt. Mar. 13, 1602-3; m. May 19, 1635, Susan Fitton.

4. HENRY[3] DUNSTER (Robert[2]), born about 1580, was father of President Dunster of Harvard College, and lived at Baleholt, where he died, and was buried Sept. 16, 1646. His will, dated Oct. 6, 1645, probated Dec. 14, 1646, by his daughters Elizabeth and Alice, is on file at the Probate Registry at Chester. His first wife was buried Feb. 7, 1643-4; and he married second, Dec. 4, 1644, Joane Orpe, who was buried Feb. 7, 1643-4.

Children by first wife:

i. ISABEL,[4] bapt. May 1, 1603; bur. June 10, 1611.
6. ii. ROBERT, bapt. Aug. 18, 1605.
iii. JOHN, bapt. Aug. 24, 1606; probably d. young.
iv. MARGARET, bapt. Jan. 17, 1607-8; bur. Aug. 20, 1625.
7. v. HENRY, bapt. Nov. 26, 1609; the first president of Harvard College.
vi. THOMAS, bapt. Dec. 8, 1611-12; in the letter of Mar. 20, 1640-1, to President Dunster, it is stated that Thomas "is now a widower for both wife and children are dead since Michaelmas," but there is no mention of him, in the Bury Registers, after his baptism.
vii. ALICE, bapt. Dec. 19, 1613; living, unmarried, in 1646.
viii. RICHARD, bapt. Mar. 23, 1616; came to New England with his brother Henry, and lived there a few years, but nothing further is known of him.
ix. ELIZABETH, bapt. Apr. 26, 1619; came to New England between 1647 and 1651; m. in 1651, as his second wife, Maj. Simon Willard of Concord, Mass., and died, without issue, about six months after her marriage. Maj. Simon Willard by his first wife, Mary Sharpe (whom he married in England about 1631), had nine children, the last, Simon, b. Nov. 23, 1649, soon after which time she died. After the death of his second wife, Elizabeth Dunster, sister of President Dunster, as above stated, he m. (3) in the latter part of 1652, Mary Dunster, who had come to New England in the summer of that year, and by her he had eight children, beginning with Mary, b. in Concord, Sept. 7, 1653. This third wife was either the Mary[5] Dunster bapt. at Bury, Dec. 5, 1630, dau. of Robert,[4] and neice of President Dunster, or else she was the Mary[4] Dunster bapt. in Bury, Oct. 25, 1629, dau. of Henry[3] Dunster (No. 5) and second cousin of President Dunster; and although President Dunster in his will speaks of Mary (Dunster) Willard as "sister Willard," he so termed her because her husband, Maj. Willard, was his brother-in-law by previous marriage to Elizabeth Dunster his sister. Mary (Dunster) Willard, widow of Maj. Simon, m. (2) July 14, 1680, Dea. Joseph Noyes of Sudbury, and d. in Dec., 1715.

5. HENRY[3] DUNSTER (Henry[2]), bapt. Apr. 30, 1592, is called of Elton. He married, Oct. 10, 1615, Isabel Kaye, who was buried Dec. 10, 1638.

Children:

i. MARY,[4] bapt. June 14, 1618; bur. May 19, 1620.
ii. HENRY, bapt. Nov. 29, 1620.
iii. JOHN, bapt. May 4, 1623; lived in Elton; had a family.
iv. DANIEL, bapt. Aug. 8, 1625.
v. ALICE, bapt. Dec. 16, 1627.
vi. MARY, bapt. Oct. 25, 1629; probably came to New England, and m.

(1) Maj. Simon Willard, and (2) Dea. Joseph Noyes, as before related.

vii. ELIZABETH, bapt. July 15, 1632; came to New England; m. in Cambridge, Dec. 9, 1653, Benanuel Bowers. They were Baptists and Quakers, and suffered persecution for twenty years. She is mentioned in President Dunster's will as "cousin Bowers." They had nine children.

viii. JAMES, bapt. Apr. 26, 1635.

6. ROBERT[4] DUNSTER (Henry,[3] Robert[2]), bapt. Aug. 18, 1605, is usually called "of Tottingham" in the registers of Bury, but at his burial, Sept. 24, 1644, is called "of Baleholt." His first wife was buried Dec. 31, 1634; and he married second, Sept. 27, 1636, his second cousin Alice, bapt. June 24, 1615, daughter of William and Alice (Dunster) Fletcher of Bury. She was probably the Alice Dunster, of Tottington, buried Sept. 29, 1688.

Children by first wife:

i. MARGARET,[5] bapt. Mar. 30, 1628.

ii. MARY, bapt. Dec. 5, 1630; perhaps the one who came to New England in 1652, and m. (1) Maj. Simon Willard, and (2) Joseph Noyes, as previously related.

iii. HENRY, bapt. Mar. 18, 1631-2; bur. Oct. 12, 1632.

iv. HENRY, bapt. Nov., 1634; bur. Oct. 1, 1641.

Children by second wife:

v. BETHIA, bapt. Dec. 9, 1638; bur. Jan. 29, 1647-8.

vi. FAITH, bapt. Mar. 7, 1640-1; came to New England; m. May 12, 1664, John Page of Groton, Mass., and had issue. She is referred to as "cousin Faith Dunster," in the will of President Dunster, the word "cousin" being used in the sense of "niece."

vii. ALICE, bapt. Jan. 15, 1642-3; bur. Oct. 1, 1644.

7. Rev. HENRY[4] DUNSTER (Henry,[3] Robert[2]), bapt. Nov. 26, 1609, was educated at Magdalen College, Cambridge, England; B.A. 1630, M.A. 1634. He came to New England in the summer of 1640, and was immediately made the first president of Harvard College, preaching at times in the Cambridge church. He carried on his work successfully for a dozen years, but in 1653, having announced his opposition to infant baptism, he was, in 1654, forced to resign, and he removed from the Massachusetts Bay Colony, settling at Scituate in Plymouth Colony, where there was more tolerance, and there he carried on the ministry some five years, until his death, Feb. 27, 1659-60. In his will he directed his body to be buried at Cambridge, which was done; and he mentions, among others, "my cousin Bowers, my cousin Faith Dunster, my sister Willard of Concord, and sister Hills of Malden."

He married first, in Cambridge, June 22, 1641, Elizabeth, widow of Rev. Josse Glover who had died on the voyage to New England in 1638, and sister of Richard Harris. She died Aug. 23, 1643, having had no children by Mr. Dunster. He married second, in 1644, Elizabeth, born about 1627, died in Cambridge, Sept. 12, 1690, probably daughter of that Hugh Atkinson of Kendall, co. Westmoreland, England, who had a daughter Helen Atkinson who came to New England and married, Jan., 1655-6, as his third wife, Capt. Joseph Hills of Malden. This seems to be the only possible explanation for President Dunster's calling Mrs. Hills "sister."

Children by second marriage:

i. DAVID, b. May 16, 1645; probably went to England.

ii. DOROTHY, b. Jan. 29, 1647–8; d. young.
iii. HENRY, b. 1650; d. young.
iv. JONATHAN, b. Sept. 28, or Oct. 27, 1653; has numerous descendants in America.
v. ELIZABETH, b. Dec. 29, 1656; d. in 1729; m. twice, and had two children, who d. unmarried.

EXTRACTS FROM ENGLISH PARISH REGISTERS.

St. Michael's, Cornhill, London.

Zachary Goodyear married, July 5, 1596, Susanna Baxter.

[Parents of Dep.-Gov. Stephen Goodyear of Conn.]

St. Mary Woolnoth, London.

Children of Stephen Goodyear, Merchant:

i. STEPHEN, bur. Feb. 25, 1627–8.
ii. MARY, bapt. Jan. 22, 1629–30.
iii. STEPHEN, bapt. June 2, 1631.
iv. THOMAS, bapt. Jan. 3, 1632–3.
v. ANDREW, bapt. Apr. 3, 1634; bur. Sept. 8, 1635.
vi. SARAH, bapt. Nov. 12, 1639; bur. Nov. 14, 1639.

[Of the above children of Dep.-Gov. Stephen Goodyear (who came to New Haven in 1640), only Mary survived. She married, in 1649, Capt. Thomas Lake of Boston. A daughter Hannah, born about 1637, but whose baptism does not appear, also came to New England, and married, in 1656, Samuel Wakeman.]

St. Nicholas Acons, London.

George Lamberton of St. Mary's Whitechapel, and Margaret Lewen of the same parish, married Jan. 6, 1628–9.

[Capt. George Lamberton came to New Haven in 1641, and was lost at sea in 1646. His widow, Margaret, married, as his second wife, Dep.-Gov. Stephen Goodyear.]

St. Mary's, Dover.

July 24, 1718. Baptized, Susanna daughter of Francis and Margaret Hamilton; this poor woman's maiden name is Margaret Brown; her child birth pains fell upon her at the half-way house betwixt this and Canterbury, and she brought her child here to my house and I christened it; she herself and her ancient father and mother are going to Francis Hamilton in New England, where they say he is settled on a plantation left him by his deceased brother who lived there.

SS. Andrew and Mary, Pitminster, co. Somerset.

Philipe Torry, son of William Torry, parish of Comb St. Nicholas, and Alce Richards, dau. of James Richards, parish of Pitminster, married Nov. 27, 1604.

[This Philip Torrey was the father of William, James, Philip, and Joseph, who came to New England about 1640.]

Marriage License Bonds, Ipswich, co. Suffolk.

Henry Chickeringe of Ringsfield, single, and Elizabeth Smithe, widow, of Wrenthan, May 4, 1622.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By Geo. A. Gordon, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 5 December, 1906. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street, at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon, the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Litt.D., in the chair.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the November meeting, George Canning Burgess, A.B., of Brookline, was introduced as the essayist for this meeting. Mr. Burgess read an able and valuable paper on Thomas Willet of Leyden and Plymouth, First Mayor of New York, which was greatly enjoyed. Thanks were unanimously voted, and a copy requested for the archives.

The executive officers presented monthly reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Six new members were elected.

Charles Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., and Hosea Starr Ballou were appointed an Auditing Committee.

A minute in memoriam William Tracy Eustis was presented by the committee, and accepted, after which the meeting dissolved.

2 January, 1907. A stated meeting was held this afternoon, at the usual time and place, the President in the chair. In the absence of the Recording Secretary, Miss Mary Ella Stickney was elected pro tempore.

The ordinary exercises followed, with a vote of thanks to Pearl Hildreth Parker and Silas Roger Coburn, of Dracut, for manuscript collections of graveyard inscriptions, presented to the Society.

Edwin Noah Hardy, A.M., Ph.D., then delivered a highly interesting essay on The Old Time Meeting House in New England in Anecdote, Incident and Association, for which thanks were voted and a copy requested for the archives.

On motion, it was Voted, To accept the legacy of One Thousand Dollars bequeathed the Society by the will of Charles C. French of Boston.

Seven new resident, and one corresponding, members were elected, after which the meeting was dissolved by vote.

30 January. The annual meeting was held today, agreeable to article 1, chapter III., of the By-laws, for report of which see Supplement to the present number of the Register.

6 February. A stated meeting was held this afternoon, at the usual time and place, Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., of Newton, being called to the chair in the absence of the President.

Then followed the routine exercises, when Jacob Hagar Carfray, Ph.M., of Wakefield, read a paper on The United States Presidential Election of 1860, which elicited an active discussion on its conclusion. A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered the speaker, and a copy of the paper requested for the archives.

Seven new members were elected.

Deloraine Pendre Corey, of Malden, Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., of Newton, and Miss Mitty Belcher Fairbanks, of Farmington, Me., were appointed a committee to submit a minute of respect in memoriam William Blake Trask, A.M., of Dorchester, deceased.

The meeting then dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

Rev. Henry Flint.—A movement is on foot to place a tablet in the well-known "Stone Temple," at Quincy, in memory of the Rev. Henry Flint, first Teacher, and, subsequently, second Pastor, of the Town of Braintree. Four individuals of the name of Flint emigrated to New England, and settled in Massachusetts, before 1650, viz., Thomas and William, of Salem, Henry of Braintree, and Thomas of Concord. Henry of Braintree was a clergyman. There is a characteristic pretence of a biography of him, by Cotton Mather, in the Magnalia, Book III, Chap. 19. His widow, Margery, was sister of President Hoar, of Harvard College. Henry Flint died April 27, 1668, aged sixty-one years. His widow survived him nearly twenty years, dying March 10, 1687. From Henry Flint and his wife, Margery, has descended a numerous and very distinguished progeny. In forwarding the movement for a tablet to the memory of Henry Flint, it became an interesting question to ascertain whether he had any descendants now living of the name of Flint. It has finally been concluded that such is not the case. According to the Braintree Records, the Rev. Henry had five sons, three of whom died in infancy. Another, Seth, died when a sophomore in Harvard College. The eldest son, Rev. Josiah Flint of Dorchester, died Sept. 16, 1680, leaving four children, Henry, Thomas, Dorothy and Josiah. Thomas died without issue; Dorothy married Edmund Quincy; Josiah, a mariner of Boston, died leaving only one child, Esther, who married Stephen Richards of Boston; Henry, the well-known "Tutor" Flynt of Harvard College, died unmarried in 1760. The male line of descent from Rev. Henry Flint then became extinct. See Suffolk Deeds, l. 44, f. 197; l. 42, fol. 226.

Boston, Mass. Charles Francis Adams.

A Boston Quaker.—Savage says of Nicholas Moulder, merchant, of Boston, that he was abused as a Quaker, and also by having his name changed, and that he was Edward Moulder.

In the Rhode Island Friends' Records is the marriage of Nicholas Moulder to Christian ——, June 10, 1653. There is also found: Edward, son of Nicholas and Christian, was born 17 Oct., 1669; and Nicholas, 29 May, 1671, in Boston. The death of the child Nicholas is recorded 8 June, 1671. Another son, Nicholas, was born in Boston, 21 June, 1672, which is the only item of the family in the Boston vital records.

9 Feb., 1673–4, Nicholas Moulder bought of Abraham Adams, turner, and Sara, his wife, a house and shop near the Old North Meeting-house. It was on the water front, on the southeast side of what is now North Street. Here Moulder erected a warehouse and wharf. He was a merchant trading with the Dutch, and was part owner of the ship "Dove."

Quakers had appeared in Boston a score of years previous, and laws were enacted against them, and especially their meeting in houses.

Early in March, 1674, on the Lord's Day, one of the constables of the town, armed with a warrant, entered Moulder's house and found a Quaker preacher, George Cole, expounding, at the time of public exercise. There were present Moulder and his wife Christian, Steven Hussey, David Fogg, John Somes, Joshua Buffum, Ann Gillam, Martha Amy, Hester Dew, and Eliford Stratton. Hussey was the grandson of Rev. Stephen Bachiler, and ancestor of the Nantucket family. David Fogg was a son of Ralph, the recorder of Salem. Somes was the ancestor of the Boston family of that name, and married the daughter of Samuel Shattuck, who brought the order of Charles II. to stop Quaker persecution. Buffum was brother of an ancestor of that Essex County family. Mrs. Gillam was the mother of Capt. Benjamin Gillam, the ship-master. Martha, wife of John Amey, was the daughter of Edward Johnson, the historian. Mrs. Dew was the wife of Ambrose Dew, cordwainer.

For this occasion they were admonished, and cautioned against repeating their offence. Twice on the Sabbath day, in April, Moulder was found by the constable at Quaker meetings in his house, and was fined twenty shillings; but failed to appear in Court, and was declared in contempt. Cole, found speaking at one of the meetings, was fined five pounds. Others found at the April meeting were admonished, and made to pay fees of the Court. Of these there were James Mears, the felt maker, Hannah Holman of the Nantucket family, Mary Hooper, Mary Mills, John Swimstead, and the wife of John Somes. John Somes, Martha Amey, Eliford Stratton, Christian Moulder, and Esther Dew, were each fined twenty shillings, and the fees of Court, for a second offence. It was probably to meet these fines that Nicholas Moulder mortgaged his house and other property, at this time, for six months. In Oct., 1675, he sold the property to James Lloyd. In the previous spring, Moulder and his wife were again before the Court, and were each fined forty shillings for not attending meeting on the Lord's Day. His autograph signature, on his bond, can be seen in the files of the Supreme Judicial Court.

From Boston, Moulder went to Newport, and in 1680 we find him in St. Michael's parish, Barbadoes, where he and his wife were domiciled with four slaves. There he probably congratulated himself upon having disposed of his possessions in Boston before their destruction by the great fire of 1676.

Hawes-Howes.—Since contributing to the Register, vol. 59, p. 217-8, a note relating to Jeremiah[2] Howes of Yarmouth, Mass., and his wife Sarah Prence, in which I gave the names of the legatees mentioned in his will, 14 Oct. 1708, facts have come to my notice indicating that two of the daughters, Bethiah and Mary, should have been called Hawes and not Howes. In Yarmouth Town Records is this entry:

"Isaac: Hawes and Bethiah: Howes wear Joyned in marriage upon the 8th day of January: 1701: by Mr. John Cotton minister."

Their children were recorded as follows:

1. Bethiah Hawes, b. July, 1701.
2. Isaac, b. Aug., 1703.
3. Thankfull, b. Mar., 1705.
4. Desire, b. Jan. 14, 1708.
5. Jeremiah, b. Apr. 5, 1711.

Jeremiah and Mary Hawes had the following children recorded in Yarmouth:

1. Sarah, b. Apr. 1, 1696.
2. Elizabeth, b. Nov. 5, 1697.
3. Edmond, b. June 30, 1699.
4. Thomas, b. May 16, 1701.
5. Joseph, b. Jan. 12, 1702.
6. Mary, b. Mar. 23, 1703.
7. Temperance, b. Dec. 9, 1705.
8. David, b. Oct. 10, 1707.
9. Prince, b. Dec. 29, 1709.
10. Thankful, b. Apr. 16, 1712.

Recent consultation of the original record of Jeremiah Howes's will shows that in naming his eight daughters, who are twice mentioned,—first for a legacy of £15 each, and second for a share in real estate,—Bethiah and Mary are both called Howes in the first list, but are very plainly called Hawse in the second list.

The fact that Rebecca Howes, who is included last in both these lists, for equal shares with her sisters, receives also a special legacy of £30, would seem to indicate that she was the only one who was not married at the date of the will.

It is unfortunate that the settlement of Jeremiah Howes's estate is not on record, but the marriage of Bethiah, and some of the names in Joseph Hawes's family, are strong evidence in favor of the second spelling.

Woods.—The following is a copy of paper in the possession of Mrs. Martha B. Bishop, of North Brookfield, Mass., granddaughter of Lucy Woods named in the record.

As eleven pages, between 498 and 526, including the one upon which this appeared, are missing from New Braintree vital records, this record is worth preserving in print.

Born to Ensign David Woods & Mrs. Martha his Wife—

An Indian-English Intermarriage.—The town of Natick, Mass., is fortunate in the possession of fragments of a volume of Indian Records covering the years from 1702 to 1735. Preserved by the Emery process, this quaint volume of records contains the grants of lands to, and the divisions of the estates of, deceased Indians. A few English, and many Indian, relationships are expressed in the hand-writing of the Indians.

One, and only one, vital record occurs, which may be found on the last page and is as follows: "The Intention of marriage between William Robinson of Sudbury and Elizabeth Tom of Natick was published June 7, 1735."

Weymouth, Mass. GEO. W. CHAMBERLAIN.

LEWIS.—It may interest readers of the REGISTER to know that extensive manuscripts relating to the Lewis and allied families of Haddam, Conn., and also extensive extracts from Haddam town, land, and probate records, together with records from other towns where the Lewis family appears, from Nova Scotia to New York, compiled by the late Lavator B. Lewis, of Westfield, Mass., may be seen at the Public Library, Springfield, Mass.

Westfield, Mass. LOUIS M. DEWEY.

TOPLIFF.—Since my article on "The Descendants of Clement Topliff" appeared in the REGISTER (ante, vol. 58, pp. 117–121), Mr. Joseph Gardner Bartlett has made the discovery that the wife of Samuel[2] Topliff (Clement[1]) was not Patience Trescott but Patience Somes, the daughter of Morris and Elizabeth (Kendall) Somes of Gloucester, Mass. Savage says she died 8 Sept. 1728, in her 76th year or aged 76, and consequently was born 1652–3. (See "Clement Topliff and his Descendants in Boston," by Ethel Stanwood Bolton, Boston, 1906, page 11.) G. F. TOPLIFF.

KINSMAN-KNOWLTON.—In the Treadwell genealogy in the REGISTER, vol. 60, page 191, appears the query: Did Michael Kinsman marry (2) Mary Knowlton of Ipswich? I can answer that he did.

In the records of Hamlet Church, Ipswich, it appears that Michael Kinsman and Mary Knowlton had their intention published Sept. 27, 1783, and were married Dec. 15, 1783; and that Mary Knowlton was baptized Aug. 13, 1758. She was daughter of Abraham Knowlton and Sarah Lord, his first wife, of Ipswich, Mass. In the probate records at Salem, Mass., is the will, probated Dec. 5, 1797, of Abraham Knowlton, cabinet maker and joiner, who died at Ipswich, Oct. 2, 1797. (Docket 16054.) Among bequests, is one to his daughter "Mary Kinsman."

By his second wife, Mary Knowlton, Michael Kinsman had two sons: Michael and Israel. He is said to have removed to Philadelphia, Penn.

328½ Hudson Ave., Albany, N. Y. GEORGE H. KNOWLTON.

BAILEY-SMITH.—In the article on John Bailey of Haddam, Conn., ante, page 60, is a statement, for which the author was not responsible, that the wife of John[1] Bailey was probably a daughter of Thomas Smith of Haddam. Dr. James B. Field of Lowell, Mass., writes: "I doubt if Thomas Smith of Haddam had any daughter or any relative living in Haddam. To be sure, he left his land to John Baily's wife, but he also left his household stuff to Daniel Brainwood's wife, and the rest of his property to several of his townsmen. The most reasonable assumption is that the women had cared for him in his last illness, and the men were his personal friends. In this theory the late Charlotte Goldthwaite, an accurate and painstaking genealogist, agreed. In the partition of the land several years after Thomas Smith's decease, there is no more hint of his relation to any of the beneficiaries than there is in his will."

A SHERBURNE FAMILY RECORD.—The paper bearing this title, printed as a curio, ante, page 82, differs in several respects from the version which appeared ante, vol. 17, pages 252-3. Portions of it, with other differences, will be found in Brewster's "Rambles About Portsmouth," Second Series, pages 51-2. Compare the Sherburne article, ante, vol. 58, pages 227-8.

A complete analysis of all the statements and data therein would be of value.

EDITOR.

QUERIES.

MUNSEY.—In the REGISTER, vol. 7, page 257, in an article by the late Rev. Alonzo H. Quint, appears the statement that William Munsey, of Dover, N. H., had a grant of land 29 July, 1695. A careful search has failed to reveal any such grant; but the following, transcribed from Dover City Records, may have been mistaken for a grant, the date being the same. The brackets enclose words worn in the original.

I desire to know why this bond was given, and who were the "Will Munsey" and "Ane Draper" named in it. WILLIAM LINCOLN PALMER.

Cambridge, Mass.

Wanted, the ancestry of:

Mary Basset, born Feb. 23, 1739, died Apr. 27, 1819, who married Rev. Martinus Schoonmaker of Dutch Churches, L. I.

Maria Cook, daughter of Abraham, who married, Dec. 13, 1757, at N. Y., Jacobus De Bevoise, and died Oct. 5, 1813, aged 79 yrs. R. H. GREENE.

235 Central Park, New York City.

MERRY.—Daniel Merry, born in Boston, 1793, son of Daniel and Lucy (Davis) Merry, was in the hardware business in Boston, 1817, with James Wells, son of Ebenezer and Catharine (Eustis) Wells. Both disappeared from Boston records 1819; where did they go? MRS. HENRY S. TUFTS.

37 Harvard Ave., Brookline, Mass.

Where was Lady Pepperell buried, who died Oct. 8, 1775, on the passage from Boston to England? She was Elizabeth, wife of Sir William Pepperell, 2d Baronet, and daughter of the Hon. Isaac Royall of Medford.

Dr. Usher Parsons states in his Life of Sir William Pepperell, 1st Baronet, that she was buried in Halifax. What was his authority for this? Others say she was buried in King's Chapel burying ground, Boston, Oct. 12, 1775, but I do not know on what authority. No record of the burial can be found in Halifax. M.

PHIPPS-SANBORN.—Wanted, the parentage and family connections of Miss A. M, Phipps, born about 1840, probably in Massachusetts, who married first, in California, about 1864, Moses Kilsea Sanborn, born 3 May, 1833, died in California, 5 Sept., 1874, son of Josiah and Zibiah P. (Falls) Sanborn of Waldo and Belfast, Me.; and married, second, in California, after 1874, ———. Her children by her first husband were: Frances, Caroline Maria, Charles, Lester, and Henry, the first four born in Sacramento, and the last in Centreville, Alameda, Co., Cal. HENRY F. SANBORN.

c/o Wm. E. Cox, 1118 Union Trust Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

PORTER-HOWE.—Wanted, the parentage and ancestry of Benjamin Porter, who served under Capt. David Olmsted in the Revolution, was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and Deacon of the Presbyterian Church, who removed to the Genesee country prior to 1803. His tombstone at Batavia, N.Y., states:

"He made the first public prayer and conducted the first religious service west of Genesee river, N. Y."

Also, the parentage and ancestry of Rosanna Howe, who married the above Benjamin Porter. MARY H. HOSMER.

536 East Main St., Batavia, N. Y.

SUTHERLAND.—Can any one furnish me with definite and reliable information relative to John Sutherland who settled on Otter Creek, Rutland Co., Vermont, about 1760, especially as to his politics during the Revolutionary War, and his loyalty to Congress. SARAH D. CROPLEY.

Boston, Mass.

WILDER.—Wanted the ancestry, and any other information, of Peter Wilder and his wife Freelove, who lived some time in Penn., in the latter half of the 18th century. A daughter Lydia, married Rev. Ransom Dexter, who was born in Erie, Penn., and was first a shipbuilder.

2920 Calumet Ave., Chicago, Ill. (MISS) LYDIA AURELIA DEXTER.

Information wanted as to ancestry of:

Lydia Jenkins, of Groton, Mass., who married, May 29, 1760, Joseph Sawtell of Groton.

Abigail Bigsby (presumably of Westford, Mass.), who married, Sept. 11, 1733, Zachariah Sawtell.

Sarah Gilbert, who married, Oct. 6, 1681, Capt. Simon Wainwright of Haverhill, Mass.

Eunice Patch, who married (presumably at Lunenburg), Feb. 26, 1767, Elijah Gould.

Elizabeth ———, who married, July 15, 1691, John Parker of Reading, Mass.

P. O. Box 82, Savannah, Ga. THOMAS GAMBLE, JR.

Wanted, References to the Ancestry of:

Sarah ———, b. abt. 1715, who m. abt. 1738, Ebenezer Hanchet of Suffield, Ct.

Sarah Johnson, b. abt. 1736, who m. 8 Nov., 1756, John Chadwick, Jr., of Worcester, Mass.

Abigail Chaffee, who m. abt. 1775, Elisha Underwood of Woodstock, Ct., and Wales, Mass.

Eleanor ———, b. abt. 1723, who m. abt. 1742, Robert Henry, of Stow, Groton and Shirley, Mass.

William Henry, who, while of Stow, Mass., bought land in Lunenburg, Mass., 24 June, 1735, whither he removed between 1741 and 1752. His reputed ancestor, Sergt. John Henry of Topsfield, Mass., 1690, is a myth.

Mary Allen, who m. 3. Mar., 1737, as his third wife, Rev. William Gager of Lebanon, Ct.

Aaron Jaqua, b. abt. 1722, who removed (perhaps from Kingstown, R. I.) to Lebanon and Salisbury, Ct.

Hannah Manners (or Warren), who m. 1 Dec., 1680, Jonathan Davenport of Dorchester, Mass., and Little Compton, R. I.

1817 E. 63d St., N. E., Cleveland, O. (HON.) FREDERICK A. HENRY.

PAINE.—Moses[4] Paine (Moses,[3] Stephen,[2] Moses[1]), of Braintree, Mass., born in 1700, married, 31 Oct., 1723, Abigail, dau. of Capt. Peter Adams.

In the settlement of his estate, 16 Dec., 1763, these children are named: Moses Payne, eldest son, Hannah Wadsworth, Bethiah Hunt, and David Paine, who was an administrator. The last two children are not mentioned in any of the Paine or Adams genealogies, but they appear, as children of Moses, in the records of the First Church of Braintree, now in the city clerk's office at Quincy, Mass., as follows: David, bapt. 5 Mch., 1737–8, and Bethiah, bapt. 4 Feb., 1741–2.

The son David[5] went to Douglas, Mass., in 1764, and later to Ludlow, Mass., where he died 2 July, 1807, leaving a family. He served in the Revolution from Ludlow.

Bethiah[5] Paine married, 4 Sept., 1762, Matthew Hunt of Weymouth.

I have the names of all the descendants of David[5] Paine, but desire to get records of the descendants of his brother and sisters.

559 West Market St., Lima, Ohio. (Mrs.) Clara Paine Ohler.

Hovey.—Wanted, the parentage and ancestry of Thomas Hovey who married Susannah Phippen, 25 July, 1773, in Salem, Mass. H. L.

Historical Intelligence.

The Committee on Publication will henceforth consider, for publication in the Register, genealogies brought down to the year 1850; and, also, important corrections of genealogies in print.

English Research.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the Register, giving clues which led to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the Register, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

Charles Sherburne Penhallow, Chairman,
Francis Apthorp Foster,
Jerome Carter Hosmer, William Eben Stone,
Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Secretary, } Committee on English Research.

The California Historic Genealogical Society, whose collection was lost in the fire at San Francisco, is desirous of beginning another collection as soon as possible, and solicits donations of historical and genealogical works. Such donations should be addressed to Mrs. May Stansbury Mansfield, Librarian, care of Walter D. Mansfield, 172 East St., San Francisco, Cal.

The Genealogical Directory, giving the names and addresses of those interested in family history, with a list of the principal families about which they possess or desire information, is being prepared for publication by Chas. A. Bernau, "Pendeen," Walton-on-Thames, England, who will send descriptive circular upon application.

Old Eliot.—Those interested in historical matters may be gratified to learn that another year of Old Eliot is in preparation; the first three quarterlies being already completed. The volume will contain much of historic value,—including the section of Old Kittery, now known as Eliot, in the Revolution; Eliot in the Civil War, and in the War of 1812; also The Physicians of Eliot and Kittery. Subscriptions should be addressed: Old Eliot, Eliot, Maine.

Stimpson Genealogy.—Under this title will be published an extended record of the descendants of Andrew Steavenson, or Stimpson, of Cambridge, whose son, Andrew Stimson, removed to Charlestown about 1678. Much valuable material has been collected. Owing to the fact that at the present time there are but twenty-eight male descendants of Andrew[1] Steavenson, bearing the name of Stimpson, it was decided to give the descendants, in both the male and female lines, from the first ancestor. The ancestral line, from Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower, of Susannah Fosdick, who married John[4] Stimpson, is given in full. The book will contain about 175 pages, bound in cloth. For particulars of subscription, address, CHARLES C. WHITTIER, 374 Blue Hill Ave., Roxbury, Mass.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. When there are more than one Christian name, they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Ashley.—Frederick W. Ashley, 132 S Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is collecting material for a history of some branches of the Ashley family, and desires information regarding Ashley lines. It is not intended to duplicate any part of the history of the descendants of Robert Ashley, compiled by Francis B. Trowbridge and published in 1896, nor the genealogy of the descendants of the seven sons of Thomas Ashley and Phebe Freeman who lived in Poultney, Vt., in preparation by Burton J. Ashley.

Bly.—Myron T. Bly, 809 German Ins. Co. Building, Rochester, N. Y., is preparing a family record of Jonathan Bly and Eunice, his wife, who lived in North Kingston, R. I., 1761 to 1778, and will be pleased to receive information regarding their ancestors or descendants.

Caldwell, Coldwell, Colwell.—Chas. T. Caldwell, M. D., The Olympia, Washington, D. C., is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of William Coldwell, born in 1695 in England, who was kidnapped and impressed into the British navy when only sixteen years old, deserted at Boston in 1712, married (1) Jane Jordan at Stoughton, and (2) Abigail Sutherland, had a large family of children, lived in Connecticut, and finally moved to Nova Scotia, where he died in 1802, aged 107 years.

Chapman.—Emilas R. Chapman, Citizens' Building, Cleveland, Ohio, is compiling a history of the descendants of John Chapman of Stonington, Vernon and Bolton, Conn., and desires information.

Covell, Covill.—Dr. Henry H. Covell, 105 East Ave., Rochester, N. Y., desires information concerning all lines of the family of Covell or Covill.

Day, Seaman.—Mrs. Elizabeth Seaman Haviland, 34 Concord St., Holliston, Mass., is compiling genealogies of the descendants of Robert Day of Ipswich, Mass., and of Thomas Seaman of Swansea, Mass.

Gavet, Gavett, Gavit, Gavitt.—W. F. Gavet, Salem, Mass., is preparing a genealogy of this family, and desires information from all of the name or of allied families who have not communicated with him.

Haviland, Seaman.—Frank Haviland, 34 Concord St., Holliston, Mass., is compiling genealogies of the descendants of William Haviland, and of Capt. John Seaman of Hempstead, L. I.

Heald.—Clarence A. Torrey, University of Chicago Library, Chicago, Ill., is compiling a complete genealogy of the first five generations of the descendants of John Heald of Concord, Mass., and would be glad to receive information concerning the family.

Letts.—Mrs. Cora Letts Maricle, of Letts, Louisa Co., Iowa, is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Nehemiah Letts of Monmouth Co., N. J.

Selden.—Mrs. M. M. Le Brun, Montclair, N. J., is preparing a sketch of the life and services of Col. Samuel Selden, of the American Revolution, with a genealogy of the other descendants of Thomas Selden of Hartford, Conn., 1639, and wishes information from all who are interested.

The Ancestors of My Children and Other Related Children of the Generations Living in the Morning of the Twentieth Century. By William Copeland Clark, Lincoln, Maine. Published under the Direction of the Author's Executors. [Bangor, Me.] 1906. 8vo. pp. vii+215. Ill.

This work does not correspond, according to the author, to his "ideal of a family genealogy," yet fifty-four ancestral lines of his children and others have been traced. The greatest space has been given to the lines of Clark, Copeland and Rice. The first of the Clarks is Joseph, who came to Dorchester, Mass., in 1630. The Copelands are traced to Lawrence Copeland, the first record of whom shows him in Boston, in 1651; and the Rices are descended from Edmund Rice, who settled in Sudbury, Mass., in 1638 or '9. Of all the names excepting these three, the genealogies given are brief, two or three being included on one page. There are three good indexes.

The Parentage and English Progenitors of Nathaniel Coney, of Boston, Mass. By Thomas Hills, of Boston. Press of David Clapp & Son. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 13.

This is a reprint, with additions, from the Register for Jan., 1907.

Silas Gates, of Stow, Mass., and the Descendants of His Son, Paul Gates, of Ashby, Mass. Compiled by Julius Kendall Gates and Samuel Pearly Gates. Printed for private circulation. 1907. 8vo. pp. 148. Ill. (A few copies in cap quarto, uniform with the earlier Gates Genealogy, but the larger part of the edition in octavo.)

This volume traces the descendants of Silas Gates of Wendell, and Paul Gates of Ashby, Mass., sons of Silas (No. 72 in "Stephen Gates and His Descendants," published in 1898) of whom nothing was known to the editor of the earlier work. In the preparation of the work under notice, the compilers availed themselves of the services of Miss M. B. Fairbanks, as a genealogist, in making a careful search of the records of Middlesex County and the town of Stow, which, with family papers, have yielded full and satisfactory results. Notes on one of the collateral branches (Hayward) add value to the book. It is handsomely printed on cameo paper, by T. R. Marvin & Son, and in addition to the biographical matter, contains numerous portraits and views, and an excellent Index. * * *

Extracts from British Archives on the Families of Haley, Halley, Pike, etc. [By Eugene Fairfield McPike.] (Working material; reprinted from the Magazine of History. New York. 1906.) 8vo. pp. 37.

Very thorough work is represented in this compilation, as sources of information on both sides of the Atlantic have been investigated; and in the references given in the last pages, France as well as Great Britain is mentioned.

Thomas Jones, Fort Neck, Queens County, Long Island, 1695, and His Descendants, The Floyd-Jones Family. With Connections from the year 1066. By Thomas Floyd-Jones. New York. 1906. 8vo. pp. 183. Ill.

The author, in an introduction, says that this work is published "with the sole purpose of explaining . . . . why and how the double, or hyphenated, name of Floyd-Jones came into existence." The book may be described as a series of biographies connected by genealogical tables. Poems and "episodes" add variety to the compilation. There is no index.

Arms and Pedigree of Kingdon-Gould of New York and Georgian Court, Lakewood, New Jersey. Showing Descent from John Kingdon of Coleridge, County Devon, England, Esquire (1596), a Cadet of the House of Kyngdon of Trehunsey, Quethiock, County Cornwall, (12th Century). Compiled with Proofs and References to Authorities from the Results of Researches made by the Genealogical Department of the Grafton Press and published in the year 1906. New York: The Grafton Press, Publishers. 1906. L. 4to, pp. 25. Ill.

A full-page colored representation of the Kingdon arms, followed by a copy of the grant of the Hockin arms (the wife of Rev. John Kingdon being Jane Hockin), precedes the pedigree. The book is printed in the best style of the Grafton Press.

The Family of Leete. By JOSEPH LEETE, Chevalier de la Légion d' Honneur, South Norwood, Surrey. In conjunction with JOHN CORBET ANDERSON, author of Chronicles of Croydon, Biblical Monuments, etc., etc. Second edition. Revised and enlarged. London. 1906. 4to. pp. 211. Illus.

Americans of this family—one of the very few whose claim to coat armor can be positively proved—have just cause for pride in this beautiful, costly volume, which is all that refined, scholarly taste can produce, is bound in full morocco, printed on deckle-edge paper, and finely illustrated. Fac-similes of portions of the Doomsday Book and other ancient official documents, as well as maps and portraits, add to the interest of the volume. The two English branches of Eversden and Oakington are fully treated, and have each a tabular pedigree, as has also the American branch, which will prove very helpful to those of the family who wish to learn the English ancestry of their line. An excellent account of the interesting life of the author closes this valuable work.

American Ancestry of Marshall Lefferts and Mary Allen. By MARSHALL C. LEFFERTS. Chart, 29 in. by 29 in. [New York. 1905.]

Marshall Lefferts was born in New York in 1821; his wife was born in 1826. Mr. Lefferts says that "this chart has been issued to members of the family in its present incomplete state as a convenience in the work of compiling a final edition."

The Litchfield Family in America. Part One. No. 5. November, 1906. [By WILFORD JACOB LITCHFIELD. Boston. 1907.] Large 8vo. pp. 305–384. Ill. Price $1.00 (postage prepaid).

Forty pages of the present number are occupied by the diary of Dea. Israel Litchfield of Scituate, written chiefly in the years 1774–5. The portion relating to the latter year is, in many of its entries, of great interest. There are six illustrations of exceptional merit.

Genealogy of the Maulsby Family for Five Generations. 1699–1902. Compiled by Careful Research among Quaker, Government and Family Records. By CORA M. (PATTY) PAINE, Linden, Iowa. Des Moines, Iowa: Geo. A. Miller Press. 1902. L. 8vo. pp. 142. Ill. Map.

Interspersed with the records of the Maulsbys, this volume contains accounts of the Rees, John, Thornburgh, Mills, Macy, Swain, Worth, Marshall, Patty, Davis, and Scott families. The Maulsbys themselves are traced to John and Mary Maulsby, who came from England to Chester, Penn., in 1699. The early history of "The Plymouth Settlement," Penn., is included in the notice of the immigrant Maulsbys, as is also that of "Lost Creek Settlement," Tenn., in the third section of the work. Blank pages for the sixth generation are added after the fifth, and an index closes the book.

The Historical Journal of the More Family. No. 13. Nov., 1906. Fourth Reunion of the Descendants of John More and Betty Taylor, at Roxbury, Delaware Co., N. Y., Sept. 2, 3, 4, 5, 1905. Seattle, Washington.

Genealogical Collections relating to the Families of Noblet, Noblat, Noblot and Noblets, of France; Noblet and Noblett, of Great Britain; Noblet, Noblett, Noblit and Noblitt, of America. With some Particular Account of William Noblit of Middletown Township, Chester County (now Delaware County), Pennsylvania, U. S. A. Compiled by JOHN HYNDMAN NOBLIT. Printed for Private Circulation by Ferris & Leach, [Phila.] 1906. 4to. pp. 401. Ill.

The first hundred pages of this work comprise the records of the Noblet family in France, the greater part consisting of "French Documents in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris." Then follow English, Welsh, Irish and American records in which last are included notices of several individuals, similar to that of the William Noblit of the title-page, and also accounts of the Noblits of North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York. To these are added miscellaneous, church, and military records. Though not arranged according to the model of a genealogy, the materials here collected are rendered available by means of four indexes and a complete table of contents. The volume is admirable in respect to print, paper, binding and illustrations, the latter being chiefly coats of arms.

Oak-Oaks-Oakes. Family Register of Nathaniel Oak of Marlborough, Mass., and Three Generations of his Descendants in both Male and Female Lines. By HENRY LEBBEUS OAK. With Sketch of Life of Henry Lebbeus Oak, Historical Writer and Genealogist. Printed for Subscribers with permission of the New Eng. Hist. Society of Boston, Mass., to whom the Author bequeathed the Original Manuscripts, by ORA OAK, Cucamonga, Cal. Out West Co. Print, Los Angeles. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 84+vi. Portrait.

The manuscript deposited with the New Eng. Hist. Gen. Soc. consists of seven volumes, four containing genealogical records; and of these four, the present work is printed from the first. Although the author calls it "merely a 'family register,' mainly of bare names and dates," biographical particulars are numerous, and the pages of the genealogical portion of the book are interesting. Print and binding are good, and the volume is provided with an index.

History and Genealogy of the Rix Family of America, containing Biographical Sketches and Genealogies of both Males and Females. Compiled by GUY S. RIX, Concord, N. H. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, New York. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. xiii+240. Ill.

This work relates to William and Thomas Rix, sons of Robert Rix of Canninghall, England, and their descendants. William was in Boston before 1645; Thomas in Salem before 1649. The genealogy is brought down to the eleventh generation. It is preceded by a letter from Mrs. H. L. M. Fry, containing valuable, and in some respects romantic, particulars respecting the "English line of Brancaster Castle, Norfolk County, England." Nearly forty pages of notes which relate to allied families are appended to the genealogy. The volume is well indexed.

Arms and Pedigree of Seymour of Payson, Illinois. Showing Descent from Edward, Duke of Somerset, Lord Protector of England (1547), and Sir William de St. Maur, of Woundy and Penhow, Monmouthshire (1240). Compiled from Proofs and References to Authorities from the Results of Researches made by the Genealogical Department of the Grafton Press and published in 1906. New York: The Grafton Press, Publishers. 1906. L. 4to. pp. 31. Ill.

A full-page colored copy of the Seymour arms, with a transcript, in Latin, of the grant of arms to the Protector, serves as a preface to the pedigree. The volume is in its letter-press one of the most noteworthy products of the Grafton Press. It would seem to be desirable to have more substantial evidence than is given in the pedigree, to prove the connection between the family in England and New England.

Lineal and Collateral Pedigrees of Descendants of Samuel Slaughter, Esq., in four generations. Compiled by JOSEPH WHITMAN BAILEY. Boston, Mass. 1906. Chart. 20 in. by 20 in.

The Samuel Slaughter of this chart was of Culpeper, Va.

Clement Topliff and his Descendants in Boston. By ETHEL STANWOOD BOLTON. Boston. Privately Printed. 1906. 8vo. pp. 56. Frontispiece. (50 copies printed.)

The seasonable publication of this attractive account of the Topliff family in Boston will be eagerly examined in connection with the interesting Topliff's Travels, recently issued, and edited by Mrs. Bolton. Here she has set forth in her characteristic, clear, direct style—too seldom found in works of this kind—all that could be found concerning the emigrant ancestor, and the Boston line of his descendants. The allied families of Bird, Harris, Withington, Somes, Foster, Bates, Lane, and Reyner are given in tabular charts, and there are five appendices giving additional information, also a facsimile of an autograph letter from Daniel Webster to Samuel Topliff. A good index closes this well-made volume. A. L. W.

Rev. George Moulton Adams, D.D. By Rev. Elnathan Ellsworth Strong, D.D. Boston: N. E. Hist. Gen. Society. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 5. Portrait.

This is a reprint from the Register for Jan., 1907.

The Revolutionary Journal of Col. Jeduthan Baldwin. 1775-1778. Edited with a Memoir and Notes by Thomas Williams Baldwin. Bangor, [Maine]: Printed for the De Burians. 1906. 12 mo. pp. lxiii+164. Ill.

Jeduthan Baldwin was born in Woburn, Mass., in 1732. He served as Captain of a company in 1755–1758, and the first part of the Journal was kept by him from Dec. 1, 1755, to May 4, 1756. The first Revolutionary date is Dec. 8, 1775. Many of the entries are very short, but the Journal as a whole furnishes historical details well worth preserving for posterity, and it is immediately preceded by the sermon preached at Col. Baldwin's funeral. The editor, however, is responsible for some misstatements. It may not be improper to explain that the "De Burians," for whom the volume is printed, is the name of a Society which is issuing publications "inscribed to the memory of Richard De Bury, Bishop of Durham, 1287–1345."

Sir Caspar Purdon Clarke, Kt. A personal Note by John Lane. John Lane, New York. Office of the International Studio. 1905. 32 mo. pp. 30. Portrait.

Sir Caspar Purdon Clarke, formerly on the staff of the South Kensington Museum, London, England, has been appointed director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and this is an account of him, by one who knows him well.

Proceedings of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honorable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of Philadelphia, and Masonic Jurisdiction thereunto belonging, at its Celebration of the Birth of Right Worshipful Past Grand Master, Brother Benjamin Franklin, held in the Masonic Temple, in the City of Philadelphia, on Wednesday, March 7, A.D. 1906—A.L. 5906. Together with an Account of the Memorial Service at his Tomb, on Thursday, April 19, A.D. 1906—A.L. 5906. Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, Phila. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. viii+352. Ill.

As the title-page sufficiently indicates the contents of this volume, it is only necessary to say that in letter-press, binding and illustrations it is noticeably beautiful. The facsimile reproductions are of great interest, among them being "Franklin's Pennsylvania Gazette, Dec. 3–8, A.D. 1730," and "Anderson's 'Constitutions of Freemasons,' as reprinted by Franklin in A.D. 1734," the latter covering nearly a hundred pages.

Nathaniel Goddard, a Boston Merchant. 1767-1853. By Henry Goddard Pickering, LL.B. Printed at the Riverside Press, [Cambridge, Mass.] for private distribution. 1906. 8vo. pp. viii+272. Ill. Map.

This work opens with a genealogy beginning with John Goddard of Upham in Aldbourne, England, from whom descended, in direct line, William Goddard, the first settler of the name in America. The genealogy is followed by the autobiography of Nathaniel Goddard, which relates the story of the first thirty years of his life. The remainder of the volume, relating to his subsequent career, is compiled from the memories of Mr. Goddard's family and from letters. The illustrations are very fine.

James Wilson, Patriot, and the Wilson Doctrine. By Lucien Hugh Alexander, of the Philadelphia Bar. Reprinted from the North American Review, Mid-November Issue, 1906; vol. 183; no. 8. [Phila. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 19.

"To many in our day," the author says, "Justice James Wilson will prove a revelation," and it is demonstrated by this sketch, which consists principally of eulogistic quotations from eminent legal and historical authorities. James Wilson was born in Scotland, was a member of the Continental Congress and of the United States Constitutional Convention, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Wilson doctrine is thus stated in this pamphlet: "The Constitution should be so construed that there shall be neither vacancies nor interferences between the limits of State and National jurisdictions; both together should compose but one uniform and comprehensive system of government and laws."

Transcribed and Verified by MARY KINGSBURY TALCOTT, Hartford, Conn. From the manuscript copy owned by the Connecticut Society of Colonial Dames. [Hartford. 1907.] Large 8vo. pp. 25. Price 75 cts. for 2 parts, including postage. Address Miss M. K. Talcott, 135 Sigourney St., Hartford, Conn.

The dates of these records range from Nov., 1718, to Oct., 1833. A second part will follow.

History of Boothbay, Southport, and Boothbay Harbor, Maine. 1623-1905. With Family Genealogies. By FRANCIS B. GREENE. Ill. Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. vi+693. Price $3.00.

The municipal, military, ecclesiastical and genealogical records which form this volume are not only extensive but most graphically presented. Their accuracy has been certified publicly by those whose ability to test the statements is unquestionable, residents as they are of the places included in this history. The author has been fortunate in being able to consult aged representatives for tradition in regard to the antiquities of the region. The genealogical portion of the work occupies nearly two hundred pages and contains all the information procurable regarding the ancestors and descendants of the founders of these towns. The paper and binding are excellent. The illustrations are chiefly portraits. There are indexes of places, events and persons.

State Street. A Brief Account of a Boston Way. Printed for the State Street Trust Company, Boston, Mass. [1906.] 8vo. pp. 42. Ill.

A great deal of historical and anecdotal matter is embodied in this attractive pamphlet, and it is well illustrated.

A Blight on Boston. How shall it be removed? By JOHN ALBREE. Printed by the Berkley Press, 127 Federal St., Boston. [1906.] 8vo. pp. 16. Ill.

The "blight" is "the abandoned railroad property in Park Square," and for its removal Mr. Albree asks "united action by men of Boston."

Band of Botsford. [Buffalo. 1906.] 12mo. pp. 14.

This pamphlet contains an account of the second annual reunion of the family.

"Old Chapel," Clarke County, Virginia. Printed by the Blue Ridge Press, Perryville, Va. 1906. 8vo. pp. 74. Ill.

After a "Historical Sketch of the Old Chapel," compiled chiefly from Bishop Meade's "Old Churches and Families of Virginia," and two other articles of a historical and biographical nature, "The Cemetery Record" is printed in as complete a state as possible, each entry giving as full an account as could be collected of the person named.

Farmington Two Hundred Years Ago. A Paper read at a Meeting of the Colonial Dames of Connecticut at the Home of Miss Theodate Pope, May 29, 1906. By JULIUS GAY. Hartford Press: The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Co. 1906. 8vo. pp. 14.

Church, school, and home, together with literature, form the topics of this historical paper.

An Old Berwickshire Town. History of the Town and Parish of Greenlaw, from the Earliest Times to the Present Day. By ROBERT GIBSON. Edited by his son, THOMAS GIBSON. Oliver and Boyd. Edinburgh: Tweeddale Court. London: 10 Paternoster Row, E. C. 1905. 12mo. pp. xii.+308. Portrait.

The latest date assigned to the founding of Greenlaw is the end of the seventh or the beginning of the eighth century. William de Greenlaw is the first name, among its inhabitants, which has been discovered, its mention occurring in 1180. The early ecclesiastical history of the town has received particular attention, much that is here recorded not having before been published. Not only the author's investigations, but also his own personal knowledge, have aided in showing the important changes in rural industries and customs which later times have brought. The four concluding chapters on "Old and Extinct Families" contain, among other family histories, one of the Greenlaw family which, according to the preface, "is for the first time presented in definite outline." The book is indexed, is admirably printed, and well bound.

Historic Hadley: A Story of the Making of a Famous Massachusetts Town. By ALICE MOREHOUSE WALKER. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. [1906.] 12mo. pp. xii.+130. Ill.

This is a volume of the "Grafton Historical Series," of which "In Olde Connecticut" was the first. Though the aim of the author has been to give her narration an air of romance, she has subordinated this purpose to historical truth. The result is a book of absorbing interest which the author hopes will be "read and re-read." "The Founders and their Fortunes," "A Reign of Terror in Hadley," "The Church in Old Hadley," "Hopkins Grammar School and Academy," "The Wealth of the River and the Fertile Meadows," "The Burial Place of Hadley's Honored Dead," are the titles of the chapters. The volume is beautifully illustrated, and has an index.

Litchfield County Sketches. By NEWELL MEEKER CALHOUN. Litchfield County. University Club. 1906. Small 8vo. pp. 177. Ill. Map.

This beautiful book is descriptive of what has been called the "Lake Region" of New England, corresponding in scenery and the intellectual distinction of its residents to County Westmoreland, England. A few of the titles of chapters will sufficiently indicate the nature of the contents, such as "Two Country Parsons," "A Deserted Farm," "The Delectable Mountains," "Huckleberrying," and "The Upper Reaches of the Farmington." The illustrations are artistic, and in harmony with the otherwise fine appearance of the volume.

The Early Records of the Town of Providence. Volume XIX. Being Official Records and Documents of Title and Proceedings relative to the North Burial Ground. Printed under authority of the City Council of Providence by WILLIAM E. CLARKE, DANIEL F. HAYDEN, WILLIAM G. BRENNEN, Record Commissioners. Providence: Snow & Farnham, City Printers. 1906. 8vo. pp. iv.+440. Ill. Plans.

The greater part of this volume is filled with resolutions accepting gifts of money from various individuals for the preservation and care of burial lots. The concluding portion is a register of lots.

The Churchwarden's Accounts of South Tawton. By ETHEL LEGA-WEEKES. (Read at Lynton, July, 1906.) Reprinted from the Transactions of the Devonshire Association for the Advancement of Science, Literature, and Art. 1906.—xxxviii. pp. 497-528. n. p. [1906.] 8vo. pp. 497-528. Ill.

Beginning in 1524, these accounts, so far as printed in this publication, are continued to 1571. They are described in the introduction—which occupies all but a half-a-dozen pages of the pamphlet—as illustrating "almost step by step the changes in doctrine, in ritual, in legislation, and in administration of the Church of England."

Minutes of the Sixty-ninth Anniversary of the Springfield [Illinois] Baptist Association, held with the Pana Baptist Church, Pana, Illinois, Sept. 5, 6, 1906. [Springfield, Ill. 1906.] Large 8vo. pp. 24. Portrait.

Suffolk Deeds. Liber XIV. Boston, Mass. 1906. 8vo.

The present volume begins with a deed recorded June 22, 1686, and ends with one entered Nov. 6, 1697.

An Address delivered at Waitsfield, Vt., Sept. 15, 1906, at the unveiling of a Tablet erected in memory of the Soldiers of the American Revolution buried in that town. By MATT BUSHNELL JONES. The Caledonian Press, St. Johnsbury, Vt. 1906. 8vo. pp. 23. Ill.

Weymouth Ways and Weymouth People. Reminiscences by EDMUND SOPER HUNT. Boston. Privately printed. 1907. 8vo. pp. 308. Portrait of the author.

These personal reminiscences, by one of Weymouth's oldest citizens, are arranged in chapters of decades, written in a lively and interesting style, and describe the changing customs of the town in its development from the typical New England village of eighty years ago to its present position as one of the leading towns of the county. It is largely compiled from occasional contributions to the local newspaper by the trenchant pen of the author. These have been skilfully woven together into an attractive book, flavored here and there with a bit of good-natured satire, which gives a pleasant zest to the whole. The volume is from the press of T. R. Marvin & Son, handsomely printed on deckle-edge paper, and has a copious index. * * *

In Olde Connecticut: Being a Record of Quaint, Curious and Romantic Happenings there in Colonie Times and Later. By CHARLES BURR TODD. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. [1906.] 12mo. pp. x.+244.

This is the first volume of the "Grafton Historical Series," the object being to form a collection of the legends and traditions which the historian is not disposed to incorporate in a dignified narrative. Letters, diaries, scrapbooks, newspapers, logbooks, garrets and "secretaries" have concealed the treasures which the projected volumes are designed to display. The present one consists of articles which have appeared in various periodicals, with such titles as "The Historic Burr Mansion at Fairfield," "Whaleboat Privateersmen of the Revolution." "The Frogs of Windham," "The Pequot Indians," "The Beginnings of a Great Railroad," showing the variety of topics which enliven the book. Such a work, while surpassing a novel in fidelity to facts, surely equals it in picturesqueness and charm.

A Report on the Public Archives. By BENJAMIN F. SHAMBAUGH. Reprinted from the Jan., 1907, number of the Annals of Iowa, by the Historical Department of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa, 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 39. Ill.

The contents of this publication are "General Information," "The Situation in Iowa," "Problems Relative to the Public Archives in Iowa," and "Recommendations."

Soldiers in King Philip's War. Being a Critical Account of that War, with a Concise History of the Indian Wars of New England from 1620-1677, Official Lists of the soldiers of Massachusetts Colony serving in Philip's War, and Sketches of the principal officers, copies of ancient documents and records relating to the War; also Lists of the Narraganset Grantees of the United Colonies, Massachusetts, Plymouth, and Connecticut. With an Appendix.

Third Edition, with Additional Appendix containing corrections and new material. By GEORGE MADISON BODGE, A.B. Boston, Mass. Printed for the author. 1906. 8vo. pp. xiv.+502. Ill. Price, $5.00. Address, Rev. G. M. Bodge, 11 Meredith St., West Roxbury, Boston, Mass.

This new volume has been carefully revised, and contains corrections and valuable additions, with a special index of additional names. Additional illustrations, also, are given, including a map of the "Great Swamp" and vicinity, South Kingston, R. I., and a photogravure of the "Swamp Fight Monument," lately placed by the "Societies of Colonial Wars" upon the site of the battle, Dec., 1675. It will be recalled that this work, at its first issue in 1892, gave a great impulse to the study of Colonial history, and was at once adopted as a text-book by the Societies of Colonial Wars and Colonial Dames. The first edition was soon exhausted, and a second, enlarged and improved, was issued in 1896. The work has held its place of high authority both as to military service and critical history of events. The new edition, like the former, is from the Rockwell and Churchill Press, in its best style. * * *

King Philip's War: Based on the Archives and Records of Massachusetts, Plymouth, Rhode Island and Connecticut, and Contemporary Letters and Accounts. With Biographical and Topographical Notes. By GEORGE W. ELLIS and JOHN E. MORRIS. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. [1906.] 12mo. pp. xiii.+326. Ill. Map.

This is one of the "Grafton Historical Series," and the table of contents is sufficient to impress one with its right to a place beside the companion volumes that have been issued. It is written from the view-point of sympathy with the Indians, though it is recognized that the presence of a superior race eventually effects the extermination of the inferior. As for the sources from which the detailed accounts are drawn, the authors mention the correspondence between the Governors and Councils and the military commanders as having afforded an abundant mass of material. The work partakes more of the historical and less of the traditional element than the previous issues of the series.

Lee's Centennial. An Address by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, delivered at Lexington, Virginia, Sat., Jan. 19, 1907, on the invitation of the President and Faculty of Washington and Lee University. [Boston. 1907.] 8vo. pp. 76.

Mr. Adams's address opens with a concise survey of State sovereignty, as it gave place gradually to the conception of a great union. Lee's final choice of secession was made easier by the slow growth of this conception in Virginia, his native State. Mr. Adams explains at some length Lee's Gettysburg campaign, holding that it had little to do with the fall of the Confederacy. The effective blockade, and the refusal of Europe to intervene to obtain cotton, convinced Lee that the South must fail from exhaustion and starvation. His surrender at Appomattox was a courageous recognition of the facts. He accepted defeat manfully, and sought consistently to develop harmony and peace.

The address is vivid, suggestive, and generous in appreciation of a soldier whose career was based on high character. C. K. B.

The Confiscation Laws of Massachusetts. By ANDREW MCFARLAND DAVIS. Reprinted from the Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts (Transactions, Jan., 1903). Vol. VIII. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son. University Press. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 50–72.

The laws here described were enacted from 1775 to 1785, and related to the disposal of the property of the Loyalists. The subject is treated with the thoroughness which is always characteristic of the work of Mr. Davis.

History of the New Hampshire Surgeons in the War of Rebellion. By GRANVILLE P. CONN, A.M., M.D. Published by order of the New Hampshire Association of Military Surgeons. 1906. Concord, N. H.: Ira C. Evans Co., Printers. Large 8vo. pp. vii.+558. Portrait.

The biographical sketches composing this volume follow, in the case of each military organization, an abstract of the history of the body to which the surgeons belonged; with the exception, of course, of those who served in the navy. Dr. Conn has spared no pains in the work, and has included, in his records, those who did not choose the medical profession till after the war. The index covers more than forty pages.

A Notable Libel Case. The Criminal Prosecution of Theodore Lyman, Jr., by Daniel Webster in the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, November Term, 1828. By JOSIAH H. BENTON, JR. Boston: Charles E. Goodspeed. 1904. L. 8vo. pp. 117. Ill.

The libel in this case consisted in Lyman's charging Webster with "having conspired with other leading Federalists in 1807–1808 to break up the Union and re-annex New England to England." Notwithstanding the prominence of these men, historians and biographers have nearly all omitted to notice the trial of Lyman, so that few have any knowledge of it. The present volume fully compensates for this silence of history. It is illustrated with portraits.

Official Records of the Union and Confederate Navies in the War of the Rebellion. Published under the direction of the Hon. CHARLES J. BONAPARTE, Secretary of the Navy, by Mr. CHARLES W. STEWART, Superintendent Library of Naval War Records. By Authority of an Act of Congress approved July 31, 1894. Series I.—Vol. 21. West Gulf Blockading Squadron. From Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1864. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1906. 8vo. pp. xv.+1049. Ill.

Annual Report of the American Historical Association for the Year 1905. In two Volumes. Vol. I. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1906. 4to. pp. 429.

As noticeable papers, mention may be made of "Why North Carolina at first refused to ratify the Federal Constitution," "The Authorship of the Monroe Doctrine," "Slavery in California after 1848," and particularly the "Report on Methods of Organization and Work of State and Local Historical Societies," consisting of "data concerning the several national, sectional, State, and local historical organizations in the United States, summarized from information furnished by the respective bodies upon the blank . . . sent out in February, 1905."

Proceedings of the Atlantic City Conference for Good City Government and the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the National Municipal League, held April 24, 25, 26, 27, 1906, at Atlantic City. CLINTON ROGERS WOODRUFF, Editor. National Municipal League, n. p. 1906. 8vo. pp. vi.+502.

The Cambridge Historical Society Publications. I. Proceedings, June 19, 1905–April 24, 1906. Cambridge, Mass.: Published by the Society. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 102. Price to non-members, $1.05 by mail. Apply to Harvard Coöperative Society, Cambridge.

This publication contains the records of four meetings of the Society, one of them being the "Celebration of the Two Hundred and Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the Founding of Cambridge." The addresses and the poem here printed bear the names of Charles Eliot Norton, Richard Henry Dana, and Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Lists of officers, committees, and members are added.

History of the Oread College Institute, Worcester, Mass. (1849–1881.) With Biographical Sketches. Editor, MARTHA BURT WRIGHT. Associate Editor, ANNA M. BANCROFT. [The Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor Co., New Haven, Conn. 1905.] 8vo. pp. xii.+517. Ill.

The Oread College Institute was founded by Mr. Eli Thayer, and opened as a school for young women, in 1849. The building, which resembled a feudal castle, was called by the pupils Oread Castle. It is now occupied by the Oread Institute of Domestic Science. This account of the institution is thorough and interesting, and is illustrated with numerous portraits of teachers and graduates. It is regrettable that so meritorious a work should not have been printed on more durable paper.

Library of Congress. Select List of Works relating to Taxation of Inheritances and of Incomes. United States and Some Foreign Countries. Compiled under the direction of A. P. C. Griffin, Chief Bibliographer. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1907. 4to. pp. 86.

Papers and Addresses. By William Gilbert Davies, S.B., LL.D. New York: Robert Grier Cooke, Incorporated. 1907. 12mo. pp. 353. Ill.

The range of topics discussed in this volume may be inferred from such titles as "Alchemy and the Alchemists," "Mysteries and Masques," "New York in 1801," "The Law of Mortmain," and "Life Insurance in its Relation to Legal Medicine." These articles were produced during the leisure of one who says that his "real work is preserved in the records of an Insurance Company with which he was connected for many years."

MANWARING'S DIGEST OF THE EARLY CONNECTICUT PROBATE RECORDS.

More than five years have been expended by the compiler upon this work, which has resulted in three large octavo volumes of seven hundred or more pages each, containing a very full exhibit of every estate, so far as the records are known to exist. These records are contained not only in the several manuscript volumes and many hundred files in the Hartford Probate Office, but are also scattered through the records and archives of the state, and many are not recorded.

These and much related matter from other sources, together with an annotated list of Connecticut towns and probate districts, have been included. Each estate is presented, so far as possible, complete by itself. Two indexes—one for the estate and one for the individual—render the contents of the volume easily and quickly accessible. There is also a competent plan of references to the original records and papers.

Price, $7.50 per volume; express additional. Orders may be sent to MILES W. GRAVES, State Savings Bank, Hartford, Conn.

LIVERMORE GENEALOGY.—Containing 479 pages, illustrated, with biographical notices of prominent members of the family, and a full index, will be sent post-paid on receipt of $7.50 (postal money order preferred). Please give P. O. address carefully.

STEVENS.—From Dr. Henry Turner's manuscript in the Newport Historical Society:

"John Stevens' Book Dec. 22 1646
My son John born Feb. 27, 1702
My daughter Rebecca, born Mar. 4, 1704
My son Philip, born Nov. 2, 1706.
My son James, born Oct. 6, 1708.
My son Wm., born Sept. 7, 1710
My daughter Mary, born Aug. 14, 1713
My son Simeon, born Aug. 14, 1713."

From the Burial Ground:
John Stevens, died, Sept. 18, 1736 aged 89 years
Mercy, wife of John died Mar. 21, 1745, aged 66 years
John Stevens died April 17, 1778 aged 76 years
Elizabeth Wood, widow of John, died Feb. 18, 1791 aged 82 years

Dec. 7, 1705, John Stevens, of Newport, bought of Nathaniel Coddington a piece of land in the upper part of what is now Thames Street. In 1709 he established a stone cutting business on this property, and that business has been carried on by some member of the family ever since. The place of business has never been changed. The account books of this firm are still in existence. They date back to 1727, but some of the accounts run as far back as 1712.

62 Buckingham St., Cambridge, Mass. GRACE WILLIAMSON EDES.

TRACY, MASON.—In all accounts, for about forty-five years, of Lieut. Thomas Tracy of Norwich, Conn., the progenitor in America of a large family, it is positively asserted that his first wife was Mary, the widow of Edward Mason, whom he married in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1640 or '41.

The statement has been so long unquestioned and accepted as a fact by all writers about the Tracy family that it will be necessary to convince people of the falsity of the account by quoting the authorities in detail which show that Mary Mason lived and died in Wethersfield as the Widow Mason.

The First Book of the Land Records of Wethersfield, Conn., shows that "The Widow Mason," as she is usually called in the "Boundary Record," died a widow between Mar. 22, 1650, and Feb. 20, 1659. (See pages 259 [1640]; 207, 208, 216, 218, 189, 199, 147 [1641]; 121, 124 [1643]; 73, 84 [1644]; 85 [1645]; 151 [1646]; 43, 153, 189 [1647]; 170 [1650]*; 190 [1659]†.)

Edward Mason, an early settler in Wethersfield, Conn., was a mechanic, and died early; the date is not recorded. The inventory of his estate was exhibited at Hartford, Sept. 4, 1640, but the distribution is not recorded, and there is no mention in the Probate Records of a widow or children. After his decease, there was recorded to him in the First Book of Land Records of Wethersfield, page 230, ten pieces of land, with the boundaries. Some of his lands are identified as later belonging to "the Widow Mason," and are the only records indicating that he left a widow. She has no probate record. So far as the writer knows, the record of their marriage has not been discovered, and nothing is known of her previous history. They may have been married before coming to America.

Her first name is never mentioned in the many references to her in the land boundaries, neither is she in any instance called "the Widow of Edward Mason." She is usually called "the Widow Mason"; sometimes simply "Widow Mason." The prefix "the" is interpreted to mean she was the only "Widow Mason" living in the town during her period.

The first time the names of Thomas Tracy and "the Widow Mason" were mentioned together in print was in a query inserted by Judge Frederick Palmer Tracy, then of San Francisco, Cal., in vol. 2, page 91, of "The Historical Magazine and Notes and Queries Concerning the Antiquities, History and Biography of America," New York, 1858.

Any one who will furnish any information relating to Lieut. Thomas Tracy's first wife, the mother of all of his children, will gratify many thousands of his descendants, including the writer. DWIGHT TRACY, M.D., D.D.S.

* This record names "Widow Mason," and is dated "22th of March 1650."
† In this record, dated "Feb the 20th day 1659," mention is made of "the Widow Mason deceased."

RICHARDSON, MOUSALL.—Elizabeth Richardson, daughter of Samuel, who was baptized at West Mill, Herts, England, May 22, 1635 (REGISTER, 57: 300), married John[2] Mousall (Ralph[1]) of Charlestown, Mass. She died Aug. 16, 1685, aged 51 (gravestone). Her sister, Mary Richardson, baptized at Charlestown, Mass., Feb. 25, 1637-8, married Thomas[2] Mousall (Ralph[1]). Joanna Richardson, widow of Samuel, and mother of the above Elizabeth and Mary, in her will, dated 20th, 4th, '66, gives "to my daughers Elizabeth & mary moufall."

ARTHUR G. LORING.

Woburn, Mass.

RUSSELL.—John[1] Russell (ante, vol. 60, page 383) was never a resident in Hartford, Conn, He lived from 1635 to 1649 in Cambridge, Mass.; then from 1649 to 1659 in Wethersfield, Conn.; and after 1659, he went with the company which formed Hadley, Mass., and there remained until he died. His son Philip[2] married (2) Elizabeth Terry, not Tenney.

GURDON W. RUSSELL.

207 Farmington Ave., Hartford, Conn.

The following rule of my own for finding what day of the week any date falls on may be useful to the readers of the REGISTER:

Divide the centuries by 4; multiply the remainder by 5; to this add the remaining years and $\frac{1}{4}$ of the same, integral parts only; also an amount for the month as follows:

For Jan. and Oct.	0	For June	4
" May	1	" Sept. and Dec.	5
" Aug.	2	" Apr. and July	6
" Feb., Mch., and Nov.	3

Lastly, add the day of the month.

Divide the sum of these items by 7; the remainder, if any, shows the day of the week; i. e., 1 is Sunday, 2 is Monday, etc.

If there is no remainder, the day is Saturday.

Note, however, that for leap years 1 must be deducted from the sum, for all dates prior to Mch. 1st.

Also, that dates of old style must be corrected to new style.

Correction of Old Style dates. In England and her colonies the change was made, as is well known, in September, 1752, by making the 3d of that month the 14th; also, the year which had previously begun the 25th of Mch. was made to begin Jan. 1st. Prior to that, dates from Jan. 1st to Mch. 25th were frequently double dated; as, for instance, Jan. 28, 1738-9, in which case the later year must be used.

When months of old style are given by number, instead of by name, it must be borne in mind that March is the first month.

The months September, October, November, and December were sometimes written 7br, 8br, 9br, Xbr.

The correction in 1752 was 11 days, and this amount must be added to all dates from Mch. 1, 1700, to Sept. 2, 1752, inclusive.

For dates from Mch. 1, 1500, to Feb. 29, 1700, the correction is 10 days, and for dates Mch. 1, 1400, to Feb. 29, 1500, 9 days. The reason is, that the error in the calendar arose from calling all years of even hundreds leap years, whereas, according to the Gregorian or reformed calendar, only those years divisible by 400 are leap years. Hence, the years 1400, 1500 and 1700 each added a day to the existing error; but 1600 did not, because it was a leap year by both methods.

Russia and Greece still adhere to the Julian calendar, and the difference of their reckoning from ours is 13 days, one having been added for each of the years 1800 and 1900.

Examples:—

June 5, 1739.—Correction for old style, 11 days. Divide 17 by 4, which gives remainder 1.

$5\times1=5$, and $5+39+9+4+5+11=73$. Divide 73 by 7, which gives remainder 3, i. e., Tuesday.

Feb. 12, 1891.—Divide 18 by 4, which gives remainder 2. $5\times2=10$, and $10+91+22+3+12=138$. Divide 138 by 7, which gives remainder 5, i. e., Thursday.

KINGSLEY.—A paragraph in F. J. Snell's recent book on "North Devon," page 167, will interest the descendants of Stephen Kinsley, or Kingsley, who came to Braintree, Mass., in 1639, whom Charles Kingsley, when in this country, recognized as a brother of his ancestor of that epoch. The statement is made that although Charles Kingsley was born in Devon, and lived there, he was not of Devonshire stock, but was descended from the ancient Cheshire family of Kingsley of Kingsley, in the forest of Delamere. Concord, N. H.

THAYER.—Elijah[5] Thayer (John,[4] Richard,[3] Richard,[2] Richard[1]), of Braintree, Mass., born 16 July, 1736, married, 18 May, 1765, Hannah Hayden, and had a son Caleb,[6] who married, in 1783, Judith Hayden. Did Elijah[5] or Caleb[6] serve in the Revolution? ANGES THAYER PROBST.
68 William St., Rochester, N. Y.

SHERBURNE.—Hannah, daughter of Dea. Thomas Sherburne, married Benjamin White (see ante, vol. 59, page 60). What was the ancestry of Benjamin White, and did he render any military or other service for the Colonists during the Revolutionary War? Did Dea. Thomas Sherburne, father of Hannah, render any service whatever for the Colonists during that war?

MAY.—Rev. Ezekiel May, son of Hezekiah May, was pastor of the Congregational Church of Haddam, Conn., during the Revolution. Did he or his father render any service whatever for the Colonists during that period?

Tidionte, Pa. (Miss) NANCY C. MORROW.

PORTER.—What was the parentage and ancestry of Benjamin Porter, a Revolutionary soldier, born 1759, who married Rosanna Howe, and had the following children, born at Goshen, Conn.: Levi, b. Jan. 18, 1781; Deborah, b. Oct. 19, 1783; Philo, b. June 22, 1787; Anna, b. Sept. 8, 1789; Benjamin, b. Nov. 8, 1793; Lucy, b. May 19, 1798?

OLMSTED.—What was the parentage and ancestry of Capt. David Olmsted, who served in the Revolution, was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and Deacon of the Presbyterian Church, who removed to the Genesee country prior to 1803? His tombstone at Batavia, N.Y., states: "He made the first public prayer and conducted the first religious service west of Genesee river, N. Y."

BROWN.—What was the parentage and ancestry of Azariah Brown, who married Ruth Hitchcock, and had: Azariah; John; Ruth; Charlotte; and Lucy, born July 29, 1786, who went with the family of Dea. Holcomb to the Genesee country, settled at what is now Attica, N. Y., and there married, Oct. 12, 1809, Philo Porter? MARY H. HOSMER.

536 East Main St., Batavia, N. Y.

I am endeavoring to trace the ancestry of William Munsey, born about 1645, of Kittery, Me., and Dover, N. H., and of his wife Margaret ———, whom he married about 1670, and desire information concerning it and also the following persons:

Margaret ———, who married, 1705, John Munsey of Dover, N. H.

——— ———, who married, about 1735, David Munsey of Durham and Lee, N. H.

Mary ———, who married, about 1780, Timothy Munsey of Lee and Barnstead, N. H.

Hannah (?Lewis), who married, in 1672, Thomas Sawyer of Lancaster, Mass.

Historical Intelligence.

English Research.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the Register, giving clues which led to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the Register, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. When there are more than one Christian name, they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Atwater.—Francis Atwater, Meriden, Conn., is soliciting contributions for a new edition of the "Atwater History and Genealogy," an account of the descendants of David Atwater of New Haven, Conn.

Bacon.—Thomas W. Baldwin, 677 Dudley St., Roxbury, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Michael Bacon of Dedham, Mass.

Bagg.—Lyman H. Bagg, 107 Waverly Place, New York City, hopes to publish, in the course of a few years, a genealogy of the Bagg family, and especially of the descendants of John Bagg of Springfield, Mass. He would be glad to receive information and dates of birth, marriage or death, after 1876, of members of that family.

Bates.—Rev. Newton W. Bates, West Bloomfield, N. Y., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Clement Bate, or Bates, of Hingham, Mass.

Cornish.—J. Hambley Rowe, M. B., Horton Grange Road, Bradford, England, is compiling a genealogy of the many families of Cornish, of Devon and Cornwall, England.

Eells.—Rev. Myron Eells, D.D., of Union, Mason Co., Wash., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of John Eells of Dorchester, Mass.

Ensign.—Charles S. Ensign, of Newton, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of James Ensign of Hartford, Conn.

Harrison, Merrill, Neale, Safford.—W. E. Safford, Department of Botany, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., is compiling genealogies of the Harrison family of Va., Merrill family of Newbury, Mass., Neale family of Va., Safford family of Ipswich, Mass., and Safford family of Preston, Conn.

Heald-Hale.—Clarence A. Torrey, University of Chicago Library, Chicago, Ill., desires information concerning lines of the Heald-Hale family of Stow, Mass., to 1750.

Oakes.—Arthur Warren Smith, 281 Washington St., Winchester, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of David Oakes of Medford, Mass., and Springfield, Vt., who was a descendant of Thomas Oakes of Cambridge, Mass.

Patten.—Thomas W. Baldwin, 677 Dudley St., Roxbury, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of William Patten of Cambridge, Mass.

Prince.—Howard L. Prince, Patent Office, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Gertrude S. Pease, 214 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass., are compiling a genealogy of the descendants of John Prince of Hull, Mass.

Puffer.—Charles Nutt, 7 Monroe Ave., Worcester, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of George Puffer, or Poffer, of Braintree, Mass.

Russell.—Gurdon W. Russell, 207 Farmington Ave., Hartford, Conn., has been engaged for some time in preparing a genealogy of the descendants of John Russell of Cambridge, Mass., Wethersfield, Conn., and Hadley, Mass., and has gathered considerable matter about the family in England.

Torrey.—Frederic Crosby Torrey, Lakehurst, N. J., is preparing a genealogy of the Torrey families in America.

Trowbridge.—Francis B. Trowbridge, 144 Grover St., New Haven, Conn., is revising for publication the Descendants of Thomas Trowbridge of New Haven.

Truesdell.—Mrs. Belle Truesdell Bradley, 17 Holland Ave., Westfield, Mass., is collecting material for a Truesdell genealogy in all branches, and especially of the descendants of Samuel, Richard and John of Boston, Mass.

BOOK NOTICES.*

[The editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail. Descendants of George Abbott, of Rowley, Mass., of his joint descendants with George Abbott, Sr., of Andover, Mass., of the descendants of Daniel Abbott, of Providence, R. I.; of some of the descendants of Capt. Thomas Abbott, of Andover, Mass.; of George Abbott, of Norwalk, Ct.; of Robert Abbott, of Branford, Ct.; with brief notes of many others of the name, original settlers in the United States. By Maj. Lemuel Abijah Abbott, U. S. Army. Vol. I., pp. lxxxii+568. Vol. II., xii+590. [Boston.] Published by the Compiler. 1906. 8vo. Ill. Fully indexed. Price to subscribers, $10.00.

An Introduction of 80 pages devoted to one branch of the English Abbotts, more particularly George (1562–1663), Archbishop of Canterbury, and his brother Robert, Bishop of Salisbury, with an excellent pedigree of the Abbotts of Guilford, Co. Surrey, England, their arms in colors, various engravings, etc., shows that the compiler believes that George of Rowley, Mass., was closely connected with the Archbishop. He remarks "that many of the traits of character" of the Guilford family "shine clearly in their living kinsmen on this side of the Atlantic," but he fails to show any connecting link. The descendants of George of Rowley are traced to the eleventh generation, and the joint descendants of George of Andover indicated. The two volumes, handsomely illustrated with portraits, views, etc., from the press of T. R. Marvin & Son, are admirable specimens of the printer's art. * * *

Paternal Pedigree Compiled by Joseph Whitman Bailey. Boston. 1906. Blue Print Chart. 22 by 59 inches. Third Print, Aug., 1906.

A chart by Mr. Bailey, bearing the same name as this, was noticed in the Register for Oct., 1906. Of this pedigree Mr. Bailey says, "All names, excepting first generation, are of lineal ancestors."

* All of the unsigned reviews are written by Mr. Frederick Willard Parke of Boston.

The Belcher Families in New England. By JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT. Boston: New Eng. Hist. Gen. Soc. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 32.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER, Vol. 60.

David Benton, Jr., and Sarah Bingham, their Ancestors and Descendants; and Other Ancestral Lines. By JOHN HOGAN BENTON, Esq., of Washington, D. C. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. vii+88. Ill.

The portion of this genealogy entitled "Andrew Benton of Milford and Hartford, Conn., and his Descendants," extending as far as the fourteenth page, was printed in the REGISTER for July and Oct., 1906, with the exception of "Bentons in England." "Benton Gravestone Inscriptions," "Bentons in the Revolutionary War," sketches and obituaries, and "Other Ancestors," are the principal remaining contents of the work. The last named division comprises the names Stocking, Waters, Norton-Bayes, Stewart-Bingham, Vermilya-Wright, Ray-Wingate, and Webster-Ferguson. The print being fine, the volume contains more than would be supposed from the number of pages. It is well indexed.

Asahel Blodgett, of Hudson and Dorchester, N. H. His American Ancestors and Descendants. Compiled by ISAAC DIMOND BLODGETT, his Grandson. Boston. Printed for Private Circulation. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 144. Ill.

The contents of the first two parts of this genealogy are indicated by the title; but a third part is added, comprising "The first four generations of Blodgetts in America, the family of Daniel at Chelmsford, and the family of Samuel at Woburn, Mass." Biography is a distinguishing feature of the work. It is well indexed; and print, paper, and illistrations, by T. R. Marvin & Son, are of the best quality.

The John Cary Descendants. Rev. Seth C. Cary, President, 12 Brent St., Dorchester Center, Boston, Mass. Bulletins No. 1, 2. New Series. Sept., Oct., 1906. 8vo. pp. 3; 8. Portraits.

Covert Ancestry. Compiled by EDSON SALISBURY JONES. Contributed by BYRON BARNES HORTON, Sheffield, Pa. Edition of fifty copies. Reprinted from the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, 1906. New York: Printed by Tobias A. Wright. 1906. 4to. pp. 15.

The immigrant ancestor to which the Covert family in America is traced is Theunis Covert who came from North Holland to the Province of New York in 1651.

The Dennison Family of North Yarmouth and Freeport, Maine, descended from George Dennison, 1699-1747, of Annisquam, Mass. Abner Dennison and Descendants, compiled by GRACE M. ROGERS, Freeport, Me. David Dennison and Descendants, with an Account of the Early Dennisons and Other Data, compiled and published by A. L. DENNISON. Exeter, N. H.: The News-Letter Press. 1906. 8vo. pp. 148. Ill.

The contents of this work are indicated on the title-page, with the exception of "Early History," "Pedigree of the Denison Family," beginning with John, living in Bishop's Stortford, Hertfordshire, Eng., in 1567, and an appendix consisting principally of "The Royal Descent of Miss Frances Soule Campbell of San Francisco, Cal.," with other records furnished by Miss Campbell, and a "Revolutionary War Record." The work is not solely genealogical, as biographical sketches, though brief, are numerous. The volume is printed, bound and illustrated in good style, and is well indexed.

Genung-Ganong-Ganung Genealogy. A History of the Descendants of Jean Guenon, of Flushing, Long Island. By MARY JOSEPHINE GENUNG (Mrs. L. N.) NICHOLS and LEON NELSON NICHOLS. A. W. Heinrichs Printing Co., 1008 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y. 1906. 8vo. pp. 711. Ill. Price $5.00, carriage prepaid. Address either of the compilers.

It has been the purpose of the compilers of this work to include all the female as well as male descendants of Jean Guenon. "The Guenon Family in France" and the "Genealogy of the Guenons in the French Nobility" show the valuable results of the search for the European ancestors of the race. The work is largely genealogical, comparatively small space being given to biography. The print is clear, the cloth binding substantial, and there is an index of fifty-three pages.

The Hallock-Holyoke Pedigree and Collateral Branches in the United States. Being a Revision of the Hallock Ancestry of 1866 prepared by Rev. Wm. A. Hallock, D.D., with additions and Tracings of Family Genealogies to the Present Date and Generation. By CHARLES HALLOCK, M.A. 50 cents a copy. Amherst, Mass.: Press of Carpenter & Morehouse. 1906. 8vo. pp. 83. Ill.

The collateral names to which the title alludes are Mayhew, Alden, Allen, Norton, Corwin, Coffin, Homes, Butler, Hawks, Hayden and Starbuck. Following the "Collateral Genealogies" is a note, "Was Peter Hallock a Myth?" and an "Apostrophe" in verse. There is no index.

Hills Family Genealogical and Historical Association. Twelfth Anuual Report of the Directors. Boston. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 35.

This report calls special attention to the Hills Genealogy which was noticed in the REGISTER for Oct., 1906.

Hinsdale Genealogy. Descendants of Robert Hinsdale, of Dedham, Medfield, Hadley and Deerfield. With an Account of the French Family of De Hinnisdal, Compiled from Notes of Honorable SANFORD C. HINSDALE, of Denver, Colorado, by the late HERBERT CORNELIUS ANDREWS, Heraldist and Genealogist. Edited by ALFRED L. HOLMAN. Lombard, Illinois: Printed for Alfred Hinsdale Andrews. 1906. Large 8vo pp. 507. Ill. Price $5.00 net. Address Mrs. A. H. Andrews, Lombard, Ill.

The biographical materials of this genealogy are so abundant that it may be called a collection of biographies connected by genealogical links. As many of the Hinsdale family are of national repute, their extended memoirs will not be considered of undue length. The genealogy is preceded by an article on "Hinsdale Traits of Character," and, as an opening to the work, the "Origin of the Name and Family." It was the design of the collector of the notes from which this work was compiled to include all the Hinsdales of America, and the result is as "faithful a record" as was possible. The volume is printed on good paper, with fine illustrations, and is bound in buckram. It is completely indexed.

McSpadden, Lore, Meigs, Clendinen, Von Bibber, Pope, and other Families. Blue Print Chart By JOE VINCENT MEIGS. Boston. 1906. 31 by 22 inches.

Of the above lines, that of Meigs is made conspicuous by being colored red. Mr. Meigs says of the chart: "Most of this matter came from bible records, from my own papers, and letters of my father."

Merriam Genealogy in England and America. Including the "Genealogical Memoranda" of Charles Pierce Merriam, the Collections of James Sheldon Merriam, etc. Compiled by CHARLES HENRY POPE. Boston, Mass. Published by Charles H. Pope, 221 Columbus Ave. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. xv+500. Ill.

The following extract from the preface will best describe the contents of this fine volume: "In the pages which follow, the reader will first find a reprint of the larger part of Mr. Charles Pierce Merriam's book from title and preface to the conclusion of what definitely relates to the American family. Then begins the real genealogy, which passes on through twelve generations, from the Kent progenitor. In the Appendix we give the Revolutionary Records of this Commonwealth relating to this family and other matter." Mr. Pope, furthermore, mentions three geneological compilations which he found of great value, and of which it is plain he has made a skillful use. Admirable print, good binding, together with thorough indexes, supplement the work of the compiler.

History and Genealogy of the Perley Family. Compiled by M. V. B. PERLEY—375. Salem, Mass. Published by the Compiler. 1906. 8vo. xxii+748. Ill. Maps. Price $5.00 by express; $5.35 by mail.

The Perley family is of Welsh origin. This record of the descendants of the immigrant ancestor comprises four hundred and twenty-two families, and so copious are the details respecting nearly every member of those families that the work may be described as a biographical genealogy. These details are from those who thoroughly knew the persons named, or from obituaries, or other reliable sources. The indexes include persons, places, events, and other subjects rarely found in the index of a genealogy. The type is clear, and the binding half-leather, with cloth sides. The illustrations number two hundred and eighty.

The Prindle Genealogy, embracing the Descendants of William Pringle, the First Settler, in part for six, seven and eight Generations, and also the Ancestors and Descendants of Zalmon Prindle for ten Generations, covering a period of Two Hundred and Fifty-two years, 1654 to 1906. Compiled by FRANKLIN C. PRINDLE, U. S. Navy. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. New York. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. xvi+335. Ill.

Pringle is the form of the name oftenest found in Scotland and England, and it is the Scottish Alexander Pringle who is considered the progenitor of the family. The William Pringle of the title-page settled in New Haven, Conn., in 1654. Besides the account of his descendants, the work contains fifteen pages relating to "Unlocated Branches." The lengthy appendix comprises Kimberly, Cogswell, Oatman, and Andrew ancestries, with the military services of the Prindles in the Revolution and the French and Indian Wars. To the appendix is added the "Owner's Lineage Record," designed for recording the pedigree of the owner of the volume, and this is followed by an index of more than forty pages.

Genealogy of the Descendants of Stephen Randall and Elizabeth Swezey. 1624–1668, Clerkenwell, St. James' Parish, London, Eng. 1668–1738, Rhode Island and Connecticut. 1738–1906, Long Island, New York. [Compiled by STEPHEN MOREHOUSE RANDALL. New York: J. S. Ogilvie Publishing Co., 57 Rose St. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 64. Portrait.

The Stephen Randall of the title-page was the grandson of John and Elizabeth Morton Randall, who came from England in 1667 to Newport, R. I. Biographical particulars, in an introduction, are given respecting him and the compiler of the volume, but of no others of the family, the remainder of the book being genealogy alone. The book is well printed and attractively bound, and should have had an index.

The Reades of Blackwood Hill, in the Parish of Horton, Staffordshire. A Record of their Descendants: With a Full Account of Dr. Johnson's Ancestry, his Kinsfolk and Family Connections. By ALEYN LYELL READE. With eighteen Plates and twenty-nine large Tabular Pedigrees. Privately printed for the Author. Spottiswoode & Co., Ltd., New-Street Square, London, E.C. [England]. 1906. Square folio. pp. xx+283+xliii. Ill.

The first part of this work, though considerably shorter than the second, and mainly of interest to the Reade family, will attract the general reader by its account of Sir Thomas Reade, who was associated with Napoleon and Sir Hudson Lowe, and of the Rev. Joseph Bancroft Reade, who was connected with photographic discovery. The second part of the book, relating to Dr. Johnson's ancestry, contains, as the author affirms, an "immense mass of original evidence relative to the kinsfolk, family connexions, schoolmasters, friends, dependents and associates" of the subject of Boswell's biography. Following the Johnson section are the tabular pedigrees, twenty-nine in number, each covering two pages. Elaborate indexes conclude the volume. Mention should be made of the numerous families allied to the Reades, included in the genealogy.

Amos Richardson of Boston and Stonington, with a Contribution to the History of his Descendants and the Allied Families of Gilbert, Edwards, Yarrington, and Rust. By ROSELL L. RICHARDSON. Second Edition. Published by the Author. New York, 1906. 8vo. pp. 147. Price $1.50 (postage prepaid). Address the author, 403 West 126th St., New York.

This genealogy comprises nine generations, and is confined principally to the author's direct line, containing twenty-three hundred names. It is well printed and bound, and has a full index.

Descendants of William Scott of Hatfield, Mass., 1668-1906. And of John Scott of Springfield, Mass., 1659-1906. By ORRIN PEER ALLEN, Palmer, Mass. Palmer, Mass.: Published by the Author. From the Press of C. B. Fiske & Co. 1906. 8vo. pp. 220. Ill. Price $3.00.

This genealogy is arranged on the REGISTER plan, and, although the descendants of William Scott occupy the greater part of the volume, large space is given to "The Canadian Branch of Scotts," "Descendants of Eli Scott," "Captain Waitsell Scott," and the John Scott of the title page. The work is well indexed, and there are fifty portraits.

Richard Seymour of Hartford, Progenitor of the Seymours in America. By MORRIS WOODRUFF SEYMOUR. Reprint from the Connecticut Magazine. Large 8vo. pp. 5. n. p. 1906. Ill.

Mr. Seymour's investigations tend to show that Richard Seymour, who first appeared in Hartford in 1639, was the son of Sir Edward Seymour, the first Baronet of Berry Pomeroy, Devonshire, Eng.

Stanford Genealogy, comprising the Descendants of Abner Stanford, the Revolutionary Soldier. By ARTHUR WILLIS STANFORD. Printed by the Fukuin Printing Co., Ltd., Yokohama [Japan]. 1906. 8vo. pp. 149. Portrait. Price $1.25; address the author, 144 Hancock St., Auburndale, Mass.

The author, in the "Foreword," alludes to his "Register of the Descendants of Abner Stanford, the Revolutionary Soldier," published in 1898, which contained only the descendants of Abner by his second wife. "The present work," he says, "contains, as far as has been possible to secure, all descendants of Abner." Preliminary pages relate to the ancestry of the soldier. Biographical sketches are numerous, and the black type in which are printed all the names in the lineage is a prominent feature. The indexes occupy twenty-three pages.

The Stark Family Association. 1905. n. p.; n. d. 12 mo. pp. 34. Ill.

This is an account of the tenth family reunion of the Stark Family Association, held at Ocean Beach, Conn., Aug. 23, 1905. Besides the report of the historian, there are sketches of the president and three other members.

Thomas Treadwell of Ipswich, Mass., and some of his Descendants. By WILLIAM A. ROBBINS, LL.B. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1906. 8vo. pp. 26.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER, Vol. 60.

The Maine Watermans, with an Account of their Ancestors in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, by CHARLES E. WATERMAN. Ledger Publishing Co., Mechanic Falls, Maine, 1906. 8vo. pp. 100. Portrait.

This genealogy consists of two parts. The first part is an account of the descendants of Robert Waterman, who came to Plymouth in 1636, a descendant of Richard Waterman the first settler of the name in America. The second part, beginning with Joseph, who was born in Halifax in 1750, comprises the Maine Watermans. The book is well bound, and has three indexes.

The Wideners in America. By HOWARD H. WIDENER, Rochester, N. Y. Printed and Published by C. A. Nichols, Jr., Chili, N. Y. 8vo. pp. 330. Portrait.

The information here given was obtained from wills, deeds and family records, but the author states in the preface that he has found it impossible to make clear the connection between the various branches of the family, which is of German extraction, and is to be found most commonly in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. This book is printed in clear type, is substantially bound, and has an index.

The Winship Family in America. By ERNEST B. COLE. Indianapolis, Ind. Nov., 1906. 12mo. pp. 37.

The title-page also contains the following: "Giving the Line of Descent from Edward Winship, born in Eng. in 1613, who came to Cambridge, Mass., in 1635, to Jabez Lathrop Winship, born in Norwich, Conn., 1752, died in Brookville, Indiana, 1827, with the Record of the Families of his Children and Grandchildren, with their Line of Descent from William the Conqueror." Blank leaves are bound with the volume for additional records, and there are two indexes.

The Yates Book. William Yates and his Descendants. The History and Genealogy of William Yates (1772–1868) of Greenwood, Me., and His Wife, Who Was Martha Morgan, Together with the Line of Her Descent from Robert Morgan of Beverly. By EDGAR YATES. Old Orchard, Me. 1906. 8vo. pp. 46. Ill.

"The Story of William Yates" occupies a prominent place in this genealogy, and is related in an interesting manner. The record of his descendants extends as far as the fifth generation, with their families. The print is fine, and more information is furnished than the pages of the book would indicate. The illustrations are noticeably good. The index refers only to families other than Yates.

Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts. Volume VIII. Transactions, 1902–1904. Boston: Published by the Society, 1906. L. 8vo. pp. xxii+465. Ill. For sale by Little, Brown & Company, Boston. Price $3.50.

In these volumes we have become accustomed to look for new and interesting matter covering a wide range of subjects, illustrations engraved expressly for the Society from curious and valuable originals, fine typography, and a good index; and this book fully justifies our expectations. Here we find the Bible record of Governor Shirley's birth, hitherto unknown; original documents concerning Harvard College, Washington and Franklin; Memoirs of George Otis Shattuck and of Judge Endicott, the latter by Mr. Joseph Hodges Choate; and a fine portrait of Eliphalet Pearson, now first engraved from the original canvas at Andover. These Transactions also record two additions to the Society's endowment,—a bequest of $10,000, and a memorial gift of $5,000 from the widow of a deceased member. We look eagerly for the three volumes of Collections announced in the Preface as in preparation. * * *

A Memoir of Jaques Cartier, Sieur de Limoilou. His Voyage to the St. Lawrence. A Bibliography and a Facsimile of the manuscript of 1534 with annotations, etc. By JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, A.M., Litt.D. Author of Sir Ferdinando Gorges and his Province of Maine; the Pioneers of New France in New England; The British Invasion from the North, etc. New York: Dodd, Mead & Company, 1906. 8vo. pp. 464. Ill. Price $10.00. Apply to the publishers.

Recognition of the valuable services of Jaques Cartier can no longer be delayed or slighted, for the explorations of that early navigator are here most carefully and conscientiously set forth. Students of North American history are to be congratulated on securing these scholarly translations of the narratives of Cartier's three voyages to the St. Lawrence, the translation of the first being made from a photographic copy of the original manuscript, a facsimile of which is included in the volume. The Memoir is accurate and exhaustive, and there are also many collateral documents, an account of the voyage of Roberval, a list of Cartier's crew, the itinerary of his voyages, and his vocabulary of the natives of Canada. A bibliography and index complete this splendid addition to the standard works on American history. A. L. W.

The Two-Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of Benjamin Franklin. Celebration by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Boston in Symphony Hall, Boston, Jan. 17, 1906. Printed by order of the Massachusetts General Court and the Boston City Council. [Boston.] 1906. 8vo. pp. 113.

The orator of the day, on the occasion here commemorated, was the Hon. Caroll D. Wright, and his subject was "Our debt to Franklin." "History of the Franklin Fund" is the article next in length. There are five appendices, the most important of which is "Selections from Franklin's writings prepared for use in the Public Schools of Boston."

Memorial of the Harvard College Class of 1856, prepared for the Fiftieth Anniversary of Graduation, June 27, 1906. Printed by George H. Ellis Co., Printers, 272 Congress St. 1906. 8vo. pp. vi+325. Ill.

This volume consists chiefly of biographical sketches of graduated members of the class of '56, to which are added notices of non-graduate members, memoranda, and slight supplementary matter. Nearly every memoir is accompanied by two portraits, one representing the subject in youth, the other in advanced age.

Ex Libris Leaflets. No. 4. Allyn Hyde of Ellington, Conn., together with a Review of "An Early Connecticut Engraver and his Work." By JAMES TERRY. Printed for the Author. July, 1906. 78 Wethersfield Ave., Hartford, Conn. 8vo. pp. 17. Ill.

Allyn Hyde was a physician who was admitted a member of the Tolland County Medical Society in 1796. The book was issued by Mr. Albert C. Bates, Librarian, Conn. Historical Society.

Memoir of Stephen Salisbury. By NATHANIEL PAINE. Reprinted from the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society, June, 1906. 8vo. pp. 8. Portrait.

This tribute to the worth of a "lover of antiquity, of hospitality, of good learning and of good men" is similar to the one which was noticed in the REGISTER for April, 1906.

Topliff's Travels. Letters from Abroad in the Years 1828 and 1829 by SAMUEL TOPLIFF, Proprietor of the Merchants News Room in Boston. From the original manuscript owned by the Boston Athenæum. Edited with a Memoir and Notes, by ETHEL STANWOOD BOLTON. Printed from the income of the Robert Charles Billings Fund. The Boston Athenæum. 1906. 4to. pp. 245. Ill. Price $2.00. For sale by the Boston Athenæum, 10½ Beacon Street, Boston.

Delightful and entertaining, these letters give most explicitly the European observations of a keen and accurate Bostonian of the last century, one whose energy and enterprise made him practically the associated press of New England in 1820, a period when the shipping and commercial interests of this city were making great advances.

In her careful and complete Memoir, Mrs. Bolton has given a graphic picture of the growth of Samuel Topliff's Reading Room, which in reality was the precursor of the present Board of Trade, as it aimed to furnish to its subscribers all maritime intelligence and domestic and foreign news.

The notes add greatly to the value of the text, and an excellent index and genealogical chart increase the usefulness of this handsome volume. A. L. W.

The Commercial Club of Boston, organized Nov. 7, 1868. Constitution, Officers, Chronology, Retrospect. Compiled by ROBERT BATCHELLER. Printed at the Riverside Press. [Cambridge, Mass.] June 1, 1906. 8vo. pp. 77.

The list of "Subjects Discussed" by this club shows conclusively that ex-Mayor Frederic W. Lincoln was not in error when he said that "if other contemporary history of these times were lost, our annals would furnish the historian with the live questions and engrossing subjects which were agitating the public mind during those years." Mr. Batcheller's "Retrospect" should certainly have a place among such historical material.

History of the South Department, Boston City Hospital, Infectious Service. By JOHN H. MCCOLLOM, M.D. Reprinted from History of the Boston City Hospital. Boston: Municipal Printing Office. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 29. Ill.

The importance of the institution whose interesting history is here recorded may be estimated from the fact, stated in the work, "that the Boston City Hospital in 1888 offered the first opportunity in this country for the systematic clinical study of infectious diseases." Numerous charts, and pictures of some of the patients, show most graphically how great a benefit to the city is this department, which was obtained through the persistent effort of the Trustees of the Hospital.

Year Book, 1905. City of Charleston, So. Ca. [Press of Calder-Conklin & Co., Charleston, S. C., 1906.] Large 8vo. pp. xv+371+56. Ill.

Address at the Dedication of the Dexter Memorial Town Hall, Charlton, Mass., by Hon. CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Tuesday, February the Twenty-first, 1905. With Exercises and an Appendix. Private Copy. n. p. 1906. 8vo. pp. 84. Ill.

Judge McIntire's address is of an historical nature, and is followed by an article of genealogical character entitled "The McIntires, or 'Mackintintires,' of Charlton." The illustrations are remarkably fine.

Chronicles of an Old New England Farm. The House and Farm of the First Minister of Concord, N. H. 1726-1906. By JOSEPH B. WALKER. Concord, N. H. 1906. 8vo. pp. 70. Ill.

This volume contains three papers, the first of which is on the house of the Rev. Timothy Walker, erected in the year 1733-4, and the other two papers are on the farm of the minister, the three articles forming the record of a period of one hundred and eighty years. There are appendices of much interest.

The "Story" as here told is interspersed with stanzas of the ancient ballad relating to the "Fight." Besides availing himself of the various histories of the event, the author "talked with intelligent Indians who knew the story by tradition and who gave him their version of it."

Diocese of Massachusetts. Journal of the One Hundred and Twenty-first Annual Meeting of the Convention, May 2, A.D. 1906. With Appendices. Boston: The Diocesan House, No. 1 Joy St. 1906. 8vo. pp. 331.

Men of Affairs in New York. An Historical Work, giving Portraits and Sketches of the Most Eminent Citizens of New York. Published by L. R. Hamersly & Co., New York. 1906. Square folio. pp. 294. Ill.

This work is virtually a continuation of the "Makers of New York," which has long been out of print. While that publication related to men of the past, the present one consists wholly of memoirs of men of to-day. Each sketch occupies two pages, and there are about one hundred and fifty sketches in all, the subjects of which are merchants, bankers, jurists, statesmen, clergymen, physicians, authors, scientists, philanthropists. The volume is a fine example of the printer's and bookbinder's art.

A History of the People of the United States, from the Revolution to the Civil War. By JOHN BACH MCMASTER, University of Pennsylvania. In seven volumes. Volume VI. 1830–1842. New York: D. Appleton & Company, 1906. 8vo. xviii+658. Maps.

Financial questions, notably those relating to banking, are among the most important issues of this period, and the author discusses this topic with the impartial fairness, lucidity of statement and breadth of accurate knowledge which has characterized the preceding volumes.

The subjects of secession and slavery also begin to receive attention, and the detailed accounts of the Southern view of these points of difference with their Northern sister States are absorbing in their interest to the reader. A. L. W.

Early American Engravings and the Cambridge Press Imprints, 1640–1692, in the Library of the American Antiquarian Society. By NATHANIEL PAINE, A.M. Reprinted from the Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society. Worcester. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 21.

This pamphlet gives lists of the engravings and imprints, with preliminary remarks.

Report of Committee on Methods of Organization and Work on the part of State and Local Societies. Reuben G. Thwaites, Chairman. Benjamin F. Shambaugh. Franklin L. Riley. Transactions of the Huguenot Society of South Carolina. No. 13. Published by order of the Society, Charleston, S. C. 1906. Press of Walker, Evans & Cogswell Co., Charleston, S. C. 8vo. pp. 99.

Especially noteworthy among the contents of this publication are the articles on the "Wills of South Carolina Huguenots" and the "Upper Beat of St John's, Berkeley." This latter article was written many years ago by an old inhabitant of Charleston, and gives a valuable account of the residences and families of prominent Huguenots of his time.

A Search for the Beginnings of Stock Speculation. By ANDREW MCFARLAND DAVIS. Reprinted from the Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Vol. X. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son. University Press. 1906. 8vo. pp. 35.

The result of Mr. Davis's inquiry is that stock-jobbing began in England at the accession of William and Mary, and that "just after 1690, dealings in stocks had reached such a magnitude as to be condemned by hostile legislation, were characterized with such absurdities as to be satirized by a playwright, and had developed such intricate bargains as to require explanatory essays at the hands of a serial publication."

W. Tracy Eustis

NEW ENGLAND
HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER.

JULY, 1907.

WILLIAM TRACY EUSTIS.

By Joseph Tracy Eustis.

William Tracy Eustis was born at 79 Prince Street, Boston, September 29, 1822, and died at Brookline, Mass., October 11, 1906. He was the son of Joseph Eustis and Eleanor St. Barbe Tracy.

In 1828, his father being abroad on business, his mother moved to Portland, Maine, where they lived until 1831, returning to Boston in that year. In 1835 he went back to Portland to live with his uncle Charles Mussey, at that time a prosperous merchant, but who failed in the panic of 1837. Leaving Portland in the ship Eli Whitney, in November, 1837, he went to Savannah, Georgia, where he entered the employ of Greenwood and Upham, staying with them but a few months, when he returned to Portland and re-entered school, finishing his education in 1840.

His first real employment was in Boston with Henry B. Townsend, in the wholesale millinery business, where he stayed for a year and a half; but the business not being to his liking, he found a position with Cartwright and Thayer, oil and lead commission merchants, on India Street, who failed in 1842; and in April, 1843, he entered the employ of G. and N. Sturtevant and Co., which firm was shortly afterwards changed to Atkins and Sturtevant, where he stayed until 1849, when that firm was succeeded by E. H. Barker and Co., and he was with them until 1856.

In 1857 he entered the employ of Gardner, Wolcott and Co., and on the dissolution of the firm, became a partner of his brother-in-law, John Wesley Wolcott, and was with him until after the Civil War, during which he enlisted in the army, and served three months at Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, in 1862, as a member of the Independent Corps of Cadets, doing guard duty over some famous prisoners, among whom were Messrs. Mason and Slidell, of Trent fame, and General Simon Bolivar Buckner, who had surrendered to General Grant at Fort Donelson.

In 1868 he went with Sprague, Soule and Co., as a cotton buyer, and was with them until 1874; and in 1878 he rejoined his brother-in-law, and was with him until the latter's death, in 1885.

Retiring from business in 1886, he devoted himself, until his death, to genealogical research, particularly of his own and wife's families. Of the latter, the Dutton family, starting with only the fact that Henry Worthington Dutton, his wife's father, had received a legacy of about five dollars from his great uncle, Warren Dutton, he succeeded in tracing some three thousand of the Dutton name. He also added considerable further information to the Eustis record, which had been compiled in 1878 by Professor Henry Lawrence Eustis of Harvard University, and traced back to 1659 a complete line of his ancestry to William[1] Eustis. The line was through William,[2] Joseph,[3] Joseph,[4] William Beers,[5] Joseph,[6] to William Tracy.[7]*

His mother, Eleanor St. Barbe Tracy, was the granddaughter of Wyatt St. Barbe, and a great-granddaughter of Colonel Moses Titcomb, famous in Colonial times as the Major of Titcomb's battery, which did such effective service at the siege of Louisbourg, and was the principal means by which the citadel surrendered to the English. On Major Titcomb's return from the siege, he was commissioned Colonel, and in 1755 was killed by the Indians at the battle of Lake George, New York. He was a skilled Indian fighter, and the records show that he had the thorough confidence of the men under him. His loss was a great blow, not only to his troops, but also to the citizens of Newburyport, and a sermon was preached at his funeral on the text "Moses thy servant is dead." Colonel Titcomb was the grandson of William Titcomb, who emigrated to America in 1634.

The great-grandfather of William Tracy Eustis, Wyatt St. Barbe, married Lydia, daughter of John and Lydia (Goodwill) Clough, and one can see to-day in the old Copp's Hill burying-ground the tomb of Thomas Goodwill, her father, who was born in 1687, and died in 1749. Of the ancestry of Wyatt St. Barbe, who was born in 1738, died in 1811, and was buried in St. Paul's Churchyard, Newburyport, it has been traced in a direct line to one Robert de Sainte Barbe in Normandy in the dim and distant past. Wyatt was a sea captain, and during the Revolution commanded the brig Betty, and the writer has in his possession a permit issued by the State of Massachusetts Bay, Port of Salem, April 11, 1777, as follows: "Permit the Brig Betty, Wyatt St. Barbe Master Navigator, with seven men to pass the Forts and Guards under your command. To the Commanding Officer or Officers of the several Fortresses and Guards in the Harbour of Salem. (Signed) Warwick Palfray."

* See REGISTER, vol. xxxii, page 225.

In 1784, after the close of the Revolutionary War, Wyatt St. Barbe, as master of the ship Ceres, belonging to Nathaniel Tracy (a cousin of Nicholas, Jr., the grandfather of William Tracy Eustis), one of the wealthy men of Newburyport, carried Thomas Jefferson to France, to which country he had lately been appointed as Minister Plenipotentiary; and an interesting account of the voyage is found in Jefferson's Autobiography. In March, 1796, in a letter written to the Newburyport Marine Society, Captain Wyatt St. Barbe tells a most interesting story, how, after succoring a British troop-ship with three hundred men aboard, his vessel was seized and taken to Lisbon, where, after much hardship and trouble, he proved his vessel and cargo to be American, and they were released.

Mr. Eustis had travelled extensively in the United States, and had made one short trip to Europe, and the diaries of his experiences are most interesting. One trip, made in June, 1847, the record of which has been preserved, and gives a detailed account of the primitive means of conveyance in those days, was to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, thence by rail and stage to Wheeling, West Virginia, thence by steamer down the Ohio, stopping at Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis, thence up the Illinois River by steamer to Peru, Illinois, where stage was taken for Chicago; from there by steamer through the lakes to Cleveland and Buffalo, and home by rail.

In 1889 he made a trip with his wife to California and Alaska, and on their return they were caught in the Johnstown flood, but fortunately their train had crossed the Conemaugh River before the bridge was carried away, and he witnessed its destruction from the high land on which the train remained. In this disaster, over five thousand lives were lost, and several towns were swept away.

His most memorable trip was that made in the winter and spring of 1906, when, with some of his children, he visited California, and reached San Francisco on April 16th, being at the St. Francis Hotel at the time of the earthquake. His escape, and the experiences of the party during the week following the earthquake, were most thrilling. In August, 1906, a six hundred mile automobile trip through the White and Green Mountains was thoroughly enjoyed by him.

Mr. Eustis was never so happy as when travelling; enjoying new sights with the zest of a young man, and with a wonderful knowledge of nature. He was always interested in new inventions, a most genial companion, and kept constantly abreast of the times in which he lived.

In 1886 he was elected to membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and was always a zealous worker in its fellowship, serving on important committees, and as a member of its Council, 1893–1898, 1903–1905.

JOHN REDINGTON OF TOPSFIELD, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by J. Granville Leach and communicated by Cornelia M. Redington Carter, of Philadelphia.

Nothing definite is known of the immediate forbears of John[1] Redington and his brother Abraham Redington, who were among the founders of Topsfield, Massachusetts. But it is possible that they were of Hertfordshire, England, and of the parish of Hunsden there, as the name is to be found in this and adjoining parishes from the time of Richard III.*

The tradition in various branches of the family is that they were of Hemel-Hempstead, in Hertfordshire, some twenty-four miles northward from London. The origin of this is in the fact of the baptism in that parish of Mary the wife of John Redington of Topsfield, but in the sacramental registers of Hemel-Hempstead the name of Redington does not appear.

Possessing ability, education and considerable worldly substance, John Redington was in 1648 made the first Town Clerk of Topsfield, and so continued, with possibly some interruptions, until 1671; and it is a subject for much regret that his history of the organization of the town government, and of the first ten years of its official existence, were irretrievably swept away by the fire which consumed his house in the autumn of 1658, or in the ensuing winter, as the earliest entry now to be found on the town records is under date of 25 Mar., 1659. A slight testimony of his efficiency as town officer is gathered from the deposition, before the Essex County Court, held at Ipswich, 26 Mar., 1661, of Walter Ropper, aged about fifty-two years, in which this deponent "doth further witness That this sayd grant is before [torn] was in Cleere terms recorded into Towne book [torn] Topsfield wch now they of Topsfield saye was b[torn] when John Redington's house was burnt, for [torn] sayd booke was kept."†

He was clerk of the writs, 1658, 1660; selectman, 1661, 1676–77, 1679–80, 1682, 1684–5; and served on the Grand Jury, 1678, 1679, and 1683. Also, he was chosen to be captain of the militia of his vicinity, his selection in this matter being thus recorded: "The inhabitants & soldiery of Topsfield and the villages adjoining thereto according to an order from Major Dennison met together the 21 of the 4mo 1666 and chose officers as follows: John Redington of Topsfield head officer in commanding or leading the company, Joseph Bigsbey sennior, sergeant, Abraham Redington, senior of the village Clerk of the band, Edmond Town, John Comins, Wm Smith, corporals. Request to Court for Confirmation signed by Dan. Hovey aud Mr. Avril in the name of the rest. Request allowed."‡

According to his will of 7 Nov., 1690, his years then were "seventy or thereabouts," and his estate, inventoried at £1008. 1. 8, was to be divided between his son Daniel (who was given the land in Topsfield along the Ipswich River whereon the testator lived); the children of his daughter Mary, deceased, "those she had by her last husband, Robert Cue, as well as those by her former husband, John Herrick; daughter Martha, "now the wife of John Gould living near Reading"; and daughter Phebe, "wife of Samuel Fisk in Wenham." His wife is mentioned, but not by name.* He died at Topsfield, 15 Nov., 1690.

John Redington married (1) about 1648, Mary, daughter of Zaccheus and Phebe Gould of Topsfield, who was baptized at Hemel-Hempstead, Hertfordshire, 19 Dec., 1621, and whose paternal ancestry has been traced through many generations of English yeomanry; and married (2) Sarah ———, who survived him.

Children, born at Topsfield:

i. JOHN,[2] b. June 20, 1649; d. in Mar. following.
ii. MARY, b. 4 May, 1651; m. (1) 25 May, 1674, John Herrick of Beverly; m. (2) 13 Mar., 1682, Richard Cue of Salem.
iii. PHEBE (twin), b. 7 Apr., 1655; m. 6 Nov., 1679, Samuel Fisk of Wenham.
iv. MARTHA (twin), m. as his second wife, John Gould, Jr., b. 5 Aug., 1648, d. 24 Jan., 1712, son of John and Johanna Gould of Charlestown Upper Village. After the death of her husband, she moved to Stoneham, Mass., where she made her will 17 Aug., 1731.
2. v. DANIEL, b. 17 Mar., 1657; d. 27 or 28 Sept., 1732; m. Elizabeth Davisson.
vi. SARAH, b. 12 Mar., 1658–9; d. in July, 1689; m. as his third wife, 21 Dec., 1687, Capt. Christopher Osgood; no issue.

2. DEA. DANIEL[2] REDINGTON (John[1]) was born at Topsfield, 17 Mar., 1657, and died there, intestate, 27 or 28 Sept., 1732. He inherited the paternal estate on the Ipswich River in Topsfield, to which he added by grant and purchase until, in 1723, according to the Topsfield "Bill of Estates," the valuation of his property was only exceeded by that of Ensign Timothy Pickering. Like his father, he was a man of affairs,—civil, military and ecclesiastical,—holding from early manhood, almost every town office; was constable 1682; selectman 1688, 1690, 1692, 1697, 1705–6; clerk of the writs, at a special meeting, 1690; jury-man 1690, 1701; grand juror 1699, 1704, 1711, 1713–14, 1717, 1719, 1723; and representative to the General Court 1704–5. He was sergeant of militia as early as 1684, and later lieutenant. On 15 Apr., 1716, he was made deacon of the Topsfield Church, and so remained until 27 Sept., 1729, when, by reason of age, he was succeeded by Jacob Peabody.

Just before his death, his family and that of Ephraim Wildes, son of that Sarah Wildes who had been executed during the witchcraft excitement, signed, 14 June, 1731, "an agreement to end strife and let the boundaries [between their respective properties] remain as their fore-fathers had established."†

He married at Topsfield, 23 Mar., 1681, Elizabeth Davisson, who died there, 8 Oct., 1732. She was, doubtless, a daughter of Daniel Davisson, Sen., of Ipswich.

Children, all born at Topsfield:

i. MARY,[3] b. 12 Mar., 1681–2; d. young.
ii. JOHN, b. 23 Mar., 1682–3.
iii. MARGARET, b. 27 Oct., 1684; m. 19 July, 1716, Jonathan Lummus of Ipswich.
iv. ELIZABETH, b. 14 Apr., 1686; d. young.
3. v. DANIEL (twin), b. 27 Sept., 1687; d. 29 June, 1750; m. (1) Philadelphia Peabody; m. (2) Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens.

7. xiii. ABRAHAM, b. 4 Oct., 1699; m. Mary Bayley.
xiv. NATHANIEL, b. 10 May, 1701; wounded in the expedition against Cape Breton; petitioned the General Court for an allowance by reason of his disabilities, which was allowed by the Committee of War, 11 June, 1747.*
xv. DORCAS, b. 14 Nov., 1702.
xvi. MARTHA, b. 4 May, 1704; m. 17 June, 1731, Daniel Clark.

3. DANIEL[3] REDINGTON (Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born in Topsfield, 27 Sept., 1687, and died there, 29 June, 1750. By deed of gift, 7 June, 1729, his father set over to him part of his "farm or home lying with the Township of Topsfield on both sides of the highway that goeth before my door, being part upland and part meadow, and the south easterly part of my farm upon which my son Daniel's house and barn now stands."†

He held various town offices, was jury-man 1729, 1742; selectman 1737–1741, 1745–46; on school committee 1741; constable 1742; grand-juror 1744, 1748. His will of 29 June, 1750, proved 9 July, the same year, named wife Elizabeth, son Daniel, and daughter Anna.

He married (1), 27 Feb., 1721, Philadelphia, born at Topsfield, 28 Sept., 1698, died 23 Oct., 1743, daughter of Isaac Peabody, and granddaughter of Lieut. Francis Peabody, who, like the Goulds and Redingtons, was a native of Hertfordshire; and married (2) at Andover, 3 July, 1746, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens of that place, by whom he had no issue.

Children, by first wife, born at Topsfield:

i. DANIEL,[4] b. 7 Dec., 1722; d. young.
ii. THOMAS, b. 25 Nov., 1724; d. 25 Oct., 1736.
iii. SARAH, b. 16 May, 1728; d. 5 Oct., 1736.
iv. DORCAS, b. 2 Mar., 1730; d. 28 Oct., 1736.
v. MARGARET, bapt. 29 Sept., 1734; d. 25 Oct., 1736.
vi. ANNA, b. 18 Oct., 1737.
vii. DANIEL, b. 24 Mar., 1738–9; m. Esther ———.

4. WILLIAM[3] REDINGTON (Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born at Topsfield, 13 Mar., 1691–2, and received from his father, 7 June, 1729, a portion of his farmstead there, upon which he afterwards resided. He was jury-man 1724, 1731, 1742; selectman 1727–28, 1733; schoolmaster 1729–1731; and grand-juror, 1743. He died, intestate, possibly from hardships endured in the memorable expedition to Cape Breton in 1745, in which he had served as Lieutenant in Captain Hill's Company of Artificers, being commissioned by General Sir Peter Warren, 11 June, 1745.‡ In the account filed by the widow in the settlement of his estate, is this item: "wages due to my husband by the Committee of War."

The date of his marriage and the surname of his wife Elizabeth have not been ascertained. She survived him, and administered on his estate, 7 July, 1746.*

Children:

i. WILLIAM.[4] It was probably he who was sergeant in the 3d Company, 8th Regt., under Col. John Choat, in the expedition against Louisburg in 1749; and also probably he whose intention of marriage to Elizabeth Burrill, 17 June, 1742, was recorded at Boston, as was also his marriage to Mary Wright, 19 Apr., 1744. Issue: Mary, bapt. at New North Church, Boston, as dau. of William and Mary, 3 Mar., 1744–5, who, as a minor daughter "under fourteen years of William Redington late of Boston," had Elizabeth Redington, widow, of Topsfield, appointed as her guardian, 1 May, 1749.

ii. ELIZABETH, b. 3 Sept., 1723; m. 16 Sept., 1746, John Hood.

iii. MARY, m. 22 Nov., 1744, Samuel Howlett, Jr.; dismissed to the church at Woodstock, Conn., 4 Nov., 1749.

9. iv. JOHN, b. 12 Aug., 1726; m. Sarah West.

v. JONATHAN, b. 28 Jan., 1730; bapt. 14 Feb., 1731; "died in ye war 1755."

5. JACOB[3] REDINGTON (Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born at Topsfield, 5 Sept., 1695, and died at Richmond, Mass., in 1773, before 21 May of that year. He was constable 1735; and selectman and jury-man 1736.

Animated by "the Great desire .... to promote good learning among the Children and Youth in the Neighborhood," he made over to the town of Topsfield, 28 Sept., 1738, a tract of land on the "South side of Ipswich River for the purpose of a School House,"† which is the first school-house of record in Topsfield. On 11 Mar., 1740, he sold his residence and lands in Topsfield, and removed with his family to Connecticut, where he purchased, 3 Aug., 1741, one hundred acres of land with mansion house thereon, in Ellington Parish, Windsor, being then styled as "late of Topsfield";‡ and on 26 Apr., 1748, he acquired an equal acreage in Tolland, Conn., on the "road leading from the Keating House to Beaver Brook,"§ and disposed of the same to his sons, all of whom, for a time at least, were residents of Tolland. About 1760, the Berkshire Hills began to attract settlers from Connecticut, and between 1765 and 1770, he and his surviving sons removed to Richmond, where he died, intestate, the inventory of his estate being filed 21 May, 1773.

He married at Topsfield, 12 Nov., 1719, Elizabeth, born at Berwick, Me., 13 Feb., 1697, daughter of Philip Hubbard of the Parish of St. Saviour, Isle of Jersey, and of Berwick, Me., by his wife Elizabeth (Goodwin), widow of Zachariah Emery. She was admitted to membership in the Church of Topsfield, 3 May, 1730, and was dismissed to the Fourth Church of Windsor, 8 Apr., 1742.‖

6. PHINEAS[3] REDINGTON (Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born at Topsfield, 19 Oct., 1697, and died at Lebanon, Conn., 19 Oct., 1763. He was grand-juror 1730; constable 1736; on school committee 1738; and selectman 1740. On 7 June, 1729, he had a conveyance, from his father, of a dwelling house and lands in Topsfield, bounded by those already given to his brothers Abraham, Daniel and William. These he afterwards sold, and removed to Lebanon, where, on 30 Mar., 1741, he purchased land, being then styled as "late of Topsfield in Massachusetts."* His will of 16 Sept., 1763, dated at Lebanon, was proved 6 Oct. following, and named wife Dorothy, daughters Dorothy Munsell and Ann Wright.†

He married, at Ipswich, 8 Nov., 1726, Dorothy Davisson, who died in July, 1784.

10. DANIEL[4] REDINGTON (Jacob,[3] Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was baptized at Topsfield, 26 Feb., 1726, and removed to Tolland, before 14 Sept., 1748, where he acquired from his father one hundred acres of land.* He returned to Essex County, and lived for a time, after his marriage, at Haverhill, and was enrolled in the 1st Company of Haverhill militia, raised in 1757 for the reduction of Canada,† and died in service at Albany, N. Y., about 1761. An interesting letter from his widow, dated 6 Feb., 1762, and addressed to Hon. John Choate, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Essex County, sets forth that her "late husband, Daniel Redington of Haverhill, deceased intestate, more than a year ago at Albany . . . . . that he having neither father, brother, or any other near relation living in this Province, do desire that my father Joseph Haynes who is a considerable creditor on his estate may be appointed administrator."‡

He married, at Haverhill, being then called of Tolland, 2 Jan., 1752, Hannah, daughter of Joseph Haynes, by his wife Elizabeth Clement of Haverhill, born at Haverhill, 27 Mar., 1735, died at Tolland, 28 Mar., 1783. On 11 Feb., 1762, she married second, at Tolland, as his second wife, Joshua Morgan of that town, by whom she had ten children.

Child, born at Haverhill:

14. i. JOHN,[5] b. 29 Sept., 1757; d. 30 Apr., 1830; m. (1) Miriam Watkins; m. (2) Laura Wales.

11. JACOB[4] REDINGTON (Jacob,[3] Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was baptized at Topsfield, 25 May, 1729, and died at Richmond, Mass., 7 Mar., 1804. He accompanied his father to Windsor and Tolland, and at the latter place, by deed of gift from his father, 4 Jan., 1762, secured a farm adjoining that of his brother, Nathaniel,§ and removed to Richmond shortly afterward. He served as a private in the 8th Company, 1st Regiment, Conn. militia, in the French and Indian War campaign of 1759; and also in the Revolution, under various enlistments, in the militia of Berkshire County, Mass., "called out to re-inforce the Northern Army," at Saratoga and Ticonderoga in 1777.‖

He married (1) ———; and married (2) Bridget ———, who d. 26 Feb., 1819, aged 71 years.

Children by first wife:

i. DANIEL.[5]
ii. MARGARET, m. William West.
iii. ELIZABETH, m. John Flower.
iv. JOHN.

12. Nathaniel[4] Redington (Jacob,[3] Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born at Topsfield, about 1731, and died in the French and Indian War, about Aug., 1762. After the removal of his family to Connecticut, by deed of gift from his father he held land at Windsor and at Tolland, but upon his marriage, he made his residence for a time at Haverhill, where, in 1757, he was enrolled in the 1st militia Company, and was one of the detachment under Ens. Joseph Badger, Jr., that marched, 16 Aug., 1759, on the last alarm for the relief of Fort William Henry.* He was also sergeant in the 8th Company, 1st Conn. militia, under Capt. Edward Barnard of Windsor, in the campaign of 1759, and his name is on the pay-roll of Col. Israel Putnam's Company, same Regiment, in the campaign of 1762, enlisting 17 Mar., and reported "dead" 8 Sept., 1762.†

He married, at Haverhill, 6 May, 1751, Sarah, daughter of Joseph Haynes, and sister of the wife of his brother Daniel, born at Haverhill, 31 Oct., 1736.

Children:

13. Eliphalet[4] Redington (Jacob,[3] Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was baptized at Topsfield, 11 June, 1738, and died at Richmond, 30 May, 1814. He lived at Tolland and Richmond, and his will, dated at Richmond, proved 7 June, 1814,‡ provided for wife Anna, and children Eliphalet, Nathaniel, Anna Rathbone, Polly Smith, Love Rathburn, and Phebe Coggswell. During the earlier years of the Revolution, he was almost continuously in service, and marched to re-inforce the Northern army, and was at Ticonderoga and Stillwater.§

He married, at Tolland, 22 Oct., 1761, Anna Kingsbury, born at Coventry, Conn., 10 May, 1745, died at Richmond, 7 Feb., 1810.

Children:

i. Nathaniel,[5] b. 18 Oct., 1762; d. 4 Oct., 1839; m. (1) Polly ——; m. (2) Temperance Gates.

14. CAPT. JOHN[5] REDINGTON (Daniel,[4] Jacob,[3] Dea. Daniel,[2] John[1]) was born at Haverhill, Mass., 29 Sept., 1757, and baptized there, 2 Oct. following. With his mother, he went to Tolland, and there resided until the outbreak of the Revolution, in which, under enlistments from Ashford, Mansfield, and Tolland, he served until the close of the war.* He was at Princeton and Trenton, at the surrender of Burgoyne, and in 1781, while scouting, was captured and imprisoned in the Sugar House in New York. After peace was declared, he settled on Redington Patent, in what is now Lawyersville, Schoharie County, N. Y., where he was in command of the second company of calvary raised in the country. He also represented the county in the thirty-fifth session of the N. Y. State Assembly, in 1812. He died 30 Apr., 1830. His epitaph in Lawyersville graveyard reads: "A Revolutionary veteran; an enterprising settler of the County, of distinguished public spirit, an honest man."†

He married (1), at Ashford, Conn., 5 Dec., 1782, Miriam, daughter of Edward Watkins of Ashford, born 26 Feb., 1753, died 7 Aug., 1811, and by this marriage had no issue. He married (2), 5 Dec., 1811, Laura, daughter of Elisha Smith and Mary (Watkins) Wales, born 28 June, 1787, died at Lawyersville, 22 July, 1868. HUGH JONES OF SALEM, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Esq., of Boston.

9. Lieut. David[3] Jones (Hugh,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, July 27, 1716, went to Dracut with his parents in 1733, and lived there and in the adjoining town of Pelham, N. H., nearly fifty years; but on Jan. 17, 1781, he bought of Elisha White a large improved farm in Lancaster, whither he removed and lived until his death, Jan. 20, 1795. (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. lxxxviii, fol. 115.) He served as sergeant from Apr. 13 to Nov. 11, 1758, in the company commanded by Capt. Ebenezer Jones, afterwards by Capt. Isaac Osgood, in a Crown Point expedition. (Mass. Archives, vol. xcvii, p. 208.) In the Revolution, he served as lieutenant in Capt. Joseph B. Varnum's company, Col. Jonathan Reed's regiment, from Sept. 29 to Oct. 29, 1777, sent to reinforce Gen. Gates's army at Saratoga, and was present at Burgoyne's surrender. (Mass. Archives.) No probate records appear of him, as on Sept. 20, 1784, he conveyed all his estate to his son Samuel. (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. cxxx, fol. 502.)

He married first (intention recorded Nov. 10, 1738), Hannah, born Jan. 7, 1714–15, died after 1770, daughter of Dea. Nathaniel and Hannah (Merriam) Fox of Concord and Dracut; and married second (intention recorded Dec. 17, 1777), Mary, born in 1726, died Sept. 29, 1805, daughter of ——— Hall, formerly wife first of John Pratt of Harvard, and second, of James Godfrey of Lancaster.

Children by first wife:

i. Hannah,[4] b. Mar. 9, 1739–40; m. (int. rec. Apr. 9, 1762) William, b. Dec. 20, 1731, son of William and Tabitha Coburn of Dracut.
28. ii. David, b. Feb. 12, 1740–1.
29. iii. Samuel, b. Aug. 25, 1742.
iv. Lydia, b. June 30, 1743–4.
v. Jesse, b. Jan. 1, 1745–6; no further record found.
vi. Molly, b. Apr. 30, 1748.
vii. Joshua, b. July 7, 1750; no further record found.
viii. Miriam, b. May 27, 1752.

10. Jonathan[3] Jones (Hugh,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, Jan. 20, 1718–19, was taken to Dracut by his parents in 1733; and was living there as late as Oct. 20, 1788, when he and his wife Mary conveyed to his son Zebadiah the larger part of his homestead. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. cxcvi, fol. 332.) No record of his death or probate of his estate has been found, but as the above deed was not recorded until Nov. 14, 1811, it is likely his death occurred about that time.

He married first (intention recorded Oct. 7, 1744), Hannah, born Jan. 23, 1724–5, died Mar. 18, 1753, daughter of John and Hannah (Richardson) Barron of Dracut; and married second (intention recorded Sept. 20, 1754), Mary, born Dec. 1, 1720, daughter of Ephraim and Hannah Curtis of Dracut.

Children by first wife :

i. HANNAH,[4] b. Dec. 5, 1745; d. Jan. 14, 1746–7.
ii. DORCAS, b. Jan. 5, 1747–8; m. Jan. 24, 1771, Peter Hardy of Tewksbury.
30. iii. JONATHAN, b. July 25, 1750.
31. iv. ZEBADIAH, b. Mar. 12, 1753.

Children by second wife :

v. MARY, b. Dec. 15, 1755; m. (int. rec. Aug. 1, 1778) Nehemiah Hardy of Tewksbury.
32. vi. EPHRAIM, b. Sept. 26, 1757.
vii. HANNAH, b. May 25, 1761; d. May 7, 1817; m. July 3, 1788, Saul, b. Aug. 29, 1757, d. June 15, 1836, son of Jonathan and Mercy (Hildreth) Coburn of Dracut. They lived in Dracut, and had five children.

11. NATHAN[3] JONES (Hugh,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, Apr. 13, 1721, was taken to Dracut in 1733, and after living there some forty years, removed to that part of Amherst, N. H., which later was Mount Vernon, where he died, in Sept., 1799. In his will, dated Sept. 9, probated Oct. 15, 1799, he names his eldest son Nathan, son Peter, grand-daughter Betsey Durant, heirs of late sons Timothy and Phineas Jones, daughters Elizabeth Parker, Polly Kimball, and Dorothy Dodge; also Benjamin and Elizabeth Durant, and Rachel Seacomb. (Hillsborough Co. Probate.)

He married (intention recorded Oct. 8, 1743) Elizabeth, born June 24, 1724, died before 1799, daughter of Josiah and Sarah Coburn of Dracut.

Children :

i. ELIZABETH,[4] b. Feb. 10, 1743–4; m. (int. rec. June 11, 1763) Matthew, son of Rev. Thomas and Lydia (Richardson) Parker of Dracut. They settled in Litchfield, N. H., and had several children.
ii. THOMAS, b. Mar. 20, 1745–6; d. young.
33. iii. NATHAN, b. Feb. 25, 1748.
iv. RACHEL, b. Sept. 25, 1750; d. in 1786; m. Jan. 2, 1772, Samuel, bapt. Sept. 15, 1749, son of Benjamin and Mary (Butler) Durant of Billerica. They settled in Nottingham West, N. H., and had at least four children.
v. PETER, b. Feb. 17, 1753; d. Mar. 1. 1753.
34. vi. TIMOTHY, b. July 27, 1755.
35. vii. PHINEAS, b. Feb. 16, 1758.
viii. MARY, b. Apr. 21, 1760; m. Levi Kimball; settled in Landgrove, Vt.
36. ix. PETER, b. Sept. 16, 1762.
x. DOROTHY, b. Mar. 21, 1765; m. Gideon, b. Aug. 1, 1760, son of Benjamin and Lydia (Dodge) Dodge of Beverly, Mass., and New Boston, N. H. They lived in New Boston, and had six children.

12. NATHANIEL[3] JONES (Hugh,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, June 5, 1723, went to Dracut in 1733, where he passed the rest of his life, and died intestate, Mar. 13, 1765. One-third of his real estate was set off to the widow, Jane, and the remainder divided between his sons Nathaniel and Solomon, they to pay cash to the daughters Dolly, Susanna, and Rachel, and son Joshua. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married (intention recorded Mar. 12, 1747–8) Jane Fletcher, who married second, as his second wife (intention recorded Aug. 8, 1778), Kendall Parker, Sr., of Dracut, and died Dec. 24, 1806.

Children :

37. i. NATHANIEL,[4] b. Sept. 21, 1750.
38. ii. SOLOMON, b. July 17, 1753.

iii. DOLLA, b. Sept. 21, 1755; d. Feb. 20, 1826; m. (1) (int. rec. May 8, 1773) Jonas, b. Dec. 14, 1750, d. Oct. 31, 1775, son of Lieut. Jonathan and Lucy (Clark) Richardson of Dracut, and had two children; m. (2) (int. rec. Oct. 4, 1777) Kendall, b. Apr. 4, 1751, d. Apr. 6, 1807, son of Kendall and Mary Parker of Dracut, and had seven children; and m. (3) June 1, 1809, as his second wife, Jonathan, b. Aug. 5, 1744, d. Oct. 20, 1813, son of Jonathan and Rebecca (Coburn) Crosby of Dracut.

39. iv. JOSHUA, b. Nov., 1758.

v. SUSANNA, b. in 1761; m. (int. rec. Feb. 29, 1784) Silas, b. Feb. 14, 1756, son of Joseph and Priscilla (Coburn) Chamberlain of Dracut. They had six children, born in Dracut.

vi. RACHEL, b. Dec., 1764; m. (int. rec. Apr. 30, 1785) Jacob, b. July 24, 1762, d. Sept. 11, 1800, son of Josiah and Sarah Blood of Hollis, N. H. They resided in Hollis, and had six children.

13. HUGH[3] JONES (Hugh,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Woburn, July 7, 1727, went to Dracut with his parents in 1733, and was living there at the beginning of the Revolution, as his name appears on the roll of Capt. Stephen Russell's company, on the Lexington alarm (Mass. Archives). On Apr. 3, 1795, he conveyed half of his estate in Dracut to his son Oliver, acknowledging the deed Mar. 9, 1797 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. ccvi, fol. 111); and on Oct. 30, 1801, Josiah Conant and Zerviah his wife of Hollis, N. H., and Peter Haseltine and Sarah his wife, Jonathan Morgan and Lydia his wife, and Thaddeus Coburn and Olive his wife, all of Dracut, conveyed to Oliver Jones all their interest in the estate of their late father Hugh Jones of Dracut (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. ccvi, fol. 114); so it is likely that Hugh Jones died in 1801.

He married (intention recorded Aug. 10, 1751) Sarah Fletcher, who was living in 1788. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xcvii, fol. 446.)

Children:

i. SARAH,[4] b. Oct. 13, 1753; d. Aug. 25, 1811; m. (int. rec. May 7, 1774) Lieut. Peter Haseltine of Dracut, who d. Apr. 1, 1823. They had ten children.

ii. ZERVIAH, b. Dec. 23, 1755; d. Feb. 12, 1816; m. (1) Nov. 29, 1777, Dr. Jonathan, b. Feb. 1, 1754, d. Oct. 26, 1782, son of David and Mary (Coburn) Fox of Dracut, a physician in Hollis, N. H.; they had three children; and m. (2) Dec. 16, 1788, as his second wife, Josiah, b. Oct. 17, 1746, d. Aug. 21, 1807, son of Josiah and Catherine (Emerson) Conant of Hollis; they lived in Hollis, and had six children.

iii. LYDIA, b. June 23, 1757; m. (int. rec. Mar. 18, 1780) Jonathan, b. Mar. 22, 1756, son of Jonathan and Sarah (Butler) Morgan of Pelham, N. H.

40. iv. OLIVER, b. May 6, 1762.

v. OLIVE, b. Nov. 9, 1776; d. Sept. 13, 1836; m. Feb. 26, 1789, Thaddeus Coburn, b. in 1759, d. Jan. 20, 1806. They lived in Dracut, and had issue.

14. SAMUEL[4] JONES (John,[3] John,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Framingham, Nov. 18, 1746, lived there until 1779, when he removed to Dublin, N. H., where he located on range No. 5, lot No. 8, improved an extensive farm, and died Jan. 22, 1820. He was a member of Capt. Aaron Gardner's company, in 1776, in the Revolution. (Mass. Archives.)

He married Anna, born Jan. 30, 1750, died Sept. 17, 1826, daughter of Capt. Amos and Mary (Trowbridge) Gates of Framingham.

Children:

i. BETTY,[5] b. Feb. 28, 1776; m. Apr. 3, 1794, William, b. Sept. 5, 1753, d. Aug. 28, 1819, son of John Davis of Amherst, N. H. They lived in Dublin, and had nine children.

ii. ANNE, b. Nov. 17, 1777; d. July 19, 1778.
iii. ANNE, b. July 31, 1779; d. Mar., 1854; m. Nov. 2, 1803, David, b. in Fitchburg, Mass., Feb. 30(!), 1775, d. Jan., 1845, son of John and Mary (Wood) Buss of Fitchburg, Mass., and Marlborough, N. H. They settled in Marlow, N. H., in 1808, and had eight children.
iv. JOHN, b. June 28, 1781; d. Nov. 25, 1846; m. about 1804, Mary, b. July 27, 1781, d. Dec. 19, 1859, dau. of John and Mary (Wood) Buss of Marlborough, N. H. They removed to Marlow, and had several children.

[To be concluded.]

AN OLD KITTERY RECORD.

By Henry Torsey Fernald, Ph.D., of Amherst, Mass.

The old paper, a copy of which is given below, is of interest as it throws some light on the relations of some of the families of that time. Though no date is given, the internal evidence shows that it was written between September, 1786, and December 26, 1789, as Mary Blunt was married at the former time, and the writer, Jonathan Fernald, died on the latter date. Apparently, in the course of the settlement of the Joshua Downing estate, some uncertainty as to the heirs was met with, and Jonathan Fernald, as a well-informed man of mature years, was called upon for a statement, which he supplied in this form.

The original was written on a double sheet of foolscap paper, and was placed on the first three pages, the fourth serving as the cover when the sheet was folded. In some places another handwriting is evident, some one having added to the original statement; and two slips, with notes on them, are also attached. All comments, explanations, and other additions to the original paper, are made either as footnotes or in brackets, and the original length of the lines is also preserved.

THE FAMILY OF HENRY CURTIS OF SUDBURY, MASS.

By Henry Ernest Woods, A.M.

1. Henry[1] Curtis came to New England in 1635, aged 27 years, in the Elizabeth and Ann, and settled at Watertown, Mass., where he was a proprietor in 1636, later removing to Sudbury, Mass., where he was a proprietor in 1639. In deeds he is styled "wheelwright."

He married, probably in Watertown, about 1640, Mary, daughter of Nicholas Guy of Upton Gray, co. Southampton, England, who had come to New England in 1638, in the Confidence, and settled at Watertown.

The will of Joan Parker of St. Saviour's, Southwark, co. Surrey, England, dated 24 Aug., 1674, proved the following year, gives to her "brother Henry Curtis of Sundbury in New England," and to his wife, and his three sons, Ephraim, John, and Joseph, 20 shillings each. (Register, vol. xxxii, page 337.)

In Dec., 1668, in a lawsuit concerning property stolen from Henry[1] Curtis, there are depositions of his sons, Ephraim aged 26, John aged 24, and Joseph aged 21, and of Richard Wills aged 20, servant of Ephraim. (Middlesex Co. Court files.)

Henry Curtis died in Sudbury, 8 May, 1678; and his widow, Mary, died there, 3 Dec., 1682; administration of their estates being given to the son Joseph.[2] (Middlesex Co. Probate, Nos. 3724, 3731.)

Children, born in Sudbury:

i. Lieut. Ephraim,[2] b. 31 Mar., 1642; active in King Philip's War; d. before May, 1684, when a committee reported to the General Court that his Worcester property was belonging to his heirs and assigns (Coll. of Worcester Soc. of Antiquity, vol. 3, page 39). There is no probate record of him, nor any mention of a wife or family, and as his property appeared later in the estate of his sole surviving brother, Joseph,[2] it would indicate that he was unmarried. The final adjustment of the trouble which followed his purchase of the Noyes land at Worcester gave him 50 acres of land within, and 250 acres without, that town. (Mass. Colony Records, vol. v, page 10.) Bodge says of him: "Ephraim Curtis was an important personage in the negotiations at this time [1675] and in the subsequent events. He was . . . about thirty-three years old at this time, a notable scout and hunter, well versed in Indian ways, and intimately acquainted with many of these tribes. He was also a trader, and had a house at Quansigamug (Worcester)." (Soldiers in King Philip's War, pages 104–105.)

ii. John, b. in 1644; d. unmarried, in Sudbury, 31 Dec., 1678.

2. iii. Joseph, b. 17 July, 1647.

2. Joseph[2] Curtis (Henry[1]) was born in Sudbury, Mass., 17 July, 1647, and died there, 26 Nov., 1700. In 1675 he served in the Mt. Hope campaign in King Philip's War, under Capt. Thomas Prentice. (Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, page 81.)

He married, in Sudbury, 5 Feb., 1677, Abigail, born in Sudbury, 14 Oct., 1655, died there, 28 Apr., 1745, daughter of Capt. John and Sarah (Busby-Cakebread) Grout, of Sudbury.

His will, dated 23 Nov., 1700, probated 16 Dec. following, of which his widow, Abigail, was executrix, names his eldest son Ephraim, to whom was given "all my rights titles and interest that is belonging to me in Woster"; son Joseph; and daughters Abigail, Mary, and Sarah. The inventory shows, besides other real estate, "Two farms lying at Woster, the farm containing 250 acres and a fifty acre lot." (Middlesex Co. Probate, No. 3729.)

Children, born in Sudbury:

i. ABIGAIL,[3] b. 2 Mar., 1678–9; d. about 1765; m. about 1705, Capt. John Goulding.
3. ii. EPHRAIM, b. 4 Sept., 1680.
iii. MARY, b. 25 Dec., 1686; m. 14 Dec., 1710, Thomas Stone.
4. iv. JOSEPH, b. 15 July, 1689.
v. SARAH, d. 26 Sept., 1762; m. 28 Dec., 1715, Jonathan Smith.

3. EPHRAIM[3] CURTIS, ESQ. (Joseph,[2] Henry[1]) was born in Sudbury, Mass., 4 Sept., 1680, and there married, 10 May, 1705, Mary, born in Sudbury, 19 Feb., 1682, died there, 22 Feb., 1761, daughter of David and Susanna ( ) Stone, of Sudbury.

He died in Sudbury, 17 Nov., 1759, and his gravestone, in East Sudbury (now Wayland), states that he was a Justice of the Peace, Major of a Regiment, and many years Representative in the General Court. (Hudson's History of Sudbury, Mass., page 570.) In 1741 he was appointed a Special Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. (Mass. Civil List, page 89.)

Administration of his estate was declined by the widow, Mary, and oldest surviving son, John, and, at their request, the son Maj. Joseph was appointed administrator. On the distribution paper is an endorsement as to the heirs, as follows: Ephraim's heirs, eldest son; John; Joseph; Mary Gleason; Susanna's heirs; Samuel's heirs. (Middlesex Co. Probate, No. 3721.)

Children, all born in Sudbury:

5. i. EPHRAIM,[4] b. 15 July, 1706.
6. ii. CAPT. JOHN, b. 20 Sept., 1707.
iii. MARY, b. 29 Dec., 1710; d. 1 Dec., 1770; m. 20 Dec., 1732, Ens. Jason Gleason.
iv. SUSANNA, b. 9 Sept., 1714; d. 1 Feb., 1756; m. Lieut. Jonathan Carter.
7. v. MAJ. JOSEPH, b. 22 Dec., 1721.
8. vi. LIEUT. SAMUEL, b. 1 June, 1724.

4. JOSEPH[3] CURTIS (Joseph,[2] Henry[1]) was born in Sudbury, Mass., 15 July, 1689, and died in Medway, Mass., 21 Jan., 1754. He was one of the founders of Medway, 1713. (Jameson's History of Medway, Mass., page 45.)

He married first, about 1716, Hannah ———, who died in Medway, 9 Nov., 1738; and married second, in Medfield, Mass., 12 Mar., 1739–40, Mary, born in Medfield, 26 Feb., 1698–9, died in Medway, 20 Mar., 1779, daughter of John and Judith (Fisher) Bullen, of Medfield.

Children by first wife, all born in Medway:

i. ABIGAIL,[4] b. 6 Oct., 1717; d. 23 June, 1807; m. as his second wife, 25 June, 1759, William Richardson.
ii. HANNAH, b. 28 June, 1721; d. 10 Oct., 1727.

Child by second wife, born in Medway:

v. MARY, b. 19 May, 1742; d. 14 Aug., 1756 (?).

5. EPHRAIM[4] CURTIS (Ephraim,[3] Joseph,[2] Henry[1]), born in Sudbury, Mass., 15 July, 1706, settled in Worcester, Mass., where he died, 1 Jan., 1747–8. His father, 9 Nov., 1731, deeded to him a tract of 250 acres of land bounded north by Worcester, westerly by land of Samuel Boutwell and Gershom How, southerly by Sutton town line, and easterly by land some time past claimed by Capt. Nathaniel Jones. (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 5, page 403.).

He, then called of Worcester, married in Sudbury, 23 Dec., 1729, Mary, born in 1706, died in Worcester, 1 Dec., 1745, daughter of Isaac and Sibyl (Collins) Rice, of Sudbury.

Children, all born in Worcester:

THE LAWRENCE FAMILY OF GROTON.

By Hon. Samuel A. Green, LL.D.

The following account of several Groton families is furnished in order to correct certain errors which appear in the Rev. John Lawrence's "Genealogy of the Family of John Lawrence" (Boston, 1869). The leading error is printed on page 79, where it is said that John Lawrence, born at Groton, Nov. 13, 1741, married Sarah ———, and had seven children. According to the author "Mr. John Lawrence died Dec. 26, 1799, having been thrown from a sleigh in Cambridge, in the sixtieth year of his age, the same person, it is believed [Italics mine], who was born in Groton, 1741. The widow Sarah died Nov. 16, 1810, aged sixty-five years." This belief on the part of the author, based on an entire misapprehension of facts, has led to much confusion in the record of many families, as printed in the book. In fact it breaks utterly the connection of these families with this line of descent, and without authority adds another line of descendants.

Without attempting to trace the various branches as there mentioned, I will give the correct record of John Lawrence, together with an account of some of his descendants. The facts in the main are taken from the family Bible, now in the possession of Abel Lawrence, a grandson.

Nathaniel Lawrence, Jr., and Dorothy Chamberlain, both of Groton, were married by the Rev. Caleb Trowbridge, on Feb. 4, 1728–9; and they had eight children, of whom John was the youngest son, born Nov. 13, 1741, and died Nov. 26, 1822. See Groton Historical Series (III. 388) for a reference to the funeral of "Widow Lawrence ye mother of John Lawrence aged 83 years," which took place in April, 1790. John married Abigail, eldest daughter of Ezekiel and Abigail (———) Nutting, born Oct. 10, 1753, and died July 10, 1847; and they had eight children, as follows:

John, born April 4, 1777, died July 9, 1834. On July 16, 1799, he married Margaret Gragg, who died May 20, 1845. (See Groton Epitaphs, p. 183.)

Nathaniel, born April 28, 1779, and died June, 1779.

*She was Martha Trask, born Nov. 2, 1777, daughter of William and Martha (Larrabee) Trask and aunt of William Blake Trask, A.M. (See Register, ante, vol. 55, page 325, and vol. 57, page 67.)

†Isaac Bullock, the writer of this family record.

‡Benjamin, son of Francis Silver, was baptized in Salem, Oct. 9, 1774.

§According to the Parish List of Deaths, 1785–1819, by Rev. William Bentley, D.D., she was married at the age of 21, had two sons who died in infancy, one born in 1803, the other in 1807, was a descendant of the Rev. Mr. Ulmer who came from Germany to Maine, and died May 5, 1809, aged 31 (pages 84, 102, 112).

Nathaniel, born July 25, 1780, and died July 1, 1831; his widow Sally died Sept. 19, 1840.
Ezekiel, born July 20, 1783, and died Sept. 30, 1789.
Abigail, born Sept. 6, 1786.
Abel, born June 12, 1789, and died May 4, 1835.
Sarah, born April 8, 1792, and died Oct. 26, 1822.
Mary, born April 1, 1795.

Nathaniel, son of John and Abigail (Nutting) Lawrence, was married to Sally Shattuck, daughter of Job and Elizabeth (Blood) Shattuck, born May 2, 1790. He died July 1, 1831, and his widow, Sept. 19, 1840.

Their children were:

Nathaniel, born August 4, 1808, married Eliza Hubbard, had two children, and died about sixty years ago.
Abigail, born Jan. 3, 1811, and died Aug. 23, 1812.
John, born Feb. 26, 1813, and died Aug. 13, 1816.
Daniel, born June 14, 1815, and died May 15, 1843.
Abigail, born Aug. 11, 1817, and died in Lowell, June 15, 1835.
John, born Sept. 22, 1819, and died unmarried in Townsend, Sept. 7, 1897.
Elizabeth, born Dec. 26, 1821, married Aug. 31, 1849, Alvin Davis, son of Silas and Patty Davis, of Hubbardston. They lived for fourteen years in Elmira, N. Y.; and after her husband's death she returned to Groton, and is now (1907) living with her brother Abel, on Hollis Street.
Abel, born Aug. 5, 1824, was married, March 5, 1849, at Townsend, by the Rev. Luther H. Sheldon, to Eliza, daughter of Minot and Sophronia (Hall) Baldwin, of Townsend. His wife died at Groton, Sept. 14, 1893.
William, born Dec. 9, 1827, and now living at Laconia, N. H. He has been married, and has had two daughters, but the wife and both children are dead.

The children of Abel and Eliza (Baldwin) Lawrence are Abel Lorenzo, born at Groton, March 2, 1850, married Nelly Payne, of Detroit, Mich., and died there, Sept. 12, 1893, leaving two sons, both married, of whom one, Harold Payne Lawrence, took the degree of M.D., at the Detroit College of Medicine in May, 1905; and Charles, born at Townsend, April 23, 1851, married, Aug. 18, 1880, Fanny D. Marsh, daughter of Charles D. and Margaret (Quackenbush) Marsh, of Marlboro; now living at Groton, no children.

The will of the first Nathaniel, here mentioned, is on file in the Middlesex Probate Office at East Cambridge. It is dated August 30, 1775, and was received at the office on October 4, 1775; and his death must have taken place between those dates. It was not probated at Cambridge,—where the office then was,—until May 28, 1776. The delay, doubtless, was due to the confusion in the neighborhood during that Revolutionary period when the town was occupied by the American troops. The assent to its probate was signed by five of the children, and by a grandson Nathaniel, only son and surviving heir of Nathaniel, Jr. In his will he mentions son John, whom he made executor, daughter Dorothy Hudson, sons Thomas and Isaac, daughter Abigail Gilson, and daughters Eunice and Martha. His daughter Dorothy was married to Benaiah Hudson, of Pepperell, on March 7, 1754, and his daughter Abigail, to Nehemiah Gilson, of Groton, probably in the year 1765; and they both had large families.

* A Joseph Underwood appeared in Hingham, Mass., in 1637, and later settled in Watertown.

† This John Hill was third son of Roger Hill, gent., of Poundsford in Pitminster, co. Somerset. He had a first cousin John Hill, born about 1600, who was of Chaffcomb, co. Somerset, in 1628, but of whom no later record appears there, and who may have been the John Hill who was in Dorchester, Mass., about 1633. (See "John Hill of Dorchester, Mass., 1633," pp. 96–97.)

‡ It was probably this George Way who is mentioned in the records of Dorchester, Mass., Jan. 2, 1637–8, as having previously had a grant of land; but it does not seem likely that he ever came to New England. "Widow Way" is mentioned in the list of the proprietors of the "great lots" in Dorchester, Mass , Feb. 23, 1646–7, and perhaps she was widow of this George Way who certainly was the partner with Thomas Purchase in the Pejepscot, Me., grant, in 1632, and whose son Eleazer Way settled in Hartford, Conn. (See "George Way and his Descendants.") Doubtless Henry and Robert Way, early of Dorchester, Mass., were related to George Way of Dorchester, England.

§ A Robert Coker came to New England from London in the spring of 1634, in the ship Mary and John, and settled in Newbury, Mass.

‖ A Richard Berry was of Barnstable, Mass., in 1643.

¶ A Richard Watts settled in Hartford, Conn., before 1640.

 A Michael Humphrey (son of Samuel and Susanna, of Lyme Regis, co. Dorset) was of Windsor, Conn., as early as 1643.

EDWARD AND JOHN COLLINS AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by Hon. RALPH D. SMYTH, and communicated by Dr. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. EDWARD[1] COLLINS appears first at Cambridge, Mass., in 1638, where he was deacon of the first church, and was made freeman May 13, 1640. From 1654 to 1670, with the exception of the year 1661, he was a representative in the General Court. He lived many years on the plantation of Gov. Craddock at Medford, and at last purchased it, selling off considerable portions of it.

He and his brother John[1] were all their lives active men. Cotton Mather, in the Magnalia, speaks of Edward[1] as the "good old man, the deacon of the church at Cambridge, who is now gone to heaven; but before he went thither, had the satisfaction to see several most worthy sons become very famous persons in their generation." He died in Charlestown, Mass., Apr. 9, 1689, aged 86 years. The place from which they emigrated in England has not been ascertained.

Edward[1] Collins brought with him his wife Martha and several children.

Children:

viii. EDWARD, bapt. June, 1646, in Cambridge.

2. JOHN[2] COLLINS (Dea. Edward[1]), born in England in 1633, Harvard College 1649, became a minister, returned to England in the time of the Civil War, and "became a celebrated preacher in London having a sweet voice and a most affectionate manner in the pulpit." He was chaplain to Gen. Monk, afterwards Duke of Albemarle, when he marched out of Scotland into England, but accepted no place under the Act of Uniformity. He succeeded Rev. William Mallory as pastor of a large independent congregation at Pinner's Hall, London.

No pastor, says his epitaph by Cotton Mather in the Magnalia, however great his excellences, ever called forth from the living church more veneration in life or deeper grief for his death. He died in London, Dec. 3, 1687.

He was married, and had a son John,[3] born in London about 1673, who succeeded Nathaniel Mather as minister in Lime Street, London. In 1702, John[3] Collins, Jr., was engaged at the ordination of the celebrated Dr. Isaac Watts in Mark Lane. He died suddenly, Mar. 19, 1714, when he was little more than 40 years of age.

3. SAMUEL[2] COLLINS (Dea. Edward[1]) married Mary ———, who was admitted to full communion at Cambridge, May 31, 1664, where he probably resided until 1664, when he removed to Saybrook, and shortly afterwards to Middletown, where he resided most of his life. He went to Scotland in 1658, while his brother John was at Edinburgh, but came back soon, and was casually at Cambridge, 1675, and Charlestown, 1678, otherwise he resided mostly at Middletown. He had lands recorded at Middletown, Feb. 28, 1667; and on Mch. 22, 1670, had a list of £58. He was Representative in 1672. His wife Mary died May 5, 1713/14.

Children:

i. EDWARD,[3] b. June 18, 1664, at Cambridge.
ii. MARTHA, b. Mch. 3, 1666, at Middletown; m. Jan. 8, 1689-90, William Harris.
5. iii. SAMUEL, b. Oct. 21, 1668.
iv. SIBYL, b. Feb. 25, 1671.
v. MARY, b. June 16, 1672.
vi. ABIGAIL, b. June 2, 1673.
vii. DANIEL, b. Oct. 5, 1675; d. June 6, 1689.

4. REV. NATHANIEL[2] COLLINS (Dea. Edward[1]), born in Cambridge, Mch. 7, 1642, Harvard College 1660, was a minister, and was ordained pastor of the church at Middletown, Nov. 4, 1668. He had lands recorded to him at Middletown, Jan. 24, 1664. He is one of Cotton Mather's worthies, of whom the Magnalia says: "There were more wounds given [by his death] to the whole colony of Connecticut in our New England, than the body of Cæsar did receive, when he fell wounded in the senate-house."

He married, Aug. 3, 1664, Mary, daughter of William Whiting, who died Oct. 25, 1709. He died Dec. 28, 1684.

Children:

i. MARY,[3] b. May 11, 1666; m. Jan., 1684, John, b. Dec. 14, 1658, son of Giles Hamlin of Middletown; d. Jan. 2, 1733.

---

1. JOHN[1] COLLINS, SR., of Boston, ~~brother of Dea. Edward,~~[1] probably came to this country a few years earlier than his brother. He was admitted to the church at Boston, Apr. 4, 1646, and took the oath as freeman, May 6, 1646. He married Susannah ———. He was a shoemaker and tanner, and a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. In 1640 he had a grant of land at Braintree, for three heads. He died Mch. 29, 1670.
Children:
2. i. JOHN,[2] b. 1640; d. Dec. 10. 1704.
ii. SUSANNAH, b. Mch. 24, 1643, bapt. Apr. 5, 1646, at Boston; m. Mch. 25, 1662, Thomas Walker of Boston, brickmaker, a freeman in 1690.
iii. THOMAS, b. Sept. 5, 1645; bapt. Apr. 5, 1646, at Boston.
iv. ELIZABETH, b. Apr. 8, bapt. Apr. 16, 1648, at Boston.

2. JOHN[2] COLLINS, JR. (John[1]), may have been born in England and have come to New England with his parents. He learned his father's trade of shoemaking and tanning. In 1663 he went to Middletown, about the time his cousins Samuel and Rev. Nathaniel went there. Soon after, he went with Samuel to Saybrook. He signed the New Plantation Covenant of Branford, but he did not remain long there, for in Dec., 1669, he was at Guilford. In 1682 he was appointed to teach the Grammar School for a quarter of the year, on trial, and continued some years after.

His will was proved Jan. 1, 1704/5. His list was not large. He married first, Mary (? Trowbridge), who died in 1667; married second, June 2, 1669, Mary, daughter of John Stevens and widow of Henry Kingsworth; and married third, Mch. 6, 1699, Dorcas, daughter of Samuel Swain and widow of John Tainter. She married, as her second husband, William Wheeler, and died May, 1734.

Children by first wife:

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 6 March, 1907. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting in Marshall P. Wilder hall, Society's building, 18 Somerset street, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, and was called to order by the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, A.M., Litt.D., who presided.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the meeting on 6 February, the chairman introduced Miss Mary Phillips, of Dorchester, Mass., who read an entertaining and appreciative paper on Governor Jonathan Belcher, which was highly enjoyed and elicited applause. The thanks of the Society were unanimously voted, with a request for a copy of the essay for deposit in the archives.

The monthly reports of the Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council were presented, accepted, read, and ordered on file.

The list of candidates for membership was read and a ballot taken, at which nine members were elected, which closed the meeting.

3 April. The regular stated meeting was held at the usual time and place this afternoon, President Baxter in the chair.

Charles Greenough Chick, Esq., President of the Hyde Park Historical Society, read a comprehensive and interesting paper on Samuel Adams, which was listened to with deep attention. At the close, thanks were voted Mr. Chick, with an invitation that he deposit a copy of the paper in the archives of the Society, for preservation.

The executive departments severally made reports, which were accepted and ordered on file.

Four members were elected.

The Treasurer reported the sale of No. 2 Westmoreland street, which was ratified and confirmed, and authority given for its conveyance and delivery.

The meeting then dissolved.

1 May. The last stated meeting before the summer vacation was held to-day, at the usual time and place, the President in the chair.

Charles French Read, of Brookline, Secretary of the Bostonian Society, read to an appreciative audience a paper on The Old State House, Boston, which was of permanent historical value, with liberal citation of dates and expenses, calculated to constitute the essay an authority.

A vote of thanks was promptly voted Mr. Read, and a copy of the paper requested for deposit in the archives.

Reports were presented from the Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

The Committee, in memoriam William Blake Trask, reported progress, with a request for further time, which was granted.

Twelve members were elected.

No further business being presented, the meeting dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

Cunningham.—In the Register, Vol. 55 (1901), I published a brief genealogy of "Andrew Cunningham of Boston and some of his Descendants," from which reprints were made in pamphlet form. I had spent much time for several years in preparing this, and had consulted all known public and private records that I thought would throw any light upon the family, but nothing could be found that gave the exact date of the death of the original Andrew or of his wife Sarah. The very information for which I was searching has at last turned up, and, as usual, in the most unexpected manner. Some little time ago I received a letter, upon another subject, from Mr. William Henry Davison of Pensacola, Fla., a member of the Harvard College Class of 1845, who said that his great-grandmother was a Cunningham, and that he had in his possession the old family Bible of the second Andrew Cunningham (born Aug. 19, 1692). Mr. Davison has been kind enough to present this Bible to me, and I give herewith a copy of all the records it contains:—

Andrew and Mary Cunningham whas mared March 25, 1714
Abigail Cunningham whas born ye 5 of July at about nine morning 1715
Mary Cunningham whas born ye 2 of March at about 5 morning 1718
Abigail Cunningham dyed ye first of May about four in morning 1718
Andrew Cunningham whas born the 2 of Octo^b aboute eaight in the morning 1719
My wife Mary Dyed the 15 of October betwixt eaight & nine morning 1721

The most valuable information in this record is the exact date of the death of the first Andrew Cunningham and his age at that time. It is a pity that it did not state the place of his birth, which the writer of this note presumes to have been in Scotland.

The record gives the date of "Mother Sarah's" death as Jan. 24, 1730, and from its position in the record this probably means 1730–1, or, as we should now reckon it, 1731. It gives her age at this date as "66 years," but her birth (as Sarah, daughter of William Gibson) is stated in Boston Town Records as having been on Feb. 5, 1665–6, making an apparent discrepancy of one year.

Keyes, Prescott.—For many years unavailing attempts have been made to learn the later history of Elias[2] Keyes (Robert[1]) of Sudbury, and, also, the history of his son Elias,[3] the latter of whom was born at Sudbury, Nov. 18, 1666. A paper in the files of the Middlesex Co. Court for the year 1690 tells the fate of one of these men, and it is here given in full:

"Chelmsford, 29 June, 1690.

"We whos names are under writen being caled by the constable of Chelmsford to give in our verdect conserning one Elias Keyes of Sudbury who was taken up dead in Merrimack river we find yt he was padeling over said river in a small canoe, the streame being strong and the wind very high: he was turned into the water & a person taking hould of him after much striving to preserve life: wear both by the provedenc of God drownded: & said Keyes was taken up about ten or eleven days after they wear drownded as witness our hands.

Corporall Edward Colbourn	Bennone More
Mr. Nathanel Howard	Joseph Wright
Eliazar Brown	Ebenezer Essetight (?)
John Sheple	Ebenzer Parkhurst
John Walker	Samuel Spaulding
Thomas Colbourn	Joseph Parham."

In the Middlesex Probate Records, Case 17132, is the guardianship of one Deliverance Wedge, or Wadge, of Marlborough. A paper of this case, dated Oct. 19, 1713, has the name "Elyas Keys" appended as a witness. The contemporaneous recorder saw fit to enter the name in his copy as "Eliphaz" Keyes. No Eliphaz is known in the Keyes family, and, although the witness signed with his "mark," it is a preferred theory that the other parties to the document knew his name better than did the recorder, especially as the name seems to have been written by Samuel Goodenow, the other witness. Here, then, we see that one Elias was drowned in 1690, and that, unless the evidence is misleading, the other was living in 1713. As Elias, Jr., has never been found in land records, nor as husband or father, it seems probable that it was he who perished in the Merrimack river.

The elder Elias had a son John, born about 1668, who resided in Lancaster, Shrewsbury and, after the division of the latter town, in Boylston, where he died Sept. 15, 1753, according to his gravestone. He was known as Deacon Keyes. The identity of his wife Sarah has been a problem. Was she not daughter of John[2] Prescott (John[1]) of Lancaster? John Prescott had a son Ebenezer, and a daughter Mary, who married John Houghton, Jr., for her second husband. In 1708 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, 23, 188), John Houghton, Jr., calls Josiah Wheeler of Lancaster (formerly of Concord) his brother-in-law. In Worcester Co. Deeds, 7, 36, Ebenezer Prescott, above, also calls Josiah Wheeeler his brother-in-law. In 1721 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, 23, 187), Deacon John Keyes likewise calls Josiah Wheeler his brother-in-law. Survey of the various families mentioned above leads to the belief that Sarah, wife of John Keyes, and Martha, wife of Josiah Wheeler, were unrecorded daughters of John Prescott. There is other evidence. Deacon Keyes, in his will, signed Nov. 10, 1748, remembers his various children, and one bequest reads thus: "My will is that my second son, Ebenezer Keyes, shall have ten acres of third division land laid out to me in Shrewsbury, near to or joining on the long pond, and he my said son Ebenezer Keyes, I gave him to his grandfather from the age of nine years to the age of twenty-one years, and his grandfather gave him a good living, therefore what I here give him is his full portion out of my estate."

It is to be regretted that the testator did not state whether he had reference to a paternal or maternal grandfather, but again the land records come to the rescue. Mar. 9, 1708–9 (Worcester Co. Deeds, 44, 424), John Prescott, above, deeded land "upon good consideration me moving thereto, especially an act of free gift to Ebenezer, the son of John Keyes of Lancaster," etc. The birth of Ebenezer Keyes has not been found on record, but his age did not vary much from nine years at the time this deed was executed; and this was the age at which his father "gave" him to his grandfather. It is the contention of the present writer that John Prescott presented the boy with a farm because he was his grandson, and, in view of this "free gift," it becomes clear that the "good living" referred to in Deacon Keyes's will did not relate wholly to the food and clothing furnished the boy during his minority; he had a suitable tract of land for the permanent use of himself and his heirs.

A Neglected Source of Information regarding Revolutionary Service.—The different state governments and the federal government have undertaken to preserve and index the records of those patriots who devoted their lives and services to this country during the War of the Revolution, but they have neglected one source of information regarding such Revolutionary service. The files in the office of the Bureau of Pensions at Washington contain affirmative evidence of Revolutionary service by many soldiers other than those who applied for pensions and whose names appear in the index to the pension record. The existing index does not contain the names of those other persons shown by these records to have been soldiers of the Revolution, but who filed no claim for pension. In many cases the official records and rolls of the companies and regiments have been lost, and the record of such Revolutionary service cannot be proved otherwise than by these records on file in the Pension Office. To illustrate: the state archives of Massachusetts contain no roll or roster of the men who served under Capt. Nichols in Colonel Jonathan Holman's regiment in 1776, under command of General Washington at New York, participating in the battle of White Plains and the subsequent evacuation of the city. Such rolls of said company are not found among the collection of Revolutionary war records on file in the office of the Military Secretary in the War Department. Consequently, the service of any member of this company cannot be proved unless he should have subsequently filed an application for a pension. In which event a statement of his service could be obtained from the Bureau of Pensions.

Seeking to establish official confirmation of the Revolutionary service of one Timothy Corbin of Dudley, Mass., who enlisted in the above mentioned company and regiment during the campaign of 1776, the writer was informed by the office of the Military Secretary that the name of such soldier was not found on the rolls on file in that office of any Massachusetts military organization, or on the rolls of any organization of Continental troops in service during the war of the Revolution, but that the collection of Revolutionary war records on file in that office is far from complete. The Secretary of the Comonwealth of Massachusetts replied that an examination of the record index to the Revolutionary rolls collection in his office failed to reveal any reference whatever to a Timothy Corbin as having rendered service to the credit of Massachusetts. The Bureau of Pensions stated that no record of a claim filed in the name of Timothy Corbin could be found, but that the bureau is unable to furnish a history of the service of any soldier of the Revolutionary war, or of the war of 1812, unless he or his widow was a pensioner or an applicant for pension or bounty lands. Subsequently, in connection with the application for a pension by Asa Corbin of Nassau, N. Y., the writer ascertained that there are, filed with the papers in the case, the affidavits of his brother Timothy Corbin and his cousin Joshua Corbin, made at Dudley, Mass., Oct. 5, 1830, who both testified that they served with the said Asa Corbin in the fall of 1776, under Capt. Nichols and Col. Holman, five months, and that he and they were in the battle of White Plains. The Commissioner of Pensions stated that the bureau could not furnish literal copies of papers filed in pension claims, or certify to the service of any affiant because his affidavit is filed in the case of a soldier whose claim is admitted, but stated, over his signature, the fact that such an affidavit was filed, and the substance of the same. Thus, after many years, and laborious search, official confirmation was obtained of the Revolutionary service of the person in question.

It has occured to the writer that this circumstance may be of interest to others, because

First—It is probable that there are many other instances in which Revolutionary services could be proved provided those interested had access to an index of the names of those soldiers mentioned in the supporting affidavits on file in the Pension Office. It would seem proper for Congress to authorize and effect the preparation of such an index. Recommendations to that effect might well be made by the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Second—The many descendants of Timothy Corbin of Dudley, Mass., will doubtless be interested in learning of this official proof of his service, and of their consequent eligibility to the Revolutionary societies.

The Timothy Corbin in question (James, James, Clement of Woodstock) was born July 24, 1750, at Dudley, and was married, Oct. 20, 1774, to Abigail Vinton. His affidavit filed in support of his brother's claim contains a certificate of a Justice of the Peace, dated Dec. 13, 1832, as to said affiant's character, and that he died about one year before. CHIDSEY.—In the REGISTER, vol. 60, page 269, it is stated that Lois,[5] b. Sept. 7, 1761, daughter of Joseph[4] Chidsey, died Feb. 13, 1774. This is an error; she was my great-grandmother, and married, in Richmond, Mass., May 11, 1784, Henry[4] Sherrill (Henry,[3] Recompense,[2] Samuel[1]), dying at Lenox, Mass., Mar. 8, 1813, and buried in Richmond, Mass.

EVARTS.—In the REGISTER, ante, page 30, is the statement that James,[5] son of Reuben[4] Evarts, had "one son, Rev. Jeremiah.[6]" This is an error, as Jeremiah was a lawyer by profession, not a minister; and James Evarts had, besides Jeremiah, another son and three daughters. MARY EVARTS.

ANDOVER, N. H.—From an examination of the records of Marriages in Andover, N. H., by Rev. Josiah Badcock, printed in the REGISTER, vol. 58, pp. 16–20, I find a number of errors, which I take occasion to correct. Many of these errors are due, evidently, to mistakes in copying, while others are due to the peculiar chirography and spelling of the original. The more important errors are:

JOHN BURBANK (ante, page 139).—I find that John[1] Burbank who was made freeman at Boston, May 13, 1640, made his will in 1681, being then "aged and decrepit." He had two wives and several children, among them a son John,[2] who had sons Timothy,[3] born 1668, John and Ebenezer.

It was undoubtedly John[2] who was at Suffield, and the progenitor of the family given in my contribution.

The family as recorded by Henry A. Phillips of Boston, a descendant, is as follows:

JOHN[1] BURBANK, who died after 1681, had first wife Ann, and second wife Jemima. Children by first wife: 1. John,[2] b. about 1640. 2. Timothy, b. May 18, 1641; buried July 14, 1660. Children by second wife: 3. Lydia, b. Apr. 7, 1644; m. —— Foster. 4. Caleb, b. May 19, 1646; m. Martha Smith. 5. Mary, b. May 16, 1655; buried July 12, 1660.

JOHN[2] BURBANK, of Suffield, had by his first wife, Susannah Merrill, besides the three sons previously named, a daughter Mary,[3] bapt. June 24, 1666, at Rowley, who probably m. (1) Dec. 2, 1685, Lazarus Miller of Springfield (1655–1697); m. (2) about 1702, William Mackranney, who d. Oct. 25, 1725; and m. (3) Feb. 11, 1734, James Sexton of Westfield, in which town she d. RICE.—The Sudbury Vital Records do not give the following record of the marriage of Benjamin[2] Rice (Edmund[1]): "Benjamin Rice and Mary Brown were married June The Second 1661 a true Coppy Taken out of the Record of ye Town of Sudbury. atest JOHN GOODENOW, Clerk. Feb. 2d, 1694–5."

This is in the files of the Middlesex Inferior Court, 1695, for the case of Benjamin Rice vs. Ebenezer Rice. With it is filed the copy of a deed by Benjamin Rice, made shortly before this marriage, in which he speaks of his intended wife as "Mary Brown Eldest Daughter unto Mr. William Brown of Sudbury."

Among other papers in the file is the following testimony: "Thomas Browne & William Brown boath of full age saith yt soon after ye Death of Mary Rice wife of Benjamin Rice of Sudbury ye sd Benjamin Rice desired us about ye beginning of ffebr 1690.91 to go with him & his son Ebenezer Rice to his Land in Controversie and we all went to a place neer the middle of sd Land and There ye sd Benja Rice did of his voluntary free will the Land being frozen faste hold of some Twiggs and gave his son Ebenezer Rice possession of sd Lands in controversie which Land ye said Benjamin Rice had made over to her yt was his wife Mary Rice aforesaid by a deed bearing date ye 20th of May 1662 and told him yt was his Land and bid him break up & plant & build upon it and upon this Land it is that ye tree it cut yt is now in controversie and ye sd Benjamin Rice bid his sd son Ebenezer Rice turning himself round goe and Improve as you please: they further add: that from and after ye sd possession was given said Ebenezer Rice entered into ye said Lands and has built thereupon and has broken up part thereof & has continued in possession ever since. SAVERY GENEALOGY—HUNT FAMILY.—On page 19 of the "Supplement" to the Genealogy, I state that Lieut. Col. Benjamin Hunt, the Loyalist, was "from Thomas[1] of Stamford, Conn., and Rye and West Chester, N.Y., through Thomas[2] of West Farms, N. Y., Josiah,[3] Josiah,[4] Moses[5] (Benjamin[6]). I am now assured, by an expert in the Hunt family history, that this is wrong; that Moses was not a son of Josiah, Jr., nor was the first Josiah a son of Thomas, Jr.; but that the correct line is Thomas,[1] Josiah,[2] Moses,[3] Benjamin.[4] I write this lest my statement may mislead investigators of the Hunt lines, and would be grateful for any further light on the subject.

I would be thankful to any one who will send me the addresses of any Saverys in the State of Indiana. A. W. SAVARY.

Apropos of the Tercentenary Exposition at Jamestown, it may be of interest to note that in an Inn in Allhallond's street, Bideford, North Devon, England, there hangs over the fireplace an old oil-painting, on panel, of Jamestown from the Harbour, supposed to be the work of a companion or contemporary of Sir Richard Granville, and to have been handed down in the latter's family, who are said to have dwelt of yore in the Inn itself, which is named "the Grenville House." The Rev. Prebendary Granville, of Exeter, however, the author of a History of the family, writes that he is extremely doubtful whether the Inn was ever the Granville's home. He believed that their residence was "Ford," about a mile out, where there was a large pond, from which Sir Bernard (Sir Richard's son) sent live tench to his son Sir Bevile, at "Stowe."

The picture is so much darkened by smoke that, I am told, it could not be photographed satisfactorily. It is to be wished that a copy in oils, or even in black and white, might be made before it becomes more obscure.

MUNSON, PUTT.—In the State Archives of New Hampshire are the following papers concerning the estate of Robert Munson:

"23 June 1677 Granted unto Henry putt administration to ye estate of Robert Munson of Isles of Shoales deceased. And Hen put and Rogr Kelley bind themselves in a bond of 40te £ that sd putt shall administer according to Lau," and

"Robert Munsons Inventory who departed this life the 10th of May 1677." The total of the inventory was £ 24. 6s. 0d, the largest item in which was a "share of fishe weare," £10. It was taken 26 June, 1677, by Roger Kelly and Richard Munson, and sworn to by Eliza Putt.

I am inclined to believe that Richard Munson was the son of Robert. Has anybody any authentic information concerning the Munsons and Putts?

CULLUM.—What Regiment or Company, presumably of British troops, formed the garrison of Fort William Henry, in the City of New York in 1702? This fort, which should not be confused with the one on Lake George, had borne many names at different periods. In 1689 it was Fort James; in 1691, Fort William; in 1702, Fort William Henry; in 1714, Fort Anne; and in 1783, Fort George. I especially desire information regarding a John Cullum who was one of the garrison in 1702, and of his descendants, and will be grateful for any assistance. (MME.) EMMA CULLUM CORTAZZO.

Churchill, Royce, Baldwin.—Josias Churchill, an early settler of Wethersfield, Conn., married Elizabeth, daughter of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Deming) Foote, and has been credited with the following children: 1. Mary, b. Mar. 24, 1639, who m. Samuel Church of Hadley, Mass. 2. Elizabeth, b. May 16, 1642, who m. Henry Buck of Wethersfield, Conn. 3. Hannah, b. Nov. 1, 1644, who m. Samuel Royce of New London, and "died early leaving no children," according to some writers. 4. Ann, b. about 1647, who m. ——— Rice. 5. Joseph, b. Dec. 7, 1649. 6. Benjamin, b. May 16, 1652. 7. A son who died aged 1 yr. 8. Sarah, b. Nov. 11, 1657, who m. ——— Wickham.

In his will, dated Nov. 17, 1683 (inventory dated Jan. 5, 1687), he names children Joseph, Benjamin, Mary Church, Elizabeth Buck, Ann Rice, and Sarah Wickham.

It is a fact well known that Hannah and Ann were used interchangeably at that period; and, also, that the surname Royce and Rice were the same. As he mentioned no daughter Hannah, it has been explained that she "died early," but this is based only upon assumption, and it is reasonable to conclude that Hannah and Ann were one and the same. As to his daughter Sarah Wickham, it has been stated that she was the wife of Thomas Wickham, but careful research shows that the wife of Thomas was named Mary, through all the baptismal records of Thomas's children, and that she was a daughter of Lieut. Thomas and Sarah Hurlbut.

Samuel Royce (or Rice) and his wife Hannah (or Ann) Churchill (in the records called Churchwood, which is a clerical error) had children: 1. Samuel, b. 1672 or '3, who m. (1) Sarah Baldwin, and m. (2) Hannah Benedict. 2. Abigail, b. Nov. 24, 1677, who m. Joseph Cowles. 3. Prudence, b. July 26, 1680. 4. Deborah, b. Sept. 8, 1683, who m. Thomas Mix.

Was Sarah Baldwin, who married Samuel Royce, the daughter, b. Mar. 29, 1668, of Josiah and Mary (Camp) Baldwin? Frederick M. Steele.

Geer-Harris.—Abigail Harris, of Middletown, Conn., in her will, dated June, 1789, left the bulk of her property to "my son Hezekiah Geer on condition that he care for my affectionate husband Abraham Harris in his advanced age."

Wanted, the parentage, and date and place of birth of Abigail ——— Geer Harris; the christian name, parentage and date and place of birth and death of her husband ——— Geer; and the place of birth of Hezekiah Geer, who married, in Middletown, Feb. 9, 1790, Sarah Gilbert, and removed about 1800 to Pittsfield, Mass., where he died Aug. 4, 1822, aged 61. Was Hezekiah Geer or his father in the Revolutionary War? (Mrs.) Gertrude Gear Stubbs.

1915 Capitol Ave., Omaha, Neb.

Burr.—The pedigree is wanted of Samuel Burr, of Hartford, Conn., who had, among other children, a daughter Lodamia, born in 1764, and who is thought to be the Samuel mentioned by Hinman as having married Christian Cadwell, Dec. 17, 1752. Is it not probable that he was son of Thomas[3] (Thomas,[2] Benjamin[1]) and identical with the Samuel Burr who was a member of the "Governor's Guard," 1776, and of the "Governor's Horse Guards," 1786, at Hartford?

Can anyone give date of Lodamia's marriage to Solomon Culver? The family went to Wyoming Valley, Penn., and later to Ohio. F. B. Culver.

Manners.—In the Register, ante, page 203, inquiry is made concerning Hannah Manners, the wife of Jonathan Davenport.

When in the Register, vol. 33, page 27, I gave Manners as my reading of the original Dorchester record, I did not know that it was but the colonial corruption of Maynard, and that the said Hannah was daughter of John and Mary (Gates) Maynard of Marlborough, Mass., as I have since learned.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

REGISTERS WANTED.—There are a number of smaller historical societies and public libraries having partial sets of the REGISTER which are not financially able to purchase the volumes needed to complete their sets. There are also some libraries which have a few of the recent volumes only. The Treasurer of this Society will be glad to receive donations of large or small lots of the REGISTER for the benefit of these libraries and societies, and will endeavor to place such donations where they will be most useful in promoting the work for which this Society was incorporated.

ENGLISH RESEARCH.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the REGISTER, giving clues which led to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the REGISTER, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

MAINE VITAL RECORDS.—Attention is called to the following:

An Act To provide for the Preservation of Town Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths Previous to the Year Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-Two.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows:

Section 1. Whenever the record of the births, marriages, and deaths, previous to the year eighteen hundred and ninety-two beginning at the very earliest date, of any town in this state, shall be collected from church records, church registers, records of clergymen, family bibles, public records and other available sources, and shall be printed and verified in the manner required by the standing committee of the Maine Historical Society, under the editorship of some person selected by said committee, whose services shall be rendered free and without any compensation, and the work shall appear to them to have been prepared with accuracy, the secretary of state shall purchase five hundred copies of such record at a price not exceeding one cent per page; provided, that the written copies of the town records shall become the property of the state, and shall be deposited in the office of the state registrar of vital statistics; and provided, further, that not more than five hundred dollars shall be expended by authority of this act in any one year.

Section 2. The volumes purchased as aforesaid shall be distributed by the state registrar aforesaid as follows: One copy to the office of the secretary of state; one copy to the state librarian; one copy to the free public library of each town and city of the state; one copy to each state and territorial library in the United States; one copy to the library of congress; one copy to each incorporated historical society in the state; one copy to the library of each college in the state; one copy to each registry of deeds. The remainder shall be placed in the state library for purposes of exchange.

Gookin Genealogy.—A history of the Gookin family in England, Ireland, and America, for which the author has been gathering materials more than thirty years, is now ready for the printer, and will be issued when subscriptions sufficient to cover the cost of publication are received. The book divides naturally into four volumes: the first dealing with the family in England and Ireland; the second with the Gookins in America; the third containing genealogies of their descendants bearing other names; the fourth consisting of indices and tabular key pedigrees, which it seems desirable to bind separately. Beyond the number subscribed for, very few copies will be printed, and they will be held at a substantial advance upon the subscription price. For particulars, address Frederick William Gookin, 20 Walton Place, Chicago, Ill.

Indian Captivities.—The H. R. Huntting Company, Springfield, Mass., announces a series of reprints of some of the valuable narratives of Indian captivities in New England, copies of which have become scarce. The books will be carefully edited with introductions and notes, and will be printed from type on hand-made and all-rag paper, bound in antique boards. The first book of the series to be issued will be The Narrative of the Captivity of Mrs. Johnson, reprinted from the third edition, Windsor, Vt., 1814. For particulars, address the publishers.

Narragansett Church.—D. B. Updike, The Merrymount Press, 232 Summer Street, Boston, Mass., proposes to issue soon a new and enlarged edition of the "History of the Episcopal Church in Narragansett, Rhode Island." The original edition, by Wilkins Updike, appeared in 1847, and made a volume of nearly 500 pages. The new edition of the work makes over 1000 pages, will be issued in two volumes, and will contain important additions and fifty full-page portraits. For particulars and terms of subscription, address Mr. Updike.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Bentley, Brooks, Morey, Witherstine.—Mrs. Joseph Sheaff, Box 91, Holcomb, Ogle Co., Ill., is preparing genealogical records of the descendants of William Bentley of Richmond, R. I., and Canaan, N. Y.; John Warner Brooks of Wallingford, Conn., and Steuben, N. Y.; George Morey of Connecticut, and Lebanon, N. Y.; and John Witherstine of Herkimer and Steuben, N. Y.

Byram.—Charles R. Byram, Wellington, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Nicholas Byram of Bridgewater, Mass., taking up the work as left by the late A. M. Byram. The first five generations are substantially completed, but much remains to be done before the records of the succeeding generations are ready for the printer, and any information concerning the family will be thankfully received.

Chandler.—Mrs. Anna M. Chandler Riley has collected data of the descendants of William Chandler of Deptford, England, who settled in Portsmouth, N. H.

Decker.—Frank Allaben, 3 West 42d Street, New York City, is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Lieut. Jan Broersen Decker, of Ulster Co., N. Y., and desires family data from all descendants.

Jackman.—P. A. Jackman, 263 North 3d Street East, Logan City, Utah, is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of James Jackman of Newbury, Mass.

Topping.—Frank Allaben, 3 West 42d Street, New York City, is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Capt. Thomas Topping of Connecticut, and and Southampton, L. I., and desires family data from all descendants.

BOOK NOTICES.*

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

A Biographical Sketch of Eight Generations of Hoopers in America. William Hooper, 1635, to Idolene Snow (Hooper) Crosby, 1883. Compiled by Mrs. WILLIAM SUMNER CROSBY, Brookline, Mass. Printed for Private Circulation. [Boston.] 1906. 8vo. pp. 42.

The line of Hoopers here traced is descended from William Hooper, who came to America in 1635, and whose name is found in the First Church records of Reading, Mass., in 1642. The genealogy is in the fullest sense "biographical."

The Lindsay Family Association of America. Third Annual Report. [Boston. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 37–58.

Macomber Genealogy. By [Rev.] EVERETT S. STACKPOLE. Press of The Journal Co., Lewiston, Maine. [1907.] 8vo. pp. 8. Price, $2.00. Address the author, Bradford, Mass.

The title specially descriptive of this work is "John Macomber of Taunton and his Descendants." If it meets with success, the author will publish another part, "Genealogy of the Descendants of William Macomber of Marshfield," and an index of the whole. The introduction gives interesting information respecting the Macombers of England and of Scotland. Revolutionary and Mayflower claims are carefully traced. The book is bound in paper covers so that "when the second volume is issued they can be bound together as one volume."

Quinby Chart. Compiled by HENRY COLE QUINBY, 5 Nassau St., New York City. Size 29 in. by 12 in.

This chart gives the ancestors of Thomas Quinby, of Stroudwater, Me., 1885, and his wife, Jane Elizabeth Brewer. The original ancestors named are Quinby, Haskell, Freeman, Pearson, Titcomb, Dole, Brewer, Frost, Pepperell.

The Shepardson Family. A Record of the Early Generations in America. By FRANCIS WAYLAND SHEPARDSON. [Chicago. 1907.] 8vo. pp. 7.

The ancestor of this family was Daniel Shepardson, who came to Salem, Mass., from England, in the year 1628–9. This pamphlet gives the first five generations of his descendants.

1635, and who is known to have settled in Dorchester, Mass.; the second, "Notes on Various Families connected by Marriage," which contains records of the families of Gammell, Ball, McKinstry, Leonard, Kinsman, May, Sewall, and Phillips. Biographical sketches are numerous. There is no index.

The Wendell System of Perpetual Family Records. Autographs and Biographies, Photographs and Illustrations. Printed head lines and pages for complete information, with references from Family to Family for all generations, so arranged that members of each race may trace their descent from the common ancestor and discover the degree of relationship. Second edition. Wendell Brothers, Designers and Publishers, Minneapolis, Minn. 1905. Folio. Price, first 20 pages (paper cover), $1.25. Leather bound, 100 pages, $5.00.

This system adds to the variety already in use, and has, as a noticeable merit, the loose leaf arrangement, which admits of the removal at pleasure of any of the leaves.

Ancestry and Descendants of Rev. John Wilson of Boston, Mass. By JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT. Boston: N. E. Hist. Gen. Soc. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 16. Portrait.

This is a reprint, with additions, from the REGISTER for January and April, 1907, and constitutes a complete genealogy of this family. There is a portrait, with facsimile of autograph, of Rev. Mr. Wilson.

Charles Brooks and his Work for Normal Schools. By JOHN ALBREE. Read before the Medford Historical Society, May 5, 1906. Press of J. C. Miller, Jr., Medford, Mass. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 31. Ill.

In this reprint from the Medford "Historical Register" for Jan., 1907, Mr. Albree recalls to the memory of Medford people the nearly obliterated facts in connection with the work of their fellow-citizen in establishing the Prussian system of education in Massachusetts. In the preparation of this paper accurate information has been supplied by a scrap-book of Mr. Brooks. Though Mr. Brooks's work was finished seventy years ago, his singular reticence prevented a general recognition of his labors. It was he who discovered the educational remedy which Horace Mann put into practice.

The Wilson Portrait of Franklin; Earl Grey's Gift to the Nation. By CHARLES HENRY HART. Reprinted from the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, Oct., 1906. Phila. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 409–416. Portrait.

This portrait, which was painted by Benjamin Wilson in 1759, was taken from Franklin's home in Philadelphia by Major André, was carried to England and deposited in Howick House, the seat of the Greys, and returned to the United States by Earl Grey, Governor General of Canada, in April, 1906.

Robert E. Lee. Centennial Celebration of his Birth held under the auspices of the University of South Carolina, on the 19th day of Jan., 1907. Columbia, S.C.: The State Co., Printers. 1907. 8vo. pp. 36. Ill.

This publication contains two addresses: "Lee, the Soldier," by Maj. H. E. Young, and "Lee, the College President," by Dr. E. S. Joynes, formerly of General Lee's Faculty. Both these men, former companions of Lee, pay him the highest tributes of praise.

Samuel Hayes Pennington, M.D., LL.D. 1806–1900. Ninth President of the New Jersey Historical Society, 1894–1897. By WILLIAM NELSON. Paterson, N. J.: The Press Printing and Publishing Co., 269 Main St. 1906. 8vo. pp. 9.

This reprint from the Proceedings of the New Jersey Historical Society, Oct., 1906, is the sketch of a physician of Newark, N. J., whose energy, learning, and ability were conspicuous, not only in the service of his profession, but also of finance, education, and religion.

The Friendship of Dr. Nathan Smith and Dr. Lyman Spalding. By Dr. JAMES A. SPALDING, Portland, Maine. [Portland. 1907.] 8vo. pp. 20.

Dr. Spalding was born in Cornish, N. H., in 1775; Dr. Smith settled there in 1786. The friendship between these two began when the former was very young, and was one of life-long duration, disinterested attachment, and mutual service.

Captain Thomas Tingey, U. S. N. By F. W. HACKETT. Reprinted from the Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute, Vol. xxxiii, No. 1, Whole No. 121. [Annapolis, Md. 1907.] 8vo. pp. 119–123. Portrait.

Captain Tingey, who was born in London in 1750, though a brave and able naval officer, is specially commemorated in this sketch as the person chosen to superintend the laying out of the navy yard at Washington, in 1799, of which yard he was afterwards appointed commandant.

These records begin in 1742, and are described as "especially good," the entries being made with a great degree of regularity.

An Historic Guide to Cambridge. Compiled by Members of the Hannah Winthrop Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Cambridge, Mass. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 207. Ill. Maps.

As the title implies, this is a description of the places of interest in Cambridge, accompanied by historical accounts, and comprising a selection of the most important of the numerous materials at the disposal of the society above named. Original grants of land are here carefully noted, and their subsequent owners recorded. No house or family which would be likely to excite the curiosity of strangers or residents has been overlooked. The illustrations are fine, many of them made especially for this publication, and there is an index.

Maps.

This guide will prove a very useful book to students of history and genealogy. It is a matter of regret, however, to limit the scope of work, as stated in the preface, and the book deserves better paper and press-work. The arrangement is by counties, which is inconvenient for quick reference.

History of Saint Mark's Church, New Britain, Conn., and of its Predecessor, Christ Church, Wethersfield and Berlin, from the first Church of England Service in America to Nineteen Hundred and Seven. By JAMES SHEPARD. New Britain, Conn. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. xi+707. Ill. Price, $6.00, express prepaid. Address Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor Co., New Haven, Conn.

Chapters on "The Church in America" and "The Church in Connecticut" precede those on the churches in Wethersfield, Berlin and New Britain. These are followed by biographical sketches of the ministers of St. Mark's. Baptisms, confirmations, communicants, marriages and burials cover sixty pages, and are of special interest to the genealogist. The church records date from 1849. Extensive indexes close the volume. As to the quality of the work as a history, one infers from the "Foreword" that, although nothing essential is suppressed, the author has passed lightly over certain subjects a fuller treatment of which would occasion unnecessary pain. The book is well printed, bound and illustrated.

The History of Redding, Connecticut, from its Settlement to the Present Time, with Notes on the Adams, Banks, Barlow, Bartlett, Bartram, Bates, Beach, Benedict, Betts, Burr, Burritt, Burton, Chatfield, Couch, Darling, Fairchild, Foster, Gold, Gorham, Gray, Griffin, Hall, Hawley, Heron, Hill, Hull, Jackson, Lee, Lyon, Lord, Mallory, Meade, Meeker, Merchant, Morehouse, Perry, Platt, Read, Rogers, Rumsey, Sanford, Smith, Stow, and Strong Families. By CHARLES BURR TODD. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. [1906.] pp. v.+303. Ill.

Although not stated on the title-page, this is the second edition of this history, the first having appeared in 1880. The present work contains over fifty pages more than did the former, as a great deal of additional Revolutionary and genealogical information has been obtained during the last quarter of a century. "The Summer Colony," "The Literary Colony," and "The Sandford School" are some of the chapters not found in the first edition. The illustrations are numerous, and the work is well indexed.

The lists of Town Reports and "Town Records of the War of the Revolution" will be of interest to many, as also will be the fine photographs of the statues of John Haynes, First Governor of Connecticut, and of John Winthrop, Sixth Governor, together with the facsimiles of the handwriting of the latter.

History of the Forty-eighth Regiment, M. V. M., during the Civil War. [By ALBERT PLUMMER. Boston: Press of the New England Druggist Publishing Co., 145 High St.] 1907. 8vo. pp. 133. Ill.

This history is written in the form of a diary, beginning Dec. 4, 1862, and ending Sept. 3, 1863. It records the general activities of the regiment, excluding particulars respecting companies and individuals. The journalistic style of the history imparts to it an air of striking reality. The Roster occupies the concluding sixty pages of the volume. Sixteen portraits are inserted before the title-page.

History of the Nineteenth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. 1861–1865. Issued by the History Committee. Salem Press: The Salem Press Co., Salem, Mass. 1906. 8vo. pp. vi+456. Ill.

This history is compiled from materials furnished, in response to an invitation of the History Committee, by officers and men of the regiment, and their contributions were so liberal that it was impossible to include everything received. Official reports, lists of casualties, promotions, losses, etc., together with the Roster, are combined with the narrations of personal experience. As the regiment was captured, and Libby and Andersonville prisons became the places of detention in the case of some of the men, their "experiences" can easily be conjectured. An appendix contains the correspondence relating to the "Return of the Captured Flag." The volume is supplied with a thorough index of names, and is well printed and bound.

The May-Flower and Her Log. July 15, 1620–May 6, 1621. Chiefly from Original Sources. By AZEL AMES, M.D. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. The Riverside Press. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 385. Ill. Price, $5.00, net. Postpaid.

This is a second edition, revised and enlarged, of the work published by Dr. Ames in 1901. It contains ten additional pages, and embodies the results of fifteen years' study, so that it now includes all obtainable facts regarding the May-Flower and her voyage, no illustrative documents having been overlooked. The additional pages of the appendix relate to the Rev. Henry M. Dexter's article in the Proceedings of the Mass. Hist. Soc. on the will of William Mullens, followed by notes on the marriage record of Francis Cooke, May-Flower Pilgrim, and his wife Hester, and on the graves of Capt. Richard Moore and his family.

Nineteenth Report of the Custody and Condition of the Public Records of Parishes, Towns, and Counties. Public Document No. 2. By ROBERT T. SWAN, Commissioner. Boston: Wright & Potter Printing Co., State Printers, 18 Post Office Square. 1907. 8vo. pp. 56. Ill.

Encouraged by the adoption of some of his suggestions for improvement in the care of public records, Mr. Swan here renews his appeal to the Legislature for further consideration of his plans for the safety of our records. The appendix contains "The Laws and the Opinions of the Attorneys-General relating to Public Records, with Suggestions of the Commissioner," and a copy of "A Journal or Daye Booke relating to the Plantation of Massachusetts Bay."

The "Glorious Enterprise." The Plan of Campaign for the Conquest of New France; its Origin, History, and Connection with the Invasions of Canada. By W. D. SCHUYLER-LIGHTHALL, M.A., F.R.S.L. Montreal: C. A. Marchand, Printer to the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society, 38 St. Lambert Hill. n. d. 8vo. pp. 37.

A genealogical document is prefixed to this sketch, entitled "A Table showing relationships of New York devisers of invasions of Canada." The author says that the design of "the present paper is to show . . . a remarkable and significant family and social connection between the personnel of the chief actors on the British side during the successive stages" of the conflict, and to exhibit the completeness with which their plan was accomplished. The author regards this as the greatest event in the history of America (with the exception of its discovery), since it decided the dominance of races and institutions.

The Puritans and the Indian Lands. By JOEL N. ENO, A.M. Reprinted from the Magazine of History, with Notes and Queries, Nov., 1906. [New Haven. 1907.] Large 8vo. pp. 8.

The conclusion reached by Mr. Eno, from a consideration of the facts, is that "the New England governmental principle and practice was equal and impartial justice, on the same plane to the Indian as to the white."

MANWARING'S DIGEST OF THE EARLY CONNECTICUT PROBATE RECORDS.

More than five years have been expended by the compiler upon this work, which has resulted in three large octavo volumes of seven hundred or more pages each, containing a very full exhibit of every estate, so far as the records are known to exist. These records are contained not only in the several manuscript volumes and many hundred files in the Hartford Probate Office, but are also scattered through the records and archives of the state, and many are not recorded.

These and much related matter from other sources, together with an annotated list of Connecticut towns and probate districts, have been included. Each estate is presented, so far as possible, complete by itself. Two indexes—one for the estate and one for the individual—render the contents of the volume easily and quickly accessible. There is also a competent plan of references to the original records and papers.

Price, $7.50 per volume; express additional. Orders may be sent to

William Blake Trask A.M.

NEW ENGLAND
REGISTER.

OCTOBER, 1907.

WILLIAM BLAKE TRASK, A.M.

By Deloraine Pendre Corey, Esq.

William Blake Trask, a son of William and Patience (Pierce) Trask, was born at Commercial Point in Dorchester, Mass., November 25, 1812, in a house near Tinean Bridge, which his father, who was engaged in the manufacture of earthern ware, had recently built. He was the eldest of four sons, and outlived his brothers. His ancestor, Captain William Traske, was, apparently, at Naumkeag early in 1628, and was named by Hubbard as being one of the "old planters" who were associated with Endicott and others in the settlement of Salem, in the fall of that year. It is probable that he came from Somersetshire; and he brought his military title with him. He became prominent in the public life, and active in the military affairs, of the early years of the colony. A modern writer has said of him:

"He was an energetic man, a brave soldier, and reliable in case of an emergency. He was one of the first, if not the first military commander in Massachusetts; we can safely say of him as has been said of Captain Mason — what Captain Standish was to the Plymouth Colony, and Captain Mason to Connecticut, Captain Trask was to the Massachusetts Colony."

The descent of William Blake Trask was as follows: Captain William Traske[1] and his wife Sarah; William Trask[2] and wife Anna; John Trask[3] and wife Hannah Osborn; William Trask[4] and wife Abigail Foster; William Trask[5] and wife Martha Larrabee; William Trask[6] and wife Patience Pierce; William Blake Trask.[7]

The mother of Mr. Trask, Patience Pierce, was a daughter of John and Sarah (Blake) Pierce, and a sister of the Reverend John Pierce, D.D., the historian and life-long pastor of the First Congregational Church of Brookline, Mass., whose colonial ancestors were Robert and Ann (Grenaway) Pierce of Dorchester. Other ancestors in the maternal line were Major-General Humphrey Atherton; Captain Roger Clapp, to whose memoirs we are indebted for much valuable information relating to the settlement of Dorchester;

William Blake, the recorder of Dorchester, and his great-grandson, James Blake, the annalist of Dorchester. These names suggest that the spirit which irresistibly drew Mr. Trask to the pursuit of historical and antiquarian studies was an inheritance from the maternal lines, stimulated in his early years, perhaps, by association with his uncle, the Reverend John Pierce, D.D., and quickened and confirmed in his later life. The descent from Captain Roger Clapp was through the Blakes. Captain Roger Clapp[1]; Jonathan Simpson and wife Wait Clapp[2]; James Blake, the annalist, and wife Wait Simpson[3]; Samuel Blake[4] and wife Patience White; John Pierce and wife Sarah Blake[5]; William Trask and wife Patience Pierce[6]; William Blake Trask.[7]

The childhood of Mr. Trask was passed in the fields and along the shores of his native town; and his education, other than that of his own acquirement in after years, was received in its public schools. He was sent to the dame-school of Miss Hannah Glover, when about four years old; and after about two years, he passed into the grammar school then taught by Moses Mandell. At the age of sixteen years he became an apprentice to Oliver Hall, a cabinet-maker, of Dorchester, with whom, after the old New England custom, he served his time until he was twenty-one years of age.

Like his after-time associate and friend, John Ward Dean, he appears to have heard and heeded the young man's call to roam; and he sought work in New York and Pennsylvania, where he wrought at his trade as a journeyman, about two years. Perhaps there was something more than homesickness — some remembrance of a child's romance — which brought him back to his native town; for, on November, 25, 1844, the anniversary of his birth, he was married to Rebecca Clapp, daughter of Richard and Mary (Blake) Clapp of Dorchester, who was born September 4, 1817.

Upon his return to Dorchester, he engaged in the pursuit of his trade until 1849, when, from ill health, and perhaps, in part, in consequence of the condition of the cabinet-making business at a time when machinery was beginning to supersede the hand-working craftsman, he left the workman's bench and began that work in which he was engaged for more than half a century.

It is quite apparent that he had a natural calling for antiquarian and genealogical pursuits; and it is not going far afield if we think of him as a young man employing the hours of release from the bench in the collection of family traditions and the gathering of the facts of local history. He has left no statement for our information, but his extensive and accurate acquaintance with the unwritten material of family and local history shows that he must have been an enthusiastic and persistent enquirer in early as well as later life, and that his interest in historical research antedated his connection with the New England Historic Genealogical Society and its Register. How early and in what way he became acquainted with that coterie of earnest antiquaries with which he became so intimately connected is not known; but we find that he was among the earliest subscribers to the REGISTER, the first number of which appeared in January, 1847. Early in 1848 he was a donor to this, then youthful, Society; and in October of that year there appeared in the REGISTER the first of that long list of contributions into which he worked so much of patient labor and accurate research.

For the work upon which he now entered, Mr. Trask had qualifications of the first order; but his qualifications were such as made him a conscientious and skilful investigator and collector of materials, rather than an author. Hence it is that much of the results of his labor entered into the completed work of others; and so, like his co-laborer and friend, John Ward Dean, he has left no single example of a character which his care and experience, under different conditions, might have produced.

Having been an early member of the Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society, he was chosen as one of a committee of seven, of which in 1890 he was the only survivor, "to collect and publish a general History of Dorchester," which was issued in numbers, the first appearing in 1851. Of this book, which was completed in 1859, two chapters relating to the public schools and early teachers of the town were written by Mr. Trask. The preparation of this contribution involved "a large amount of research and correspondence, including original material, some of which at the present day might be considered inaccessible." Mr. Trask became the senior and only living member, but one, of the Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society. His associate, Henry Gardner Denny, has survived him. While both were living and were not prevented by sickness and the infirmities of age, they were in the habit of holding annual meetings in memory of the society of which they were the only representatives.

Mr. Trask assisted Samuel Gardner Drake in the preparation of the History of Boston, the first number of which appeared in September, 1852; and he was engaged in collecting material for General William H. Sumner for the History of East Boston, which after several years of preparation was published in 1858. In a notice of the latter book he is mentioned as "that industrious and scrupulously accurate antiquary."

Mr. Trask became a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in August, 1851, and a life member in 1858; and previous to his death he was its senior member. His letter of acceptance, written at a time when the pursuit of local and family history was not as popular as it is to-day, was characteristic of the time and the man. In it he said: "There are some, I verily believe, who would not hesitate, if uncontrolled, to transform Plymouth Rock into an ordinary stone-wall for a cellar or a sewer, would convert the leaves of the Magnalia into cigar-lighters, and the Pilgrims' pinnace, if it could be found, into kindlings for a parlor fire. . . . I rejoice that a society like your own has been established — am glad of the opportunity afforded me of connecting myself with you; and I trust I shall ever feel interested in your associated welfare." This was no empty expression, for his efforts for the welfare of the Society never tarried and his labor in the pursuit of its objects was unwearied. To the day of his death his interest was unabated. He served the Society faithfully in many capacities, and an abundance of evidence may be found in the Society's records and library of the results of his services in building up the institution. As a member of the publishing committee for several years, of the library committee, of the board of directors, and as a councillor during one year, he served with diligence and always with credit to himself and to the advantage of the Society. Nor was his attention devoted to official duties alone; but in many ways, by taking advantage of favoring opportunities, he advanced the purposes of the Society; and with that little knot of men who were faithful in the early and struggling years, he shared in the work of preparing it for the prosperity which it enjoys and laying the foundations for its present work and its wide influence. He was a frequent donor to the library, especially in his latter years, giving many hundreds of volumes, including a complete set of the Register. One of his gifts was a valuable heirloom, an oak linen-chest, which had been in his family for more than two hundred and fifty years; and he bequeathed to the Society five hundred dollars and a portrait of his maternal uncle, the Reverend John Pierce, D.D., painted by William T. Carlton of Dorchester, in 1841.

The early connection of Mr. Trask with the Register has been noticed. He was a joint editor with William Henry Whitmore and John Ward Dean of the volumes of 1859 and 1860; and he was editor of the January number of 1862, of the January and April numbers of 1864, and the four numbers of 1865. In a list of articles of a wide variety of historical and antiquarian subjects, signed or acknowledged by him, it appears that he contributed matter amounting to about sixteen hundred and fifty pages, to fifty-six of the sixty completed volumes of the Register; and by notes and other minor matter he must have contributed much that cannot be identified. In this respect his achievement is not paralleled. He made the indexes to nineteen or more of the series; and as historiographer of the Society, he wrote and printed about one hundred and thirty brief memoirs of deceased members. Many of his articles were printed in pamphlet form, and collectively form a series of much historical value. The present volume of the Register contains matter prepared by him. In addition to his work for the Register, he furnished thirty-seven articles to the six volumes of the Memorial Biographies, published at the expense of the Towne Memorial Fund.

Beside the work already mentioned, Mr. Trask compiled a volume of seventy-five pages, which was printed for private distribution in 1878, under the title of "Some of the Descendants of Lewis and Ann Jones of Roxbury, Mass.;" and he assisted the Reverend Samuel J. Barrows in the introduction to the "Records of the Church at Dorchester in New England, 1636–1734."

An important work, began by Mr. Trask in 1880, was the transcribing and printing of the Suffolk Deeds, authorized by the county authorities. In the preface to the first volume, Thomas F. Temple, the register of deeds, wrote:—

"The register was fortunate in being able to delegate the authority thus conferred upon him to William Blake Trask, an eminent antiquary, thoroughly conversant with our colonial history, and well known in this community as an experienced, careful, indefatigable investigator of local history and antiquities, one in every way exceptionally qualified for the task. Mr. Trask first copied with his own hand the whole book, and from his copy, carefully compared with the original, this volume has been printed. As an additional safeguard against the possibility of any typographical errors, the proof-sheets as they came from the printer were compared by Mr. Trask, letter by letter, not with the copy, but with the original record. The result is an admirably edited volume, which preserves in durable form, safe from destruction, one of the most interesting of our early records."

Three volumes were thus copied and proof-read by Mr. Trask, the indexes being prepared under the supervision of the late John Tyler Hassam of this Society. An affection of the eyes prevented him from making the copy of the fourth volume, but he read the proof-sheets from the original record, the transcript having been made by Frank E. Bradish, also of this Society. One who was familiar with the work thus done has written in a loving tribute to the memory of Mr. Trask:—

"Mr. Trask had an unrivalled familiarity with chancery hand, in which those earliest volumes were written, but he made no pretence to a knowledge of the classics, while Mr. Hassam kept up his Latin for his own entertainment. Attendance at the consultations of these two men as to the exact letters in the abbreviated Latin words of a legal formula written in this strange old character was a memorable lesson in thoroughness. Mr. Trask had a singular conscientiousness in the matter; he would keep in his mind for months a doubtful letter — it was seldom that a whole word puzzled him, and would come back to it again and again, even in the page-proof, never satisfied to leave it until he was satisfied beyond a doubt of the correctness of his interpretation."

In 1888, Mr. Trask received the honorary degree of master of arts from Dartmouth College. In noticing this, the Boston Evening Transcript incidentally referred to the Suffolk Deeds, and justly remarked:—

"In conferring upon Mr. William Blake Trask of Dorchester the honorary degree of master of arts at its commencement, yesterday, Dartmouth College bestowed its honors wisely and well upon a modest and universally respected man who richly deserved the recognition in his chosen field of usefulness. For more than a generation Mr. Trask has labored quietly, diligently and successfully in behalf of the history and genealogy of New England. His critical acumen in deciphering the obscure handwriting in which our early colonial records were written has been of great public service and value for many years, and never more so than in the work, now in progress, of transcribing for the press the earliest volumes of Suffolk Deeds. This work can be done properly only by the comparatively few persons familiar with the quaint handwriting of two hundred years ago, and the board of aldermen in recent years have acted wisely in availing of his skill ere it is too late. Mr. Trask, unconsciously, has built his enduring monument in the papers of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register and the published volumes of Suffolk Deeds."

As was natural, Mr. Trask was a corresponding member of historical societies in several states, and an honorary member of others. He became a member of the Prince Soeiety soon after its organization, and was one of its vice-presidents from 1870 until his death. Of other local societies, he was a member of the American Statistical Society, the Old Schoolboys' Association, and the Bostonian Society.

He joined the First Parish Church (Unitarian) of Dorchester in early manhood; and at the time of his death he was the oldest member of that society, having paid a parish tax as early as 1835. In politics, being at first a Whig, he became identified with the Free Soil party when that party was formed, naturally passed into the Republican party upon its organization, and so remained throughout his life.

The traits which were prominent in that part of his life which I have considered — those traits which were known to all who were conversant with the life-work of Mr. Trask — were as conspicuous in his private and home life. Always patient, kind, and forbearing, affectionate in his disposition, honest and conscientious in his dealings, his whole life was clean and honorable before all men. I have been favored with details of his life and estimates of his character from some who were near to him in his latter years, which I have freely used in the preparation of this memoir. That which relates most closely to the man as he was known to his friends is better reproduced in the language of its writers. An acquaintance of more than forty years, intimate in some ways in the earlier years, enables me to testify to its truth. One, from whom I have already quoted, writes:—

"His extraordinary accomplishments as an antiquary impressed me first; but as I met him day after day among the records with which he was so familiar, I began to appreciate the amazing modesty of the man. His simple, inartificial manner was but the expression of his moderate estimate of his own merits. He really thought that his attainments were nothing remarkable; and he spoke to a neophyte whom he was initiating in the quiet, unpretentious tone of equality. Later, I often saw him in his own home, where he showed the same moderation under a variety of circumstances. His sensitive disposition suffered from a rudeness or a slight, but it responded as quickly to the smallest act or word of kindness or deference. He did not realize how much he was respected by those who knew him, and every proof of it gave him new pleasure. He was fond of the young — surprisingly fond in view of his abstruse learning; and he clung to the future as strongly as to the past. His grief at the loss of the young girl who was his nearest relative was pathetic; the tears ran down his cheeks as he told me it left him all alone. The tranquillity of his temper, which was in a large degree the fruit of a singular purity of heart, contributed doubtless to his longevity. Although none of his contemporaries survive, those of a younger generation whom he has left behind will miss him sorely."

Another, one who met him almost daily in his advanced years when he was able to be abroad, and who was a frequent visitor at his home in his latter days, says :—

"I did not know Mr. Trask until he was nearly eighty years old; and my acquaintance with the man is confined to that period of his life when his physical strength was much diminished and his mental activities were beginning to decline. In an indirect way, however, I did know him quite intimately by my association for a number of years with one of his most intimate friends, John Ward Dean, and through my acquaintance with Mr. Trask's own achievements in genealogy, local history, and antiquarian matters. . . . . He was a genial, peace-loving, God-fearing citizen, who had a great respect for the piety, honesty of purpose, and puritanical traits of his forebears and their associates. He derived great pleasure from the investigation of the minutia of their homely lives, no point, however inconsequential, being too small for his consideration. For snobbery and pedantry he had a profound contempt, to which he sometimes gave expression. There was something pathetic in his feeling of isolation during the last few years of his life. He felt keenly his loss when the infirmities of old age compelled him to forego his daily trips to Boston, his visits to the depositories of ancient records and the Society's rooms on Somerset Street. He felt even more keenly the loss of the companionship of his fellow workers in his chosen field of studies; and he frequently spoke with extreme regret of the tendency of the present toward commercialism and of the apparent absence of interest in local history shown by his neighbors. He missed his rambles through the second-hand bookstores and was wont to be reminiscent to an attentive listener about books and booksellers."

Another writes :—

"Mr. Trask was one of the earliest experts in reading the records and manuscripts of the colonial period; and he was often called in consultation on controverted points. His acquaintance with the public events and the personalities of the actors in the first and second centuries of Massachusetts history was extensive and uncommonly accurate; and it was pronounced so quietly and modestly as to be welcomed where it differed from that of others. He was a rare collector of outworn publications. Personally, Mr. Trask possessed a tranquil soul of bright and brisk geniality, free from controversy or dissipation. He enjoyed a quiet joke, but never at the expense of others. His virtues aud attainments ever impressed his associates, who sincerely lament the occasion which has terminated an intercourse so enjoyable and gratifying."

His quiet and ever harmonious domestic life, of nearly sixty years, was broken March 5, 1904, by the death of his wife, who had long been an invalid; and his after life was a gradual slipping away from the things of earth and a gentle preparation for the life to come, into which he entered December 9, 1906. One who was a member of his family during the long illness of Mrs. Trask, and was with him until his death, gives us a glimpse of a life which was a fitting close to a long useful and honorable career:—

"He was genial and generous to a fault, and was always endeavoring to brighten those with whom he came in contact. He was devoted to his church, where until about two years before his death he might be always seen in his accustomed pew, deeming it a pleasure and a privilege rather than a duty. . . . . Many a poor man can say he was not sent empty away from the Trask door."

RECORDS OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH IN WENHAM, MASS.

William Blake Trask, A.M.

The manuscript book from which the following records are taken is in the handwriting of Rev. Joseph Gerrish, measures six by four inches, is bound in leather, and has the following title page: "An Account of the Acts & tranfactions & votes of the church of Wenham, since I came thither, Joseph Gerrish."

An entry in the book states that "Jofeph Gerrish was caled to the office of a pastor by the unanimous vote & confent of church & towne, not one exceptinge. He was ordained pastor of this church of wenham on the 13th day of January, 1674."

At the reverse end of the book are the lists here printed, which make valuable additions to the "Manual of the Congregational Church in Wenham, Mass., 1644–1879," printed in 1879, and to the Wenham Vital Records, issued by The Essex Institute.

[To be concluded.]

MATTHEW BELLAMY OF NEW HAVEN, CONN., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by Hon. RALPH D. SMYTH, and communicated by Dr. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. MATTHEW[1] BELLAMY was one of the first settlers of New Haven. He signed the plantation covenant of 1639, and took the oath of fidelity in 1644. He was evidently an educated man, and acted as schoolmaster at various times at New Haven, Milford, Stamford, Guilford, Saybrook, Killingworth, and perhaps Wallingford. The people of New Haven seem to have manifested some jealousy of him. At a Court at New Haven in 1652 he is called a "new comer," and reproached with an excitable and litigious spirit.

In 1671 he married Bethiah, daughter of Timothy Ford of Milford, who died Nov., 1692.

At a town meeting in Guilford, Sept. 1, 1671, it was "Voted, That we allow £20 for a school and payment of a schoolmaster and that we are willing Mr. Matthew Bellamy should be hired this present year on trial"; and at a town meeting there, July 2, 1672, "Matthew Bellamy, the schoolmaster, was desired to go on with the work according to the agreement last year," and at the same time the town granted him a piece of land by the mill-pond to be laid out, etc., for a home lot. His name is signed to deeds which he appears to have drawn or witnessed at Guilford up to 1674, and his daughter Elizabeth seems to have been born there, in 1674. He appears, however, as a witness to a will at Stamford about the same time. He lived at Saybrook in 1675, and had an acre of land granted him there, "where he then lived." He resided at Saybrook some years, and then he removed to Killingworth (or Kennilworth). In a deed to him at Fairfield, from Richard Hubbel, dated Oct. 24, 1681, he is described as then of that place, and in it his name is spelt "Bellamye." In 1689 he is recorded "as not lately heard of," and he seems to have been lost at sea.

Children:

i. MATTHEW,[2] b. 1672; d. young.
ii. BETHIA, b. Aug. 3, 1673, at Guilford; d. at Guilford, Dec. 28, 1673.
iii. ELIZABETH, b. Nov. 12, 1674, at Guilford; d. at Guilford, Jan. 24, 1674–5.
iv. MARY, b. 1676, at Saybrook; m. Jan. 28, 1703, Elijah Howe of Wallingford.
2. v. MATTHEW, b. Feb., 1677–8, at Killingworth; d. June 7, 1752.

2. MATTHEW[2] BELLAMY, JR. (Matthew[1]), married first, Sept. 26, 1705, Sarah Wood of Wallingford, who died Mch. 8, 1721; and married second, May 30, 1721, Mary, daughter of Samuel Johnson of New Haven, who died May 10, 1750, age 66 yrs. On Sept. 18, 1696, he was residing at Wallingford, and sold to Abraham Pierson of Killingworth, "Clericus," the lands of his father in Killingworth, which deed proved bad because said Matthew, Jr., was not then 21 years of age; and Pierson obtained another subsequent deed, dated Feb. 24, 1698/9, in which Bellamy describes himself as Matthew Bellamy, Jr., of Wallingford, now come of the full age of 21 years. He lived in that part of the town which is now Cheshire, and owned an interest in the copper mines there and appears to have worked them. He was of a somewhat litigious character.

[Endorsed] Concord return of men for the guard.

* Troops surrendered by Lieut.-Gen. Burgoyne to Maj.-Gen. Gates, in accordance with the Convention signed at Saratoga, Oct. 16, 1777. Article IV. of the Convention provided that the Troops were "to be quartered in, near, or as convenient as possible to Boston." (See Amer. Antiq. Soc. Proc., Oct. 1877, p. 12; Bancroft's "Hist. of the United States, ed. 1885, vol. V, p. 221; Fiske's "The American Revolution," vol. 1, p. 397.)

† Maj.-Gen. William Heath was chief in command where the troops of Gen. Burgoyne were quartered.

‡ Lieut.-Col. Commandant John Brooks. He afterwards was Maj.-Gen., Marshal of the District of Massachusetts, and Governor of Massachusetts.

§ Maj., afterwards Lieut.-Col., of the 3d Middlesex County regiment.

HUGH JONES OF SALEM, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Esq., of Boston.

24. Joshua[4] Jones (Lieut. Jonathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Hugh[1]), born in Wilmington, Mar. 23, 1731, inherited by his father's will a part of the latter's extensive estates in that town, on which he settled, and died in the summer of 1765, administration on his estate being given, Sept. 3 of that year, to his brother Josiah,[4] of Andover. The probate papers state that the widow Ruth was given £22. 5. 0 "in consideration of her quitting the estate," and that the deceased left three minor children, Joshua, Hepzibah, and Aaron, of whom Capt. John Flint of Reading was appointed guardian. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

He married first, about 1759, Hepzibah ———, who died in 1764. She was perhaps Hepzibah, born in Reading, June 18, 1732, daughter of Ebenezer and Tabitha (Burnap) Flint, and sister of Capt. John Flint the guardian of the children; and married second, Feb. 5, 1765, Ruth, born Nov. 28, 1733, daughter of John and Ruth Burnap of Reading, who married second, Sept. 23, 1773, Daniel Pratt of Reading.

Children by first wife:

i. Joshua,[5] b. Aug. 22, 1760; lived in Wilmington; served in the Revolution from July 2 to July 16, 1778, in Capt. Nathaniel Cowdrey's company at Winter Hill; also, was in Capt. John Dix's company from July 30 to Sept. 12, 1778, on an expedition to R. I.; also, served in the Continental Army under Capt. Joshua Walker from Oct. 22 to Nov. 23, 1779 (Mass. Archives); d. unmarried, and intestate, about 1782, administration on his estate being given May 1 of that year to his brother-in-law Moses Pearson of Wilmington. (Middlesex Co. Probate.)

ii. Hepzibah, b. June 25, 1762; d. in 1784; m. Nov. 27, 1781, Moses, b. in 1754, son of Nathan and Mary (Wilson) Pearson of Wilmington. They lived in Wilmington, and had two children. He m. (2) Jan. 4, 1785, Lois Holt.

iii. Aaron, b. Mar. 15, 1764; lived in Wilmington, where he d. about 1826; on Mar. 19, 1828, Samuel B. Jones, and Joshua Jones and Abigail his wife of Charlestown, Hepzibah Jones of Wilmington, and Sally Jones of Reading, conveyed to Samuel Jaques land in Wilmington of their late father Aaron Jones (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. cclxxx, fol. 262); m. Apr. 13, 1797, Rebecca, b. Feb. 4, 1766, dau. of Isaac and Rebecca (Jaquith) Beard of Wilmington. Children: Sally,[6] Joshua, Samuel B., Hepzibah.

25. Josiah[4] Jones (Lieut. Jonathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Hugh[1]) was born in Wilmington, Mar. 23, 1731, and about 1752 settled on a farm near Foster's Pond in South Andover, where he resided some twenty years; but on July 18, 1770, he sold most of his property in Andover to Benjamin Marshall of Ipswich (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. cxxviii, fol. 116), and later removed to Londonderry, N. H., where he died Aug. 16, 1796. He was on the roll of Capt. John Abbot's company of Andover militia, Apr. 18, 1757. (Mass. Archives, vol. xcv. p. 283.) In his will, dated Apr. 16, probated Aug. 18, 1796, he mentions wife Lovey; sons Josiah and Jesse, who had received their portions; sons Jonathan and Amos to whom was left all real estate; sons Cadwallader Ford and David McGregor; daughters Rebecca, Elizabeth, Lydia and Hannah Jones, and Polly Sheldon. (Rockingham Co. Probate.)

He married first, in Wilmington, Nov. 27, 1753, Mary Trifery (probably from Marblehead); married second, Apr. 29, 1764, Rebecca, born Jan. 5, 1745, daughter of Samuel and Rebecca (Stewart) Jenkins of Andover; and married third, Aug. 10, 1786, Mrs. Lovey Ronald, who survived him and married, Sept. 7, 1797, as his third wife, John Hartshorn of Amherst, N. H., and died Sept. 13, 1822, aged 75.

Children by first wife:

i. JOSIAH,[5] b. Sept. 5, 1755; settled in Londonderry, N. H., where he d. Dec. 17, 1803; served in the Revolution in Capt. THE TORSEY FAMILY.

By Henry Torsey Fernald, Ph.D., of Amherst, Mass.

The Torsey family in America originated with Dr. Gideon Torsey, who was born in France and who came to this country at "the time of the French and Indian War," as a surgeon. The date of his arrival is unknown, but it was probably not far from 1760.

Much of the information given here was gathered by the mother of the writer from her grandfather, John Atkinson Torsey, the son of Dr. Gideon, with whom she lived for about fifteen years. The unusual intelligence of this man removes much of the unreliability from the acknowledged traditional character of what is here given, and makes it of greater value.

Traditionary statements in the family are that Gideon Torsey was a younger son of a high family in France, and that the name soon became modified in this country, the belief being that it was originally D'Orsay. How correct this is will perhaps never be known.

1. Dr. Gideon[1] Torsey settled at Gilmanton, N. H., and married Rebecca Morgan with a daughter Lois who later married Stephen Chase.* Rebecca† was born at Poplin, N. H., probably 21 Feb.. 1734, and died at Gilmanton, 14 Feb., 1809.

Children:

i. Daniel,[2] d. unmarried.

ii. Elizabeth, m. (1) ——— Douglass; m. (2) Briggs; d. 1845-50, at Monmouth, Me.

*The family record of Stephen Chase who married Lois Morgan, taken from the family Bible:

"Record of Stephen Chases Family.
Stephen Chase born June 7 A. D. 1762[?], died A. D. 1842 Feb. 28
Lois Chase born May 24 1762, died A. D. 1838 March 1
Abiel Chase born 1784 Nov. 9
Thomas Chase born 1786 Aug. 3 [Lived in Warsaw, Wyoming Co., N.Y.]
David Chase born Feb. 7 1786 [1788 ?]
Sarah Chase born 1789 Sept. 14.
Hannah Chase born AD 1794 Feb. 3.
Elizabeth Chase born Stephen Chase born."

†It is interesting to note that Kingston First Church Marriage Records give:
"1756 February 5th John Atkinson and Rebecca Morgan," and that Rebecca (Morgan) Torsey named her third child John Atkinson, but whether this was more than a coincidence has not been established.

2. iii. JOHN ATKINSON, b. 7 Feb., 1771; m. Ruth Blake.
   iv. MOSES, m. ———, and settled in Conway, N. H.
3. v. WILLIAM, m. Cynthia Titus of Monmouth, Me., and lived there.

2. JOHN ATKINSON[2] TORSEY (Gideon[1]) was probably born at Gilmanton. When eight years old, he was "bound out" to a man named Sanborn, locally known as "Old Hunks." Here he lived for a year or more, but finally ran away to his half-sister's, where he lived till about 1788, when, in company with a friend, Willoughby Taylor, he started on foot from Gilmanton, or near there, for Maine. Torsey went to Hallowell or Augusta, while Taylor settled in Sidney. Torsey, after working at several different trades, went to Monmouth, where he cleared a farm adjoining that of Phineas Blake, whose youngest daughter, Ruth, he married, 29 Mch., 1800. She was born 7 Sept., 1779, and died 2 Jan., 1869. When about forty years old, he had rheumatic fever, and was never able to do manual labor afterward, but devoted his time to reading. He was particularly fond of mathematics, and wrote an advanced arithmetic, solving many problems usually performed by algebra, though it was never published. His disability in later years prevented him from teaching school in the winters, as he had formerly done, closed his connection with military matters, in which he had taken much interest, having been a militia captain, and ended his career in town affairs, where he had been an officer for many years.

During these later years, he took pleasure in telling his granddaughter (the mother of the writer) of his earlier life, of his family, and of the traditions as he had heard them before he left home. He died 16 Dec., 1855, at Monmouth, Me.

4. HENRY PERSON[3] TORSEY (John Atkinson,[2] Gideon[1]) was born 7 Aug., 1819, at Monmouth, Me. He married, 21 Dec., 1848, at Hallowell, Me., Emma Jane, daughter of Rev. Ezekiel and Sarah (Mac Causland) Robinson, who was born 6 July, 1824, at Georgetown, Me., and died 13 Oct., 1896, at Kent's Hill, Me. They had no children. He died 16 Sept., 1892, at Kent's Hill.

He was educated at Monmouth Academy and the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, after which he taught at East Greenwich, R. I. In 1844 he was elected principal of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, where he continued till 1882, when failing health compelled his retirement. During his administration he was brought in contact with nearly twenty thousand students. "It is not too much to say that few teachers in any age or land have sent out into the world so many pupils so deeply impressed by a master personality." He served twice in the Maine Senate, one year in the South, connected with the U. S. Treasury Department, and was offered an appointment as Governor of one of the Territories by President Lincoln, but declined to leave the school, which he felt was his life work, to accept this offer. He joined the Maine Methodist Conference in 1848, and was three times a delegate to the General Conference. He was a very popular and successful teacher, and his memory is still revered by thousands of his pupils.

5. BENSON[3] TORSEY (William,[2] Gideon[1]) lived at Monmouth, Me. He married Fannie York of Monmouth, who died 12 Feb., 1873, aged 57. He died 25 Feb., 1845.

London Marriage Licenses (page 789).

Thomas Kent of Sunning, Berks, Brewer, widower, æ. 50, and Elizabeth Latham of same, spinster, æ. 50, Sept. 9, 1662.

[The foregoing records of Aldenham and London pertain to relatives in England of Cary Latham who was in Cambridge, Mass., before 1640, and later settled in New London, Conn. See the will, dated Sept. 16, 1679, of Eliz. Kent, widow, of Sunning, Berks, in which she mentions her brother Paget Latham and her brother Carye Latham in New England, in REGISTER, ante, vol. xlvii, pp. 413–414. She was evidently born about 1610, but her baptism is not recorded at Aldenham.]

Registers of Crewkerne, Somersetshire.

John Bartole married June 12, 1628, Parnell Hodder.

[This couple later came to New England, settled at Marblehead, Mass., and had numerous descendants.]

Registers of Leeds, Yorkshire.

John Boyes married Dec. 5, 1603, Grace Moxom.
Children:
Christopher, bapt. Sept. 9, 1604.
Elizabeth, bapt. Oct. 30, 1606.
Robert, bapt. Dec. 18, 1608.
Matthew, bapt. Dec. 15, 1611.

[This Matthew Boyes came to New England, settled in Rowley, Mass., about 1640, and left descendants.]

Canterbury Marriage Licenses.

Robert Brooke, tailor, of Maidstone, bachelor, æ. 25, and Anne Derrick, æ. 25, widow of William Derrick of same parish, Apr. 20, 1621.

[Here we have the marriage of the Robert Brooke who, with wife Anne and seven children, came to New England in the Hercules in March, 1634, from Maidstone.]

Registers of Burnley, Co. Lancaster.

Thomas Farrar had:
Elizabeth, bapt. Apr. 14, 1612.
Thomas, bapt. Jan. 29, 1614–15.
Anne, bapt. Mar. 29, 1618.
Henry, bapt. Oct. 7, 1621.

[This Thomas Farrar, Jr., came to New England before 1639, and settled in Lynn, Mass. See Aspinwall's Notarial Records, page 18.]

Registers of St. Peter's Church, Nottingham.

Ananias Conklin m. Feb. 23, 1630–1, Mary Launder.
John Conklin m. Jan. 24, 1624–5, Elizabeth Allseabrook.

[These are evidently the marriages of the two Conklin brothers who came to Salem, Mass., before 1639, but settled in Southold, L. I.]

State Papers, Domestic Series, temp. Commonwealth (vol. 1, page 589).

Peter Ambrose, Agent for Sequestration in Lancashire, had recently (1650) sent two sons to New England.

[These two sons were Joshua and Nehemiah Ambrose, both of whom graduated from Harvard College in 1653. They later returned to England, where they took orders. Joshua was sometime Vicar of Childwall, co. Lancaster; and Nehemiah was Vicar of Kirby, co. Lancaster, and later was of Toxteth Park, where he died. The will of Nehemiah, dated Sept. 2, 1668, and proved at Chester, names wife Hannah, children Nathaniel, Judith, and Hannah, and brother Joshua. Peter Ambrose was of the Ormskirk branch of the Ambrose family, where he was baptized May 20, 1594, and a brother William was baptized Mar. 5, 1598–9; the former died at Toxteth, co. Lancaster, in Dec., 1653, and the latter at Stepney, co. Middlesex, in the spring of 1638. For their wills, see REGISTER, ante, vol. xlvii, pp. 392–4. They were sons of Ellis Ambrose, Jr., of Ormskirk, born about 1564, buried May 25, 1623, who married, Aug. 29, 1587, Elizabeth, baptized June 24, 1570, daughter of William Aspinwall. Ellis, Jr., was son of Ellis Ambrose, Sr., born about 1535, buried Nov. 3, 1609, who married, Sept. 6, 1562, Anne Ormeshaw. The latter (perhaps son of John Ambrose) was nephew of Rev. Ellis Ambrose, born about 1500, buried June 1, 1572, who was vicar of Ormskirk, 1537–1572, and son of Henry Ambrose, born about 1470, in the reign of Edward IV. See Registers of Ormskirk, and Chetham Soc., First Series, vol. cv, pp. 156–8, and 176.]

Harleian Manuscripts (6, 140).

William Grey of Hackney, being uncertain what arms his father was entitled to, and showing that he was of the lineage and one of the heirs of Robert Grey, late of London, merchant, deceased, to whom Sir Edward Bysshe, Garter, granted arms, the same arms duly differenced, were confirmed to the said William Grey and his brothers; viz., Barry wavy of six, argent and azure, on a bend gules three garlands or. Crest, a badger, passant, or.

[The "brothers" of the William Grey who shared in this confirmation of arms and crest were Henry and John, early settlers of Fairfield, Conn., consequently their male descendants bearing the name are entitled to these arms. See will of William Grey of Hackney, in REGISTER, ante, vol. xlii, p. 72.]

TARBELL.—In the REGISTER, vol. 61, page 171, William[5] Tarbell [29] did not marry Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Barron) French, although Hazen so states it. She married Benjamin Rouse, Apr. 13, 1769; and their daughter Sarah, born Apr. 24, 1775, married Jonas Coolidge, and had, among other children, Samuel Barron Coolidge and Elizabeth French Coolidge.

Billerica, Mass. (MISS) MARTHA A. DODGE.

THAYER, TAYER.—In the REGISTER, vol. lx, page 287, is the marriage record at Thornbury, Gloucestershire, 29 June, 1640, of Richard Tayer and Jane Solles.

In Phillimore's "Gloucestershire Parish Registers, Marriages," vol. xii, page 114, is the marriage record at Tortworth (near Thornbury), 29 June, 1640, of Richard Tayer, of Thornbury, and Joane Glinn.

These would seem to refer to the same Richard Tayer.

Boston, Mass. J. GARDNER BARTLETT.

ADAMS, FULLER, MAN and WARE.—Recently there have come into my possession two detached leaves from a Bible, which contain some dates of interest not given in the printed Genealogies. One leaf contains the last page of the Old Testament (Malachi), with some blank at the foot and verso blank; and the other leaf is the titlepage of the New Testament with the verso blank. This blank space has been utilized for the several entries.

SAMUEL A. GREEN.

EVEREST.—This account of the family of Isaac Everest, compiled by the late Hon. Ralph D. Smyth, may be of interest to REGISTER readers:

1. ISAAC[1] EVEREST was admitted a planter at Guilford, Conn., on Nov. 9, 1680. His first homelot was a place afterwards bought by Charles Caldwell. He then removed and lived near the East River, east of Nut Plains, between the branches and probably near the Foote place. He was a weaver, and married Joanna ———. He died Jan. 23, 1696-7.

Children:

i. ISAAC,[2] b. May 1, 1677; d. at Nut Plains, Guilford, Dec. 14, 1750; insane during the last years of his life; was a weaver, assessed at £71.8.0 in 1716; m. —— ——, who d. Sept. 26, 1761.

ii. JOHN, was insane, and killed an Indian child at Coffinch's Point, Aug. 24, 1705, and was shot and killed the same day by the father, Cupoquassen, who was tried at Hartford and acquitted on account of the sudden great provocation.

iii. BENJAMIN, m. Jan. 21, 1707-8, Hannah Jones; was a weaver, and assessed at £2 in 1716. Children: 1. Damaris,[3] b. Feb. 19, 1710-11 2. Benjamin, b. Oct. 12, 1718. 3. Elisha. b. Nov. 12, 1719. 4. Anne, b. June 15, 1720. 5. David, b. Sept. 29, 1723. 6. Daniel, b. July 29, 1725. 7. Hannah, b. Oct. 27, 17—.

iv. JOB.

v. LYDIA, m. Daniel, son of Thomas Mix of New Haven.

Baltimore, Md. BERNARD C. STEINER.

WHITNEY.—In F. C. Pierce's "Whitney Genealogy," page 103, there is a serious error which should be corrected.

489. ISAIAH[5] WHITNEY (Abraham,[4] Isaiah,[3] Thomas,[2] John[1]), born in Harvard, Mass., Oct. 6, 1751, married in Concord, Mass., Feb. 28, 1776, Mary, born in Concord, Mar. 17, 1756, daughter of Francis and Mary (Hayward) Wheeler.

Their children (not mentioned in Whitney Genealogy) were:

i. Mary Hayward,[6] b. Mar. —, 1777.
ii. Francis Wheeler, b. Nov. 30, 1778.
iii. Isaiah, b. Sept. 8, 1781.
iv. Rebecca, b. Feb. 15, 1784.
v. Ruth, b. Apr. 17, 1786.
vi. George, b. Dec. 16, 1788.
vii. Amos, b. Mar. 9, 1795.
viii. Daniel, b. Apr. 12, 1797.

iii. ISAIAH[6] WHITNEY, Jr. (son of Isaiah,[5] above), born Sept. 8, 1781, married Sarah Newell, of Lynn, Mass.

Their children (given to Isaiah[5] in Whitney Genealogy) were:

1261. Sarah.

Claremont, N. H. ANNA MARGARET RILEY.

YOUNG.—In the Collections of the New York Historical Society, for 1898, being Abstracts of Wills in the Surrogate's office in the City of New York, 1766-1771, page 284, is an abstract of the will of David Young, innkeeper, dated 3 September, proved 1 November, 1769, which contains much genealogical information. There is a bequest of a silver watch to Robert Young "of Boston Government." In the Records of the First Presbyterian Church (now the Unitarian Church in Arlington Street) Boston, is this entry: "1757, Nov. 3. Robert Young, had a Daughter Baptiz'd Call'd Elizabeth."

HENRY H. EDES.

WOODS.—The following letter of Thomas Woods of Groton, Mass., containing facts entirely new to those who are studying the families therein mentioned, was found in the files of the Court of Sessions of Middlesex County, for July, 1718:

Groton Novem^{r}. 24. 1718.

"Worthy Sir.

You may Remember that at ye Last Court of Genl. Sefsions of ye Peace holden at Concord for s^{d} County; I put in a Petition* Refering to ye maintanance of my Hono^{d} ffather Samuel Woods Late of Groton Deceas^{d} &c. Praying as herein Set forth upon the hearing of which the Court ordered that ye Children & Grandchildren of my Said father should be Summoned to attend a hearing at ye next Court to be holden at Charlestown in Decem^{r} peset as you will find apparent by said Petition on file and the order of Court thereupon. now Sir thefe are to Desire you to make out a Summons Consonant to the Said order of Court for Thomas Woods Nathaniel Woods Samuel Barron & Abigail Barron alias Woods his wife John Nutting Junr & Mary Nutting alias Woods his wife all of Groton afores^{d} & Children of Said Deceas^{d}. Thomas Tarbell, William Tarbell, Samuel Tarbell, Daniel Pearce, Nathaniel Woods Junr. Daniel Woods Samuel Woods Sarah Woods, John Solindine & Susannah Solindine alias Woods his Wife, Daniel Shead & Abigail Shead al^{s} Pearce his Wife John Chamberlain and Abigail Chamberlain alias Woods his Wife all of Groton afores^{d} & Jofeph Willard & Elizabeth Willard alias Tarbell his Wife And John Gofs & Mary Gofs al^{s} Woods his Wife of Lancaster in ye County afores^{d} And Grand Children of said Deceased. And Send the same up by the Bearer Enofh Lawrence who will Satisfy you for your so Doing. Pray Sir fail not to Gratify me in this perticular, and you will much oblige your

Very Humble Servt
Thomas Woods."

* The petition, which was signed by "Hannah Woods for Thomas Woods her husband," and presented in Aug. 1718, together with an earlier petition referred to therein, which was signed by Thomas Tarball (a son-in-law of Samuel Woods, Sen., the subject of the controversy), and dated 14 Dec., 1714, shows that Samuel Woods, Sen., of Groton, deeded to his son Samuel Woods, Jr., of Groton, 20 Nov., 1703, all his property, under an agreement that Samuel, Jr., was to maintain it and give one-quarter part of all receipts from it to the father; but Samuel, Jr., died [in 1712], and his heirs neglected and refused to abide by the agreement, so the Court ordered, under the petition of 1714, that all the children and grandchildren of Samuel, Sen., should share in his support. The petition of 1718 states that the order of 1714 was not complied with, that the father, Samuel, Sen., deceased, came to live with the petitioner "about three and a half years since," and that he died two years and eleven months afterward, an aged and helpless man with no means to live upon, and it prays that the petitioner be reimbursed, by the family, for his support.

Malden, Mass. GEO. W. CHAMBERLAIN.

WILSON GENEALOGY.—The following are additions and corrections to the Wilson genealogy contributed by me in the current volume of the REGISTER:

Page 130. Rev. John[7] Wilson, of Swansea, married at Mendon, Mass., May 25, 1711, Margaret (Hall), born at Nantucket, June 10, 1689, daughter of Hon. Jethro and Mary (Gardner) Coffin. She was evidently widow of ——— Hall, perhaps a brother of Hon. Hugh Hall of Boston.

Page 132. Dr. John[8] Wilson, of Sherborn, married at Mendon, June 28, 1738, Mary, daughter of Angel and Hannah (———) Torrey of Mendon, Mass., and Bristol, R. I. He died June 13, 1756, not 1750.

Page 133. Henry[9] Wilson married second (int. rec. Jan. 9, 1806), Polly (or Mary) Cook of Braintree, and left an only daughter Mary G.,[10] who married, June 25, 1835, Jacob Hittinger of Charlestown, and had two children.

Boston, Mass. J. GARDNER BARTLETT.

BURBANK.—In the REGISTER, ante, page 308, line 9, the words "second" and "third" should read first and second.

The seven children of Lazarus and Mary[3] (Burbank) Miller were: Obadiah, John, Noah, Nathaniel, Martha, Martha (2), Mary; and the four children of William and Mary[3] (Burbank-Miller) Mackranney were: Ruth, Rachael, Benjamin, Timothy. (See Burt's Hist. of Springfield, Mass., vol. 2, pages 606, 601.)

QUERIES.

QUERIES.—Commencing with the issue of January, 1908, the QUERIES department will appear in the advertising pages of the REGISTER; and all such matter will be printed, without restriction as to subject or space, at the rate of 10 cents for ten words, or fraction thereof, payable in advance.

BULLARD-WALTON.—I am searching for the ancestry of Mary Bullard, supposed to have been of Newton, Mass., who was born in 1773, married Dr. John Walton (Harvard College, 1791) of Pepperell, Mass., in 1791, and died in Pepperell, 3 Apr., 1848, aged 75 yrs. C. S. WALTON.
2337 Thompson St., Los Angeles, Cal.

FULLER-BARNES.—Information is wanted of the ancestry and place of birth of Beekman Fuller, born Oct. 13, 1750, died Apr. 8, 1832, and of his wife, Naomi Barnes, born May 18, 1755, died Mar. 23, 1832, whom he married May 8, 1775. Both were buried in Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y., where most of their children were born. (MRS.) DELIA M. FAIRCHILD.
Hamilton, N. Y.

KING-NORTON.—Jonas King, born about 1740, married Eunice, probably daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth Norton, all of New Marlborough, Mass.

The parentage of Jonas King and Samuel Norton is requested from some one who has made a study of these families. P. M. CHAMBERLAIN.
1917 Diversey Bvd., Chicago, Ill.

THE CONQUEST OF QUEBEC, an epic poem by Dr. Thomas Young (1731-1777), a classical scholar and one of the Revolutionary patriots of Albany, Boston, Newport and Philadelphia.—Can any of your readers furnish the text of this poem? It is unknown to the editor of Sabin's Dictionary of Books relating to America, and to the librarians of many of the largest libraries in the United States. It is referred to in Newton Reed's Early History of Amenia, New York (pp. 46, 106 and notes); and more particularly by Egbert Benson in a Memoir on the names of Towns in Dutch New York, read, in 1816, to the New York Historical Society and printed in its Collections, Second Series, ii. 125, 126. He says:

> In his Poem, the Conquest of Quebec, in describing the portents which he feigned to have preceded the battle of the Plains of Abraham, and which, according to his fiction, appalled the stout heart of Wolfe not a little, the first line of one of the couplets [was] "vulpine ululations, ursine growls," and the two concluding words of the next, "predicting owls," those which preceded have escaped my memory, and it is not now in my power to recover them; sad fate for an epic! "scarce twice five lustres past and out of print."

The poem must have been printed, else Benson's concluding quotation is absolutely without point. It is not improbable that the Epic was printed either in the newspapers of the day or as a broadside, and probably between the autumn of 1759 and 1769. As I have recently written a Memoir of Dr. Young, and have vainly endeavored to find this, his most pretentious literary performance, I shall be grateful to any person who will be good enough to give me any information concerning it or produce the text. HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

REGISTERS WANTED.—There are a number of smaller historical societies and public libraries having partial sets of the REGISTER which are not financially able to purchase the volumes needed to complete their sets. There are also some libraries which have a few of the recent volumes only. The Treasurer of this Society will be glad to receive donations of large or small lots of the REGISTER for the benefit of these libraries and societies, and will endeavor to place such donations where they will be most useful in promoting the work for which this Society was incorporated.

For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

Balch Genealogica. By THOMAS WILLING BALCH. Philadelphia: Allen, Lane and Scott, 1211–13 Clover St. 1907. 4to. pp. x.+410. Ill.

This work is not strictly a genealogy, but a collection of biographies with genealogical records super-added. The design of the book is to present all the facts which have been discovered regarding the family in England, and the descendants of John Balch "of Maryland." John Balch "of Massachusetts," who came to Salem, also receives notice. The information respecting the English Balches is extensive and varied, and is accompanied by beautiful illustrations. The longest biographies are those of the Rev. Stephen Bloomer Balch, two of whose sermons are reprinted, and of Thomas Balch, the father of the author, of whose literary efforts specimens are also given, including extracts in verse. The letter-press and binding of the volume are of the best, and there is an index, though imperfect.

The Ancestry of William Francis Joseph Boardman, Hartford, Conn. Being his Lineage in all Lines of Descent from the Emigrant Ancestors in New England. By WILLIAM F. J. BOARDMAN. Privately printed. Hartford, Conn. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 419. Ill.

Beginning with a sketch of the life of the author, this genealogy is traced to Samuel Boreman, who was the American ancestor of the Boardman family. The ancestors of three earlier generations are also given. Then follow "Lines of Descent from Emigrant Ancestors," and "Genealogical Charts," tabulated for ready reference. Biographical sketches are so many and of such length that it is evident that the author has fulfilled his purpose "to give the principal facts concerning the life of each individual." Like its companion volume, "The Ancestry of Jane Maria Greenleaf," the book is an unusually fine specimen of the printer's and binder's skill. The index of names is complete.

The History of the Brigham Family. A Record of Several Thousand Descendants of Thomas Brigham, the Emigrant, 1603–1653. By W. I. TYLER BRIGHAM. Collated and edited by EMMA E. BRIGHAM. WILLIAM E. BRIGHAM, Associate Editor. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. New York. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. xv+636. Ill. Map.

The introductory portion of this work, relating to research in England, is of considerable interest, though it fails to discover the origin of Thomas Brigham, who came to Cambridge, Mass., in 1635, a complete account of whom serves as the opening of the genealogy. The genealogical records are enlarged by many biographical facts of all kinds, constituting it a history suitable to the importance of this large American family, and throughout the nine generations, biographical minutiæ are never lacking. Its editors feel justified in saying that it is "substantially correct." "Brighams in Early Wars," "Two Brigham Hospitals," and the "Brigham Family Association," form an appendix. The index covers nearly seventy pages, though it was found necessary to restrict it to the genealogical section, and to the Brigham family or persons directly connected with it. Press work, illustrations and binding are excellent.

Statement of the Line of Descent from the First Comer in New England, of the Branch of the Chamberlin Family in Newbury, Vermont, represented in the Seventh Generation, by Abner Chamberlin. Prepared in Boston, 1894, by JOSEPH EDGAR CHAMBERLIN. n. p. [1907.] 12mo. pp. 12.

The Newbury Chamberlins are here shown to have descended from Richard Chamberlin, of Braintree and Roxbury, Mass., through his son Joseph who removed to Sudbury, Mass.

* All of the unsigned reviews are written by Mr. FREDERICK WILLARD PARKE of Boston.

The Coddington Family. Records of One Line of the Descendaats of John Coddington of Woodbridge, N. J., with Notes on Allied Families. By Rev. HERBERT G. CODDINGTON, D.D. Syracuse, N. Y. 1907. 4to. pp. 37.

The John Coddington of the title page is supposed to have been the son of John Coddington of Boston, Mass., who died there in 1655. The record of his descendants is accompanied by biographical foot-notes. The allied families who are noticed are those of Guibord, Perry, Robinson, Fitch, and Cook. The genealogy is indexed.

The Family of Henry Curtis of Sudbury, Mass. By HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M. Boston: New Eng. Hist. Gen. Society, 1907. 4to. pp. 10.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER for July, 1907.

The Ancestry of Jane Maria Greenleaf, Wife of William Francis Joseph Boardman, Hartford, Conn. By WILLIAM F. J. BOARDMAN. Privately printed. Hartford, Conn. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 133. Ill.

Biographical sketches of Mrs. Boardman and her husband are followed by eight generations of Greenleaf ancestry, which is traced to Edmund Greenleaf who settled in Newbury, Mass., probably in 1635. This part of the work also includes Jones, Cleveland, Hartshorn, Hibbard, Johnson, Champion, Nichols, Sumner, Josselyn, Gooking, Gerish, and Coffin ancestries. The latter part of the book traces the ancestry of Mrs. Boardman's mother to Noah Toocker of Boston, 1707, and also contains an Alcock ancestry. The volume is very beautifully printed and bound, and has a full index of names.

Ancestry of Col. John Harvey, of Northwood, New Hampshire, an Officer of the Line in the War of the Revolution, and an Original Member of the New Hampshire Society of the Cincinnati. By JOHN HARVEY TREAT, A.M. Boston: Privately printed. 1907. 8vo. pp. 47.

Mr. Treat shows the descent of his ancestor, Col. Harvey, from William Harvey of Boston, who married Martha Copp, and was admitted to the First Church (Boston), 4 July, 1640. His work, largely based on personal investigation of original records, is an interesting contribution to family history, giving information not contained in the "Harvey Book," with many biographical notes concerning Col. Harvey and his ancestors, and traces the line through Col. John to the eighth generation from William.[1] The volume, which is well indexed, is handsomely printed on REGISTER paper by T. R. Marvin & Son. Mr. Treat, who compiled the "Genealogy of the Treat Family," is a well known student of archæology and ecclesiastical history. * * *

The Jones Family of Long Island. Descendants of Major Thomas Jones (1665–1726) and Allied Families. By JOHN H. JONES. New York. Tobias A. Wright. 1907. 8vo. pp. 435. Ill.

Although the author did not live to complete his family researches nor see his book published, the account of the family, beginning with Maj. Thomas Jones who came from Strabane, Ireland, about 1700, and extending down to the present time, is full and extensive, the biographical notices especially being worthy of comment. About one half of the volume is filled with material on the Allied Families, which are too great in number to be mentioned. The plan of arrangement is simple, but a little more attention might have been given to methods of indicating the connection of the allied families with the main line. There is a good index. The press-work is excellent, and a substantial cloth binding furnishes an attractive cover for this useful genealogy.

Macomber Genealogy. By [Rev.] EVERETT S. STACKPOLE. Press of The Journal Co., Lewiston, Maine. [1907.] 8vo. pp. 88. Price, $2.00. Address the author, Bradford, Mass.

The title specially descriptive of this work is "John Macomber of Taunton and his Descendants." If it meets with success, the author will publish another part, "Genealogy of the Descendants of William Macomber of Marshfield," and an index of the whole. The introduction gives interesting information respecting the Macombers of England and of Scotland. Revolutionary and Mayflower claims are carefully traced. The book is bound in paper covers so that "when the second volume is issued they can be bound together as one volume."

The St. John Genealogy. Descendants of Matthias St. John of Dorchester, Massachusetts, 1634, of Windsor, Connecticut, 1640, of Wethersfield, Connecticut, 1643-1645, and Norwalk, Connecticut, 1650. By ORLINE ST. JOHN ALEXANDER. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. 1907. New York. 1907. 4to. pp. xv+624. Ill.

In an introduction is a collection of names and facts relating to persons called St. John (Sension, Senchon), but who have not as yet been connected with the first Matthias St. John. No effort has been made to trace the English St. Johns, but the American generations are given with remarkable fulness, their history having been gathered from bibles, cemeteries, town and county records, and printed genealogies. The biographical notices are in some cases extensive, one of them occupying more than twenty pages. The genealogy is followed by blank pages for the owner's lineage, and by an index of great length. The volume is bound in cloth, with good print and illustrations.

A Branch of the Sherman Family descended from Philip Sherman, First Secretary of the Colony of Rhode Island. By FRANK DEMPSTER SHERMAN. n. p. [1907.] 8vo. pp. 4.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER for July, 1907.

Genealogy of the Stimpson Family of Charlestown, Mass., and Allied Lines. By CHARLES COLLYER WHITTIER. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1907. 8vo. pp. 206. Ill.

The American ancestor of this family was Andrew Steavenson, whose name has been changed to Stimson and Stimpson. Owing to the scarcity of males in the first four generations, many descendants of the female lines are given, and throughout the work, the collateral families are recorded with unusual fulness. Biographical details are in exceptional abundance, scarcely any names in the later generations, excepting those of the youngest, being without at least a brief sketch. As the family has produced statesmen, clergymen and merchants of note, the facts preserved respecting them are of general value. There are three complete indexes.

Thomas Tarbell and Some of his Descendants. By CHARLES HENRY WRIGHT. Boston: N. E. Hist. Gen. Society. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 18.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER, Vol. 61.

Youngs Family. Vicar Christopher Yonges: His Ancestors in England and his Descendants in America. A History and Genealogy. By SELAH YOUNGS, JR. New York. 1907. 4to, pp. viii + 377. Ill. Price, 250 copies at $10.00 a copy; 100 copies reserved at $15.00. Apply to Author, Produce Exchange, New York, N. Y.

The immigrant ancestor of the American descendants of Rev. Christopher Yonges was Rev. John Yonges, first settler and founder of Southold, L. I. The ancestry of the Rev. Christopher is fully recorded under the headings, "Name and Nationality," "Welsh Ancestry," "Descent from Tudor Trevor," "By the Name of Yonge," and "Reydon and Southwold," the entire history of the family comprising more than a thousand years. A portion of the work that will be of special interest to all those related to the Rev. John Yonges is the historical sketch, "The Founding of Southold, L. I.," with "Documentary Records" relating to the family in New York. The genealogy is brought down to the twelfth generation, embodying the results of the researches of nearly a lifetime, and is printed on hand-made paper, bound in half morocco, and has more than fifty full-page portraits and views. It is completely indexed.

The International Genealogical Directory. 1907. [By] CHAS. H. BERNAU, "Pendeen," Bowes Road, Walton-on-Thames, England. Sq. 8vo. pp. 113. Price 10s. 6d., post free.

This useful work is divided into six parts. Part I. contains the names and addresses of nearly 1400 genealogists; Part II. contains the surnames of nearly 4500 families; Part. III. is called "Genealogical Queries and Memoranda"; Part IV. consists of a "List of Societies, etc., whose Objects or Publications are of interest to Genealogists"; Part V. is "An Authors' Exchange"; Part VI. contains the titles of "Family Histories, Pedigrees, etc. recently printed for private circulation." Part III. is designed to enable amateur genealogists to give world-wide publicity to genealogical and heraldic queries and memoranda.

The author refers appreciatively to the "List of Genealogies in Preparation," published by the New Eng. Hist. Gen. Soc., which is based on work begun in 1879 and continued till the present time.

Michael Anagnos. 1837-1906. Boston: Wright and Potter Printing Co. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 155. Ill.

The contents of this memorial publication,—which are reprinted and revised from the 75th annual report of the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind,—consist of a memoir of Mr. Anagnos by Mr. Frank B. Sanborn, tributes and resolutions of institutions, associations and individuals, and an account of the memorial exercises held in Boston last October, with the addresses then delivered, together with extracts from the newspapers. "Portraits of Mr. Anagnos," and a report of the exercises attending the unveiling of a Memorial Tablet, are also comprised in the volume.

A Pioneer in International Arbitration. By J. D. Rodeffer, Ph.D. Reprinted from the Sewanee Review for April, 1907. Printed at the University Press of Sewanee, Tenn. 1907. 8vo. pp. 6.

The "Pioneer," of whom this is a sketch, was Thomas Balch, of Virginia, who suggested the code of rules afterwards adopted, with a few changes, by the Geneva Tribunal on the Alabama claims.

William Tracy Eustis. By Joseph Tracy Eustis. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 5. Portrait.

This is a reprint from the Register for July, 1907.

A History of the United States and Its People. From their earliest records to the present time. By Elroy McKendree Avery. In fifteen volumes. Volume III. Cleveland. The Burrows Brothers Company. MCMVII. 4to. pp. xliii. + 446. Ill. Maps. Facsimilies. Price net, per volume, in cloth $6.25, in half Levant $12.50, in full Levant $17.50.

The delay in the appearance of the third volume of this fine, popular history is soon forgotten in the interest it arouses. The development of the Carolinas through shifting governmental policies is the first subject treated, and the amount of information offered concerning this difficult and meagerly recorded period indicates extensive research. Chapters on the explorations of the French in the west, and the wars of England, are followed by a study of the gradual change of political policy in all the American colonies. The final chapter is devoted to New England during the years from 1716 to 1745. A portrait of William Penn, with signature and seal, serves as frontispiece. The maps and illustrations are numerous, and the number of autographs reproduced is unusual. The high typographical standard of the previous volumes has been carefully maintained. A. L. W.

Visits to Brunswick, Georgia, and Travels South. [By] Joseph W. Smith. Boston. Addison C. Getchell & Son, Printers. 1907. 8vo. pp. 105. Ill.

The first of the four visits here chronicled was made in 1853, the last in 1901, and the pleasing narratives, with their interesting contrasts, are embellished with portraits of the author.

State of Connecticut, Public Document No. 41. Report of the Temporary Examiner of Public Records. 1906. Printed by order of the Legislature. Hartford Press: The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Co. 1907. 8vo. pp. 87. Ill.

Appended to the Report, with its important recommendations concerning legislation, is a list of those extant church and parish records respecting which the Examiner was able to obtain information. As many of these records antedate the formation of the towns, they are of peculiar value.

The Two Hundred and Twenty Fifth Anniversary of the Opening of the Old Meeting House in Hingham, Mass., for Public Worship, Jan. 20, 1907. 1682–1907. Boston: Geo. H. Ellis Co., Printers, 272 Congress St. 1907. 12mo. pp. 44. Ill.

Nearly the whole of this pamphlet is occupied by the addresses of Mr. Robert S. Peabody and Rev. William W. Fenn, the former on ecclesiastical architecture, the other on Congregationalism.

Portsmouth and Newcastle, New Hampshire, Cemetery Inscriptions. Abstracts from some Two Thousand of the Oldest Tombstones. By ARTHUR H. LOCKE. Portsmouth. Privately printed. 1907. 8vo. pp. 44. Portrait.

The author says that "this pamphlet is supplementary to material published in the New England Register, but embraces much that is missing there." It contains a great deal of information that is nowhere else procurable. Only a few copies are to be had; these may be obtained on application to the compiler, Portsmouth, N. H.

The Story of Bacon's Rebellion. By MARY NEWTON STANARD. New York and Washington: The Neale Publishing Co. 1907. 12mo. pp. 181.

During the two centuries following the death of Nathaniel Bacon the world was dependent on the reports of his enemies for the history of his career. Recently, however, English records have disclosed facts of an exact and circumstantial nature which have put the achievements of the "Prosperous Rebel" in their proper light. From these new sources of information Mrs. Stanard has compiled a narrative designedly in popular vein, but founded on thorough research both in England and America. Impartiality of spirit and vivacity of style are conspicuous merits of the history. The book is a model of letter-press, and is bound in buckram.

Dedication of the Equestrian Statue of Major-General Charles Devens and of the Monument to the Soldiers of Worcester County in the War for the Union, July 4th, 1906. Worcester, Mass. 1907. 8vo. pp. 30. Ill.

It should be explained that the monument to the Civil War soldiers serves as the pedestal of the statue of Gen. Devens. Preceding the account of the dedication is a "Brief Memoir of General Devens." The illustrations are fine.

The Two Hundred and Sixty-Seventh Annual Record of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. 1904-1905. Sermon by Rev. ALAN HUDSON, D.D., of Brockton. Boston: W. S. Best Printing Co. 1906. 8vo. pp. 176. Ill.

The Graves We Decorate. Storer Post, No. 1, Department of New Hampshire, Grand Army of the Republic, Portsmouth, N. H. Prepared for Memorial Day, 1907, by JOSEPH FOSTER, Member Storer Post. With an Appendix containing the List of Graves and Additional Records prepared in 1893. Portsmouth: John D. Randall, Printer and Bookbinder. 1907. Large 8vo. pp. 96. For sale by the Compiler, 26 Middle St., Portsmouth, N. H. Price by mail, 50 cts.

This is a Record of the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines who served the United States of America in the War of the Rebellion, and in other wars, who are buried in the city of Portsmouth, N. H., and in the neighboring towns of Greenland, Newcastle, Newington, and Rye. The biographical sketches are of considerable length in many cases.

The Rhode Island Declaration of Independence. By CHARLES WARREN LIPPITT, Governor of Rhode Island 1895–1897. An Address delivered before the Rhode Island Citizen's Historical Association on the 130th Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence by the Colony of Rhode Island, May 4, 1906. [Providence, R. I. 1907.] Large 8vo. pp. 38 + xxx.

The first part of this publication, consisting of Ex-Governor Lippitt's address, contains the proofs of that event to which, in his History of the United States, E. Benjamin Andrews alludes thus: "May 4, 1776, Rhode Island formally declared her independence of Great Britain, by a solemn act, abjuring her allegiance to the British crown. . . . It constitutes Rhode Island as the oldest independent State in America." The last part of this pamphlet contains the "Authorities Examined" and the "Exhibits" on which these proofs are founded. The "Exhibits" are copies of various documents private and public.

Social Life of Virginia in the Seventeenth Century. An Inquiry into the Origin of the Higher Planting Class, together with an Account of the Habits, Customs and Diversions of the People. By PHILIP ALEXANDER BRUCE. First Edition limited to One Thousand Copies. Printed for the Author by Whittet & Shepperson, Printers, Richmond, Va. 1907. Small 8vo. pp. 268. For sale by Bell Book Co., Richmond, Va. Net $1.50; postpaid $1.60.

Chiefly from such sources as Force's Historical Tracts, parish registers of Virginia, colonial documents in the British State Paper Office in London, and the Virginian county records of the seventeenth century, Mr. Bruce has produced a work which forms a brilliant continuation of the study pursued in his "Economic History of Virginia in the Seventeenth Century," an expansion of his subject that shows the resemblances between life in Virginia at that period and life in England. Besides ably describing the phases of Virginia's life, Mr. Bruce has conclusively stated the reasons for their existence, explaining the origin of that social system which, by its representative men, has permanently influenced the destinies of the New World.

Washington's Headquarters and the Revolutionary Army at Fredericksburgh in the State of New York, Sept. 19th to Nov. 28th, 1778. By LEWIS S. PATRICK, Marinette, Wis. Read at the Seventh Annual Meeting of the Quaker Hill Conference, Sept. 8th, 1905. Published by the Quaker Hill Conference Association, Quaker Hill, New York. 1907. 12mo. pp. 69. Ill.

Having settled the claims of the houses of Reed Ferris and John Kane, of Fredericksburg, as dwellings occupied by Washington, Mr. Patrick gives particulars respecting both Washington and his army, which, as he says, "are well worth preserving." This address is followed by another delivered by Mr. Patrick at the unveiling of a memorial tablet on the site of Washington's Headquarters in Pawling, N. Y. To this are added "Dutchess Co., N. Y., Records."

Waterman, Illinois, Year Book 1905. Compiled by GEORGE EDWARD CONGDON. Price Fifty Cents. Hiawatha, Kansas. Ewing Herbert Printery. 1907. 16mo. pp. 78. Ill.

A complete record is here given of the births, marriages and deaths in the town of Waterman, during the year 1905. An unusual amount of genealogical information is given in the obituary notices, which are numerous. Town officers, church officers and various club officers are included in the directory, and a table of county statistics closes this useful little pamphlet.

MANWARING'S DIGEST OF THE EARLY CONNECTICUT PROBATE RECORDS.

More than five years have been expended by the compiler upon this work, which has resulted in three large octavo volumes of seven hundred or more pages each, containing a very full exhibit of every estate, so far as the records are known to exist. These records are contained not only in the several manuscript volumes and many hundred files in the Hartford Probate Office, but are also scattered through the records and archives of the state, and many are not recorded.

These and much related matter from other sources, together with an annotated list of Connecticut towns and probate districts, have been included. Each estate is presented, so far as possible, complete by itself. Two indexes—one for the estate and one for the individual—render the contents of the volume easily and quickly accessible. There is also a competent plan of references to the original records and papers.

Price, $7.50 per volume; express additional. Orders may be sent to
